E.J. Farmer Disappears Without a Trace

Where is Delbert Carson?

That is the question that has plagued Charlevoix County sheriff's deputies and East Jordan police ever since late Saturday night when the retired East Jordan farmer was reported missing by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kit Carson of Charlevoix.

Carson's neighbors on Carson-rd., southeast of East Jordan, became worried about him when the light in his farmhouse window failed to go on as usual at dusk Saturday.

Mrs. Clifford Pumfrey notified Mrs Carson in Charlevoix. Mrs. Carson suggested that her brother-in-law might be taking a nap. Later when the light still didn't appear, Mrs. Carson attempted to reach him by telephone without success.

About 11 p.m. she notified the East Jordan Police Department and was told that because of the snow storm in progress officers might not be able to reach the house, which is located at the crest of a hill.

Mrs. Carson then notified the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department which sent a patrol car to the scene. The sheriff's car arrived shortly after the East Jordan police car.

Officers found the kitchen door open. Inside, they found Carson's winter jacket, hat and boots where he had left them Saturday afternoon after John Bennett, another resident of Carson-rd., brought him home. Carson was in the habit of taking his noon meal with the Bennetts.

Bennett reportedly had driven Carson home about 2 p.m. and went inside with him. Bennett told officers that Carson had removed his outer garments and left them where they were found.

For a while foul play was suspected after neighbors remembered seeing a two-tone green automobile in Carson's driveway late Saturday afternoon.

However Mrs. Carson learned

Lawmen Press Search For Del Carson, 75

Sunday that Mrs. Marion (Jane) Jackson of East Jordan had called on Carson between 3 and 4 p.m. Saturday on business. She found him home and spent about a half hour at the house.

Police officers and sheriff's deputies conducted a thorough search of the house and out-buildings Saturday night and early Sunday morning. Nothing appeared to be amiss.

Then working on the assumption that Carson had left his home on foot and had fallen, they fanned out an arm's length from each other and covered the grounds in ever widening circles. They found nothing.

If Carson had left the house on foot, his tracks would have been obliterated almost immediately by the heavy drifting snow which fell furiously all afternoon and evening Saturday and most of Sunday.

Sunday morning, East Jordan snowmobilers joined the search, covering the area thoroughly again, carefully turning over any suspicious mound of snow. They found nothing.

Sunday afternoon, the Sheriff's Department officially listed Carson as a "missing person" and notified all local police agencies to be on the look out for him.

Carson, 75, is the younger brother of the late Kit Carson of Charlevoix who died Dec. 8.

Mrs. Kit Carson took Carson with her to Lansing to spend the Christmas holidays at the home of her son, Kit Carson Jr. Mrs. Carson had hoped for an extended visit but her brother-in-law became lonesome for familiar surroundings and they returned home Friday.

"He said if I wouldn't take him, he'd walk," Mrs. Carson told the Courier.

She said Carson was happy to get home, although the furnace had gone out during his absence. Mrs. Carson built a fire in the fireplace and summoned a furnace repairman. The furnace was back in operation Friday evening.

Mrs. Carson said her brother-in-law was in good spirits and reasonably good health, although he did suffer from high blood pressure and had problems with his equilibrium at times.

Sheriff's deputies and police officers still haven't ruled out foul play, even though the mystery of the green car has been solved. They point out that it is unlikely Carson would have left the house without his jacket, hat and boots, particularly with a snow storm in progress.

Neighbors report that Carson sometimes carried rather large amounts of money on his person.

Deputy Joe Etienne told the Courier Sunday night that the search probably would resume in the vicinity of Carson's home Monday morning.

"But we don't have much to go on," Etienne admitted.

Carson lived alone in his two-story home and rejected suggestions that he have someone move in with him.

His wife, Helen, and only son, Douglas, were killed in an auto accident in August, 1970, near Kalkaska.

Carson formerly raised cattle but went out of the business two years ago, according to his sister-in-law.

His car, which he used to run errands in town, is still in the garage.

Only 83 Babies Born Here in '73

The number of babies born in Charlevoix County sank to a new modern-day low in 1973, according to figures released by the County Clerk's office.

The county counted only 83 births for the calendar year, as of noon Friday.

The figure is 16 below the 1972 total of 99.

A decade ago the figure averaged more than 200 a year.

The number of in-county births started dropping in the latter half of the 1960's. In 1970, the clerk's office recorded 131 births and in 1971 the total was 114.

Although a rather large number of Charlevoix County mothers travel to hospitals in Petoskey to give birth, the figure is at least partially offset by the large number of Antrim County mothers from Ellsworth, Central Lake and Bellaire who choose to have their babies in Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Another factor in the declining birth rate is increasing awareness of population problems, the economies of raising children and more widespread knowledge of birth control measures.

If it weren't for the influx of new residents from southern Michigan and other parts of the country, Charlevoix County would be well below zero population growth. The county recorded 138 deaths in 1973 – 55 more than the number of babies born.

The number of deaths has been climbing gradually in recent years, which is probably attributable to the growing popularity of Charlevoix County as a retirement mecca for older retired couples.

In 1970 the county counted 126 deaths. In 1971 the figure climbed to 135. In 1972 it dropped back to 134, but rose to 138 for the year just ended.

Five of the deaths occurred in Boyne City, six in the City of Charlevoix, 11 in East Jordan and 116 in the remainder of the county, which includes

Dick Fochtman to Run Against Mayor Hansen

First Ward Alderman Richard Fochtman will challenge Charlevoix Mayor Edward P. Hansen in the city primary Feb. 18.

Fochtman's petition was filed Friday. The mayor was expected to file before the 4 p.m. deadline Monday.

Races also are developing in the First and Second Wards.

In the First Ward, Thomas A. Duke has filed for the council seat to be vacated by Alderman Sam Supernaw, who is not a candidate. Duke will vie for the seat with Ralph McRae, who says his petition will be filed Monday.

In the Second Ward, Alderman Robert Timms will be challenged by Robert Lieberman. Both expected to have petitions filed for them Monday.

In the Third Ward, Incumbent Alderman Gerald Selph also was expected to file Monday without opposition.

As of Friday, only four petitions have been filed, those of Duke, Fochtman, City Clerk Ida Heise and City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham.

All of the candidates are expected to file as Republicans.

The county will take advantage of the city's spring primary to elect a new District 13 (First Ward) commissioner to replace the late Kit Carson, who died Dec. 8.

Donald Meggison has filed for the seat as a Republican. Paul Osterberg told the Courier Sunday that he intends to file before the Jan. 8 deadline as a Democrat. Unless other opposition develops in the coming week, both names will appear on the general election ballot in March.

Ice Hockey Meet Jan. 2

Recreation Director Curtis Kipke reports an ice hockey program for Charlevoix youngsters is being organized.

Interested adults are invited to a meeting on the new activity at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2 in the basement of the City Hall to discuss rules, equipment, are limits and other facets of the program.

Kipke says success of the program will depend on adult participation.

Miss Clela Smith Wed In Episcopal Rites

MRS. DAVID LAWRENCE GRAY

Miss Clela Bernice Smith became the bride of David Lawrence Gray in ceremonies Dec. 29 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Lansing.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Olds Roe Smith of Lansing and Charlevoix and Mr. Thomas Irvin Smith of Palm Beach Shores, Fla. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Gray of Holt, Mich.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of heavy ivory satin, with the bodice and bell-shaped sleeves of imported handmade rosepoint lace. The gown was first worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Clarence Sage Roe of E. Lansing.

The bridal veil of Belgian pointe de sprit and Honiton lace extended down over the bride's shoulders almost to the end of her four-foot train. The veil was first worn by the bride's great aunt, Mrs. Gladys Olds Anderson, and has been worn since by almost all of the brides in the family.

Miss Denise Desrochers of Bedford, N.H., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Debi De Loach of Texarkana, Texas, Miss Linda Roe of E. Lansing, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Gray of Holt, a sister of the bridegroom. The attendants wore full-length gowns of silk chiffon – cerise for Miss Desrochers and lavender for the bridesmaids. They carried bouquets of evergreens and white roses.

Thomas H. Glisson of Dimondale was best man. Groomsmen were Daniel D. Ries of Lansing, Woodrow D. Wright of Holt and David J. Blake of Mason. Two of the bride's uncles seated the guests, J. Woodward Roe of E. Lansing and Armin Sage Roe of Lansing.

Reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Roeanoaks, on Moores River-dr., Lansing. Focal point of the decorations was a 12-foot Douglas fir tree presented to the bride by her godmother, Mrs. Howard L. Gibson. The tree was illuminated by 3,000 tiny colored lights and decorated with ornaments collected by the family from around the world.

The bride cut her wedding cake with a silver knife which was a wedding gift to her great-grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Olds who maintained a summer residence in Charlevoix.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Gray wore an Italian knit suit of navy blue and kelly green, with matching shoes and handbag.

The bridal couple left Dec. 31 for Germany where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Library notes

There are as many kinds of love story as there are kinds of love. The new novel, "A Thousand Summers," by Garson Kanin, deal with a very special love. It is a tender, funny, warm, heartbreaking book – a woman's book, probably, and although it is an account of mature love, we think our young readers will find it exciting and rewarding. It offers easy, quiet, relaxing reading during the busy holidays.

'The Anderson Papers' is a book everyone has waited for. Taken from the files of America's most famous investigative reporter, Jack Anderson, the book reveals not only how he broke the recent stories which have been headlinbed across the nation, but more important, he tells those stories in unprecedented detail. It is a provocative and disturbing investigation of power in politics, a hardhitting, energetic narrative which goes behind the headlines.

"I Never Danced at the White House" was written by Art Buchwald, and that's about all that needs to be said. This clever man has become a national institution and he has been called the greatest satirist in English since Pope and Swift. This five foot eight, 175 pound bundle of terror has been attacking Democrats and Republicans in print for 11 years. Before that he lived in France where he attacked General de Gaulle. He takes particular delight in making fun of Presidents, vice presidents, heads of state, Congressional leaders, and candidates for the Supreme Court who never seem to get confirmed by the Senate. His new book offers delightful, good-humored reading.

Another very funny fellow is Sam Levenson and we were glad to get his newest piece of nonsense "In One Era and Out the Other." Nobody in the world pulls our world together the way Sam Levinson does. Looking at the young with loving wisdom, he finds them overcome by the need to overcome. He sees them searching for their ties to the past at the same time they believe they are cutting them. There is a great deal of thought and understanding tucked in the pages of this new book. "Mama was an extravagant saver," he tells us. "She saved more than my father earned." And then he speaks of his mother-in-law who continued to keep her food in her old icebox while she left the new refrigerator door open to cool the house. We think our patrons will be quoting this book and enjoying it for a long time to come.

Garden Club Told Of Holiday Customs

By Hilda Alexander

The next meeting of the Garden Club will be Jan. 8 at the home of Mrs. Nancy Wood, with Mrs. Aria Staublin as co-hostess.

The lesson will be "Indoor Gardening" by Mrs. Agate Santek.

The December meeting was a Christmas get-together at the home of Mrs. Janis Glass, with Mrs. Catherine Stebe as co-hostess.

Mrs. Dorothy Lewand showed bird feeders that were made by Dale Glass and John Stebe for the club to give to eight senior citizens who are shut-ins.

Several Christmas songs were sung by the Women's Club Quartet, led by Mrs. Mary Beitel.

The lesson, "American Christmas Customs", was given by Mrs. Virginia Berg. She said the use of mistletoe dates to the Druids in pre-Christian times. The plant was considered an emblem of peace and good fortune. The plant is never used in Christian churches even today because of its pagan origin. The only Christian reference to it concerns a link between heaven and earth, because mistletoe grows without touching the ground.

Mrs. Berg also discussed the poinsettia, the Christmas rose and the Christmas tree, the popularity of which has spread from midieval Germany throughout the modern world, even to Japan where the population is less than one percent Christian.

German settlers in Pennsylvania decorated the first Christmas tree in America about 1746. The first communal Christmas tree in the country was decorated on Mt. Wilson in Pasadena, Calif., in 1909.

After the lesson, members told of Christmas traditions in their own families.

Sub-Standard Meat Must Be Identified

A new state law requiring supermarkets, restaurants and vendors to display signs stating which meats do not meet Michigan standards is now in effect, State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon) reports.

The new law requires all retail establishments selling meat that doesn't meet Michigan's strict ingredient standards to post a large yellow and red sign listing those products below standard.

Restaurants must inform their customers if they serve meat below Michigan's standards either by printing a statement on the menu or by posting a sign.

Rep. Ostling pointed out that Michigan's comminuted meat law requires that such products consist only of skeletal meats and not meat by-products such as hearts, livers, lungs, esophagi, udders, lips, snouts, or eyes.

"This new law applies to comminuted meats that meet less stringent federal standards but fail to come up with Michigan's high standards," Ostling added.

Plant Hardwoods Columnist Urges

(The following "Down to Earth" column by Alice Wessels Burlingame appeared in the Sept. 6, 1973, Birmingham Eccentric. The mother of Mrs. Hans Wiemer of Charlevoix, Mrs. Burlingame thinks the column may be of some interest to Charlevoixans who are discussing the possibility of planting shade trees downtown. She also suggests that the owners of acreage, no matter how little, consider planting hardwoods for beauty and profit.)

By Alice W. Burlingame

An excellent way to renew one's appreciation of Nature and one's personal life is to visit northern Michigan. This columnist has been breathing the clear air around the Charlevoix area.

It is amazing how many of our Oakland Country residents have their second homes beyond the Bay City level across Michigan.

To enrich valuable holdings as well as provide a growing experience for entire family, I would like to challenge these owners who take such a pleasure out of northern living to become interested in developing good stands of hardwoods on their property.

This interest would not call for the tight routine of a flower garden but would be an investment of time to enrich future years in beauty and mercenary value.

IF NEW TREES were to be planted the following should be considered: American basswood, black cherry, black walnut, northern red oak, sugar maple, yellow birch, yellow poplar and white oak. Your county forester would be a good source of guidance for sources of seedlings near you.

Build for tomorrow. A good stand of trees is as beautiful a gift for posterity as a beautiful painting.

Fertilization, the elimination of grass and culling of low value competing trees would be the major "home work" and just enough for vacation exercise. Think of the value you would add to your land, even though the property has small dimensions.

MANY OF YOU will be adding trees to your home property this fall and here are some tips to get you away from the usual selections of maples and oaks.

If you have a home with contemporary lines, investigate the Swiss Stone Pine. The profile is unusual. It would be elegant for a court-yard in some of the new apartment complexes.

Another tree with a good profile for the same assignment would be the Japanese Umbrella Pine. The needles on this pine are very interesting.

IF YOU ARE looking for a subdivision tree of great merit or one to be used as a street tree - consider the Marshall Seedless Ash. Be sure and secure the male tree. It is very clean, has a good profile and is appropriate for longevity.

We enjoy the Mountain Ash in the fall with its red berries and of course in the spring with the abundance of white flowers.

The Korean Mountain Ash is the best according to Donald Wyman, the nationally known horticulturist who gave me the above recommendations. He also added that he thought the Lamoyne Crabapple tree was the best with its large red crabapples.

IF YOU HAVE a narrow area with a half day of sun you should consider the cypress oak (Quercus Robur Fastigiata). It grows like a tall column and would be handsome planted 20 feet apart up a driveway. All branches grow upright. It will grow to be 50 feet high and the spread would only be eight feet. This oak grows fast.

Perhaps you enjoy the personal touch in the garden. If so, those acorns of the English Oak collected in September will grow better than those collected in October. Spring fertilizing, frequent deep watering and a mulch can triple the rate of growth as advised by Dr. George Parmelee from Michigan State University.

You have just discovered one of the elements of joy of being a gardner – the anticipation of what you hope to do in the future.

So Does JV Team

Charlevoix JV's couldn't get rolling Dec. 18 as they fell to their Benzie Central counterparts 83-37. The defeat was the worst the team has suffered to date.

Bob Alger, Charlevoix's high point man, scored more points on freethrows than he did on fieldgoals, as did the team as a whole.

The scorecard shows he made only 3 fieldgoals for 6 points during the game, compared to 8 freethrows out of 12 attempts. In all, he had 14 points. He was charged with 3 fouls.

Second high was Mark Hosmer with 7 points on 2 fieldgoals and 3 freethrows out of 4 tries. He had 1 foul.

Skippergosh and Otmanowski scored 4 points each, Skippergosh on 1 fieldgoal and 2 freethrows out of 2 attempts. He had 5 fouls. Otmanowski scored 1 fieldgoal and made 2 of 6 attempted freethrows. He had 5 fouls.

Steve Michnel and Ed Russell scored 3 points each. Michael made 1 fieldgoal and 1 freethrow out of 4 attempts. Russell made 1 fieldgoal and 1 freethrow out of 3 attempts. Both were charged with 5 fouls.

John Greene rang up 2 points on 2 freethrows out of 2 attempts. He was charged with 1 foul.

In all the JV's made 9 fieldgoals and 19 freethrows out of 35 attempts. They were charged with 25 personal fouls.

Quarter scores in the game were 23-6; 46-15; 69-26; and 83-37.

Benzie scored on 32 fieldgoals and 19 out of 32 freethrows. The team was charged with 28 fouls.

New World Opens Up To Cross-Country Skiers

A whole new activity of winter fun has opened up for thousands of outdoor-minded Americans. Occasionally it is referred to as Nordic skiing, but is most commonly called cross-country skiing or ski touring.

People who once stayed indoors during the cold months are, thanks to cross-country skiing, now enjoying the winter wonderland.

Why this tremendous growth in cross-country skiing? It is easy to learn; it is inexpensive; it is safe; it is a group activity that persons of all ages can enjoy.

While it lacks the sudden thrills of downhill skiing, the cross-country variety offers some distinct advantages. First, there is instant skiing – the sport can be enjoyed to its fullest the first day out. Hours of lessons and practice are not required to master the techniques.

The initial investment of hundreds of dollars for downhill equipment and the expense of lift fees, ski lessons and traveling to and from the ski slopes is not necessary.

There is not the risk of injuries associated with downhill skiing.

Nor is there the waiting in long lift lines.

In fact, many of yesterday's downhill skiers are today's strongest advocates of cross-country skiing.

Cross-country skiing began in the Stone Age. Four-thousand-year-old rock carvings depict skiers chasing animals and killing them for food. America was introduced to this form of skiing more than 100 years ago by Scandinavian settlers. But, not until the 1960's did cross-country skiing begin to catch on to any extent in the United States. Imports of skis have soared from 50,000 pairs in 1969 to 200,000 last year.

Cross-country skiing can be compared to a summer stroll. The only difference is the ski and the snow. Anyone able to walk can cross-country ski. Just a few inches of snowfall and flat-to-rolling terrain are all that is needed. A skier then does nothing more than glide along on a pair of thin waxed wood skis equipped with the standard cross-country toe binding.

Considered an excellent form of exercise, the repeated, gentle, non-strenuous, rhythmic movement over extended periods of time is cited as a fine way of general conditioning. According to a study conducted by Dr. Niles Ele, of Oslo, Norway, "Cross-country skiing forces the skier to carry his upper body load correctly on his spine."

Since cross-country ski equipment is inexpensive, there is no reason to buy the cheapest grades. A quality set of boots, poles and skis with bindings should not cost more than $80 or $90. This is inexpensive when one considers there are practically no other costs beyond the initial investment.

The ski itself is lighter, narrower, longer, and more flexible than the downhill variety. Wood provides the best characteristics for making cross-country skis. Metal edges are not needed for holding because ski touring is seldom done on hard packed or icy slopes.

For added enjoyment there are options such as animal tracking, winter photography, bird watching, and winter camping. You might try ski touring after dark. Night skiers strap lights to their heads, attach them to batteries in their pockets and wind through trails like fireflies in the night.

Cross-country skiing will never replace the generous thrills of downhill skiing but it offers a great deal to anyone who wants to see the scenery and take a peaceful "walk in the woods."

NOTICE

Because of a misunderstanding, and because forms were printed some time before action taken by the Antrim County Board of Commissioners in July, 1973, information in regard to dog license fees, which was mailed with tax statements in some instances, was incorrect.

The fee for dog licenses is now $3.00 for all dogs - male, female, and unsexed, until March 1 and $6.00 per dog from March 1 to the end of the year.

Ironton

Mrs. Ross Alexander

Mr. and Mrs. G. Oberlander and son Gary of Three Rivers and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ward and daughter Gloria of White Pigeon, Mich., spent Christmas week at the home of their mother, Mrs. Elwyn Johnson and Mr. E. Johnson.

The Ironton Trainable School entertained guests at the school with a Christmas Play last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison spent several days during Christmas week with relatives in Detroit. Then they went to Florida for the winter.

Word has been received that Mrs. J. Rawleigh Nelson passed away in an Ann Arbor Nursing Home in October where she had been a patient several years. She was 95. Prof. and Mrs. Nelson spent many summers in Ironton having had a cottage at what was known as Sweet Briar Farm Resort, later moved to Sunnyslope Hill. Mr. Nelson was professor of speech and English and also was in charge of foreign students at the University of Michigan for many years. They both attended and worked in the Ironton community church. Mr. Nelson died several years ago. The Nelsons will be remembered by all older residents in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Brownli Podskalny made a business trip to Lansing Wednesday.

We were all taken by surprise when winter arrived a week early with snow and nearly zero temperatures that have frozen the lake from East Jordan past the ferry, forcing Old Faithful to close until spring.

We are wishing everyone a Happy New Year with many many blessings in 1974.

Miracles Do Happen

By BOB CLOCK

Who says miracles don't happen?

I, for one, have joined the ranks of the believers.

A slight drop in temperature early Thursday morning was just enough to turn Christmas Week, 1973, from a washout into a glorious winter holiday.

Of course you know what happened Christmas Eve: Freezing rain, followed by just plain rain Christmas Day that melted Charlevoix's already scanty snow-cover and turned the world into a sea of grey, soupy mush that squished like moon dust when you walked on it.

The day after Christmas was not much better. More rain, more thawing snow, more grey skies, more heartbreak for ski resort owners and others who depend on sparkling, bright snowy weather for their livelihood.

When Clockwise trotted up to Petoskey with copy for this week's paper in the wee hours Thursday morning, there didn't appear a chance in the world that anything could be salvaged of Christmas Week, which traditionally means well over $1 million for the northern Michigan resort economy.

The gasoline shortage was bad enough. But to cap off the Christmas season with April weather was just too much.

At two a.m. when I returned to Charlevoix it was still raining without a hint of snow. Usually you can tell when rain is turning to snow by those round rings it leaves on the windshield. There weren't any.

Furthermore, the electric temperature signs in Petoskey announced that it was 33 degrees and you just knew it wouldn't go any lower, particularly with a state-wide forecast for more rain on Thursday.

But overnight the miracle happened.

Dawn's early light Dec. 27 revealed a world transformed. By 7:30 a.m. four inches of new snow had covered the scars of our beaten and bruised town, turning it into a veritable winter wonderland.

The new snow was clinging to every branch and pine needle, turning them into ornaments worthy of kings.

The car, which I had left dripping wet in the driveway was a solid mound of white, with the windows liberally frosted.

For once, I didn't mind cleaning them.

Although driving was treacherous, the miracle of Dec. 27, 1973, was just what the doctor ordered for northern Michigan.

All day Wednesday, visitors from southern Michigan with ski racks on their cars prowled our streets and highways looking for something to do.

Nub's Nob already had closed for the duration of the thaw. Walloon Hills and Thunder Mountain didn't even open on schedule. Boyne Mountain and Highlands made a brave front of staying open, although you know the skiing was wretched. "Water skiing", some called it.

But Thursday was a different story. And the snow was of a type that would help most—heavy enough to replace some of the lost base but light enough to satisfy those who hanker after powder.

At dawn, ski resort owners and their aides were on the telephone calling back ski two operators who had been laid off over Christmas. Chefs placed grocery orders they had cancelled 12 hours earlier. Snow plows were cranked up to open up parking lots and driveways.

—And the snow kept falling, fine and sure and beautiful.

At this writing, it is uncertain what the remainder of Christmas week will bring. Our fickle weather could bring us another rainstorm to wash away the snow. The sun could break through and turn everything to mush.

Or the temperature could keep dropping and the snow continue for days on end.

After witnessing northern Michigan's most recent miracle first-hand, that's what I'm banking on.

To Whom It May Concern...

By Doris Huckle

My Christmas cards and letters went into the mail chute late this year, and I hope President Nixon clearly understands.

His will arrive quite late, but I'm writing it now. I intend to wish him Happy Holidays and to sincerely thank him, and his zealous disciples, for what has to be the most inspirational, monumental, governmental gift to the nation since 1776.

I'm going to ask him to appoint a climbing spokesman to shout the meaning of his ungainly unwrapped gift from the very top of the Statue of Liberty, too.

I'll ask him to do this right away, before any energy crisis, or worse, dims even that long-lighted torch.

Have your appointed spokesman cry: "Hail to our present from the Chief! Delivered to all of us with such painful and premediated planning, reverse tactics, and consequences!"

For unintended or not, I think the President and his disciples have charged our sleepy souls with a series of shock treatments that will do us good.

They have presented us with a chance to review our American goals. We should deeply appreciate that they have done so at considerable sacrifice of ego.

This I will tell him, and more.

That we realize for instance, it has been a short time, (in terms of God's eternal world) only two thousand years, since new moral rules were acted out (amidst government scorn) and offered to mankind.

That also it is not long, in the history of most nations, since some of those moral rules were included in the principles by which Americans would attempt to govern themselves.

And, that we understand he has only had a few brief years to prepare his gift to the nation.

Could it possibly be, Mr. President, that while we have been busy pointing our fingers at you, you have been busy acting out our eroded rules for us? Showing us how inert, as moral guidelines, our laws have become?

In the spirit of the season, I will urge my fellowman to stop casting stones, and to recognize the signs of his gift.

I personally and honestly wish him, Mr. Agnew, the Watergate crew, the plumbers and all the tax law makers a very Merry Christmas.

I thank them for showing all of us the detours the nation has taken; for all of them so realistically acting out for the people what needs be done, to bring the guiding light back, for future Happy News Years in America.

I will tell him my hopes that all of us will heed the light, that we will not again forget our legacy of gifts from two thousand years ago, 200 years ago, and of course, the Nixon gift.

This will be my letter.

My gift to Mr. Nixon will be one of hope for him and his.

"Maybe," I'll tell him, "future historical records will show a re-birth of American principles following Christmas, 1973.

And it's always conceivable some author of the future may write a chapter entitled: "American Leadership Sacrifice of the 1970's."

In God's eternal world, hope never fails in power, so Merry Christmas, Mr. President!

We Missed Yule Lights

The energy crisis notwithstanding, it really didn't seem like Christmas in downtown Charlevoix this year without the colored lights.

Of course it was strictly psychological. We have become used to our Christmas decorations and we expect them. And without them we feel that something is missing from the holiday season.

And it is.

Perhaps if the city economizes throughout the coming year by illuminating only half of our mercury vapor street lamps, we could splurge a little next Christmas and decorate Bridge-st. the way it should be decorated.

We also hope that by next year there will be some unanimity among store owners as to what hours they will remain open for holiday shopping.

If we could guarantee residents and out-of-towners alike that all downtown shops will be open until 9 p.m. for one or two weeks before Christmas—and stick to it—we believe a lot more shoppers would do their spending in town.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump Jr.

"The farther you look back the further you can see ahead," said Henry Ford, founder of an automotive empire.

"Unimportant if true," scoffs the quick witted advertising dude whose thought-control profession took form during the Civil War when the testy sergeant bellowed at the quivering recruit requesting leave to get married.

"If the Army thought you needed a wife they'd have issued you one!"

In the bygone tubeless era we were at the mercy of unscrupulous retailers such as Greasy Gus located on the corner of Gyp and Swindle. His only guarantee on the battery we bought was that "Its a good 'ern." Today we suffer no such qualms when the man on the screen in a white smock offers us a battery that will start four cars simultaneously in winter weather.

Mechanics who learned the trade when a monkey wrench was a precision tool dismiss performance while Mr. Smock implies such unbelievable electrical capacity is not the issue. The plain hard fact is that no American business has, or ever will, invest a million dollars in advertising to perpetrate a hoax on his fellow citizens. Sorry Ole' timer you lost that one.

Sexy models boost sales significantly as they lounge, inhale, spray, lather or wear their offerings, wearing a radiant smile or pixie frown appropriate to the promotion involved. They also bounce, chew and chant in delightful unison to a masticating passtime totally unrelated to Copenhagen. Snuff frustrates the ad men unable to present it in a feminine tasteful manner--a problem which leaves man's only remaining sanctuary intact.

If we look back at the pioneer women who preferred their nicotine in pinch form, and ahead to the gals who puff pipes and cigars in public, the whiz kids may have to come up with a new word for cuspidor—a word for which Webster offers only one hardly esthetic alternative—spitoon!

Looking back to Aunt Esther's day we find the solution to the current controversy about how much iron to put in bread. She didn't add iron to her dough like vanilla extract to her cakes. The iron came from toasting this bread on the range top. Added iron came for foods fried in a cast iron skillet and beans baked in a cast iron pot. Uncle Charlie absorbed an extra measure from his Sunday shirt, smoothed pasteboard stiff with a flatiron, that whimsical doorstop used by the elite.

We made French fried by browning slabs of raw potatoes on that polished black surface. Dipped in butter and salted, they excelled today's greasy heartburn wafers in every respect one, the one which renders them worthless. They won't CRUNCH to the satisfaction of intelligent adults enlightening us via the tube; therefore they are of no 'commercial' value.

After reading an excerpt from the medical journal, I confirmed this ancient source of iron vitamin with my good friend 'Al' Deszell who has fried his breakfast egg in the same cast iron skillet for more than 40 years. At 83 he has a spring in his step which makes the cane he carries, merely for effect, more like shorter version of the pogo stick.

Watching him one cannot help but wonder if there isn't another medical benefit involved. Perhaps by receiving the required amount of iron from sensible eating habits we might expel the amount of lead in our systems acquired by our lazy way of life.

Lions Thank All Those Who Helped

Bob:

The Lions Club plans on hosting a Xmas movie for children as an annual event, I was hoping you would find space in your paper to print our Thank You to our area citizens who made this project a success.

We are deeply grateful for the response to our shoppers carts for needy families on Christmas. We thank the children who attended our movie and the ladies of the Bethany Lutheran Church who made up the boxes.

Charlevoix Area Hospital, located in Charlevoix Township.

The number of marriage licenses applied for in 1973 also showed a modest increase, according to the clerk's office, which pointed out that not all of the licenses issued during the calendar year had been executed by noon Friday.

One hundred and ninety two licenses were issued in 1973, compared to 186 in 1972, 159 in 1971 and 168 in 1970.

The number of divorces granted in Charlevoix County Circuit Court also has shown an alarming increase since the no-fault insurance law was enacted two years ago.

The divorce figure has climbed from 33 in 1970 to 48 in 1971, to 69 in 1972 and to 74 for the year just ended.

Although statisticians hesitate to compare figures for marriage and divorce in a given year for a number of reasons, Charlevoix County's 1973 totals would seem to indicate that one out of every two and one-half marriages is ending in divorce court.

Some of the figures may change slightly when County Clerk Clarence Rabach makes his final report for the year later in January.

Soup To Nuts

REG Sharkey of Petoskey has come up with a word for the ungainly clumps of road slush that collect in fender wells. He calls them "glunks." His reasoning: "Gunk, according to Webster, means something repulsively greasy or sticky, which takes care of glunk without the 'l'. The small 'l' then signifies the first letter of a word often used in a euphemistical way to emphasize a point short of swearing. As an example we might say: 'Lord, how I hate those gunks' – and with the small 'l' absorbed into the gunk it becomes 'glunk', "OK, so "glunks" they are.

Brief Agenda For Council

The City Council was expected to hold a brief meeting at 5 p.m. Monday, New Year's Eve, to approve bills and consider other pressing business, including the appointment of a new city attorney.

The city has been without legal counsel since the death of Norman D. Ance Dec. 16.

Also on the agenda are approval of the minutes of the last meeting, reception of visitors, approval of a taxi license for Oscar Ward and a report on upcoming negotiations with the Communications Workers of America (CWA) which represents city employes.

Injured E.J. Youth Rallies Slightly

Steven G. Wilson, 17, of East Jordan was reported as slightly improved over the weekend in Little Traverse Hospital, although sheriff's deputies have been unable to question him about how he was injured early Dec. 22 on Dutchman's Bay-rd. in the Lake Charlevoix peninsula.

After being unconscious for seven days, the youth reportedly opened his eyes Saturday and mumbled a few incoherent words, the sheriff's department reported.

A motorist reported to nurses at Grandvue that a man was lying in the road and that he had almost hit him.

Nurses summonded the East Jordan ambulance which transported the youth to Charlevoix Area Hospital. He was removed later to Little Traverse Hospital.

Wilson's injuries didn't appear to be extensive and his failure to regain consciousness puzzled his doctors.

Wilson's truck was found in a field not far from where he was found on the roadway.

JIM WITHERS is proprietor of the A&W restaurant on S. Bridge-st. The restaurant strives and achieves a "family" atmosphere.

Family Atmosphere Is Goal of A&W

By Cheryl Galley

Where were you in 1959? A little American Graffiti here. Watching American Bandstand, Elvis is inducted into the Army and I roller skated to the local A & W to meet my friends for root beer and hot dogs. That was the year Charlevoix got its A & W. Built by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Withers, the A & W has provided local residents with ice cold root beer after a hot day down on the beach and quick sandwiches.

Progress is made, yet all good things do not end. In 1972 Jim Withers, son of Mr. & Mrs. Bruce Withers, started managing the local A & W and the drive-in grew into a family restaurant – with a cozy fireplace and comfortable atmosphere. There still remains the drive-in section and that great root beer but it has become a fine place for a relaxing hot lunch, and the service, thanks to Sherry Withers, head waitress and wive of Jim Withers, is unmatched.

In the past year and a half another addition was made. Jon Withers and wife Pat came to Charlevoix to help manage the fast growing A & W. A real family restaurant, I would encourage you to try it for lunch or take the family to one of their excellent spaghetti dinners or Friday fish frys.

MY CHOICE-If you are planning to go to Detroit in the very near future I would encourage you not to miss "Jacque Brell is alive and living in Paris" at Mercy College. It is an extraordinary cabaret production unsurpassed even by the original New York cast in my estimation. You will be in store for some of the finest music of this decade.

Soup to Nuts

THE COMET Kohoutek is plainly visible from Charlevoix on clear nights with the naked eye, according to Eugene Gibelyou. He says the comet appears shortly after sunset in the west southwest, just above the planets Venus and Jupiter. If you divide the sky into quarters, it is about one-quarter above the western horizon. Gibelyou says the comet appears as a streak of light about two inches long. Other area residents also spotted Comet Kohoutek over the weekend. Advanced billings said the comet would be the brightest object in the evening sky. However Gibelyou says the intensity is about the same as Jupiter.

A BAR owner in Ontonagon, Mich., in the western part of the Upper Peninsula, isn't particularly enthused about Daylight Saving Time in mid-winter. He opens his establishment at 7 a.m. and some of his early trade is bombed before the sun comes up.

SPEAKING of Daylight Saving Time, our County Commissioners have gone on record as favoring Central Time for all of Michigan. That would put us right back where we were before the big switch to DST Sunday morning. Actually only one city in Michigan – Port Huron – is legitimately considered in the Eastern time zone. The rest of us are pretty much out of step.

GEORGE Duke apologizes for being an "eternal optimist," but he feels that the Arabs have done us all a favor by doubling the price of oil and cutting off the U.S. supply when they did: "Can you imagine what would have happened if they had pulled such a stunt in wartime?" The timing of the Arab move, Duke believes, will let the United States make whatever adjustments are necessary calmly and cooly. He sees the U.S. turning to electric heat, from coal-fired generating plants.

IN THE same vein, how could the United States have allowed its railroads fall into such a state of disrepair that the rails are no longer safe for passengers? Incredible. Admittedly, railroad officials have not been overly imaginative in meeting the competition from airlines, road builders and auto manufacturers. But can you imagine the chaos in this country if we suddenly became embroiled in another war and were forced to move vast amounts of materials and personnel by air alone?

Courier's year-end review last week mentioned the hassle over the Dunes' building permit, but missed the most important part of the controversy: the granting of the permit by the city council on April 9. Greg Bratko who is in charge of construction says he hopes to have some units ready for occupancy in May. The two-bedroom units will sell for $58,900 and three-bedroom with loft units for $73,500. All units are air conditioned and have fireplaces, ceramic baths, all appliances and a choice of kitchen cabinets and counter tops. The condos also feature an indoor heated pool, game room and carports. Developer Ron Steffes is building only 24 units, instead of the 32 allowed by his building permit.

PANCAKE ice in early January? You bet! A field of pancake ice from Lake Michigan invaded Round Lake last week and lodged just west of the railroad bridge. The circular chunks of ice usually form later in the season during the spring break-up. The chunks are whittled into circles by bumping against each other.

UNSEASONABLY cold weather during the past two weeks has shot holes in the Soup to Nuts weather forecast for this winter. If snow and arctic temperatures persist, we could be in for a real humdinger.

RETIRED FARMER STILL MISSING

Chickadees and Rabbit Tracks Only Signs of Life at Carson Home

Chickadees flutter around the bird feeder just outside the front door.

And rabbit tracks criss-cross the fresh snow that blankets the front yard.

They are the only signs of life at the Delbert Carson residence on Carson-rd. about five miles southeast of East Jordan.

Carson, 75, disappeared mysteriously from his farm home the evening of Dec. 29 and has not been seen since, despite a massive search early last week by Charlevoix County sheriff's deputies, East Jordan police officers and dozens of volunteer snowmobilers.

However the search is over, at least until spring.

Charlevoix County Sheriff Philo Sumner says he is almost 100 percent certain that Carson did not meet with foul play.

He believes Carson suffered a slight stroke, became confused and simply wandered away from his house. He thinks he may have become lost and fallen in a cedar swamp on the east side of Carson-rd., downhill and about a half-mile south of the Carson home.

The house is located on a hilltop, with a sweeping view of the Jordan River Valley to the west and south.

However lawmen are puzzled by the fact that although the night Carson disappeared was cold and snowy, the retired farmer left his outer garments at the house, a trim, two-story shingled structure with grey shutters.

Carson's life-long neighbor, John Bennett, who lives just north of the Carson home on the opposite side of the road, says he thinks Carson may have been abducted.

Carson had his noon meal with the Bennetts the day he disappeared and Bennett drove him home about 12:45 p.m. He chatted briefly with him and left.

The only other visitors to the Carson home that day, to the neighbors' knowledge, was a caller from East Jordan who stopped in to see Carson on business.

Mrs. Bennett says that Carson has been in failing health and that she often had to cut his meat for him when he came to her home for his noon meal.

Bennett said he sometimes had to help him up the three steps which lead from the family room to the kitchen.

The Bennetts recalled that about two weeks before Christmas, Carson fell in the road after visiting at the home of Mrs. Clifford Pumfrey. Mrs. Pumfrey lives directly across the road from the Carson residence.

Mrs. Pumfrey managed to get him back on his feet and later Carson's sister-in-law, Mrs. Kit Carson of Charlevoix, summoned a doctor to examine him.

Over the Christmas holidays, Mrs. Carson took her brother-in-law with her to Lansing to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kit Carson jr. They returned on Friday and Carson disappeared on Saturday.

Mrs. Pumfrey says she took Carson's mail in to him

RABBITS and chickadees are the only signs of life at the home of Delbert Carson, 75, who disappeared mysteriously the night of Dec. 29 from his residence near East Jordan. Law officers believe he suffered a stroke and wandered away without his coat or boots. As many as 60 searchers combed the area last weekend without turning up any sign of Carson.

COUNTY SHERIFF Philo Sumner is convinced that Delbert Carson, 75, who disappeared from his farm home near East Jordan Dec. 29, will be found in the swamp on the east side of Carson rd. This picture was taken from in front of the Carson home, looking south.

Donald Berlage Is Appointed City Attorney

Donald Berlage of Charlevoix was appointed city attorney by Mayor Edward P. Hansen with the approval of the city council at last Monday's council meeting.

Berlage succeeds Norman D. Ance, who died Dec. 16.

A native of Cincinnati, Berlage was graduated from the University of Cincinnati Law School in 1953 and worked for several years for the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) in San Francisco and New York City.

He later established a private law practice in Toledo and served as attorney for the Kaiser Jeep Corp.

The Berlages became summer residents of Charlevoix in 1962 and moved to the city as permanent residents in 1967.

Berlage maintains a private law practice in the Pine River Building on Bridge-st.

Since 1971 he has served as assistant prosecutor for Charlevoix County.

Berlage and his wife, Barbara, a second grade teacher at the Charlevoix Elementary School, live at 407 Michigan-ave.

They have three sons, Clint, a freshman at Michigan State University and a member of the MSU varsity reserve football team; Jim, a sophomore at Charlevoix High School and a Steve, a freshman at CHS.

Berlage has been a member of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission for the past four years. He also is a member of the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and the Charlevoix Lions Club.

Board Meets Thursday on Ferry Ramps

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners will meet at the courthouse annex here at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to make a decision regarding contracts for work on the Ironton Ferry ramps.

Bids on the construction of the ramps were opened during the January meeting of the board held Friday. They were turned over to the Ironton Ferry committee headed by Ralph Richardson for tabulation and evaluation and to the Ways and Means committee which was asked to come up with funds to underwrite the cost of rebuilding the ramps.

Bids were asked on seven phases of the construction project. Bidders could bid on any one or all phases. Only one contractor, W.A. Porter Construction Co. of East Jordan bid on all seven phases of the work. A Cheboygan firm, Durocher Dock and Dredge, bid on five of the seven and Grand Traverse Crane of Traverse City bid on two. B & B Electric of Charlevoix bid on the electrical contract submitting a bid of $6,971.

Porter's overall bid totaled $104,500 and included $5,000 on Phase I (Electrical); $8,000 on Phase II, the removal of existing ramps and necessary excavation; $10,000 on Phase III, the salvage of ramps obtained through the DNR on docks at Mackinaw City. This includes removal of the ramps from their present location and transportation to Ironton where they will be used; $30,000 for Phase IV, installation of sheet piling and offshore piling to support the proposed dock; $21,000 for Phase V, fabrication of the ramps brought from Mackinaw City and placing them in their proper place; $25,000 for Phase VI, for motors, winche and cables necessary to lift ramps after they are installed and $5,500 for Phase VII, for erection of other necessary installations such as guard rails, and painting of ramps for a total of $104,500.

The Durocher Dock and Dredge bid totaled $97,690 or $20,000 for Phase II, $16,690 Phase III, $38,500 Phase IV, $15,000 Phase V and $7,500 Phase VII.

Grand Traverse Crane bid was $84,282 including $41,852 on Phase V and $42,330 on Phase VI.

The Porter figures were contigent on receiving the contracts for the seven projects listed.

Bids will be accepted later on the last three phases, Phase VIII that includes rip-rap and backfill; Phase IX, surfacing of approaches to ramps and guard rails and Phase X, signs, lights and other items not included elsewhere.

All figures were much higher than the estimates projected by Williams & Works, a Grand Rapids engineering firm which had drawn up the plans for the project.

The engineering estimates totaled $66,500.

However, Ralph Richardson, chairman of the ferry committee, said that various additions were made over the specifications drawn up earlier and these alone accounted for many of the increases.

Kenneth Staley, a member of the Ferry Committee, said that the figures included in the Tax Sale In Courier This Week

A list of properties which will be sold for delinquent taxes by County Treasurer Anah Potter on May 7 appears in this week's Courier on pages 7 and 8.

The list also will be published Jan. 16 and Jan. 23.

Anyone objecting to the tax lien on his property should appear in Charlevoix County Circuit Court Feb. 4.

It is possible to redeem the property by paying taxes due, interest and charges.

Council OK's Round Lake Finger Piers

Meeting at 5 p.m. New Year's Eve, the Charlevoix City Council agreed that it has no objection to plans by Keith Kerr of Grand Blanc to construct a seawall and two finger piers into Round Lake from in front of his North Side property.

The Corps asked for the council's opinion after four North Side residents objected to the project for various reasons.

The project, which calls for the construction of finger piers 50 and 56 feet in length, apparently has the blessing of the Corps.

The Kerrs say the long piers will be built to accommodate their boating friends.

In other business the council:

–Approved Mayor Edward P. Hansen's appointment of Donald Berlage as city attorney. (See story elsewhere in this week's Courier)

–Hired a Cheboygan firm, LaHaie's Main Realty, to run an appraisal of about 150-feet of Lake Charlevoix frontage adjacent to Depot Beach which the city has acquired from the C & O Railroad. The appraisal is necessary in order to receive state recreation bond funding for the property.

–Agreed to cash certificates of deposit totaling $17,447.95 to pay for the recently-purchased front-end loader.

–Agreed to cash a certificate of deposit of $117,180 to pay waste water treatment plant bills.

–Transferred $2,500 from the general fund to the local street fund and $13,000 from the major street fund to the local street fund to help balance year-end accounts.

–Approved bills and payroll totaling $247,072.94.

After the gavel rang down, Alderwoman Jeannie Wallace broke out a bottle of champagne to toast the New Year with her colleagues and the press.

Recreation Planning Topic of TC Meeting

Local government leaders and members of the public interested in improving community recreation are being urged to attend a meeting Wednesday, Jan. 16, in Traverse City at which state officials will discuss planning and funding of local recreation programs.

Scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. in the Park Place Motor Inn Michigan Room, the meeting will be one of several conducted around the state by the Department of Natural Resources and the State Recreation Advisory Committee.

The Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission is assisting state officials in organizing the Traverse City meeting.

Bill G. Rowden, Executive Director of the 10-county Northwest Regional Commission, said the discussion will center on ways in which the state might assist communities, in improving recreation programs, including possible funding, which may be similar to the Recreation Bond Program of past years.

The first part of the meeting will include a presentation of a DNR proposal, a slide-showing on local recreation in Michigan and a brief talk on the importance of planning for recreation.

Income Tax Woes? You Can Get Help in Petoskey

Taxpayers living in the Charlevoix area can obtain assistance with their 1973 Federal income tax returns Monday and Friday each week at the IRS office in Petoskey, according to local District Director's Representative James Young.

Internal Revenue Service personnel will be available to provide Federal income tax information from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Petoskey office is located at City County Building.

The IRS will offer expanded telephone service this year to make it more convenient for taxpayers to obtain information and advice. Telephone service will be offered six days a week. IRS offices close at 4:00 p.m. for in-person assistance. Telephone service, however, will be offered 'til 5:30 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. 'til 3:30 p.m. Assistance phone numbers for Michigan are listed in the instruction booklets mailed to all taxpayers, according to Young.

Except for telephone assistance, IRS offices are closed on Saturdays. Many taxpayers will be able to use the "short form" 1040A, again this year. The IRS estimates that about 30 million taxpayers will be able to use the half-page form 1040A.

Taxpayers who plan to pay someone to prepare their return are reminded that the law requires the person to sign the form as preparer.

All Aliens Must Register in January

Armand J. Salturelli of the Detroit Immigration and Naturalization Service has again reminded all aliens to report their addresses during January.

Cards with which to make the reports are available at Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service throughout the country. The reports should be filled in and signed, then a postage stamp placed on the reverse side and it dropped in any mail box.

Parents or guardians submit reports for alien children under 14 years of age.

Salturelli urges all aliens to report before the end of January, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious penalties.

Salturelli would like to caution all aliens, as well as employers, that the issuance of a Social Security Account Card to an alien is not evidence of permission to work in the United States. Only those aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence (immigrants) and those aliens temporarily in the United States (nonimmigrants) who have been authorized by the Service to take employment may work in this country.

Obituary

Grossmann

Oscar J. Grossmann summer resident of the Charlevoix area, died Wednesday, Jan. 2, in Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, Mo. following surgery for a brain tumor. Funeral was held on Saturday, Jan. 5 at 1:30 p.m. at the United Church of Christ in Smithton, Ill.

Born Feb. 19, 1900, Mr. Grossmann spent his early years on a large farm near Smithton, and received his education in country schools. On Sept. 28, 1921, he married Isabelle Forcade. They continued to live on the farm for several years and achieved fame as successful farmers and orchardists, becoming especially well-known for developing prize-winning peaches. Early in life Mr. Grossmann became affiliated with the Farm Bureau, later becoming manager of its cooperatives. His success in this work led to his being selected as an officer of the Illinois Farm Supply with offices in Chicago where he was advanced to the position of Chief Purchasing Agent.

In 1960 Mr. Grossmann "retired", and thereafter he and his wife spent about half of each year at their beloved "Wildewald" (German for "wild wood"), resort property they had purchased in 1953 in Hayes Township, overlooking Lake Charlevoix. Their expertise in gardening brought many Northerners to their garden fence to gape in wonder at their summer crops, and their gifts for friendship drew countless visitors to their door and dining table.

Oscar Grossmann was prominent in the Masonic order and a dedicated churchman, being an active member of the First Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) in Charlevoix.

In his passing, Mr. Grossmann leaves his wife, Isabelle; two brothers, Armin and Wilbert; his sister Clara Skaer, and many nieces and nephews.

Hospital Guild Kept Busy Over Holidays

The holiday day season was particularly busy for members of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild.

Members helped the Showease giftshop in the hospital lobby, which is marking one year of operation. The pre-Christmas showing was successful and profitable.

A committee from the guild decorated the hospital for the holidays to make it more cheery for patients.

At the December meeting, members decorated stockings which were used as buntings for babies born during the holidays. Every newborn went home tucked in a stocking.

In recognition of their contributions, guild members were entertained during the holidays at a tea given by the hospital administration and members of the staff.

Regular committees have been busy all year making puppets and decorative pillows for children who are patients in the hospital. They also have made layettes, including booties and caps, for the babies of needy mothers as well as tray favors for all the holidays.

The guild is looking forward to another busy year.

Members who have signed up to work at the Showease are urged to mark the dates conspicuously on their calendars so that customers willl always have someone on hand to wait on them.

Conserve Energy: Read a Good Book

By Eleanor Ratigan

One way to cooperate during the energy crisis is to stay off the highway and curl up in a rocking chair with a good new book. To whet your appetite, we offer a sampling of new titles.

"Druns Along the Khyber" was written by Duncan MacNeil, which is the pen name or pseudonym, of a well-known thriller and suspense writer who has a special interest in the old British Army in India. The story has to do with the Ogilvies, two generations of whom have served, and commanded the 114th Highlanders, the Queen's Own Royal Strathspeys. James Ogilvie is the third generation. Pitchforked with mixed feelings into the family regiment, he finds himself in 1894 enroute for India. He is given no time to discover how well he is really suited to military life, the command of men, or to meeting the expectations of an irascible father who will be his Commander. As a young second lieutenant, James learns many lessons, but the real test comes when the Royal Strathspeys are sent through the Khyber Pass to capture the rebel Ahmed Khan. There is an exciting climax which leads to the discovery that to emerge with credit does not necessarily mean to emerge without doubts.

"Castlemore" was written by Charles MacKinnon in the tradition of the great family sages of Galsworthy and Delderfield. This romantic novel traces the lives and loves, in peace and in war, of three generations of a grand Scottish family in the West Highlands of Scotland in the years from the turn of the century to World War II. We will tempt you with one small morsel of the plot. During the engagement celebration, when the third son in the clan, raised his glass to toast his beautiful Norma, his oldest brother, Alasdair, looked into her clear grey eyes and knew that life would never be the same for him again. The reader can go on from there.

There is probably no one writing today who can surpass Ernest K. Gann when it comes to bringing out the excitement and exhilaration of flying. "Band of Brothers" is a story of supreme adventure and the brave camaraderie among men that exists only in the face of danger. When Alexander Malloy, a legend in flying, is blamed for the disastrous crash of the plane he is piloting from Manila to Taipei, the reaction of the aviation world is shock and embarrassment. Only one man believes in Malloy's innocence. Regardless of the dangers involved, he resolves to rescue his friend from a Chinese prison and almost certain death. The situation is further complicated by his attraction to his friend's beautiful Chinese wife. "Band of Brothers" is an absorbing and exceptionally entertaining book. Recommended for everyone.

Since the death of C.S. Forester, Lt. the Hon. Nicholas Ramage, R.N., has become Hornblower's dashing successor in a series of brilliantly detailed and action-filled novels about the Royal Navy in the 18th century. Dudley Pope's new novel, "Governor Ramage, R.N.", with its swash-buckling naval combats and suspenseful narrative, is the most exciting "Ramage" novel to date. If you have not been acquainted with this marvelous character, after reading this new book, you'll surely want to read others in the series.

ANNUAL TAX SALE
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT
FOR THE
COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

In the Matter of the Complaint of Allison Green, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon

No. 364 3

On reading and filing the complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan praying for a judgment in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said complaint will be brought on for hearing and judgment at the February term of this Court, to be held at Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 4th day of February A.D., 1974, at the opening of the Court on that day, and that all persons interested in such lands or any part thereof, desiring to contest the lien claimed thereon by the State of Michigan, for such taxes, interest and charges, or any part thereof, shall appear in said Court, and file with the clerk thereof their objections thereto on or before the first day of the term of this Court above mentioned, and that in default thereof the same will be taken as confessed and a judgment will be taken and entered as prayed for in said complaint. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said judgment the lands described in said complaint for which a judgment of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such judgment, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. and on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the judgment shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT
FOR THE
COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

In the Matter of the Complaint of Allison Green, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of CHARLEVOIX.

ALLISON GREEN, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court

1. That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent.

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four percent and (d) $3.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first mentioned:

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described contitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays,

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgment in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained.

c. That said judgment provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides.

d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc

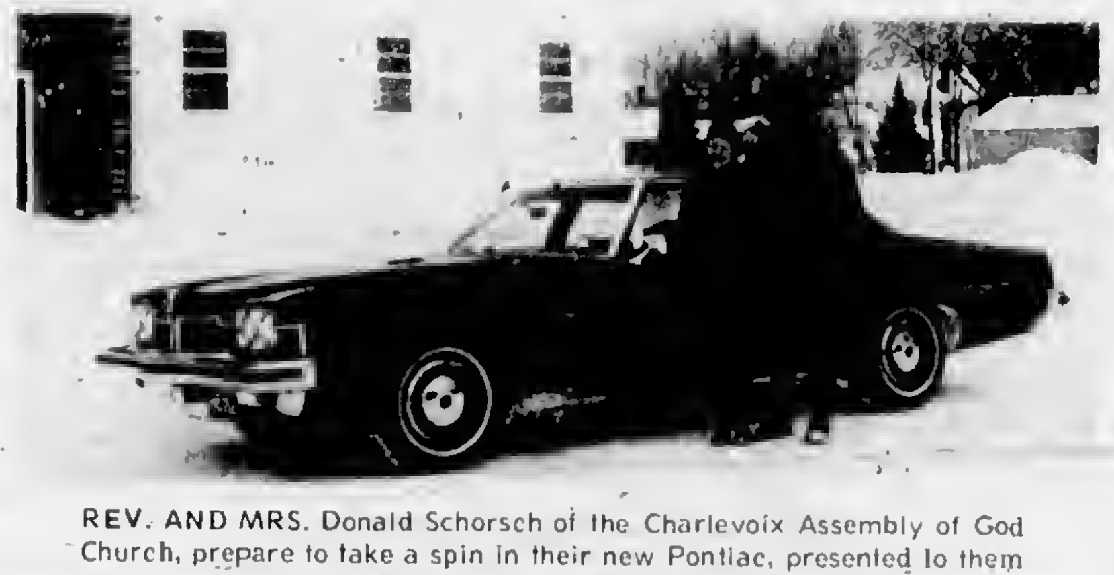
DALE BDSS, a member of the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church, presents keys to new Pontiac to Rev. Donald Schorsch and members of his family on New Year's Eve. The car was a gift from members of the church.



REV. AND MRS. Donald Schorsch of the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church, prepare to take a spin in their new Pontiac, presented to them New Year's Eve by members of the church.

Gift of Car Takes Pastor And Family by Surprise

"You mean they gave it to you?"

This is the response of many people when they discover that the Charlevoix Assembly of God church presented Pastor Donald Schorsch and his family with a new Pontiac automobile on New Years eve.

Last Monday night, prior to the Church's watchnight service, Doug Way, a board member, led the congregation in the singing of several choruses while the car was positioned by the front door of the church.

Then Dale Boss presented the Schorsch family a gift wrapped box containing the keys and the following poem.

Because we think so much of you,
We bought a little something blue
It's got 400 cubes that'll beat your Rupp
So take it out and live it up!
It doesn't eat oil, and the tank's full of gas
Tain't red like the Rupp, but its really got class.
Take all the family out through the snow,
Courtesy—the little church that loves you so.

Judging from the poem and the "Snow Jet" key ring in the box, the Schorsch family didn't know what to expect as they were escorted to the front door of the church.

The congregation cheered and the Schorsches couldn't believe what was happening.

The new royal blue automobile with the plush interior was theirs.

City Government Is Alive and Well

City government is alive and well in Charlevoix-the-beautiful.

As of the filing deadline last Monday, races have developed in all three wards for seats on the City Council, as well as for the office of mayor.

All of which means that Charlevoix voters will have a "voice, not an echo" when they go to the polls in the city primary Feb. 17.

In the First Ward, Thomas A. Duke and Ralph McRae will square off for the council seat being vacated by Alderman Sam Supernaw.

In the Second Ward, Charlevoix clothing merchant Robert Lieberman will take on Alderman Robert Timms.

And in the Third Ward, incumbent Alderman Gerald Selph will have a formidable opponent in Mrs. Regina Borths.

For the mayor's seat, incumbent First Ward Alderman Richard Fochtman will take on Mayor Edward Hansen.

Which is the way it should be. Political contests on any level are a good indication that our democratic processes are still in working order.

On the county level, a contest also has developed between Donald Meggison, a Republican, and Paul Osterberg, a Democrat, for the District 13 (Ward 1) seat left vacant by the death of Kit Carson. That election will be held at the same time as the city election.

All in all, 1974 is shaping up as an interesting year in local politics.

Cross-Country Skiing: New Winter Dimension

Cross-country skiing may be just the tonic Charlevoix needs to get it through another winter.

Response to the cross-country ski clinic sponsored Sunday by Portside Sports and the City Recreation Department was overwhelming.

More than 100 skiers turned out for the lecture at the Shed on the fundamentals of cross-country skiing, followed by a trip around the municipal golf links on skis to see how it's done.

Judging from the reaction of most participants, cross-country bears little resemblance to downhill skiing – but is just as much fun at a fraction of the cost.

Most of the novices left the clinic with visions of mid-winter hikes through pristine wilderness and family outings where even snowmobiles fear to tread.

Cross-country skiing just could add a new dimension to winter life in the northern reaches of our country, just as it has been a means of travel and recreation in Europe for untold centuries.

To Whom It May Concern...

By Doris Huckle

Some of us who belatedly started pioneering in the north country following World War II, watched in dismay while industry and the State of Michigan gradually permitted the death of area railroads.

But the trend was on.

Who needed the "smalls" of railroads when the nation's tax laws favored the booming private automobile and trucking industries with all their big business ramifications?

Wasn't it time to give way to another economic go-around in progressive, expanding America? More employment was needed and priorities, now, were super-highways, new marketplaces, depreciation write-offs and new investment opportunities.

The railroads had already had "theirs."

So, some of us watched the local apathy of residents and changing industry when East Jordan's railroad funeral hearings were held. Few showed up at the public hearings.

Later, there was even some stated scorn at the very idea of the city accepting the gift by railroad owners of the last old E.J. & S. steam engine No. 6.

In spite of those who felt Memorial Park was dedicated only to those who were killed in the fighting of World War II, the old engine was placed there, inside an iron fence.

Hundreds of adults and children still visit it regularly in a kind of homage to what was.

It wasn't long before the former E.J.&S. Depot was converted to an automotive parts department by farmer members of a cooperative. The Co-op gradually gave up the coal market and became a northern Michigan area distributor of gasoline and fuel oil for one of the Bigs, using a fleet of huge trucks to haul the fuel.

Some of the old railroad grades of the E.J. & S. are still visible, but most are overgrown and the land reverted to adjacent property owners. Some of it will soon come under control of the DNR, through Michigan legislative action of the Rivers Act.

The Legislature, the DNR and the Jordan River Watershed Commission might already have taken note of this. If not, they certainly should. If so, they have announced nothing about any future plans involving the right-of-way.

Back in the early 1960's a group of East Jordan citizens tried in vain to buy the still-operating East Jordan and Southern which connected with trains heading north and south out of Bellaire.

They wanted to operate it as a summer tourist attraction continuing passenger rides through the scenic Jordan River Valley to Bellaire.

The owners decided instead to abandon the railroad completely.

Had the purchase been possible, it's conceivable that employees of industry, shippers and shoppers, some students and those heading for the Antrim county ski resorts might now be providing added winter income for the railroad, besides boosting the economies of both communities and other areas too.

Scenic train rides and transportation by rail through the Jordan Valley and beyond still seems a pretty sound idea, both ecologically and economically.

It's becoming more clear every day that our elected and appointed officials, and commissions, are already involved in planning another economic-go-round for American jobs, progress and expansion. There's some emphasis on rail service once more being slowly revealed.

We recall what Sam Milstein of the DNR told a small group at a 1971 Jordan River Watershed Commission meeting, urging State control of the river.

Milstein, an East Jordan native, said he owned some river frontage and all of it had to be managed properly. Ha stressed the great need for catering to the "Now" generation, people under 29 years old, who really want active sports; not just viewing sunsets.

"In a few years you will see a monorail running to the eastern half of the upper peninsula," Sam said. He also predicted strap-back fling machines whisking people down Lake Charlevoix, high speed water transportation on Great Lakes from ports like Cleveland and Chicago and lots of grass skiing, a sport already popular in Europe.

At the risk of put-down by more knowledges, the thought occurs: Is anyone planning now for future self-contained, but connecting in-county rail systems for the north country's transportation needs?

If the public demanded them and would invest in them, might rail system Cooperatives be possible: tax-free, non-profit, local county-wide transportation systems?

No one wants to see the north go Big City, but it would be great to have one line running to each community.

There may not be enough of us, but some of we belated pioneers in the north country keep watching "Old No. 6" down there in Memorial Park. She is just waiting, and hurting, to be restored.

As things look now, we'd give up some of our issuing orders to "Fill 'Er Up" and settle for the once familiar "All Aboard!" whenever possible.

Maybe the under 29's wanting active sports would like the train action too as they head for the future hills of grass?

Speers Thank All Those Who Helped

Charlevoix Courier
Bridge Street
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Dear Bob:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Dr. Lignell, Dr. Custer, and the Charlevoix Area Hospital staff for their prompt attention when our son had a snowblower accident recently. The entire staff's kindness was something that is not seen too often in a large city hospital, so was especially appreciated.

We also want to thank the Charlevoix Police Department, and all others involved, for their promptness in arriving at the scene. Jack Mol was very helpful in the situation and thoughtful enough to look us up the next day to ask how Kevin was. We personally appreciated his kindness very much.

Kevin sends a big "THANK YOU" to the nurses and all his friends who stood by him.

Safety Valve

QUESTION: I'm 15 years old and have my safety certificate to operate a snowmobile. What happens to me if I don't obey all the laws I was taught? J.L.C., Mio

ANSWER: When the judge of a juvenile court determines that a person who is less than 16 years of age has violated this (snowmobile) act, the judge shall immediately report the determination to the Department of Natural Resources. The director of natural resources upon receiving a notice of a determination pursuant to this subsection may suspend the certificate without a hearing.

In addition, an owner shall not permit his snowmobile to be operated contrary to the rules established by law. Violation is a misdemeanor, punishable by law, and repeated violations can result in impoundment of the snowmobile.

QUESTION: My 11 year old operates our family snowmobile on our own property, but has to cross the county road to get to the part of our farm where the clear field is - no snow-covered tree stumps or anything to hit. Can he legally cross that road alone? K.M., Greenville

ANSWER: Afraid not. Law says no person under 12 years of age shall cross a highway or street.

Things Are Looking Up

I'm usually not much of an optimist, which I suppose is characteristic of my trade. Since the days of the town crier, newsmen have learned that "bad news" draws a heck of a lot more attention than "good news."

All of which is pretty sad commentary upon the human race, but that's the way we're built.

However I am baffled by all of the "bad news" about the economy that has been making the rounds for many months now.

Financial seers have predicted ever since early last year that the nation is in for rough times. Some claimed the slump would come last summer. Others put it off until fall. Still other opined that the dark days wouldn't begin until early 1974.

The latest prediction I read was by a noted Michigan State University Economist. He doesn't expect the downturn—recession, if you will – until the second quarter of 1974.

Of course they are all learned men and they have good reasons for making their grim predictions.

But from here I just can't see how things are going to be all that bad.

Take the stock market, for example. True enough the Dow Jones industrial went into somewhat of a tailspin last fall, but I suspect some of the issues were vastly inflated and needed to be knocked down. Yet for the past three weeks, with news of the fuel crisis splashed all over the front page of every newspaper in the country, the stock market has stabilized and started to move upward. Some of the D-J gains have been in excess of 25 points in a single trading day, which tells you that some investors still have faith in the American economy.

But the stock market isn't the only encouraging sign.

Take the post-New Years influx of visitors to downtown Charlevoix. I still can't figure that one out.

Normally the first week in January is pretty quiet in these parts. The holiday crowds have gone home and skiers traditionally lick their wounds for at least two weeks before heading north again.

But the crowds milling in the streets in downtown Charlevoix last Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday were unbelievable. You couldn't find room to park a Honda on Bridge-st. from dawn to dusk.

The weather was abominable — cold, snowy and windy. But no one seemed to mind.

I don't know where they all came from or how long they intend to stay. But while they are here, they certainly are spending money.

And they weren't all skiers, although there were a few ski cars in evidence. They included men in business suits, stout matrons dressed to the teeth and a few college kids. But most of them were just plain folks.

Visitors to Petoskey tell me the same thing took place in our sister city to the north.

Also consider grocery sales in Charlevoix. One local food retailer told me last week that anyone in the grocery business who is not exceeding last year's sales by 10 percent is falling behind, because of the higher cost of most food items.

He said his store is up from 25 to 30 percent over comparable weeks last year and that his December business was right up there with July.

Now let's look at the auto business. The story out of Detroit is of layoffs, layoffs, layoffs as the industry finds itself oversupplied with big cars in the wake of the fuel crisis. They are pulling in their horns until they can re-tool for smaller models. Many of our local industries in East Jordan, Petoskey and Harbor Springs which supply the auto industry also have been forced to lay off employees, which is truly regrettable.

Yet thanks to unemployment Compensation the situation is certainly not as grim as it would have been a generation ago.

Furthermore, auto workers in the big cities receive supplemental unemployment benefits in addition to their state compensation. Many of them will draw 90 percent or more of their regular take-home pay without even leaving home. But many of them will leave home to enjoy their unexpected mid-winter holiday in northern Michigan where the snowmobiling has never been better.

The high cost of fuel is something else, but I am convinced we'll learn to live with it just as we learned to live with the high cost of gorceries last summer. We aren't eating as much meat as we used to and we probably won't burn as much fuel as we once did after we learn how to get by with less.

The real estate market in northern Michigan certainly has softened in recent months, but experts assure me that it's probably a healthy sign, since many properties carried vastly inflated price tags. Believe it or not, the seller's market that we have lived with for the past five years is now a buyer's market and you can expect the buyers to be arriving in droves once they find out.

The nation as a whole is going through a period of transition and certainly some areas will be hurt worse than others. But the signs all indicate a fine 1974 for northern Michigan.

If you know something I don't, please let me know. All this optimism is killing me.

Black Year for Whites

By JIM FITZGERALD

For my anonymous friend, 1973 was black because Agnew isn't.

Geez, none of the Watergate burglars or White House plumbers are Negroes, either. A few of the flunkies, the guys who got their jimmies scratched, are Cubans, and that helps a little. But Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell, Dean, Krough, Colson...all those household words are white, as in White House. It's enough to make a man lose faith in complexion power.

This racial problem came to my attention in the latest in a series of unsigned letters from a reader who has dedicated himself to counting crimes committed by blacks. For years he has been sending me clippings of news articles which identify thieves, rapists, welfare cheats and jaywalkers as Negroes. The appropriate words are always circled and in the margin my nameless correspondent types such pithy remarks as: "Nixon wasn't looking when Sammy Davis Jr. kissed him."

This latest letter was delivered the day before Christmas, 1973, Peace on Earth. But one of the clippings, describing a riot by black sailors, was dated Nov. 4, 1972. And it suddenly struck me what a lousy year 1973 was for my anonymous reader. To make up a decent package of hate, he had to include 13-month-old news.

The trouble in 1973 was white guys such as Agnew. He monopolized the crime news. It wasn't as though he simply robbed a bank and shot 1 teller and 52 innocent people waiting in line. A caper like that would have netted Spiro some ink back in the comic section, thus leaving the front page open for real crime news, such as the ghetto grocer who allowed a black man to buy a 6-pack of beer with food stamps.

To begin with, Agnew was charged with committing a white collar crime. This is automatically the type of sensational news that Walter Cronkite wants to be first with, even if he has to wade through Walter Mudd. It is not common for white collar crooks to be arrested, especially if they are politicians. Usually they are simply transferred to another executive position and given a pay raise so they won't have to steal so much anymore.

Then Agnew got on TV and swore he was innocent and would never resign as vice president. A few days later he pleaded guilty in Latin and resigned in disgrace. Then he got more free TV time to explain he didn't really steal anything and besides, he needed the money, everyone else does it, and the new Watergate morality is unfair to people with no morals.

And that wasn't the end of it. Agnew was not jailed. Instead, as a worse punishment, he was forced to publicly beg his fellow lawyers for the right to continue practicing law. The lawyers are still thinking about it and Agnew must continue to live with the fear his credentials may not be down to par. The Watergate investigation revealed the American Bar Association may have all the crooked members it needs right now.

Finally, months after he quit working for us, it is revealed taxpayers are still paying thousands of dollars a day to support Agnew in the manner to which bribes made him accustomed.

Is it any wonder that an ordinary black mugger couldn't get his name in the paper in 1973?

If things don't improve for him this year, my anonymous friend will have to send me tattered clippings reporting crimes committed by run-away slaves.

In Which a Debt Is Squared

Our frantic scramble for survival has faded out much of the color from the American scene. In bygone years each community had its 'characters' who enlivened the everyday struggle against poverty with escapades which fetched a chuckle to erase momentarily the nagging worries common to all.

Such an individual was Dirty Dugan who set no man on a pedestal unless he too shared his rightful place at that lofty elevation. This sterling philosophy is reflected in his handling of a financial obligation amounting to $100 which he owed Big Andrew, the local merchant for sundry internal and external necessities of life.

Certainly no stigma can be attached to Dugan's indebtedness by anyone in our installment plan society which revolves around a charge account with a deck of credit cards and that latest tool of thrift – the Checkmate.

Dugan's extended lapse of memory can be readily understood by a sizeable segment of today's citizenry whose financial amnesia persists until they unknowingly participate in the final lay-away plan sponsored indirectly by countless grieving creditors.

Dugan's oversight spanned exactly seven years and one day, at which time he sought out Andrew in his mart to square away this debit entry faithfully inscribed on the ledger of his conscience. Andrew, like any other astute merchant exhibited no animosity toward his absent minded customer and continued to transact business with Dugan over the intervening years on a precautionary cash-and-carry basis.

Dugan chose to right this matter in the presence of numerous townfolk who would forever bear witness to his good faith and integrity.

"Andrew," boomed Dirty in a tone which toppled a corset display in the dry goods department on the second floor, "I came to pay you the hundred dollars I've owed you for a spell."

To add proper credence to his noble intentions he extracted a roll of greenbacks of impressive denominations from his coverall pocket.

The startled proprieter was at a loss for words of the vocal variety but a message flashed through his mind pertaining to the statute of limitations which had expired the previous day. Somewhat dubious of Dugan's tactics, an evaluation bolstered by past dealings, Andrew decided to be content with a half loaf and addressed Dugan in respectful fashion befitting this unexpected windfall.

"Being the man you have proven yourself to be, Dugan, I'll knock off half the bill."

He extended a perspring palm toward Dugan's' grimy hand, a hand which Dugan extended downward instead of forward to restore his poke to the security of his denim strongbox.

"Andrew, that is downright decent of you," Dugan replied, emphasizing gratitude by dabbing at his eyes with his red bandana.

"Being the man I am and every bit your equal, I'll knock off the other half!"

Having thus proven himself the equal of any man, Dugan helped himself to a carefully chosen apple and chomped out into the sunlight which like Diogene's lantern radiates a special glow upon the honest Dugans of mankind.

bids were more than those estimated by Williams & Works and, as a result, the project was going to cost much more than first estimated.

"Before it's over you can figure on $160,000 if these figures are a criteria of what we can expect," Staley said.

He added, however, that he felt it was imperative that the ferry be kept in operation.

"Without it we might as well forget about a bridge at some future date. I think a bridge is the way to go so I feel we must keep the ferry in operation," he said in conclusion.

It was suggested that the issue be brought up for a vote on Friday. Lee Moerland, chairman of the Finance Committee, asked that the matter be decided at a later date in order to allow his committee to come up with a way to finance the project. Some monies were earmarked earlier for the project but the higher figures have made it necessary to find additional funds.

The meeting was then recessed until 7:30 p.m., Thursday.

Richardson said Sunday that his committee was hopeful of coming up with some acceptable figures by Thursday night.

Several other actions were taken by the board during the organizational meeting at which Ira L. Davis was re-elected chairman; Harry Griffin, vice chairman; Donald B. Meggison was sworn in as Commissioner from District 13 to succeed the late Kit Carson and committees for the year appointed by the chairman.

After discussing the Special Assessment District proposed by Antrim County in order to construct, finance and maintain a dam in the village of Bellaire to control the level of Six Mile, Intermediate and other lakes and waterways in the Chain of Lakes, Delbert Ingalls of South Arm township was advised to have the township ask for a public hearing in order to learn more about the proposal before the board of commissioners gave its approval to it. Ingalls said that he had been told by Hans DeYoung, chairman of the Antrim county board, that the assessment would cost a maximum of 2.5 mills for a period of four years and that it would apply only riparian owners with Antrim county footing 50 percent of the cost and the property owners the remaining 50 percent.

In other action, the board went on record as backing a resolution asking that Charlevoix County be placed in the original Central Time Zone.

--Adopted a resolution making available to the Northern Michigan Abstract & Title Co. micro-film cards of recorded instruments on file in the Register of Deeds office at a material cost of 25 cents per card exclusive of labor costs which will be determined by the Register of Deeds office.

--Appointed a special Elections Committee composed of Thorie Kotowich, Charles Kessler and Clayton Smith to establish dates for a special election to fill a vacancy for the office of commissioner of District 13. Monday, Feb. 18, was established as the date of the primary election and April 1 the date of the general election. The dates coincide with those of Charlevoix's city elections.

–Authorized the Ways and Means committee to work with the County Treasurer in the management of monies not needed or budgeted at this time.

–Approved the expenditure of Revenue Sharing monies in the amount of $76,000 to underwrite the purchase of three pieces of property adjacent to present county-owned property to allow for future expansion. The purchases include two lots on Mason st. and one on Antrim st.

Blood Donors Needed

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Charlevoix Tuesday, Jan. 22, at the Assembly of God Church at 208 E. Upright-st., from 2 until 8 p.m. according to Mrs. Jan Ready, chairman of the publicity committee.

Any resident of Charlevoix County in good health and between the ages of 18 and 66 may give blood, Mrs. Ready says.

Because of the program, any county resident who needs blood may receive it free of charge.

In order to best serve a large number of donors, appointments are suggested.

To make your appointment, contact Mrs. Ann Landon at 547-9073 by the evening of Thursday, Jan. 17.

Here's what happens when you visit the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

After registration, the donor's temperature, pulse and blood pressure are checked and he gives a brief medical history.

If he is found to be an acceptable donor, he will be escorted to a reclining table where a pint of blood is removed from the arm.

When he is finished, he is invited to visit the Bloodmobile canteen for snacks and refreshments while he remains under the observation of a nurse for 10 or 15 minutes.

A licensed physician is always on hand during blood collection.

Mrs. Ready says the whole procedure takes about 45 minutes.

ROPE TOWS at Mt. McSauba kept busy over the weekend as new snow made the slopes nearly perfect. The city ski area is open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 until 10 p.m., Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and from 7:30 until 10 p.m. and Sundays from 12 noon until 5 p.m.

Pair Survive Icy Night

Two U. S. Coast Guardsmen are back at their duty stations aboard Lansing Shoal Light in northern Lake Michigan after an attempted New Year's Eve visit to St. James on Beaver Island in a 16-foot outboard.

They never made it to the island and spent the night huddled in their tiny boat which became marooned in drift ice west of Garden Island.

Making the unscheduled trip were BM1 Lyle Hansberger, 26, and FA David White, 19, two of the five men assigned to the light.

They left the light, which marks the western entrance to the Straits of Mackinac, at 4:30 p.m. Dec. 31 and headed for the north end of Beaver Island, a distance of about 10 miles.

When their motor failed, they started rowing but were soon marooned in a sea of drift ice with darkness setting in.

When the men failed to return to the light Jan. 1, other members of the light crew reported them missing to the Charlevoix Coast Guard Station at 11:15 a.m. The Coast Guard enlisted the help of the Sheriff's Department which sent Deputy Bill Welke of Beaver Island aloft in his private plane to search for them.

Welke spotted them about 12:15 p.m. and the Coast Guard Air Station at Traverse City plucked them out of their boat two hours later.

The pair were flown to Charlevoix where they spent the night at Charlevoix Area Hospital. They showed few signs of exposure and were released the following day.

Saturday morning and later told Mrs. Bennett he seemed disturbed. Mrs. Bennett also noticed that Carson "wasn't himself" at lunch, but she was unable to find out what the problem was.

Carson's disappearance has revived stories dating back three quarters of a century to two other mysterious disappearances in the area.

Frank Kubicek of Charlevoix, who lived in the former Bohemian Settlement near the Carson home, recalls that Ben Weidmer disappeared without a trace from his farm home in February, 1898. Another man, Karel Brezina disappeared in August, 1900, while walking to visit his ailing father who lived not far from the Carson farm.

Medusa Awarded Refund on 1972 Taxes

The State Tax Commission has ordered Charlevoix County, the Charlevoix School District, Charlevoix Township and the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District to refund the Medusa Cement Co. $64,513 of its 1972 tax payment.

The commission has ruled that Medusa was assessed 50 percent of true cash value on properties worth $7,705,800 while the rest of Charlevoix Township was assessed at only 30.19 percent of true cash value.

The decision means a repayment of $44,833 by the school district, $8,644 by the county, $8,084 by the township and $2,921 by the Intermediate District, the only four governmental units involved.

Medusa attorney Thomas Pointer of Charlevoix told the Board of Education Monday night that company officials have agreed to allow the district a convenient scheduling of the refund so as not to create a hardship.

School board President Mrs. Robert Lieberman acknowledged Medusa's efforts on behalf of the district.

School Superintendent James A. McKimmy said the board anticipated such a refund and has budgeted for it.

County Treasurer Anah Potter was notified of the amounts of the refund by the Tax Commission only last week, although local officials have known for some time that the decision would favor Medusa.

Schools, Township, County Must Pay

Medusa officials appeared before the Township Board of Review in March 1972 to ask that its properties be assessed at the same level as other township properties, 30.19 percent of true cash value. They had no quarrel with the $7 million-plus assessment figure but said they thought their 50 percent assessment was unfair in light of other with other taxing units in the county. As a result, Medusa's assessment was 32 percent assessments in the township.

The difference between the Medusa assessment and other township assessments was compounded when the Tax commission applied an equalization factor to bring Charlevoix Township in line higher than any other property owner in the township.

Medusa paid the taxes, but lodged a protest to protect its legal right to a refund in the event the Tax Commission ruled in its favor.

The Tax Commission advised the township and Medusa last March that the company's assessment should have been $2,307,200 (30.19 percent of true cash value) rather than $3,821,200 (50 percent of true cash value).

Township officials objected and a hearing on the question was held by the Tax Commission at the County Building last Aug. 30. Oscar Strond, township supervisor and assessor, told the commission that he would estimate Medusa's holdings in the township as upwards of $50 million dollars. Strond is not a certified appraiser.

An appraiser for the Tax Commission's industrial division pegged the true cash value of Medusa's Charlevoix Township property at $7.7 million.

The amount of the appeal was the largest on record in Charlevoix County.

Other appeals, mostly by private parties, were heard by the Tax Commission at the August meeting, resulting in refunds estimated at $19,500. Refunds estimated at $11,600 have been granted on 1973 appeals. The refund decisions have trimmed the county's State Equalized Valuation by about $3 million.

Arthur S. Bond Elected President of Ski & Shore

Major organizational changes have been announced following the annual meeting of Ski & Shore Properties, Inc., held Jan. 15 in Charlevoix.

Arthur S. Bond jr. of Norwood was elected president of the real estate firm, succeeding Richard E. Georgi who will serve in the newly created position of chairman of the board of directors.

An attorney, Bond joined Ski & Shore in November, 1972, and served as vice president in charge of administration.

Before moving to northern Michigan, Bond was secretary of the Chrysler Corp. in Detroit and vice president of Chrysler Realty, Inc., a corporate subsidiary devoted to the acquisition of dealer sites and general realty development.

Georgi's promotion to chairman will enable him to devote more time to serving as a consultant to the company's major real estate clients and to his duties as president of the Michigan Land Developers Association.

Stockholders also re-elected H. Grant Rowe and elected J. Hilliard Shackford as vice president. Shakford and Rowe will join the company's Petoskey office in association with Don Snizik.

For the past year, Shackford has been active in real estate investment in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area.

Rowe has served in various executive capacities with the company and was most recently responsible for the company's Mackinac Island project.

The change in officers and realignment of responsibilities is seen as providing the company with a broader management base in critical marketing and operational areas.

Stover-rd. Lot Zoned Industrial

The City Council Monday rezoned a 107-foot parcel of land on Stover-rd. owned by the estate of Mrs. Myrtle Irene Marshall from R-2 to Industrial.

Wojan Aluminum Products, located to the east, wants to buy the land for expansion and parking.

The council stipulated that a "green belt" be provided in areas abutting residential properties.

In other business the council:

--Heard a request by Chamber of Commerce Manager Vincent Olach for the purchase of bicycle racks for East Park, the chamber park and the boat dock park. He said commercial units for 10 bikes cost $70, but that the high school has agreed to build them if the city supplies the materials. The council agreed to go ahead with the project.

–Extended Oscar Ward's permit to operate a taxi until Feb. 15, 1974, pending a survey of the city's liability in the event of an accident. Ward has objected to big increases in property damage and personal injury insurance requested by the council at the last meeting. Ward is afraid he will be thrown into an "insurance pool" with extremely high rates if he asks for additional coverage.

–Accepted a bid of $55.68 submitted by Ed, James and John Whitley for the city's 1958 Dodge truck.

--Increased required insurance coverage by persons erecting signs in the city to $100,000 per person, $300,000 per accident and $100,000 property damage. The old figures were $5,000, $10,000 and $1,000.

--Agreed to buy parts totaling $1,846.76 to put the

K-4 May House Entire Fifth Grade

The school Board Monday night told Superintendent James McKimmy to do whatever is necessary to modify the K-4 school on Division-st. to house the entire 5th grade next year.

McKimmy told the board that unless something is done, the Middle School will be overcrowded next year.

This year, 5th graders are dividing their time between the Middle School and the K-4 school.

In other business the board:

County Folks Clean Up In First Year of Lottery

Residents of Charlevoix County have collected $89,300 in prize money since the Michigan Bureau of State Lottery sold its first tickets slightly more than one year ago.

Included in the figure is the $50,000 Joseph Medlin of Charlevoix who won in the super drawing a year ago December and the $5,000 Mrs. Frederick (Bonnie) Kele won in the second chance drawing and the $1,000 Mrs. Gayle Spencer won in the Million Dollar Drawing.

In addition, 1,332 winning tickets have been sold in Charlevoix County, netting a total of $33,300 for their lucky owners.

The figures do not include the $2,000 in merchandise won by Les Payne, owner of the Airport Inn. Payne elected to make his purchases at the Airport Inn, one of Charlevoix's many outlets for lottery tickets.

In a review of the lottery to date, Commissioner Gus Harrison reports that residents of 11 counties have won more than $1 million per county.

Populous Wayne County, of course, leds the list with prizes totaling $22,947,000. Macomb is second with $7,584,950; Oakland, $5,205,075; and Genessee $3,564,350.

Other counties counting more than $1 million in lottery prizes are Ingham, Clinton, Kent, Berrien, Delta and St. Clair.

Delta County is a real puzzler for lottery officials. Delta ranks 8th among Michigan's 83 counties in lottery winnings, but it ranks 39th in population.

Emmet County also has them stumped in Lanisng. Emmet is 54th in population, but ranks 19th in prizes won.

The least lucky county is Allegan, which is 20th in population but ranks as 50th in prizes won.

Of course, some of the winners live out-of-state.

Some 59,569 winning $25 tickets have been sold to out-of-state residents for a total of $1,489, 225. In addition, $50,000 has been awarded in the Second Chance contest, $2,180,000 in the Million Dollar Drawing and $1,355,000 in the Super Drawing, for a total of $5,074,225.

Keweenaw County in the Upper Peninsula, which ranks 83rd in population, also ranks 83rd in prize money. Only $5,475 in prize money has been paid in Keweenaw County.

THE CITY ice rink will be located this winter at Ferry Beach rather than the Middle School playground. The warming house is in place and the rink is now open to skaters.

Begrow to Speak On Condos

H. Jack Begrow, Charlevoix architect, has been selected as one of the principal speakers at the Michigan Land Development Association's conference to be held at the Troy Hilton Inn, in Troy, Mich., Feb. 13.

Begrow will cover the Michigan viewpoint in condominiums and the ingredients needed for success in these days of the energy crisis.

Begrow has completed designs for 20 condominium projects in northern Michigan, with two hundred fourteen units completed to date or presently under construction.

No. 364 3

On reading and filing the complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan praying for a judgment in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said complaint will be brought on for hearing and judgment at the February term of this Court, to be held at Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 4th day of February A.D., 1974, at the opening of the Court on that day, and that all persons interested in such lands or any part thereof, desiring to contest the lien claimed thereon by the State of Michigan, for such taxes, interest and charges, or any part thereof, shall appear in said Court, and file with the clerk thereof their objections thereto on or before the first day of the term of this Court above mentioned, and that in default thereof the same will be taken as confessed and a judgment will be taken and entered as prayed for in said complaint. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said judgment the lands described in said complaint for which a judgment of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such judgment, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. and on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the judgment shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT
FOR THE
COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

In the Matter of the Complaint of Allison Green, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of CHARLEVOIX.

ALLISON GREEN, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1 That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.

2 That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent.

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four percent and (d) $3.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first mentioned:

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

a That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended.

b That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgment in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c That said judgment provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.

Campus Life Kids Spend Holidays in Washington

By Jim Berlage

There are many clubs in high school today. Latin, Spanish, F.H.A., and Campus Life.

There are many places of interest to visit. Hawaii, California, Mt. McSauba, Massachusetts and Washington D.C.

There are many ways to travel these days (although whether they are economical and possible at the moment is debatable.) Available are airplanes, cars, luxury liners, cabs, the thumb, or chartered bus.

And that is exactly what happened - only in not so many words. The Petoskey area Campus Life, a part of the Youth for Christ organization, went to our nation's capitol, Washington D.C. by way of chartered buses.

Approximately 80 kids from the Petoskey area Charlevoix, Harbor Springs, Gaylord, Cheboygan, and Indian River left Petoskey at 9:30 p.m. on Christmas Day, by hearse, truck, car, and bus and we eventually made it to Alma, Mich., where we picked up our chartered buses.

We arrived at the Washington Hilton, our hotel in downtown Washington, about 8:30 Wednesday night. Our two complete days in D.C. were spent in sessions, sessions small groups and sightseeing.

The group from Petoskey was joined for a total of more than 2,000 kids from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The Petoskey delegation was the third largest from the state of Michigan.

General sessions, which everyone attended, were held in the International Ballroom, an enormous (by Charlevoix standards) auditorium. Superb speakers at these general sessions were Mr. Jay Kesler, president of Youth for Christ, and Rev. Butch Hardman, pastor of the Barcroft Bible Church, in Arlington, Va. He also is very active in Youth for Christ. Music, a great means of communication, was provided by "Friends," of Michigan, and by Ed Kilbourne of Atlanta, Ga. Both "Friends" and Ed Kilbourne have appeared in Charlevoix at high school assemblies. A new group by the name of "Under New Management", from the Great Lakes area, also appeared.

Small groups of about 10 youths met each morning with their counselor, to rap and just straighten themselves out as to how to get around the hotel and Washington.

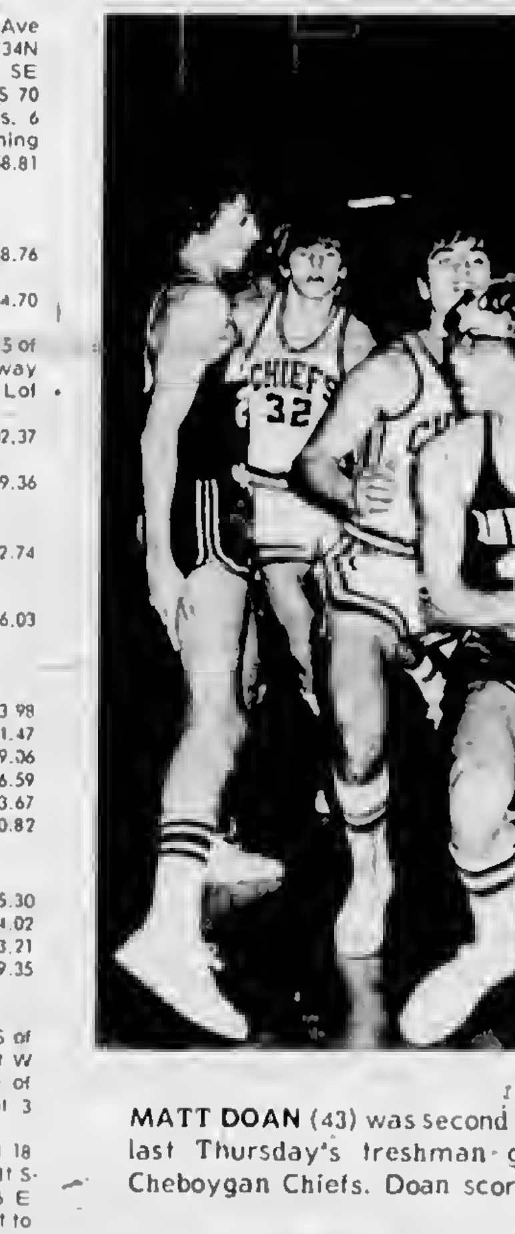
The seminars, held each night, were devoted to such topics as Family Eastern Religion, Prejudice, Abortion, Music, Capital punishment, Church and worship, Values, Self-image, Death, Suicide, Campus Life staff, and the Second Coming.

From noon until 5 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, we were able to catch tourmobiles for a tour of Washington and Arlington National Cemetery. Many points of interest were the Jefferson, Lincoln, and Washington memorials, the Capitol and White House, Smithsonian Institute, the Botanical Gardens, FBI Building, the Bureau of Engraving and the Demographic Clock where you can watch the population of the United States grow by the second.

All in all, I think that the majority of the people who did attend would do it all again, despite the bad moments which weren't really all that bad when you think about it.

I would like to thank the many, many people who prowled the halls, lost their books, and did the impossible, to make the trip possible and as worthwhile as it was.

SCOTT BOSS (21) scored 23 points for Charlevoix freshmen in their game with the Cheboygan Chiefs last Thursday.



MATT DOAN (43) was second high in points in last Thursday's freshman game with the Cheboygan Chiefs. Doan scored 13 points.

Freshmen Defeat Chiefs

Charlevoix's freshmen cagers defeated Cheboygan Thursday night by a score of 57 to 45.

The victory gives the young Rayders a record of five wins and 2 losses for the season.

Charlevoix maintained a slim 2-point margin throughout most of the first period, but a final bucket by the Chiefs tied the game 12-12 at the buzzer.

The Rayders moved ahead in the second period with 16 points, for a half-time score of 28-24. The third-quarter score was 40-34.

Scoring in double figures for Cheboygan were Scott Boss, 23, and Matt Doan, 13.

Role of County Airports Mulled at Lansing Meet

Staff members of the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission represented the Region's 10 counties at a meeting in Lansing Jan. 10, at which a proposed state airport systems plan will be outlined and discussed.

Bill G. Rowden, executive director of the Commission, and William Bechtel, staff planner, were among participants at the final meeting of the Michigan State Airport System Planning Grant Study Advisory Committee, held at Capital City Airport.

A report prepared by the Stanford Research Institute for the Michigan Aeronautics Commission was summarized and the report's recommendations discussed.

The report recommends installation of three new basic utility airports in the Region, at Kaleva, Mesick and Lake City. It also would seek to replace Frankfort's existing general utility airport with a new general utility facility to be upgraded eventually to a basic transport airport.

The report recommends continuation of 15 existing airport facilities. They are:

Air Carrier Service-Emmet County Airport, Pellston; Cherry Capital, Airport, Traverse City; and Blacker Airport Manistee.

Basic Transport - Cadillac, Bellaire and Charlevoix.

General Utility - Harbor Springs.

Basic Utility, second stage - Kalkaska, Mancelona, East Jordan, Boyne City and Beaver Island.

The plan projects that by 1978 North Central Airlines will replace its planes now serving the Region with larger planes. The plan proposes that at that time North Central service to Manistee's Blacker Airport would be discontinued and replaced with a small-aircraft commuter service, such as that now serving Traverse City's Cherry Capital Airport.

Eat and Grow Younger

Are You Aging Too Fast? Be Smart--Check Your Diet!

This newspaper is pleased to start today a hard-hitting commentary on present-day food habits, "Eat and Grow Younger," by Lelord Kordel. The book from which this series is adapted, has been an instant sensation wherever it has appeared. Don't miss a single one of the 24 parts.

By LELORD KORDEL

Number One of a Series

IS THAT DONE WITH MIRRORS?
NO - WITH PROTEINS

MR. U. AWOKE one morning to a disturbing discovery. A panicky feeling welled up from the pot belly that had begun to bulge out below his belt. He glanced across the breakfast table at Mrs. U. Dismayed, he realized for the first time that the woman facing him was in the same unpleasant fix as he now found himself. He was getting old—and so was she!

His usual zest for breakfast was gone!

Why did people have to grow old so soon? He was only 46. Look at old Joe Jenks, who had lived on a neighboring farm when he was a boy.

Joe had got up before sunrise every morning, did more work than the hired man, ate heartily, slept like a top, took a young second wife, and fooled the whole community by living hale and hearty, well into his 90's.

What was wrong? Why shouldn't men and women keep on looking and feeling young and alive past that momentous 40th birthday? No reason, actually, why everyone past 40 shouldn't look and feel young and vigorous.

BODY MORE THAN MACHINE

We often speak of the human body as a "machine." Yet, actually, your body is more than a machine—it's an extremely complex laboratory where intricate chemical reactions take place which no human chemist has even been able to duplicate.

The awe-inspiring thing about this mysterious body of yours is that when some "mechanical" part breaks down under ideal conditions your "chemical laboratory" can rush quickly produced substances to the spot that needs repairing, in order that life may go on and the body's efficiency not be seriously impaired.

You'll notice I said that "under ideal conditions" the chemical laboratory in your body can produce quickly those mending substances needed to put injured or worn-out body parts back in good working order.

What are these ideal conditions?

First — certain "test tubes" (the endocrine glands) must be in proper working order.

> EDITOR'S NOTE: What is the Kordel Plan? It is a way of living healthily while eating enjoyably. A faulty diet, Lelord Kordel believes, is often both cause and symptom of much physical and mental illness in men and women today. His studies of the effects of food on mind and body have convinced him that proper diet can prevent, even eliminate, many illnesses. Revise your way of eating, says Lelord Kordel, and you will begin to really live.

Second — enough of a certain food element known as protein must be provided for the body's chemical laboratory, not only to keep the glandular "test tubes" themselves up to par, but also to rebuild constantly wearing out cells throughout your entire body.

OLDSTERS' STAY YOUNG

During a recent tour of South America, I met some remarkable oldsters with a talent for living long and vigorously. In Uruguay and Argentina I noticed an amazing number of older persons—whose pep and stamina were nothing short of miraculous, compared to that of the average American of the same age.

On the other hand, in the more tropical parts of Brazil, I was singularly impressed by the lack of elderly persons to be seen on the streets.

"A matter of diet," was my explanation, remembering the high-starch diets of tropical Brazil as compared to the meals I had noted being set before the Uruguayans in the city's splendid restaurants. Plates containing liberal portions of meat, roasted or broiled; bowls generously heaped with green salads; and trays of temptingly arranged fresh fruits.

ABILITIES BELIE YEARS

In Argentina, on an estancia not far from Buenos Aires, I had a close-up view of those oldsters whose appearances and abilities belied their calendar years.

My host was a wealthy Argentinian, educated in England, whose estancia was devoted to raising blooded horses for racing and for polo. His pastures extended for thousands of acres, and across them roamed large numbers of the finest horseflesh I've ever seen — and some of the youngest "old men."

"You're to be commended for keeping on those older fellows," I remarked to my host. "In my country they would long since been replaced or pensioned off."

"Not at all," came his quick reply. "I'm very lucky to have them. They are the backbone of my estancia. Most of them were with my grandfather. My worry is what I shall do without them. But that probably won't be for another 10 years or so."

Before leaving the estancia near Buenos Aires, I took a meal with Justino and the other gauchos down at their quarters. A whole sheep (sometimes it was a side of beef) was roasted in the skin over an open fire. When the meat was done to a turn, nicely browned on the outside but tender and juicy on the inside, large chunks were hacked off by each man with the long-bladed knife he wears at the back of his broad belt.

These large chunks of meat, followed by second and third helpings until nothing was left but the carcass, constituted the entire meal — no potatoes, no bread, no pie. Nothing but meat, followed by a gourd of the brew made from the green herb called mate. Yet this was not an exceptional meal with them — it was the diet they followed three times daily, year in, year out.

FOR BETTER NUTRITION

Meat, of course, is another way of saying protein. For meat provides the highest type, most complete protein.

"All very interesting," you may comment, "but is it good nutrition, this meat-and-mate diet of your gaucho?"

To which I hasten to reply with a big, loud "Yes!" Far better nutrition than is to be found on the expensively itemized menus of the finest epicurean restaurants in our cosmopolitan centers, with their dozens of tempting dishes from which to choose — most of them too starchy, sweet and overcooked.

Remember, it is the nutritional pauper who early loses his vitality and glow of youth. Any person who surfeits his body with carbohydrates and starves it of proteins is a nutritional pauper.

You'll meet protein in several guises later on. But regardless of the form in which it appears on your plate, protein will be right in there pitching for you, striking out old age and pepping up slack muscles. Before you can hope to Eat and Grow Younger, you must make a mealtime companion of protein, your "youth restorer" food.

Rails Carrying More Bulk Mail

Although most bulk mail still travels by highway truck, the U.S. Postal Service's fuel conservation program has resulted in an increased use of fast freight trains, according to Richard Koenigs, director of the Logistics Division of the Postal Service's Central Region headquarters in Chicago.

"Prior to the energy crisis when volumes of bulk mail exceeded normal amounts hauled by highway contractors' trucks, truck runs would be used to handle the added load," Koenigs said. "Since the crisis, these loads are placed in vans and loaded piggy-back on fast freight trains," he said.

Bulk mail includes third class printed matter, non-time value publications and ordinary parcel post. If space is available, it is loaded on highway contractor's trucks or Amtrak trains used to haul preferential mail. In addition to first class mail, preferential mail includes newspapers, magazines, special delivery and special handling parcels.

Spiritual Healing Lecture Is Jan. 19

What is the significance of spiritual healing in today's world?

James Spencer, C.S.B., of Detroit, will discuss this question in a public lecture to be given in Traverse City on Saturday, Jan. 19.

Healing by spiritual means alone, the lecturer will bring out, "extends beyond just physical health to morality, fulfillment in home life and useful, meaningful careers. It extends to our daily, routine contacts with others, how we think about them and act toward them."

Spencer is on tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He will speak in the Traverse City Senior High School Auditorium on Milliken Drive at 11 a.m. under the sponsorship of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Traverse City.

According to the lecturer "healing means proving our direct, individual relationship to our spiritual source. And this kind of healing that touches the whole spectrum of human affairs, deeply involves us in helping others and society as a whole."

A number of instances of physical healing through wholly spiritual means will be related in his lecture entitled, "The Healing Method of Christian Science."

During the Korean War, Spencer served as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. He has also served as a chaplain in the United States Army and as a Christian Science Minister for the Armed Services. Since 1953, he has been active in the public practice of Christian Science healing and he became a teacher of Christian Science in 1971.

Michigan Should Adopt Central Standard Time

It took something like Daylight Saving in mid-winter to make Michiganders realize how far out-of-step they are with the times.

An although we have been living with DST for more than a week, our individual time clocks still haven't caught up with the change.

For one thing, it runs counter to our Yankee natures to have the sun linger abed until almost 9:30 in the morning while we are up and about our business by 7 a.m.

And it's downright uncanny in mid-winter to have a full hour or more of daylight left after we close up shop for the night.

Because of our geographical location, the change to Daylight Time in mid-winter is more noticable in Michigan than it is elsewhere in the nation.

Only one city in the state--Port Huron--is truly in the Eastern Time Zone. Yet because of our close ties with the eastern seaboard, Michigan has always adhered to EST, even though communities in the western end of the Upper Peninsula are deep within the Central Time Zone.

The situation is bad enough under Standard Time. It is even worse under Daylight Time.

If Daylight Time is to continue for the duration of the energy crisis, we hope the State Legislature sees fit to vote us into the Central Time Zone where we belong. Some counties in the Upper Peninsula already are on Central Time, because of their close ties with Wisconsin.

If Michigan went on Central Daylight Time, we would move our clocks back to where they were before the big switch last week. Kids would go to school in daylight and evening would arrive at suppertime.

Who could ask for more?

Must I Always Stop For Buses?

QUESTION: On West Saginaw Street (M-43) Between Lansing and Grand Ledge there is a corrugated concrete divider, also called a "rumble strip," that separates east bound traffic from west bound traffic, but is easily mountable if one wishes to cross the highway to make a turn or enter a driveway, and was designed in that way for that purpose. When I am in the east bound lane and there is a properly marked stopped school bus, with red signals flashing, approaching me from the other direction - in the west bound lane of course - is it necessary that I stop until those red flashing lights are turned off? P. M., Grand Ledge

ANSWER: Yes, it is necessary that you bring your vehicle to a complete stop and remain stopped until the driver turns those lights off OR resumes motion and in your best judgement you feel it is safe to proceed. This applies to all traffic behind that school bus as well as all traffic still on the "approaching" side of that school bus.

QUESTION: How large, or what size, does my motorcycle have to be if I want to operate it on the freeway in Michigan? C.W., Mt. Pleasant

ANSWER: "No person shall operate a motor driven cycle or motorcycle with less than a 125 cubic centimeter engine, farm tractor or other self-propelled farm implement, nor shall any pedestrian, bicycle, or other nonmotorized traffic be permitted on any limited access highway in this state."

Clockwise

All the Better To See You With

By BOB CLOCK

They used to say that one of the surest signs of middle age was the need to wear bifocals.

When I was young, I used to sympathize with members of the older generation when they were forced into buying a pair of spectacles with a split lens so they could read a newspaper without holding it with their toes.

I also laughed behind my hand when they stumbled climbing stairs and tripped over curbstones while they were getting used to their new bifocals.

But I was also sure that although I was born near-sighted, I would never succumb to the indignity of having a different set of lenses for reading and long-distance vision.

But not any longer.

I have needed bifocals for more than a year and as soon as I can scrape together enough money I'm going to get them. Middle age be damned.

My first inkling that all was not well in the eyesight department occurred the summer of 1972 when Allison came to me complaining of a sliver in her foot.

"Find a needle for me in the sewing room and I'll take care of it," I told her.

A few minutes later Allison was standing before me barefoot with a needle. I hoisted her into my lap and examined the offending foot. I couldn't see the sliver.

"Your feet are too dirty," I complained. "Go into the bathroom and wash your feet. I perform surgery only under sanitary conditions."

A few minutes later she was back with one clean foot.

"Why didn't you wash them both while you were at it," I asked.

"I only have a sliver in one of them," she explained quite logically.

I sterilized the needle with a match and she jumped back into my lap.

I tried to examine her foot at close range, but the closer I got, the more blurry her foot became. I was stunned by the realization that I could no longer focus my eyes at short range. I could hardly distinguish her toes, much less anything as tiny as a sliver.

"You don't have a sliver," I lied to her. "Your problem is that your foot is all blurry."

Allison gave me one of her best withering glances and hurried off to have her mother perform the operation.

It wasn't long after that I realized I could no longer read the prayer book or the hymnal in church. At first I complained about the light, but I noticed that my fellow worshippers on all sides weren't having any trouble.

Finally I learned that I could see quite well if I rested my reading material on the seat of the pew in front of me, only I had to snatch it up rather quickly when the hymn or prayer ended or my book would get sat upon.

Lately I have noticed myself going through an ungodly amount of neck-arching and spectacle adjusting whenever anyone hands me something to read unexpectedly. If it's not just the right distance away it appears to be Chinese or Sanskrit, neither of which I read with any degree of proficiency.

The other evening at dinner was the last straw. The kids had finished eating and had hied themselves into the living room to watch television. Judy and I were seated at opposite ends of the table talking.

Suddenly my eye lit on a crisp hunk of lettuce languishing in my salad bowl. I thought I had finished my salad and was delighted to find one more morsel waiting to be devoured.

I picked up the lettuce with my fingers and popped it into my mouth only to discover it was Katie's green-paper table napkin which she had deposited in my salad bowl when she was finished eating.

Judy has orders never to buy any more green table napkins.

And I have orders to get a pair of bifocals —posthaste.

Stumping the Woods

In Which Jenny Wins a Round

Jenny, Uncle Charlie's mule, never shared his childish fascination for wheels. These discriminated against the fair sex, she felt, since she pulled them while Charlie rode in regal comfort on the farm machines. Although she felt the plow and cultivator put them on an equal 'footing' she favored the post hole digger as the ideal implement, since she was not physically adapted to its operation.

A gentleman farmer (he was neither in her estimation) would have invested in tractor wheels and freed her for hereditary pursuits more appropriate to her station. These broodings were interrupted one fateful day in July when Charlie arrived home burdened with several small grooved wooden wheels, each in a cage with a hook attached. In addition he was lugging a coil of rope, a hank of smaller line and a Robe Golberg fork affair of considerable dimension.

"Another labor saving device – for Charlie!"

Thus surmised Jenny with justifiable suspicion as she watched him haul the weird components into the secrecy of the hoyloft after suspending one of the pulleys, rove with rope, from the projecting beam at the roof peak. In due time he appeared at the upper doorway and lowered the fork, by its attached line, to the loaded hay wagon.

Jenny got the picture and immediately began formulating a critique of this manila fodder conveyor which Charlie was scanning with an eye more appreciative than critical. Obviously she would provide the motive power while Charlie masterminded this operation which began with a vigorous thrust of the fork into the hay load.

Carrying the tag line, Charlie climbed down and punched the "Start" [illegible]tton with an irritating flick of the reins. From 'gidyap' to 'whoa' and from 'back' to 'whoa' the mechanism performed flawlessly, depositing a pile of hay mechanically at the far end of the mow.

Charlie retrieved the fork by its trip line and the treadmill sequence was repeated. This time the proud inventor walked with reins looped around his neck like the pastoral scene on a co-op calendar.

For the third run, Jenny decided to adjust the labor-management relationship in more equitable fashion.

With Charlie occupied atop the load, she backed surreptitiously to accumulate ten feet of slack in the high-line.

While indulging in a breather, the crafty Charlie suggested innocently that he could increase his cadence if she were inclined to speed the harvest. Ever responsive to any reasonable request, Jenny obliged with an initial acceleration which yanked Charlie off his feet when tag-line, rope and reins became taut simultaneously. Fortunately, the controls slipped from around Charlie's neck as Jenny galloped away.

The deafening crash of the fork against the back wall signaled that the bitter end of the line had been reached. Peering through the settling dust five minutes later, Charlie beheld an intricate entanglement of ropes, pulleys and tines, not unlike a prizewinning futuristic sculpture, dangling from the ridge pole.

True to form, inartistic Charlie, laid failure at Jenny's doorstep with incoherent references to her mangy hide. Jenny could grasp no logical connection but chose to let it pass an unworthy of intelligent comment.

30-Point Rally Almost Bows Unbeaten Chiefs

RAYDER CLAYTON Jones took to the air while shooting for basket in game with the Cheboygan Chiefs Friday. Jones didn't make it. The Chiefs won, 69-63.

Cheboygan Wins by 6 Points

"If the game had gone on another couple of minutes, we would have won!"

That was the consensus of spectators at the Charlevoix Red Rayder-Cheboygan Chiefs match Friday night on the Chief's home court.

Cheboygon won the game 69-63 although the Rayders staged a 30-point scoring spree in the final period which stunned their opponents.

In the fourth period alone, Rondy Faust scored 5 field goals and 4 free throws, Jerry Skippergosh scored 3 field goals and 2 free throws, Mike Streeter scored 3 field goals and Kevin Stokes scored 2 free throws.

Cheboygan chalked up only 14 points during the period.

However the undefeated Cheboygan team led from the start with quarter scores of 17-11; 37-27; and 52-33.

Jerry Skippergosh was high man for Charlevoix, with 24 points on 8 field goals and 8 free throws out of 10 attempts. He was charged with 4 personal fouls.

Randy Foust was hard on his heels wth 22 points on 9 field goals and 4 free throws out of 5 attempts. He was charged with 2 personal fouls.

Mike Streeter also scored in double figures with 11 points on 5 field goals and 1 free throw.

Clayton Jones and David Martinchek scored 2 points each on field goals and Kevin Stokes scored 2 points on free throws.

G & T was awarded the contract for $201,179.25 within the stipulated 120 days after the bids were opened. However G & T now claims contracts should have been awarded within 90 days and the cost of the project has increased $16,000. The city refuses to kick in an additional $16,000 since the special assessment roll already has been drawn up, advertised and approved. City Attorney Donald Berlage is sending the company a letter asking for the required bonds within 10 days.

--Bought certificates of deposit totaling $6,859 with revenue sharing funds.

--Told Acting City Administrator Robert Wexstaff to look into the purchase of a surplus electric generator or two from the state. Resort Development Announced

A 300-acre waterfront tract on Lake Charlevoix has been acquired for development as a residential vacation community, according to Alexander L. Geterma, president, United Communities Corp., (UCC) an international diversified corporation with headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla.

The land is the site of the former Camp Charlevoix.

Charlevoix Lakes is the tentative name given the project, a joint venture of UCC and Charlevoix Associates, Inc., of Columbus, Ohio, the building firm that will be general contractor for the development. UCC is engaged in real estate development, construction, manufacturing, public utilities operation, and resort ownership and management.

Funding for the development has been arranged with a construction loan commitment of $5.5 million from Continental Mortgage Investors for the 150 units in Phase 1 of a 900-home community. Building schedules have been timed so that models will be opened as early as April, and projected prices for the condominium townhouses will range from $45,000 to $60,000 for one-story, two and three bedroom homes.

Plans Told for Shopping Center On U.S. 31 North

Plans for a multi-million dollar shopping and residential complex in Charlevoix Township at the junction of Boyne City-rd. and U.S. 31 North were revealed last Thursday at a meeting of the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission.

Construction of certain phases of the project are expected to start this spring with completion of the entire development expected in three or four years.

The promoters, who chose to remain anonymous for the present, include two Charlevoix residents plus three downstate men---an architect, a builder and a manufacturer.

The project is planned on a 52-acre triangle of land bordered by U.S. 31 North, Martin-rd. and Waller-rd. The land was formerly farmed by the late John Martin but was purchased several years ago by Dr. Walter Hoffmann of Charlevoix.

Included in the development is an auto dealership, a grocery store, a department store, a furniture store, a branch bank, assorted shops, a motel, a restaurant, a nursing care center, a mobile home court, an area of medium-priced homes and a sheltered care facility for elderly person who are still able to care for themselves.

The tract also would provide room for condominiums, although that phase of the project is subject to change.

Included in the project is the dredging of two ponds in low-lying areas.

William Mercer, county planning director, says there are still many problems to be worked out in connection with the development.

The area still is not served by a municipal sewage system, which will probably be required by the State Health Department. The developers hope they will receive permission to install septic tanks for initial phases of the project until sewer lines are laid.

But before the sewer line from the city is extended, the City of Charlevoix must first complete separation of its storm and sanitary sewers on the North Side.

Mercer also is concerned about the effect of the ponds on Lake Charlevoix. He points out that they most certainly will be the basin for an oily run-off from the parking areas and that some means must be developed to filter the water before it flows from the ponds into the lake.

A high water table in other areas also may pose problems.

Mercer also is skeptical about the creation of a mobile home court on Waller-rd., particularly with the development of an R-1 neighborhood on the opposite side of the road.

One of the developers reports that the mobile home court will probably be the first project undertaken. It may be completed as early as next fall.

Mercer also doubts that the State Highway department will permit six driveways into the development from U.S. 31 North.

Plans for the development were drawn up by Daverman and Associates of Petoskey and Grand Rapids. They call for greenbelt along the highway and large areas of wooded land between the various components.

The developers declined to say what commercial en-

ROD STEBBINS at the Irish Boat Shop assures us that there will be plenty of gasoline for pleasure boaters this summer. He says the Federal Energy Office (FEO) has no plans to eliminate fuel for use in recreational boats. W. H. This means all retain gasoline customers, including boat owners, will be given equal and fair treatment at the gas pumps, according to Stebbins.

DR. JOHN Sheaffer, a Chicago engineer, has recommended that sewage sludge from Detroit be transported to northern Michigan by rail to revitalize soils for agriculture or forestry. He made the suggestion at a meeting of civic leaders recently in Cadillac. Detroit presently burns or buries much of its sewage sludge, which the doctor thinks is wasteful. Furthermore, such a move would save oil presently used to make fertilizer and oil used to burn sludge.

She used to teach at the McGeagh school, located where Dr. David Norton, DVM, now has his animal hospital.

CHARLEVOIX County, by the way, will receive $16,087 from the state this winter for highway snow removal. The reimbursement goes to counties with an annual fall of more than 80 inches. (It was 70 up until last year.) Charlevoix County's total snowfall in the winter of 1972-'73 was 86.95 inches. Only 23 of Michigan's 83 counties qualified for assistance, compared to 49 the year before. Antrim County is due to receive $121,766, for its 113.12 inch fall. Emmet, which had only six inches more than Charlevoix, will receive $33,695. The number of miles of state highways plowed also is a factor in determining the amount of payments.

Bay Twp. Supports Board

Bay Township officials survived Charlevoix County's first recall election last Tuesday, with flying colors.

A group of citizens petitioned for the recall election after the township board passed an interim zoning ordinance after a county-wide zoning ordinance failed at the polls last August.

Seventy-seven percent of the township's registered voters turned out for the special election.

They voted to keep Supervisor Cark Skornia by a vote of 161 to 86; Clerk Ed Chamberlain, 162-81; Treasurer Robert Stolt, 174 to 70; Trustee Bert Hawkins, 169 to 75; and Trustee Ruben Wangberg 171 to 73.

Both Rozemas Improving

Roger Rozema and his son Steve of Norwood were reported improving at Little Traverse Hospital Tuesday morning.

The Rozemas were injured in an accident on the Ellsworth-Atwood-rd. Jan. 12, when an automobile pulled out of a side road in front of them.

Rozema is out of intensive care and his condition reportedly has stabilized. A nurse in the Pediatrics Ward says Steve is "doing fine."

Mrs. Wallace Asks Rink for Little Folk

At its meeting Jan. 14, the City Council:

--Heard a request by Alderwoman Jeannine Wallace that a second skating rink be provided in town for little folks. She is afraid they will wander into the ice of Lake Charlevoix or get hurt by big kids playing hockey at the new Ferry-ave. rink.

--Learned that sewer work north of the bridge will cost $13,500 instead of $10,792. Alderman Richard Fochtman said the city is getting off easy considering the problems encountered by W.A. Porter Co. of East Jordan during construction.

--Learned that Cal Gould is interested in trading his property behind the Hogan building on Bridge-st. for a tract of city-owned residential property near Mt. McSauba.

--Heard an objection by Alderman Fochtman to the fact that Wexstaff submitted a bill from Seeley Printing for business cards identifying himself as "City Administrator." Wexstaff said the cards should have read "Acting City Administrator" but the printer dropped the "Acting."

MICHIGAN'S newest state Court of Appeals judge is Glenn S. Allen jr. (center) who maintains a summer home in a converted schoolhouse on the Boyne City-rd. Here Judge Allen is sworn in by Chief Justice T. John Lesinski as Mrs. Allen looks on.

Glenn Allen Sworn-In As Appeals Court Judge

Glenn S. Allen of Kalamazoo, a long-time summer resident in the Charlevoix area, has been sworn-in as a member of the state Court of Appeals, following his appointment by Gov. William Milliken.

The oath was administered by Chief Justice T. John Lesinski in the presence of Mrs. Allen.

Judge Allen succeeds Judge John Fitzgerald, who has been advanced to the Michigan Supreme Court.

The Allens have been residents of the Belvedere Club for many years and recently completed remodeling of a schoolhouse (later Maria's Restaurant) on the Boyne City-rd. as a second home.

A native of Kalamazoo, Judge Allen brings broad experience in government administration to the court, having served 16 years as mayor and city commissioner in Kalamazoo, 13 years as a member of the Kalamazoo County Board of Supervisors and two years as a delegate to the Michigan Constitutional Convention.

He also served as state controller and budget director under Gov. George Romney and as a special advisor on legal, fiscal and legislative affairs for Gov. Milliken. During World War II he was legal advisor to Gen. George Patton.

An attorney, he practiced law in Kalamazoo for 16 years.

Allen was appointed to the Court of Appeals as a representative of the Third District, serving 66 counties in western, central and northern Michigan, plus all of the Upper Peninsula.

Ruppe Hails GOP Record on Energy

Republican Congressman Phil Ruppe met with Charlevoix County GOP members and government leaders at Leutheuser's Restaurant last Thursday morning to discuss the energy crisis, President Nixon's Watergate problems and inflation.

The congressman was introduced by Robert Wise, chairman of the Charlevoix County Republican Committee. About 40 persons turned out for the dutch-treat breakfast.

Ruppe applauded the administration's record in the energy crisis, pointing out that voluntary conservation measures seem to be working. He said the likelihood of gasoline rationing has diminished in recent weeks.

"Rationing would have brought the tourist industry to a standstill," he said.

Although he predicted less rapid growth for the resort industry in coming years as a result of the energy crisis, he said long-range prospects for the economy and the resort industry generally are promising.

Library notes

By Eleanor Ratigan

We have new and important non-fiction to recommend this week on a variety of subjects.

"Stay of Execution" is a tender and inspiring memoir by Stewart Alsop. On July 20, 1971, when he found out he had a form of leukemia that was likely to kill him in a year and almost surely in two years, he wrote: "I have quite often wondered what it would be like to be told I had an inoperable and incurable cancer." This moving book is Alsop's account of what it means to live with a terminal disease and to confront daily the prospect of one's own death. The uncertainty of his future has turned his thoughts back to the past. He has had a happy marriage, six children, an assortment of eccentric relatives and friends and an absorbing career. He has been a popular columnist for Newsweek since 1968, and is the author of numerous books about the American political scene.

"My Wide World" was written by Jim McKay who has covered more than 100 different sports in 35 countries and 45 states for ABC's Wide World of Sports. He is probably best remembered for his magnificent coverage of the tragic Olympic Games in Munich when 11 Israeli athletes were held hostage and eventually killed. As news of the tragedy broke painfully over a period of 20 hours, Jim McKay and the ABC crew, already exhausted from a full day's work, stayed on the job. Jim McKay's 12 years with ABC have been exciting, sometimes tiring, but always rewarding. There was never anything like the summer of 1972.

The "NFL's Official Encyclopedic History of Professional Football" is certainly the most complete, easy to read, informative, enjoyable and reliable book for every student, observer and lover of the game of professional football.

There are histories of the teams, a review of the stars, the scores, and each team's all-time roster of players, coaches and draft choices. The book is filled with both colored and black and white photographs. We're proud to have this fine edition for our shelves.

And we have a new book on skiing edited by Ski Magazine. "Expert Tips for Better Skiing" is a complete and up-to-date guide to modern skiing for the beginner as well as the veteran skier. Fully illustrated with more than 200 line sketches and photographs, it covers every phase of ski technique. An entire section is devoted to special snow and terrain conditions as well as ski racing and NASTAR and acrobatics. Two final sections round out this complete guide: tips for parents and an important section on conditioning and warm-up.

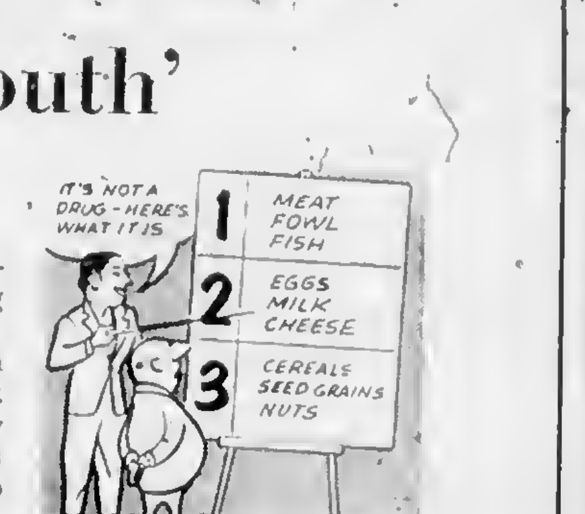
Eat and Grow Younger

Life-Giving Protein Termed Real 'Elixir of Youth'

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Two of a Series



Protein is a food element as vital to human life as oxygen. Yet how many persons have more than a nodding acquaintance with the word?

Many people are as mixed up about protein as was a member of an audience in a city where I lectured not long ago. I had worked hard to put over the urgently needed protein message to them, for if ever there were a group of persons who looked as though they needed to know more about the "elixir of youth," it was those tired, haggard, old-looking people who sat before me that night.

And yet I was positive that very few of them had reached any more than their middle 50's. They were still young in years, but even their spirits seemed to have wrinkles.

After I had concluded my lecture and stepped down from the platform, a man approached me —a man as worn and weary-looking as any of the others, despite his well-tailored suit and prosperous appearance.

"I thought you were against drugs," he blurted out, "but you are now talking for protein!"

PROTEIN NOT DRUG

Despite my repeated stressing throughout the lecture that protein is a food element, this man couldn't get his mind out of the drugstore. Yet, after my first astonishment at his distortion of my message, I began to look at the subject from his viewpoint.

Every few days he is likely to hear the latest word on "miracle drugs" — drugs that are going to permit mankind to live indefinitely, to bestow eternal youth on a pitifully eager human race.

Even certain nutritionists and health teachers are not without their share of blame for pushing protein far into the background in their lectures and books on "how to defer old age." Perhaps there isn't enough so-called drama about commonplace items such as meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, and whole-grain cereals.

On any of these complete proteins, particularly the animal proteins, you can live well and vigorously without ever touching another type of food — and still look forward to the taste joys of meal-time.

BURDENSOME TASK

But just try subsisting for even a short period on nothing but the highly-refined starch and sugar foods and you'll soon come to regard meal-time as a burdensome task rather than a pleasure!"

Protein is the safeguard of your youthfulness and good health. It is a preventer of disease, besides being one of the best medicines for numerous human ills. And here is what I consider the real nutrition miracle:

All the while that protein is safeguarding your youth and good health, preventing disease or curing you of an existing ailment, it is also nourishing your body with highly palatable, good-tasting food.

Nutrition teaches us that all foods are divided into four main classes: Proteins, carbohydrates (sugars and starches), fats and water. Thus we establish that protein is a food, not a drug.

Protein is the basic raw material of all life, either plant or animal. The word protein is derived from the Greek verb meaning "I come first."

Protein is stored by nature only in living tissue, and in places where it is essential for development of new life — in the embryo of eggs, in milk needed to nourish the young and in the seeds of plants.

CHART TO RECALL PROTEIN

Here is a little chart to help you remember where to look for protein foods:

1. Living tissue — meat, fowl, fish.
2. Eggs and milk — intended to nourish newborn life.
3. Seeds of plants in their natural state — cereal and seed grains, nuts, legumes.

Protein is the chief building material of your body. If you were to analyze a single cell taken from any part of your body — a hair in your head, the tissue in your heart, the lining of your intestines, the muscles in your legs — you would find this tiny cell composed chiefly of protein.

And, like the parts of any constantly operated, non-resting machine, your body cells are continually wearing out, needing repairs or replacements.

So what are you going to do? Patch up our protein body cells with carbohydrates? Just try patching a rubber tire on your car with flour and water paste, and see how far you'll get!

HUMAN MACHINE

The perpetual-motion human machine must have abundant protein every day to repair, replace and renew worn out cells in every part of your body.

When you don't supply enough high-protein foods in your daily diet to make certain that these vitally needed cell repairs and replacements can go on without interruption, you're inviting old age to take over.

In the laboratories, nutritional scientists and biochemists have proved that a diet poor in proteins hastens aging in the human body.

I could cite case after case of elderly persons, weakened by tea-and-toast diets, who have been restored to usefulness by gradually converting their meals to high-protein foods. Their weakened bodies gained new vigor, and their minds become keen and alert once more.

Nobody who has witnessed these recoveries, as I have, could ever deny that protein foods are truly nutritional wonders.

1-Act Play Recalls Witch Era in Salem

By Carolin Swartout

This year the students in Charlevoix High School speech class were divided up into two groups-debate and drama. This enabled them not only to get more accomplished but also to do a better job.

Drama students are presently preparing a three-net play for your inspection. Later in the year they will also do their annual evening of entertainment.

At the beginning of the school year the students were exposed to different areas of communication within the theater, including pantomine, children's stories, and improvations.

Participating were Sherry Alspaugh, Janet Begrow, Steve Bloom, Mike Bogart, Jim Marshall, Sharon Monieith, Carole Penee, Debbie Powell, Carolin Swartout and Ron Winchester.

January is the month whereupon the entire speech class gets together to work on a play for competition on the local, district and state levels.

The class has chosen "To Burn A Witch", a drama dealing with the trails in Salem in the 1600's. The cast includes Susie Boss, Anita Potter, Debbie Powell and Carolin Swartout.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX
Ida A. Heise, City Clerk

Dear First Warder:

I would like to represent you in your city government. Being well aware of some of the problems, I am also concerned with decisions that could affect the future of Charlevoix. I will try to eliminate the causes for complaints and be receptive to recommendations.

You might like to know that a committee of six people, including three women, have decided to work with me to bring the people of the ward closer together and to assure more effective action quicker. They will certainly encourage more involvement of the older citizens in questions requiring study and research. Also it is expected they will call on the very young voters to participate and contribute towards the betterment of the community.

To the people who do not know me I would like to mention the following: As a resident of the North side fur twenty-five years, I operated a successful retail business for twenty years. Besides owning a very small manufacturing company, I am a general contractor in this area, specializing in new homes. My wife, Dorothy, has been teaching more than thirty years in the local kindergarten.

I would appreciate your careful consideration, and vote of approval.

To those who will need an application for absentee voting we are providing the necessary form. You will only have to sign it in two places and return it in the ready to mail envelope.

Sincerely,

Ralph McRae

To the Circuit Court, for the County of CHARLEVOIX.

ALLISON GREEN, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.

2 That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four percent and (d) $3 00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first mentioned.

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgment in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained

c. That said judgment provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides,

d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.

Saints Fall to Boyne

Boyne City's height and experience paid off Friday as the Ramblers became the third team in the Michigan-Huron Shores league to defeat the St. Ignace Saints 79-76.

Connecting for 32 field goals and an outstanding 68 per cent or 15 out of 22 free throws, the Ramblers found the victory trail as tough as they gave up the lead to the Saints by a score of 52-60 at the three quarter mark after heading the visitors 26-24 at the quarter and 43-41 at halftime. As the game went down to the final horn, however, Coach Russ Harvey's cagemen sighted victory to outscore the Saints 19-14.

Scott Upton poured in 22 points; Dave Peck, 15; Lon Kowalski, 12, and Brad Upton 10 to give the Ramblers balanced scoring. Louie Grondon scored 20, Ray Russell 17, Bill Grogan 15 and Greg LaTour 13 for the Saints.

The St. Ignace J-V's won their game by a score of 53-41.

CHS Debaters Qualify For Slot in State Tourney

Charlevoix's debate team was one of two teams in the District 1 Class C-D tournament at Elk Rapids Saturday qualifying for the State Tournament, Mrs. Connie Ford, team coach, has announced.

Both Charlevoix and Reed City earned an opportunity to advance to the state level by winning four of six debates. Charlevoix had three negative and one affirmative wins. The host team, Elk Rapids, had 3-3 and Fairview 1-5 total.

The State Tournament will be held at Mt. Pleasant March 14-16.

A Charlevoix senior, Anita Potter, also was named the top speaker of the day, earning 82 out of a possible 90 points, to qualify for competition in the John S. Knight Scholarship competition later this school year. She must be prepared to debate both sides of this year's question which is Resolved: That the Federal Government should provide a program of employment for all employable U.S. citizens living in poverty.

Other members of the Charlevoix team are Sheilah Brady, a senior, and Gayle Boss and Kim Blanchard, juniors.

In state competition, a team is guaranteed six rounds in the competition. Mrs. Ford said her debators were swing participants who are able to debate both sides of the question.

In addition to the above mentioned students, she listed the following as students participating in the debate program: Jane McDonald, Susan Boss, Linda Smith, Dona Bellows, Denise Boss, Carolin Swortwout, Darrell Clarke, Janet Begrow, Kathy Britton, Jim Marshall, Heidi Dove, Steve Bloom, Sharon Monteith, Debbie Powell, Carole Pence and Rae Ann Slone.

The Forensics division of the speech program will start at the beginning of the second semester with an estimated 40 students participating for credit. Just as in the debate program, many students participate because they are interested and enjoy the role of a part-time participant, Mrs. Ford said.

Students in the forensics program will participate in one and three-act plays and in such individual events as multiple, serious and humorous readings, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, story telling, declamations and radio broadcasting.

These students have already began rehearsal of a three-act play to be presented in mid-February, Mrs. Ford said.

E.J. Wins 2nd Game Friday

The East Jordan Red Devils posted their second win of the current season Friday night by a score of 55-41 over Gaylord St. Mary.

The Jordanites trailed 11-7 at the quarter but started to hit in the second period to go ahead 28-19 at halftime and 47-29 going into the final eight minutes.

Coach Ted Culver's lads committed only five fouls in the entire game as the Snowbirds collected only one point at the free throw line.

Terry Murphy led the scoring with 16 points with Pete Hammond adding 13 and Bill Reid 12 for the winning cause.

Scoring 12 points each for the host team were Tom Tomaski and Church Lovelace.

The Snowbird JV's won over East Jordan by a score of 59-56.

Give Generously To March of Dimes

Monday evening, Charlevoix mothers will conduct their annual door-to-door solicitation for the March of Dimes, an organization devoted to the war on birth defects.

The tragedy of birth defects cannot be over-stated. Withered limbs, impaired mental faculties, deafness, blindness. All can occur among new borns and will continue to do so until we discover the reasons for birth defects and take steps to eradicate them.

Old timers will remember that the March of Dimes was started by late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who was a victim of polio. Money donated to the March was used in research which eventually resulted in development of the Salk vaccine which has practically wiped out polio.

Now the March of Dimes has trained its big guns on birth defects. Money collected by Charlevoix mothers Monday night will be used to finance research and offer direct assistance to the victims of birth defects.

With your generous financial assistance, birth defects may one day be conquered -- just as polio was conquered a generation ago.

Says Zionists, Not Jews, Are Irritants

Dear Bob,

Although I haven't always gone along with your liberal bent, I hate to write "Counter-Clockwise" letters to the editor of the finest weekly paper I know. But you really blew one in your "Clockwise" editorial of December 26th when you talked of "...ancient antagonisms between the Arabs and the Jews, some of them dating back to the dawn of history..."

Some of history's facts are that it was "the Arabs" in the 15th century who gave many of Europe's Jews refuge and home when the church-militant tried to force Jews to abandon their faith. And until the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948 several hundreds of thousands of Jews (and millions of Christians) lived harmoniously with the majority Moslem population in the "Arab world".

It is, in fact, Zionism and Zionists--not Judaism and Jews--which are the irritants in the Middle East and have been since Balfour Declaration days, 60 years ago. A vast majority of Jews are not Zionists, and many Christians are! Zionism is a political-national movement; whereas Judaism is a religion, and those who worship in it are nationals of many nations of the world, not just Israel. The Zionist State discriminates against Palestinians who do not qualify by Israeli law as members of the Zionist concept of "the Jewish people". Thus the Christian and Moslem Palestinian refugees. The recent hostility of the Arabs toward the Zionists and/or Israelis is therefore comprehensible.

There never has been since the dawn of history, and should not be now, antagonisms between Jews and Arabs. Indeed, the dictionary lumps them together as "Semites"!

How would you like some "latter-day 'Zionists'" to say "Michigan is for Mormons", throw other sects out and force them to seek refuge elsewhere?

Still, and always, my very best,

Clockwise

Crock-Pot

By BOB CLOCK

How did we ever wrap packages or mend torn pages before the invention of Scotch tape?

Can you remember how you handled your household trash before the invention of giant plastic sacks?

When was the last time you waded through snowdrifts to hang a load of wash on the backyard line? Chances are it was sometime before the invention of the automatic dryer and coming-of-age of the laundromat.

Now I am wondering how the Clocks ever prepared meals before the arrival of a "crock-pot" at our house over the Christmas Holidays. It was a gift from Judy's mother and it hasn't had a chance to cool off properly ever since it was opened Christmas morning.

In case you aren't up on modern kitchen gadgetry, crock-pots are a throw-back to the old days when the lady of the house did most of her meal preparation in the morning and let supper simmer on the back of the wood range all day long.

If you nourish any nostalgia for the way things used to be cooked "down on the farm," the crock-pot is for you.

The secret of the crock-pot is slow cooking. Our model uses only 70 watts of electricity on low, which means it is extremely economical to use, even if you have it plugged in hour after hour.

There is something about slow-cooking that leaches all of the flavor from the condiments and deposits them with the entree. Although crock-pots are covered, enough of the steam escapes into the kitchen to make the whole house smell delicious all day long.

This is not an advertisement, but I will tell you that crock-pots should be available this week at Harbor Hardware and Staley's Hardware. Both stores sold out before Christmas but are expecting new shipments any day.

Before the crock-pot arrived, the Clocks would mix up a batch of meat sauce for spaghetti and have it ready to serve in 45 minutes to an hour. Not any longer. The meat sauce goes on right after breakfast and by suppertime it has reached a state of near perfection.

The same goes for chili-con-carne, although I'd suggest that you leave your pot on high for at least an hour after the kidney beans are added in order to tenderize them. Then turn it on low and let nature take its course.

Judy has made French onion soup several times since Christmas, but this is one delicacy which should not be allowed to simmer all day long. The aroma is so enticing that it is impossible not to stop and sample every time you pass the pot. As a result, most of the soup is gone by suppertime, which should tell you something about the flavor of crock-pot cooking.

Now the Clocks make onion soup in the evening and leave the pot on low all night. By morning the soup is steeped to perfection and we have it for breakfast.

Onion soup for breakfast? You bet. That's the traditional morning meal in France, and 50 million Frenchmen can't be wrong.

One of our favorite meals from the crock-pot is pork and sauerkraut. The flavor that the pork imparts to the sauerkraut after eight hours of cooking is indescribable.

One advantage of the crock-pot is that even the lowliest cuts of meat emerge so tender that you can cut them with a fork. And for some strange reason, meat cooks quicker than vegetables on low heat. If you're making stew (we haven't tried it yet) you might want to start the vegetables a couple of hours before you add the meat.

Of course I don't have to point the advantages of being able to buy less costly cuts of meat in these days of skyrocketing meat prices.

Judy likes the crock-pot because it lets her get supper out of the way as soon as the kids leave for school. Then she has the rest of the day to do other things.

It also seems like it would be a boon to working wives who must hurry home to fix supper for their families.

I'd like to predict that crock-pots will soon be as common in American kithens as tea kettles and egg beaters.

Early Valentine

I am going to quit picking on my wife. I would also be happy to quit picking her up.

Be patient; I will explain what I mean. But first, I must assure you this story has a happy ending. Some funny things happened - me in the nude, for instance. But it wasn't funny at the time. It was frightening. It wasn't possible for me to laugh until later. But you can smile anytime you feel like it because you know going in that everything turns out OK. I didn't know....

As I was finishing my morning shower, I heard an awful moaning. I grabbed a towel and ran to the kitchen where I found my wife, Pat, slumped over a table. She couldn't talk and she was quickly losing consciousness.

My first thought was to carry her to a nearby couch. You cannot lift a woman while holding a towel around your middle. Down went the towel. I was dripping wet and there was still shampoo in my hair. As I put my arms around Pat, my teenage daughter Chris came in for breakfast.

She wondered aloud what was going on. She probably thought Kellogg's had come up with aphrodisiac corn flakes, which would certainly give Euell Gibbons something to chew on. I told her to call the doctor.

The doctor said to rush Pat to the hospital. By this time she was completely unconscious and deathly still. I was so scared I'd forgotten completely about the dumb towel. The hospital is just across the street and I was ready to head for it nude. But how would I carry my Blue Cross card?

I jumped into pants, sweater and slippers. It was the first time I skipped underwear since the black days of World War 2 when I suffered a terrible wound from a zipper.

I carried Pat to the car. She is not extremely heavy but I am the guy whose face gets sand kicked in it even when I'm not at the beach. By the time we got in the hospital, the nurses weren't sure which one was the patient. The cold air had frozen my shampoo and my knees were crowding my ankles.

One nurse did make me feel better. I have a neighbor named Mallory whose handsome Irish face looks like mine. People are always confusing us. His wife's name is Gloria. This nurse saw me collapsed in a chair outside the emergency room and asked me if Gloria were sick.

I said yes. Maybe they'll send Mallory the bill.

Well, it turned out that Pat had simply suffered a bad reaction to some medication. She'll be fine. But I can't end this hospital drama without writing this valentine:

There comes a moment when a man suddenly knows he really doesn't give a good damn about Nixon's tapes, the energy crisis or the milk bill. He realizes all he really cares about is the well-being of someone he loves and needs. That must sound strange coming from a guy who is always lamenting the lost freedoms of his bachelor days. But there you are.

Looking back at the shower-to-hospital saga, I can laugh. Until I cry.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

Depicting the early lumberjack as a rowdy inebriate is grossly unjust inasmuch as he was a teetotaler five months of the year and certainly deserved to celebrate the spring breakup with a bit of social drinking.

For arduous outdoors work he fortified himself with nourishing food, never requiring a couple of 'quick belts' to start the day which began and ended in darkness.

Alcohol was prohibited by the self-imposed decree of men with tempers as sharp as the cold steel of their double-bitted axes.

When logging operations were suspended, hundreds of calked boots headed for the nearest settlement to dance a livelier tempo lasting as long as the owner's money. This yearly migration to the comforts of civilization was warmly welcomed by businessmen who, for lack of sales, had spent the winter in semi-hibernation.

The lumberjack first sought out the haberdasher to negotiate a new wardrobe appropriate to the occasion. While undergoing the necessary form fitting measurements, he slaked his parched throat liberally with an elixer provided by the thoughtful retailer who mentally adjusted his markup to match consumption.

The next stop was the barbershop where a portable tub in the backroom offered the unaccustomed luxury of a hot bath for 25 cents. Buoyed by the high spirits of his previous transaction, the logger would enliven the shop with selected operatic renditions better known for earthiness then musical quality.

All old attire, except the boots, were chucked into the potbellied stove to become the funeral pyre of numerous unsuspecting inhabitants. Replacement garments arrived, all the required alterations having been accomplished in recorded time.

After investing another quarter for a shave and haircut a new man hastened out to make his debut among comrades in the handiest of many saloons. These establishments, dedicated to those bent on pleasure, became regular ports of call on a pleasure cruise during which the exuberant pilot did not always operate 'steady as she goes'.

Any insinuation that he was not a social drinker is sheer nonsense. How much more social can one get then to offer to lick anyone within earshot? No closet drinker was he, this two fisted legend, dragging his coat along the street and daring anyone to step on it. This popular sport was as interesting to the spectators as it was invigorating to the participants, with the challenger battling to reach the far goal as physically intact as a sizeable relay of eager combatants would allow.

One never saw a more inspiring display of brotherly love, as feet and fists flew in a dust storm swirling around these funloving revelers enjoying an introductory get-together! The medical man carried his lunch in view of his burgeoning practice. The village constable, harboring his energies for more turbulent times, departed on an extended camping trip. Everyone let his hair down a bit and even the crotchety old bankers called thriving saloon keepers by their first names.

Although he confined his alphabetical curiosity to the letter "X" which served as his mark, our subject is not only possessed the refinements of the social drinker but conducted himself at all times in gentlemanly fashion as well.

Plans Revealed For Development

terprises are interested in locating at the new site, but indicated that there has been a lively interest in acquiring many of the sites.

They say the shopping area would be constructed as an enclosed, all-weather mall similar to shopping complexes in the metropolitan areas.

Other projects discussed at the planning meeting included development of a 37½ acre tract of land east of Pa-Ba-Shan Lane to be called Shanaland. The property is owned by Edward Shanahan.

The land is accessible from Pa-Ba- Shan Lane, Mercer-blvd. and Waller-rd.

Plans call for the construction of about 75 housing units, either as townhouses or four-plexes, with an average density of two dwelling units per acre.

The planners also conferred with James Muschell of United Associates in Cheboygan. The engineering firm is drawing up plans for construction of a seawall and docks on Round Lake north of the present yacht basin.

The study was ordered by the city as the first step in providing improved parking in the area south of the city dock.

Muschell indicated that 50-50 matching funds may be available from the Water Resources Commission since the parking facility will be adjacent to the docks.

Representatives of the Water Resources Commission, the Beaver Island Boat Co., the City Council, the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew and the Planning Commission will be invited to a meeting in the near future to discuss the project.

Meeting Notice

The Charlevoix Planning Commission will hold a public meeting Thursday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room at the City Hall to discuss downtown parking.

March of Dimes Canvas Set for Monday Night

The Charlevoix Mother's March on Birth Defects will be held the evening of Monday, Jan. 28, according to Mrs. Michael Ready, March chairman.

The Mothers' March was formerly known as the March of Dimes during the war on polio. Contributions to the March led to development of the Salk vaccine and virtual eradication of the disease.

Now the group is devoted to the conquest of birth defects. Monay raised goes into research and local assistance to the victims of birth defects.

William Wilson, who is working with Mrs. Ready on the campaign, says that some 250,000 children are born each year with birth defects – about one in every 14 births.

He adds that research is well under way toward an understanding of the causes and prevention of birth defects.

Assisting Mrs. Ready and Wilson with the drive are Elaine Westenbroek, Rosalee Donnelly, Loraine Warner, Susie Wise, Linda Moore, Loraine Kelly, Martha Herboldshiemer, Carolyn Wilson and Linda Wojan, who will serve as neighborhood captains.

Wilson says that although some area residents have received donation envelopes in the mail, all homes will be visited by the marching mothers Jan. 28.

Anyone who is not contacted during the March should telephone Mrs. Ready at 547-9724 or Bill Wilson at 547-4351.

County Dems Seek More Candidates

Charlevoix County Democrats laid plans to put more Democratic candidates on the ballot for local offices in the 1974 elections at their January meeting last week at the REA auditorium in Boyne City.

Party members plan to circulate information about offices to be filled on the state and local level and to recruit candidates among Democratic party members.

Members also discussed the advantaged of "closed primary elections" which would prevent members of opposing parties from weakening the Democratic tickety by voting for and possibly electing the weakest candidates.

Under the "closed primary" system, a voter would be required to register his party preference in advance of the election. A voter would be free to change parties at any time, except during the time registrations are closed preceding an election.

A "closed primary" would limit cross-over voting and insure that only registered Democrats or Republicans would have a voice in nominating their own party candidates.

Local Democrats also learned that the county's membership quota has been increased 36 percent over the 1973 quota, according to membership chairman Janis Dietrich.

Plans were made for a party picnic to be held sometime in June.

will add two millions of gallons of petroleum a day to U.S. reserves in five years, but he said he regrets the fact that the oil will be piped to the West Coast rather than the Midwest which is heavily dependent on foreign imports.

Ruppe said ouster of President Nixon over the Watergate affair would be disasterous to the Democratic Party, since it would mean Gerald Ford would be the incumbent president in the 1976 election.

He added that he doesn't feel the President would be impeached if a voter were taken in the House today.

"Most Republicans believe Nixon is not involved (with the Watergate affair)," Ruppe said.

Ruppe defended the President's impoundment of funds on grounds that Congress failed to come up with a means of raising the needed revenue.

"It is very easy for Congress to appropriate money and let the President take the rap for a deficit," he said.

If the President hadn't impounded voted funds, Ruppe says he believes the country would be experiencing runaway inflation.

Parking Meet Slated for Thursday

The Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission will hold a public meeting Thursday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the City Hall to discuss ways to improve downtown parking.

Downtown merchants and others interested in the parking situation are invited to attend.

Harold Elgas of Gaylord, a member of the Gaylord Parking Authority, is expected to be on hand to explain how Gaylord improved its downtown parking.

Rev. Kohn on Mend After Brain Surgery

Rev. Harold E. Kohn, pastor emeritus of the First Congregational Church, is reported making steady progress at University Hospital in Ann Arbor where he underwent surgery for a brain tumor Jan. 16.

Mrs. Kohn, who is staying in Ann Arbor with her husband, reports that Rev. Kohn is able to sit up in a chair and is talking better after suffering a sore throat following surgery.

Doctors believe that Rev. Kohn also will keep the sight in his left eye. He lost the sight in his right eye last November following surgery.

The operation is the seventh Rev. Kohn has undergone to relieve a cancerous condition behind the forehead wall. The disease is called persistant sarcoma.

Severe hemorrhaging occurred during the operation last week which necessitated the replacement of 12 pints of blood.

It is uncertain how soon Rev. Kohn will be able to return to his home at Hidden Brook near Charlevoix.

Chemotherapists and radiation therapists examined Rev. Kohn before his most recent operation to determine if some means other than surgery may be used in the future to stop the growth of the tumors.

Teacher Feacher

HIGH SCHOOL Art Instructor William Murray offers suggestions on watercolor by student Frank Kruskie.

'Involvement' Keeps Bill Murray Busy

(This is the first in a series of articles on Charlevoix teachers prepared by the Charlevoix Education Association.)

Involvement best described Bill Murray. Not only is he Charlevoix High School's Art and Psychology teacher, he is also active in sports, community services, artistic organizations, and the Charlevoix Education Association.

How did he get involved? Born in Birmingham, Mich., Bill became interested in skiing and sailing through the influence of his parents. Besides sailing a family boat, Murray also crewed on several Great Lakes races, including the Mackinaw to Port Huron Race.

Involvement with kids, perhaps, began with Boy Scouts. After many years of scouting, Murray became a scoutmaster, which he accounts as being a rewarding experience. He went on to attend Michigan State University, Oakland University, and Grand Valley State College, where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Art and Behavioral Sciences.

At present, Murray is continuing his education during the summer through Central Michigan University and the University of Michigan where he is working on his masters degree in Labor Relations.

Murray and his family, which includes his wife Paula (P.J.) and two sons Paul and Phillip, have been in Charlevoix for four years.

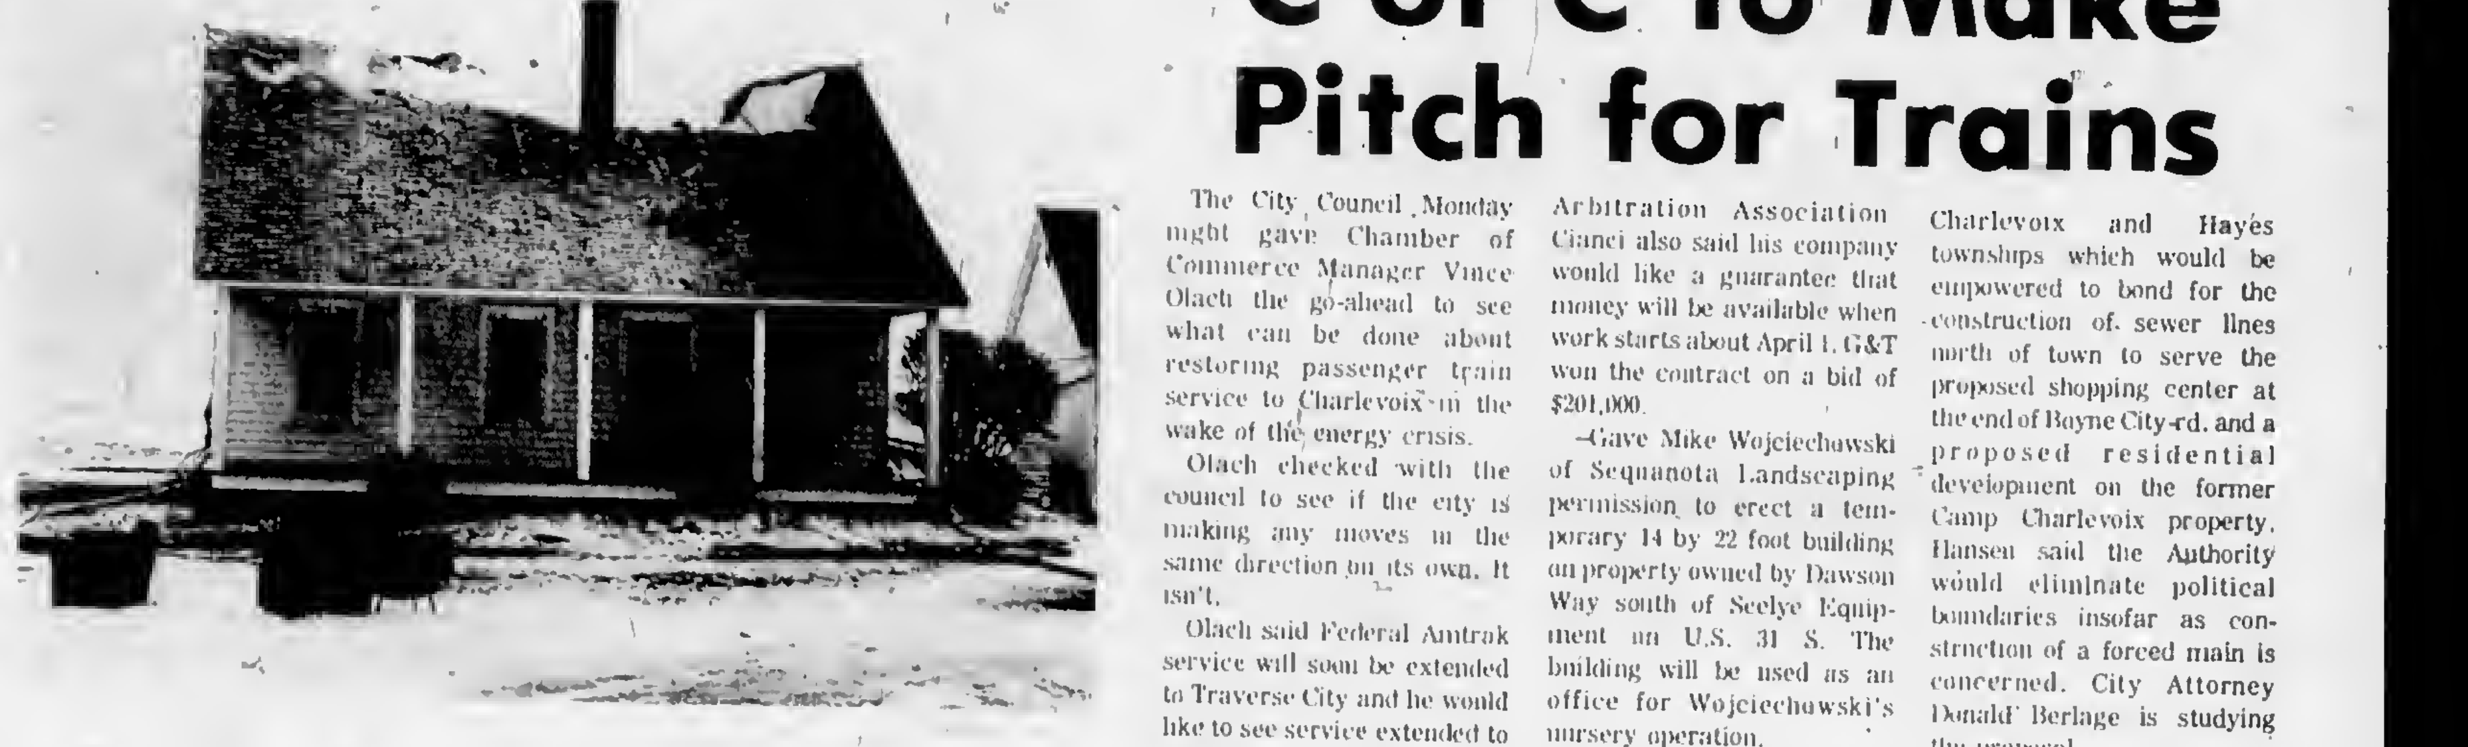
During those four years, Murray has served as high school ski team coach, student council advisor, the vice-president of the Charlevoix Jaycees. This year he is president of the Charlevoix Education Association.

Artistic talents have led him into many other activities. He is a professional water color painter and has shown his paintings at many area art shows, including the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair. This past fall, he taught a night class in painting for the Charlevoix Adult Education Program. He is also involved in the Crooked Tree Arts Council and last year he was in charge of organizing the annual student art show.

Hopefully Murray will be opening his own studio in Charlevoix this summer, where he intends to show his own work, as well as the works of a few area artists.

Murray's philosophy of education, perhaps, helps to explain why he feels his involvement needs to extend beyond the classroom.

"We should approach kids as human beings. We should try to reach each one of their own level and help them to become functional citizens of society. Education is teaching kids to think and learn on their own. I guess I would like to teach kids how to be their own teacher."



TANKERS from Charlevoix and Ellsworth ran out of water last Tuesday afternoon, hampering firemen in their efforts to save the 105 year old home in Norwood owned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stafford.

2 New Salesmen Join Staff at Ski & Shore

Two new sales representatives have joined the sales staff of Ski & Shore at the Charlevoix office, according to Gene Steele, manager.

They are Mrs. Elbert (Beverly) Kaiser of Carson-ave. and Frank Hackett of North Point.

The wife of the manager of Charlevoix's Medusa Cement Plant, Mrs. Kaiser is an associate broker and a vice president of the firm. She has worked in the closing department since last August.

The Kaisers moved to Charlevoix from Rochester, Mich., where Mrs. Kaiser worked in sales for the Chamberlain Real Estate Co. for three years. She was a member of the firm's "Million Dollar Club."

She also was associated with the Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke Real Estate Co. of Rochester and belonged to both the Rochester and Birmingham-Bloomfield Boards of Realtors.

She is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

The Kaisers have three children, Paul of Rochester, Bill of Port Huron and a daughter, Linda, a student at Central Michigan University.

A former Coast Guardsman, Hackett became familiar with Charlevoix while assigned to the Charlevoix and Beaver Island stations.

After his discharge in October, 1970, the Hacketts moved back to their hometown--Mt. Pleasant---where he managed a restaurant and dealt in rental property for Central Michigan University students.

Hackett graduated from Sacred Heart Academy in Mt. Pleasant and attended Central Michigan University.

He and his wife, Carol, have two sons, Ted and Todd.

C of C to Make Pitch for Trains

The City Council Monday night gave Chamber of Commerce Manager Vince Olach the go-ahead to see what can be done about restoring passenger train service to Charlevoix in the wake of the energy crisis.

Olach checked with the council to see if the city is making any moves in the same direction on its own. It isn't.

Olach said Federal Amtrak service will soon be extended to Traverse City and he would like to see service extended to Charlevoix.

C&O passenger service to Charlevoix was suspended more than a decade ago as alternate means of travel made rail service unprofitable.

In other business the council:

--Agreed to meet with engineers McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor on a request by G&T Construction of Traverse City — prime contractor on the May-st. sewer — to increase the cost of the project $16,000. John Cianci, a representative of G & T, told the council that costs had risen sharply since the job was bid last July. If the city balks at the increase, the issue will go before the American Arbitration Association. Cianci also said his company would like a guarantee that money will be available when work starts about April 1. G&T won the contract on a bid of $201,000.

–Gave Mike Wojciechowski of Sequanota Landscaping permission to erect a temporary 14 by 22 foot building on property owned by Dawson Way south of Seelye Equipment on U.S. 31 S. The building will be used as an office for Wojciechowski's nursery operation.

–Agreed to split Walker Miles' property on E. Hurlbut-st., creating a 90-foot lot on Belvedere-ave. Jack Malpeli is interested in buying the property.

–Agreed to name Industrial Park property the Norman D. Ance Subdivision on the suggestion of Mrs. Bunny Goss. The state requires that all subdivisions be named and Mrs. Goss pointed out that the late Mr. Ance did considerable work in securing the property as an industrial park, while he was city attorney.

–Heard a suggestion by Mayor Edward P. Hansen that a Utility Authority be organized in the city and Charlevoix and Hayes townships which would be empowered to bond for the construction of sewer lines north of town to serve the proposed shopping center at the end of Boyne City-rd. and a proposed residential development on the former Camp Charlevoix property. Hansen said the Authority would eliminate political boundaries insofar as construction of a forced main is concerned. City Attorney Donald Berlage is studying the proposal.

–Heard a report by Acting City Administrator Robert Wexstaff that the Environmental Protection Agency is holding up the federal government's final payment on Charlevoix's new waste water treatment plant (about $100,000) until the city assesses all users equally for use of the facility. The EPA says several big water users in Charlevoix are not paying their fair share because of step-down rates as water usage goes up.

–Amended City Ordinance 258 to require taxi operators to carry $20,000 personal injury insurance, $40,000 per accident and $10,000 property damage, the state minimums.

Building Authority Key To Off-Street Parking

About 30 Charlevoix merchants, government leaders and interested citizens learned Thursday night how the city of Gaylord has managed to create 222 metered parking spaces in the downtown section at a cost of about $1,050 per space.

Downtown commercial property owners have paid a special assessment averaging about $150 a year each for 10 years. The balance of the project is being financed by meter fees, with about $35,000 kicked in by the city itself.

Harold Elgas, president of the Gaylord State Bank, and Walter Brown, another officer of the bank, were speakers at a meeting at the Charlevoix City Hall at the invitation of the Regional Planning Commission.

The commission has drawn up plans for four metered parking lots in downtown Charlevoix and has suggested that the city council set the project in motion by the creation of a Building Authority.

This is the route Gaylord has taken to create needed downtown parking as a spur to the local economy.

Both Elgas and Brown have been active in the City of Gaylord Parking Authority since its inception almost a decade ago and they are confident Charlevoix could satisfy its parking needs in the same manner, even though a number of factors may differ.

Interest in the creation of more downtown parking in Charlevoix has taken on an entirely new dimension since announcement last week of plans for construction of a shopping center at the junction of Boyne City-rd. and U.S. 31 North.

Some merchants feel that such a center could deal a death blow to the downtown section unless more parking spaces are provided.

Elgas, who shared his ideas on community developments as a whole as well as on the creation of parking lots, said he believes that "total environment" is the governing factor in whether a community thrives or stagnates.

Although parking is essentially a problem for downtown merchants, he said that few people would want to live in Charlevoix if the main street were "shoddy and broken-down." He added that adequate parking is an extreemely important part of "total environment."

He said that Gaylord's first steps toward creation of downtown parking lots came in the early 1960's when the Chamber of Commerce suggested that parking spaces be provided on the old courthouse lawn.

The citizens became aroused and held a public meeting. They agreed that something must be done about downtown parking, but not on the courthouse lawn.

"That was a no-no," he said.

Inde Games Start Later

Due to the complete use of the gyms in Charlevoix it is necessary for the Independent Basketball League to move their games back ½ hour.

This will make it possible for the 7th and 8th graders to practice basketball during the week from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m.

Games will be played at 7:30 and 8:45 p.m., according to Curt Kipke.

Do We Need New School? They'll Find Out

By BOB CLOCK

If you have found your best friends more interested nowadays in projected school enrollment, student-teacher ratios and construction bonding procedures than they are in local gossip, there's a good chance that they belong to the newly-organized Citizens' Study Committee which is taking a long, hard look at Charlevoix's school needs.

The 60-man committee has a mandate from the Charlevoix Board of Education to come up with a comprehensive report by April 15 on what the school district must do — now and in the future — to meet the educational requirements of Charlevoix area youngsters.

Robert Wasoski, chairman of the Citizens' Study Steering Committee, is the first to admit that he was skeptical about the true function of the committee when he was first asked to be a member.

Wasoski knows that such committees are often formed at the behest of the school administrators to whip up public support for an anticipated school bond issue. Such groups meet, digest whatever data is fed to them by the school board and whatever project it is the school board has in mind.

But Wasoski soon learned that this is not the case with the group he now heads. The Study Committee has been given a free-hand to examine all phases of the educational process, seek out and evaluate all information available — regardless of the source — on every conceivable factor that could have a bearing on the number of students Charlevoix must educate, in the years ahead, how it should be done, where it should be done and how to best meet school needs in the most economical way possible.

It's a big job — and April 15 looms larger and closer with every passing day.

Wasoski emphasizes that the Study Committee is not committed to a rubber-stamp endorsement of a massive building program. He and members of his committee are painfully aware that a big increase in public spending simply isn't in the cards in 1974, 1975 or the foreseeable future. They know there are many senior citizens and retired people — as well as many low-income families — who simply cannot spread their incomes any further, particularly in these days of galloping inflation.

But they also know that Charlevoix is fast approaching an educational crisis of sorts.

And they are aware that most of the problems revolve around the Middle School — a 45-year-old brick and ivy structure in the heart of town which is less able to serve the needs of Charlevoix youngsters with every passing year.

Wasoski says that in its day, the present Middle School building served its purpose "because we didn't know there could be anything better."

Today, Charlevoix's lower grades are housed in what probably is one of the finest school buildings in Michigan. Carpeting and acoustical tile have muted the ear-shattering din that used to be part and parcel of every school building between classes, at lunch time and when youngsters arrive and leave. Bright paint and attractive works of art line the sunny hallways. Doors have given way to wide entryways to classrooms, each of which opens onto a spacious "materials center" where youngstrers may read, listen to records, view slides or work in small groups seated on the warm, tufted carpet.

The layout of the building is much that a teacher may conduct her class and still maintain visual control over small groups of students working independently in the materials center. Walls between classrooms may be opened wide so that classes may join forces for special projects and lectures.

None of the furniture is bolted to the floor, but may be moved about to suit the whims of the teacher and her students.

The atmosphere throughout is cheery and warm, student and teacher morale is high and diciplinary problems are minimal. Many kids can't wait to get to the school in the morning.

By contrast the Middle School is a throw-back to the lock-step days of education when schools weren't supposed to be attractive and learning wasn't expected to be fun. And ancient hardwood and terrazo floors still echo from the boots of thousands of children, many of whom are numbered among Charlevoix's senior citizens today.

The rooms are relatively small and crowded. Hallways are narrow and cheerless. No amount of paint – regardless of color – can brighten the high walls. And the cavernous gymnasium is dingy and poorly lighted. Although newer, the cafeteria has an institutional look about it that is so unappetizing that many children prefer to run downtown for a bag of potato chips and Coke rather than eat at school.

Wasoski says that students moving down to the Middle School from the K-4 school are so struck by the change that student morale has become a serious problem in the middle grades. And teachers aren't all too happy about the situation, either.

Furthermore, the two-story building certainly will have to have to have some expensive modifications in the near future – including an elevator – if the district is to comply with new state laws demanding that all schools accommodate physically handicapped children.

What to do about the Middle School probably is the most pressing problem facing the Citizens Study Committee.

Is a new school the answer?

Wasoski doesn't know. Yet, if a new school is built, land elsewhere will have to be purchased because the downtown site offers only a fraction of the recreational area required by the state. And land isn't the cheapest commodity in the Charlevoix area today.

Might it be possible to add onto the Elementary School for grades 5 and 6 and onto the High School for grades 7 and 8 and abolish the Middle School altogether?

Wasoski doesn't know. Yet. But he and his colleagues on the Citizens Study Committee

Detroit-Petoskey Round Trip Will Cost $12

Gov. William G. Milliken and state officials are hopeful that a pilot demonstration starting Friday, Feb. 1, will accelerate the development of a low-cost express cross-state mass transit system to carry tourists between downstate Michigan and northern resort and recreation areas.

The first phase to be tested is designed for skiers and snowmobilers and will provide extensive five-day-a-week express bus service from the Detroit area to the north country through two major routes: one through Clare, Cadillac, and Traverse City and another through Houghton Lake, Grayling, Gaylord, Boyne Falls, and Petoskey. A third route, stopping at Tawas City, Harrisville, and Alpena, will operate on weekends.

The system will be expanded Feb. 15 to link the network with additional staging areas in Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Flint and Lansing. A separate, similar operation to serve recreation areas in the western portion of the Upper Peninsula also is being planned.

"The start of this demonstration program represents a real breakthrough in our efforts to establish this long needed system in our state," said Milliken. "It is essential that we explore all alternative mass transportation means at this time to insure that our resort and recreation areas continue to be made available to all the citizens of our state.

"At the same time the development of such a system is essential for the future growth of our tourism and recreation industry which provides jobs and a steady income for so many Michigan residents," the Governor said.

The demonstration was first proposed by Milliken last month at a meeting of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission. The Commission, a joint state-federal agency which includes Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, is being asked to provide a grant of $200,000 to fund the program as part of an energy conservation package. Milliken is State Co-chairman of the Commission.

Formal approval of the grant to the Bureau of Urban and Public Transportation (UPTRAN) of the Department of State Highways and Transportation, is expected at a meeting of Commission Governors' Alternates Tuesday, Jan. 29, in Chicago.

The Michigan State Highway Commission gave its approval Wednesday to proceed with the pilot test. James C. Kellogg, the Department's deputy director for Urban and Public Transportation said: "Because this is a pilot study we want to remain as flexible as possible in our scheduling. We want to find out where the service is needed, what is required to attract riders, and how to move the most number of people efficiently and rapidly."

Kellogg said UPTRAN has made plans to lease 18 buses a week from private operators on a pool basis during the initial six-week winter test period. More buses can be obtained to meet increased demand, he said. Most buses will carry from 45 to 47 passengers and some smaller buses will be used on short, less busy runs, he explained.

Kellogg said the price structure of $12 roundtrip for persons 12 years of age and older and $6 roundtrip for youngsters has been kept low to attract budget minded families to northern areas.

UPTRAN also is offering buses for a dollar-a-year least to communities in prime resort areas which do not now provide public transportation for tourists to motels, recreation areas, shops and other businesses.

The demonstration is a joint project with the Michigan Tourist Council and its regional offices and the Michigan Department of Commerce and its Office of Economic Expansion, Kellogg said.

A number of evaluation tests are being planned for the test run and are expected to provide key data for other future similar operations which UPTRAN is considering.

Kellogg said the buses will depart from Lot "L" at Northland Center in the Detroit suburb of Southfield. Ample parking is available at this site.

Passengers must have advance reservations, which can be obtained by calling the Northern Express, 821-1077, in Detroit. Outstate parties may call toll free, 1-800-482-3331. Kearney Travel Service of Detroit has been selected to handle booking and marketing.

Buses will leave from Southfield on both the Clare-Cadillac-Traverse City route and the Houghton Lake-Grayling-Gaylord-Boyne Falls-Petoskey run at 6 p.m. Friday, 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday, 7 a.m. Sunday, 6 p.m. Wednesday, and 6 p.m. Thursday.

All return routes will begin at 6 p.m. on Monday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Service between Southfield and Alpena will depart at 6 p.m. Friday and start returning at 6 p.m. Sunday.

The route to Traverse City will take about 5½ hours, while the longer Petoskey run will take about 6 hours.

Chambers of commerce and other local agencies at drop-off points will help obtain advance housing reservations for those who ride buses, Kellogg said. Local officials also will determine where the boarding and departure points will be situated.

Library notes

By Eleanor Ratigan

"Masquerade in Venice" is the 11th novel written by Velda Johnston, and her newest book is just as filled with suspense and Gothic terror as her previous ones. It is the story of Sara Randall who, in the 1880's fled, almost penniless, to the ancestral home of her Venetian-born grandmother. She hoped to find a livelihood as paid companion to the great-aunt she had never met, the aged Contessa Belzoni and to escape the memory of a love that ended in bitter words and a broken engagement. It is an exciting, shivering tale with an absorbing love story.

The thousands of Susan Howath followers will welcome her new novel, "Call in the Night." Author of "Penmarric," "The Shrouded Walls," "The Waiting Sands and so many other marvelous novels of romance and suspense, she has chosen this time to involve the reader in an exciting chase from New York to London where Claire Sullivan attempts to find her missing sister and falls in love with a man who may be a murderer.

"The Devil of Aske" is a most unusual novel by a new author, Pamela Hill. It is the story of the once elegant and beautiful House of Aske which has been surrounded by a brooding and malignant evil for many years. Set in the 18th century, "The Devil of Aske" is a haunting saga of love, ambition and tragedy. It makes unforgettable reading.

"A Different Woman" by Jane Howard is the Book of the Month Club selection for December. This bright young journalist (who wrote "Please Touch") has an astonishing capacity for talking to all kinds of people and remembering what they say. She feels that the women's lib movement has been ventilated, televised, debated exploited, attacked, defended and in general given such a thorough public going-over that what is needed now is some insight into the actual effect of all this on the normal, mentally alert American woman herself. She reports on at least 200 women of all classes and backgrounds to learn what they are thinking about as they become conscious of themselves as part of a new still indefinable age.

Wood Cutting Permits Jump 330 Percent

Foresters from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources issued 2,766 free wood permits from State Forest Land in Northern Lower Michigan according to Regional Forester Robert A. Borak.

This is a 330 percent increase over the 832 free wood permits issued during 1972. A further increase in permit numbers is expected during the coming year according to Borak unless the fuel situation improves.

Many people are storing the wood they cut for emergency use in fireplaces and recently installed wood heaters and cook stoves.

Borak stated that free permits are available from any of the 16 area Forestry offices in Northern Michigan. Wood covered by these permits is generally logging residue such as tops and cull pieces of wood, he said, and cannot be sold. Those wanting to sell any of this wood must pay the going stumpage rate for it.

State Land Wood Cutting Sets New Record in '73

Timber cuttings in northern Michigan state forests set new volume and revenue records during calendar year 1973, to bolster the state's economy by $454 million and provide enough food for an estimated 125,000 deer, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

Commercial logging operations carried out under 1,509 cutting permits last year produced 303 million board feet of timber for the wood-consuming market. This output, amounting to 70 percent of the annual allowable cut on northern state forest lands, tops the previous high of 238 million board feet harvested in 1972.

Timber-cutting receipts for state forest stumpage during 1973 totalled $1,658,000, topping by 40 percent the previous high of $1,182,000 brought in during 1972.

Timber value increases significantly as it progresses through various stages of manufacture. Thus, by the time the $1,658,000-worth of timber takes on its final manufactured form--as furniture, paneling, packing crates or whatever--it will have had an estimated $454-million impact on Michigan's economy, DNR foresters estimate.

Most of the timber--520,000 cords--went into pulpwood production, with 37 million board feet of sawlogs produced and 11,000 cords going for miscellaneous products.

Ramblers Dump Gaylord In Overtime, 87-81

It took an overtime in their game with Gaylord Friday to keep the Boyne City Ramblers in the win column and in the running for the Michigan-Huron Shores title.

The Ramblers played the Blue Devil's to a 75-75 tie before outscoring Gaylord 12-6 in the overtime for the victory.

Gaylord took a 23-21 first period advantage only to see it trimmed to one point, 40-39, at halftime before Boyne City knotted the total at the three-quarter mark. It was a nip and tuck game throughout the final period before it ended in a tie.

Trips to the free throw line kept Gaylord in the game as they hit on 17 of 21 freethrows while scoring 32 field goals and picking up 18 personal fouls. Boyne City hit from the floor with 37 field goals and 13 of 18 freethrow attempts. The Ramblers collected 20 personal fouls.

Dave Johnson with 30 points and Jeff Fullmer with 22 kept the Blue Devils in the game. Scott Upton had 26; Dave Peck 16; Brad Upton and Jim Byers, 14 each and Terry Elzinga with 10 points gave the victors balanced scoring.

The Gaylord JV's dumped the Boyne JV's 68-66.

Boyne City will go against the league - leading Cheboygan Chiefs at Cheboygan Friday.

Matmen Will Meet Onaway On Thursday

The Charlevoix Rayder matmen will host Onaway here Thursday night in their first home meet since the holidays.

The matches will start at 6:30 p.m.

Last week the locals bowed to a strong Rogers City team by a score of 36-12 after taking only three wins.

The Charlevoix J-V's posted an 18-15 win over their Rogers City counterparts.

Girls V-Ball Team Going To Grayling

The Charlevoix Girls Volleyball team will travel to Grayling Wednesday for a three-game meet against Rogers City, St. Ignace and the host team.

On the same night Petoskey, Boyne City and Gaylord will play at Cheboygan.

In last week's meet, Charlevoix won all three matches defeating Petoskey 15-5 and 15-6; Boyne City 15-14 and 15-13 and Rogers City 17-15 and 15-2.

Charlevoix's record is now 6-0 according to Coach Marie Osterberg.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
BEFORE THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Case No. U-4508

In the matter of the investigation on the Commission's own motion to determine the need for revision in charges relating to underground extensions under the Uniform
Underground Electric Extension Policy.

At a session of the Michigan Public Service Commission held at its offices in the city of Lansing, Michigan, on the 21st day of January, 1974.

PRESENT: Hon. William G. Rosenberg, Chairman
Hon. Lenton G. Sculthorp, Commissioner
Hon. William R. Ralls, Commissioner

ORDER AND NOTICE OF HEARING

By order dated August 10, 1970 in Case No. U-3001, the Commission approved its Rules and Regulations Governing the Extension of Underground Electric Distribution Lines. The Commission's order dated August 17, 1970 confirmed and adopted said rules and regulations.

These rules and regulations contain provisions for contributions in aid of construction applicable to extensions of underground electric distribution and service lines in residential subdivisions and to commercial and industrial extensions. The rules established charges of $1.00 per lot front foot for distribution lines and $1.25 per foot for service lines in residential subdivisions, and a charge of $2.00 per trench foot for commercial and industrial extensions. In response to requests by residential home builders and developers, members of the Legislature and utility companies, the Commission believes that it would be in the public interest to review these charges. If the Commission finds that the current costs of construction of overhead and underground extensions are to any extent different from those upon which the above charges were based, it proposes to fix different charges to reflect the change in the difference in costs.

The Commission FINDS that:

a. Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to Act 106, P.A. 1909, as amended, M.C.L.A. 460.551 et seq; Act 419, P.A. 1919, as amended, M.C.L.A. 460.51 et seq; Act 3, P.A. 1939, as amended, M.C.L.A. 460.1 et seq; Act 306, P.A. 1969, as amended, M.C.L.A. 24.201 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11.

b. A hearing should be held to determine the proper and reasonable charge per lot front foot for distribution lines and the proper and reasonable charge for service lines in residential subdivisions, and the proper and reasonable charge for commercial and industrial extensions under the Commission's Uniform Underground Electric Extension Policy.

c. All public utilities, including rural electric cooperatives, providing electric service in the lower Peninsula mainland should be required to provide specific data for the Commission's consideration in this matter.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that:

A. The Commission, on its own motion, will conduct an investigation to determine whether there should be revision in the charges of $1.00 per lot front foot for distribution lines and $1.25 per foot for service lines in residential subdivisions, and the charge of $2.00 per trench foot for commercial and industrial extensions under the Commission's Uniform Underground Electric Extension Policy.

B. Each public utility, including rural electric cooperatives, providing electric service in the lower Peninsula mainland shall, on or before February 4, 1974, prepare and submit to the Commission, together with its proposed testimony, an original and 7 copies of studies for the years 1971, 1972 and 1973 showing its average differential in cost between overhead and underground extensions in residential subdivisions and also the average difference in cost between overhead and underground commercial and industrial extensions. In addition, each such public utility shall submit to the Commission 50 copies of its testimony and studies for distribution to interested parties requesting copies of same.

C. A public hearing will be held at 9:30 a.m. on February 25, 1974 in the Auditorium, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, and continue, if necessary, on February 26, 27 and 28, 1974, in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913 for the purpose of receiving testimony and evidence concerning this matter. Any interested parties may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the provisions of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

D. Any party wishing to intervene in this investigation shall, in accordance with Rule 11 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, file with the Commission an original and 7 copies of a petition to intervene at least five (5) days prior to February 25, 1974.

E. Each public utility, including rural electric cooperatives, providing electric service shall, on or before February 15, 1974, notify the public of the hearing by publishing a copy of this Order and Notice of Hearing in newspapers of general circulation published within its service area and by mailing a copy of this Order and Notice of Hearing to all cities, incorporated villages, counties and townships within its service area. Proofs of publication and service are to be submitted at or before the scheduled hearing.

The Commission specifically reserves jurisdiction of the matters herein contained and the authority to issue such further order or orders as the facts and circumstances may require.

Last Minute Rally Fails, JV's Bow to Hurons

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix JV's tried to get on the victory trail and were well on their way as they outscored the Rogers City JV's 17-10 in the final period.

However, time ran out before they could close the gap and they bowed out on the short end of a 58-48 score.

The young Hurons jumped to a 17-12 first period advantage, and outscored the young Rayders 15-11 in the second quarter to go ahead 32-23 at halftime.

Going into the second half, Hurons held Charlevoix to eight points including three field goals while scoring 16 for themselves.

As the game went into the final eight minutes, Charlevoix found the range and outscored Rogers City 17-10 with Mark Hosmer scoring nine of his 15 points in the period.

Matt Doan had eight; Mike Skippergosh and Scott Boss, six each, Kloster, five; Steve Michael and Kirk Lieberman, four each; and Jon Greene, two points.

Ken Gorlewski had 17 and Dan Zielenski 11 for the victors.

Rogers City had 23 fieldgoals, 12 of 25 freethrow attempts and 25 personal fouls for the game.

Charlevoix was held to 17 field goals and 14 of 289 freethrows while committing 21 personal fouls.

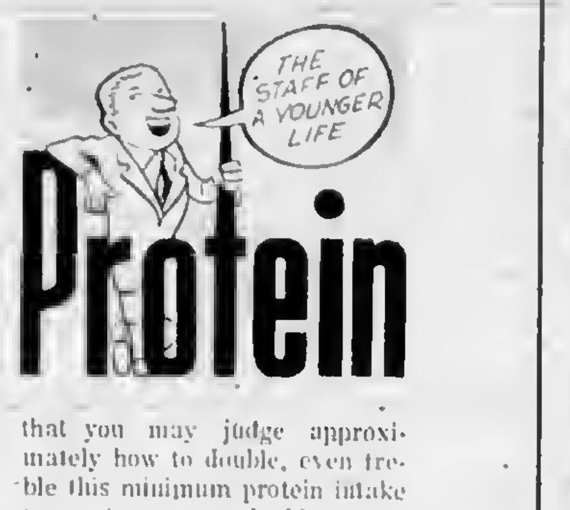
'Grip on Youth' Can Slip When Protein in Diet Drops

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Three of a Series



THE STAFF OF A YOUNGER LIFE
Protein

Several years ago I set out to answer to my own satisfaction the question of "how much protein is enough?"

Using myself as a guinea pig, for eight months I gradually and deliberately cut the amount of protein in my daily meals to a point which I knew to be inadequate.

Every 24 hours I would consume only one medium-sized portion of either cheese, eggs, meat, fish or poultry. And about once a week I would skip protein entirely.

During the first several months after the experiment began, I felt reasonably well. That is, nothing to brag about, yet, not exactly unwell in any recognizable way.

But I did notice that an evening on the lecture platform or a day at my desk writing would leave me feeling head-and-body weary.

This was the first definite symptom that all was not well with me, because my usual strenuous daily routines, either while traveling or at home, had never before induced in me this kind of fatigue. All I wanted to do was to sink into a chair and remain there in an exhausted kind of half-stupor.

EFFECTS OF LOW PROTEIN

About the end of the seventh month of my self-imposed protein deficiency, I began noticing that my ordinarily good appetite was no longer so good. Mealtime became merely a routine that I must adhere to because it was "time to eat."

My customary pleasure in people and events was also gone; I noticed that even commonplace little matters would irritate me out of all proportion to their importance. I found myself "too tired" to have fun with my children, and any crisis, however petty, would find me without my former ability to make quick decisions.

In other words, I was not the man I used to be. If I had not been aware of the cause for my "slipping," I would have been panicked by that unpleasant discovery that many of you may have already faced: I was losing my grip on youth.

The time had now arrived to discover whether or not, after deliberately sending my youth on its way, I could coax it to return by building up the amount of protein in my daily meals.

Within a month after starting to eat three high-protein meals a day, I could sense a marked change for the better in my disposition. And not only was my zest for life definitely on the increase, but my face had lost its strained, weary expression, while the same daily routines no longer left me fatigued and chair-bound at night.

I hope that you, too, may experience that inexpressible joy of once more feeling like your old self.

This is what my experiment proved to me: "Some" protein is not enough when you have that not-exactly-sick, yet not-exactly-well feeling commonly associated with "beginning to get old."

Although I had eaten three high-protein meals each day for years, during the experiment my body could not fall back indefinitely on the protein reserves for the reason that the body cannot store protein as heavily as it can fats, sugars, some minerals and certain vitamins. When not enough protein is supplied in the diet, your body turns into a heartless cannibal and begins to feed upon itself.

PROTEIN CANNIBALISM

When a protein deficiency exists, certain body cells are consumed in order to feed the more necessary ones. Not that the destroyed cells are unimportant. But cells even more vitally important to the living body must feed on those that can be spared, at least for the time being. It is this continued form of protein cannibalism that is the real cause of disease, of premature aging.

The food portions mentioned below will provide a daily minimom of 75 grams of protein.

These minimum portions of protein foods are listed merely that you may judge approximately how to double, even treble this minimum protein intake to meet your own bodily needs.

MINIMUM PORTIONS

By no means am I recommending the following portions as adequate protein for three meals. These quantities are given for the sole purpose of allowing you to compare your own daily protein consumption with the absolute minimum for good health, so you may decide for yourself how far above or below, this minimom standard your meals will average:

1 average serving of meat (fish, poultry included)
1 egg
3 slices of whole grain bread
1 pint of non-fat milk or its equivalent as powdered skim milk, buttermilk, sour milk, cottage or other cheeses
1 serving of dried lentils, whole grain or seed cereal
1 serving of cooked green vegetables
1 green salad
1 serving of egg custard
1 serving of fresh or cooked fruit

There is no protein in air, in water, in a cigaret, in a cup of coffee or in an alcoholic or carbonated drink.

The one and only place where you can obtain this imperatively needed repair material for your body cells is from the food you eat each day.

Although it's easily possible for every man, woman and child in this country to get enough protein for an optimum diet, recent surveys have disclosed the alarming fact that the diets of from 50 to 60 percent are dangerously lacking in protein.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold John Osterbaan and three children from Hudsonville, were Friday overnight and Saturday visitors with her folks Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Carpenter. Harold and family brought his mother, Anne Osterbaan, home after she spent four weeks visiting her four children and two sisters in and around Grand Rapids. Anne also spent a day visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Klooster of Ellsworth, winter visitors in Grand Rapids. Anne says there is nothing so good as Northern Michigan fresh air and good drinking water.

Mrs. Emery Wilson has returned home after being a medical patient at Lockwood-MacDonald Hospital at Petoskey.

We welcome the Peter Gelatt family back to their home on Park-st. The Miller family have returned to Charlevoix.

Delegates from the churches of Classis Cadillac met with the Christian Reformed Church Wednesday. Included in Classis Cadillac are Christian Reformed Churches from Aetna, Atwood, Cadillac, Falmouth, Highland, Lake City, Lucas, McBain, McBain Calvin, Rudyard and Vogel Center. The pastor and an elder from each church are delegates and regular meetings are held in January, May and September.

Many rumors are floating around as what is to happen in the village in the future, but with these are signed and sealed, our hands are tied, so have patience. Time will tell.

Obituary

Peterson

Funeral for Leonard E. Peterson, 69, father of Ronald Peterson of Charlevoix, was held Jan. 24 at the Johnson Funeral Home in Manistee, with burial in Oak Grove Cemetery, Manistee.

Mr. Peterson died Jan. 21 at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Born in Manistee Feb. 21, 1904, Mr. Peterson retired five years ago from the Moore Business Forms Co. where he had been employed for more than 30 years. For 20 years he was district manager for the company, working out of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Peterson was a member of the Elks Lodge in Manistee, No. 250, and the Masonic Blue Lodge in Detroit.

He also was active in Manistee's United Fund drives for the past five years.

He is survived by his widow, Louise; two sons, Ronald of Charlevoix and David of Washington, D.C.; and 10 grandchildren.

A memorial in his name has been established with the American Cancer Society.

Group Tries to Save Wild Land in Area

An organization called "The Little Traverse Conservancy" has been established to acquire and preserve wildlands in Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheobygan and Mackinac counties against the encroachment of civilization.

The group already has acquired two parcels, both in the Harbor Springs area.

Basic goal of the Conservancy is the preservation of natural lands for the general public benefit, according to Frank Pierce, president of the group.

"Such lands can serve many purposes," he said. "They can help provide the open space that is necessary to maintain the character of our area. They serve as an undisturbed reservoir and habitat for our remaining life. And not least important, they serve as areas for scientific study where baselines can be established to measure the effects of changes that man makes elsewhere."

Property already acquired includes "The West Wequetonsing Nature Preserve," a tract of natural woodland within the city limits of Harbor Springs encompassing about 15 acres. The land was the gift of Mr. Jean I. Everest.

The other property is 25 acres of wetlands two miles east of Harbor Springs donated by Mrs. Cecil G. Fischer. It is of particular geological interest as it rests on an old Lake Michigan shoreline abandoned centuries ago when the glaciers retreated. Several small streams cross the property.

Membership in the Conservancy is open to the public. Annual membership costs $1 and life membership $100.

All contributions, whether land or funds, are deductible for income tax purposes. Lands held by the Conservancy are exempt from real property taxation.

Officers of the organization, in addition to Pierce, are Dr. John Tanton, vice president; John Fischer, treasurer; Edward Kozn, secretary; and Wrigley Offield, Earl Larsen and David Irish, members of the executive committee.

City Businessmen Learn How Gaylord Built Parking Lots

Working with local realtors, a small group of merchants and businessmen determined what downtown property might be for sale and at what price. Ten merchants were asked to contribute $350 each to form a $3,500 kitty to buy options on the available land. The money was raised within 24 hours.

He said there was no public disclosure at the time of what the project was all about, although the group wasn't particularly interested in working behind closed doors.

When the options had been secured, the original ten contributors went to the City Council with their plan for a Building Authority. The council was enthusiastic about the project and the Building Authority was born.

One of the major problems was financing. The Authority agreed on a Special Assessment among owners of downtown commercial property.

The Authority came up with a formula whereby each property owner in the area — there were 73 of them — would be assessed a flat $20 as a starter. Then he was assessed another $2 per front foot, plus an additional $2 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The total fell short of the amount required to retire the bonds, so rather than work up another formula, the property owners agreed to a flat 16 percent increase across the board.

But the Authority still felt there were inequities in the system, because some merchants in the heart of town would benefit more from the new parking spaces than merchants in periphery areas.

So 20 different zones were established on a percentage basis. Merchants furthest from the parking lots were in the 5 percent zone. Those located at intermediate points were in the middle zone. Those located at intermediate points were in the middle zones. And those smack in the center of things were in the 100 percent zone.

Merchants by and large were delighted with the plan, according to Elgas.

"Even the A & P store which already provided plenty of off-street parking of its own was tickled to pay, because the owners could see the advantages of even more parking," Elgas said.

The special assessment against property owners was limited to 10 years and will end this summer. However the bonds will not be retired until 1984, so the balance will be paid from parking meter fees.

Technically the parking lots belong to the Building Authority, which leases them to the city. City police service the meters and the city street department takes care of snow plowing and maintenance.

And if the city ever finds itself needing more parking, the Building Authority stands ready to implement another special assessment or whatever financial arrangements seem most expedient at the time.

Elgas said that all but one of the owners of the downtown property needed for the lots were happy to sell at a fair price based on certified appraisals. Only one party wanted more than what the Authority considered fair, and his property was not included in the project.

Total cost of the Gaylord parking project was about $235,000.

Elgas and Brown were introduced by Jerrald H. Redeker, Charlevoix Farm Bureau agent. They were joined at the speakers' tably by John Campbell, a member of the Planning Commission who has done the initial work for the commission on the Charlevoix Parking project.

Wolgamott-VanLoo Rites Solemnized

The Assembly of God church was the scene Friday evening of the wedding of Sheri Lynn Wolgamott and Bryan VanLoo.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Wolgamott and Mr. and Mrs. Roxie VanLoo.

Baskets of pink gladioli and white mums formed the setting for the double ring service performed by the Rev. Donald Schorsch in the presence of 150 guests. Mrs. Reuben Wangberg, of Boyne City at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, followed in the tradition of her sister by wearing the wedding gown worn by her mother in 1953. Fashioned of ivory lace and satin, the gown featured a fitted bodice of lace over satin, long sleeves and a full skirt of satin with an overskirt of white sheer nylon. Her white mantilla, made by her mother, was edged with ivory lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Ms. Roxanne VanLoo, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor and Patti Warner as bridesmaid wore full length gowns of pink and white checked gingham styled with long sleeves and high necklines. Their bouquets were of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Wolgamott chose a floor length forest green print tricot gown for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. VanLoo, mother of the bridegroom, wore a full length pink crepe gown. Their corsages were of white carnations.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents followed at the Fellowship Hall at the church. Assisting were Mrs. Robert Bergmann, Della Wolgamott, sister of the bride, Mrs. Douglas Benoit, Mrs. Schorsch, Mrs. Jerry Drost and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Telgenhof of East Jordan, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will reside here. Both are seniors at the Charlevoix High School. The bridegroom is employed at the Lexalite Corporation.

Wedding guests were present from Detroit, Central Lake, East Jordan and Ellsworth.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. VanLoo was held at the Woodshed Thursday evening. (Photo by Don Smith)

Citizens Probing Schools Needs of Charlevoix Area

are going to find out.

Perhaps a 12-month school year is the answer, making better use of the facilities already in operation.

Perhaps something could be done in the area of TV teaching, to accommodate more youngsters at fewer teaching stations.

The Citizens Study Committee also is wrestling with imponderables to which no one has the answer today. For example, what will be the demands of the Michigan Educational Association in five or ten years on pupil-teacher ratios? Twenty - five to one? Twenty to one? Fifteen to one?

Wasoski and his group don't know, but they are going to have to make some educated guesses and hope they come close to the mark.

Working with Wasoski on the Steering Committee are William Wilson, secretary; Mrs. Gerry Brady, Edward Buday, Lou Hollow, Richard Martin, Jerrald Redeker, Mrs. Fran Tollns, Sam Supernaw and Barbara Wilson.

Under the Steering Committee are six separate study committees investigating various areas of Charlevoix's school system --- Non-Academic, Finance, Facilities, K-4, Middle School and High School. A member of the Steering Committee sits in on meetings of each of the sub-committees.

Following is a roster of committee membership. The chairman is listed first, the Steering Committee representative second.

Non-Academic: Joe Powell, Dick Martin, Edith Gilbert, Jim Bearss, Jay Oliver, Arnie Loper, Robert Wise and John North.

Finance: Robert Tollas, Jerrald Redeker, Lou Hollow, Robert Klooster, Thomas Wieland, Dale McCandless, Dale Glass and Bob Scow.

Facilities: John Lachman, Ed Buday, John Haggard, Donald Luedke, Joyce Duke, George Currie, Robert Potter and Sam Supernaw.

K-4: Mary Fuller, Barbara Wilson, Ann Hanna, Freida Novotny, Howard Otis, Joan Way, Ruth North and David Fowler.

Middle School: Carol Clifford, Mrs. Robert Tollus, Maxine ..renth, Charles Themm, David Juilleret, Lorraine Warner and Ginny Berg.

High School: Ardith Wieland, Robert Sasoski, Gerry Brady, Frances Hooper, Betty Strawbridge, Orniston Bergeon, Ron Rybicki and John Michael.

Students from the high school also are sitting in on meetings of the various committees. They include Sharon Monteith, John Cinnamon, Tammy Wieland, Janet Begrow, John Osterberg, Valerie Peters, Darcy McCandless and Debby Powell.

A GIGANTIC "white whale" will soon join the snow and ice turtle fashioned by art students on the High School grounds. The students are sculpting the monster as part of their art work.

Infra-Red Photos to Aid Area Planners

Nearly 5,000 square miles of the northwest Lower Peninsula has been aerially photographed on infra-red film as a step in aiding area planners, according to Bill G. Rosden, executive director of the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission.

The photography was contracted for last June by the Department of State Highways and Transportation for use in planning new highways.

The film has been made available to the regional planning office at a cost of about $3,600, which will be paid proportionately by member counties, including Charlevoix.

Individuals from throughout the region will be trained in techniques for interpreting and using infra-red photography by Michigan State University.

Each nine-inch square frame will cover about 25 square miles of land surface.

Seek Funds

The Indian Education Parents Advisory Group met at the K-4 school Thursday evening to discuss possible uses of funds available through a federal grant to benefit Indian children in the schools.

The group has the responsibility of setting up guidelines for the program they wish and for its administration.

The two officers elected at an earlier meeting were delegated to sign the applications for the funds which will become available July 1.

THE 105-YEAR-OLD Stafford house in Norwood was badly damaged by fire last Tuesday afternoon. Firemen from Charlevoix and Ellsworth answered the call, but their tankers ran out of water. The ancient structure might have been saved if a ready supply of water had been available in the village.

A Cistern Might Have Saved Stafford House

If an adequate supply of water had been available in the village of Norwood, the 105-year-old Raymond Stafford house might have been saved last Tuesday afternoon.

But tankers from Charlevoix and Ellsworth ran dry and were forced to make long runs into Charlevoix to re-fill. During their absence the fire gained new headway and the fine old house was burned beyond repair before the fire was extinguished.

During the spring, summer and fall, tankers may re-fill from Lake Michigan. However, in winter, the shoreline is often frozen, even if tankers could negotiate the steep road leading to the lake.

It seems that an alternate source of water should be made available in the village in the event of future fires.

The cost of sinking a cistern and purchasing a pump certainly would be minimal when weighed against the value of any single homestead in the village.

Our local volunteer Fire Departments do a fantastic job in fighting rural fires. Last Tuesday, the Charlevoix Fire Department was on the scene 16 minutes after the call from Norwood was received at the Fire Station.

But without an adequate supply of water, the best-equipped fire fighting company can only stand by helpless as fire does its deadly work.

Other area communities without ready supplies of water also should investigate the possibility of providing reservoirs in the event of fire.

The Stafford house was built of logs in 1869 and was sheathed in clapboard sometime later. The very simplicity of its lines made in a classical example of mid-nineteenth century architecture.

There aren't many such structures left in Charlevoix County and we can ill afford to lose any more of them.

Tricia and Bebe

By JIM FITZGERALD

My heart burns for President Nixon. Buy my sympathy pains won't prevent me from asking the hard questions about Tricia and Bebe.

"Hard questions" are what Howard Cosell askes. The average reporter will ask a quarterback how it feels to score the winning touchdown in the Super Bowl. But Cosell will ask the quarterback how it feels to earn $1,500 per minute for playing childish games while millions of children, including the quarterback's 5 half-caste cousins, go to bed hungry every night.

No one asked Nixon the hard questions about his recent dinner in a Mexican restaurant in San Juan Capistrano, Calif. The newspapers and TV told us he ate enchiladas, tacos and stuffed green chili. Which certainly sounds like a difficult swallow in Capistrano. But I am not interested in the menu.

It was also reported that a trio of strolling mariachi singers played one of Nixon's favorite tunes, "Guadalajara", and were rewarded by Bebe Rebozo who "quietly slipped the leader some money." Now comes some hard questions:

How big was the bribe paid by Rebozo to the mariachi leader? One veteran observer said it was $10 million and the money originally came from Howard Hughes. It was given to Rebozo in 1942 and he was supposed to spend it on Jane Russell's campaign to have the cross-your-mountain bra made the state seal of Texas. This campaign flopped when Jane had a falling out with John Wayne at the Alamo, remember? Rebozo was stuck with the $10 million, in $10 bills, which he kept in his sox drawer for 32 years.

My source claims the mariachi leader long ago grew sick of playing "Guadalajara" for every dumb tourist who came in the Capistrano restaurant. He had planned to play something more royal, such as "Jesus Christ Superstar," for the Nixon party. This seemed appropriate because Nixon was the first customer to ever enter the restaurant wearing a crown. "Usually they are not crowned until they eat the oleo," the mariachi leader later said in awe.

What I want to know is this: Did the mariachi leader switch to "Guadalajara" simply because he saw the color of Bebe Rebozo's sox? Or did he switch in the hopes of creating a Mexican-American detente with enchiladas?

My hard question concerning Tricia Nixon Cox is more awkward and I ask it only to protect the American people's right to know. According to all news reports, President Nixon spent the holidays in California with his wife Pat, his daughter Tricia, and his friend Bebe. Not one reporter, not even Walter Cronkite, mentioned Tricia's husband, "Fast Eddie" Cox. Where was he? Why wasn't he with his wife on Christmas? How come he didn't get any stuffed green chili?

I am not hinting that either of the Coxes should be writing to Ann Landers. And I will claim no special significance in the fact that bachelor Bebe and Tricia have so much in common – seats close to the throne.

But if I were Howard Cosell, I would ask this hard question: When "Fast Eddie" is not around, who winds the key in Tricia's back?

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

Words take on new meanings as society changes.

Welfare, originally a state of well being, is now a burden, load, or mess. How difficult it is to believe that in our grandparents' time when the helping hand was a way of life, the total budget for 'welfare' was $50. This pittance, by modern standards, was adequate in those days when people who had little shared with those who had less.

The insurance policy, averaging $500-$1,000, left little for outstanding bills. Aware of this fact J.C. Foster, the local hardware owner, handed back to every widow her proffered money along with a statement marked 'PAID'.

"We do not charge widow women. Thus did J.C. express his business philosphy.

There were countless other J.C.'s in every walk of life. J.C. farmers dropped off potatoes and turnips. J.C. fuel dealers donated loads of wood or coal. All was done in a manner which saved something more important than money–pride!

J.K. Jacobson was a grocer who bartered necessities for services. He operated his farm in every possible capacity with teenagers who learned to share family responsibilities at an early age. A carpenter would repair a roof and a mason would build a needed chimney with left over materials to which he attached as much value as he did his labor in such circumstances.

As the annual cost of social services has increased from $50 to billions, isn't it ironic that these people of the 'helping hand' era, who pay a major share of these escalating costs, now read of the waste and wrongdoing in a bureaucracy where the activities of a few, tarnish the image of a dedicated majority?

They also read of a proposed guaranteed income of $3,600 per year and are puzzled by the widely held view that this is a radical departure from both tradition and convention. Then turning the page, they read of the plight of thousands of others who, like themselves, have little left but their pride. Many of them undoubtedly asked themselves the $3,600 question.

How does one starve to death in a conventional way or freeze to death in traditional fashion?

To Whom It May Concern...

By Doris Huckle

People who are concerned with state and DNR planned regulations for the Jordan River were asked to provide some "in-put", as the DNR calls it, at a recent public hearing held in Charlevoix.

I hitched a ride with another Jordan River property owner, Betty Rison, and all the way to Charlevoix a voice from the past kept us company, although I didn't mention it.

Later, when I stood at the microphone to offer some lengthly input which was tape recorded, Joe Bugai's voice to mingle with mine.

Though his name is seldom mentioned anymore, Bugai is responsible for starting all the vocal and legislative battles of the past, present and possibly the future, over Jordan River protection and control.

Many years ago it was Joe, an East Jordan sportsman and conservationist, who talked several property owners into deeding land and river frontage over the state of Michigan. He thought certain the river would be protected then and remain in it's natural state.

It wasn't long before he found himself spending the rest of his life battling the then State Department of Conservation "improvements" to the land he had gained for them.

Friends who knew him were thankful he didn't have to see a Federal Fish Hatchery built in the headwaters of the Jordan along with the resultant pollution it caused.

Joe was killed in auto accident before that happened.

There seemed always to be ever-changing governmental employes who sometimes viewed the Jordan as an under-developed, mostly state-owned, resource that should constantly be improved for expanding public use.

So Joe would fire numerous letters down to Lansing protesting paved roads and tourist lookouts at Deadman's Hill; or widened access roads and increased clearing of river frontage to provide modern campsites for the public's use.

He used to share some of the letters with us. If they haven't been tossed out, somewhere down in Lansing is a big file of his visionary "in-puts" to the State.

The DNR tape of Charlevoix hearing will prove that I said the Jordan should be protected.

We have been Jordan River property owners since 1946, and we have seen some of what has happened by way of change for the worse on the river.

It isn't only use of the stream by increasing numbers of canoeists who make a ritual of dumping and dunking everyone when they reach Rogers Bridge; or those who use the area for swimming, or property owners use that has changed the Jordan.

Federal and State government planners have also contributed their share to the deterioration.

Over the years the State has acquired several public fishing sites. Desk-bound Lansing planners apparently designed them. All grass, brush and trees are removed down to the waters edge. Then the sites are covered with gravel. Every year the gravel washes away with springtime high waters and heavy rains, adding to the sediment in the Jordan. Then, more gravel is hauled in.

Not many years ago, instead of replacing picturesque old bridges upstream in Antrim County, new huge metal tubes were installed under new roadways crossing the Jordan.

The tubes concentrated gushing waters and distrupted the natural stream flow. Unseeded roadway bank erosion sent huge amounts of soil downstream, as regular as rain.

In 1958 federal, state and county monies provided funds for a new Rogers Bridge, built adjacent to our property. Bridge approaches were re-designed and raised, resulting in a lot more drainage on our neighbor's land.

The bridge builders also halted, permanently, the flow of three neighborhood artesian wells, including ours.

They uprooted cedar trees on the river's bank adjacent to the bridge and were going to haul them to the dump. We caught them in time, insisting the trees be replaced.

As far as their proposed regulations now, I suggested that if the State ends up controlling a 200-foot setback on the Jordan, it should also allow for the possible future use of any old railroad right-of-ways, for a transportation line through the Valley.

In view of present inflation, the state should delete the $1,000 valuation limitation, proposed for all maintenance or alterations of non-conforming property, within any 12-month period, I suggested.

I asked that the state practice what they preaches and do something about the scalped public access sites.

In addition to natural causes (some of our property has always had an unfertilized, unseeded, but mown, natural lawn), other erosion has been caused by mainstream diversion some years ago, wave-making swimmers and dunking canoeists, those trying to escape dunking by climbing our banks, springtime fishermen attracted to the softened banks and of course, the native muskrats.

Part, but not all of the above, was my "in-put."

Betty Rison is a Jordan River property owner opposed to state regulation. She didn't sign a DNR "in-put" card or speak, but she got put on a different kind of record.

When Betty went out to see if her car lights had been left on, a TV reporter nabbed her.

That night on the 6 o'clock news, Betty voiced her opinion: She prefers local control of the Jordan with a 50-foot greenbelt, not a 200 foot setback as the state demands.

"But they cut out the part where I said I thought the whole thing was unconstitutional," she told me later.

It is Betty's belief that state control would lead to a court test in the future.

As Betty and the state know, our property and some others are "non-conforming" to the DNR-proposed regulations.

Supposedly zoning is not retroactive, nor confiscatory. Some property owners who have not built on the river say we have no cause for worry, since we already have our cabin, Betty included.

She chided me a bit about my "flowery speech" of what she inferred as non-opposition at the state hearing.

But ah, in the non-conforming use section lies rules which could prove her point of possible costly future court actions.

One says: "If a nonconforming use is discontinued for 12 consecutive months, any future use at that site shall conform to these rules."

That would be an impossibility for some households. Does the state mean any non-conforming family must see that no calamity or act of God befalls them, that could hospitalize all of them, for over a year?

If fortune smiles and they so decide, they could never take an extended leave for travel without renting their home?

That they cannot bequeath their housing to anyone unless the inheiritors occupy it, or lease it to someone, during any consecutive 12-month period?

We still think the Jordan should be protected. So do other homeowners on the river. We think it should be protected in keeping with Joe Bugai's original intent and vision for State owned land, and local, or regional, zoning for private land.

Joe was getting weary writing letters to Lansing. He probably would have approved of the local public hearings, held at state expense.

But we also think he would join with us in asking for some protection, in perpetuity, for the few present Jordan River householders on non-state owned land.

He knew they were "non-conformers", giving up city comforts to live on the Jordan and that they make pretty good watch guards for some of the river.

We wish he were here to join in urging Antrim County to greenbelt the Jordan and help talk others into assuming local responsibility to protect it.

Joe learned what it meant to "depend" on the state.

School Board Names Contract Negotiators

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its Monday night meeting, named board Negotiations representatives for teacher contracts, approved contracts for three part-time teachers, discussed the impact of Daylight Saving Time on school and heard numerous reports.

The firm of Thrun Maatsch and Nordberg of Lansing as chief negotiator and spokesman for the Board of Education in the pending negotiations with the Charlevoix Education Association.

Supt. James A. McKinmy and board members Mrs. Robert Lieberman, Clement J. Wagner and Larry Warner were approved as members of the school negotiating team.

The board gave its approval for contracts for Mrs. Betty Henne who is returning to the staff at the rate of 20 percent of regular assignment to teach English from Jan. 28 until June 7; for Kenneth Bartley for 20 percent of a regular assignment from Jan. 4 to June 7 to teach one hour of ninth grade math and for James Wyns to teach in the Elementary School of a per diem basis for a period between Dec. 19 and Mar. 22 to fill the vacancy created by the leave of absence granted Mrs. Sally Drost. He will be paid at the rate of a beginning teacher with a B.A. Degree.

Daylight Saving Time was discussed after Supt. McKinmy advised the board that the responsibility of changing school hours was left to local school boards. Bob Clock, editor of the Charlevoix Courier, appeared to protest the decision to leave the school hours the same as before. He said the sidewalks are not plowed, children must walk in the streets which are not well lighted and added that he felt something should be done about changing the starting time to a later hour. McKinmy said he had received only two calls objecting to the starting time and then listened to numerous reasons why a change was not feasible. Working mothers who must leave for work, leaving the children unattended until the bus arrived, students who attend vocational classes in Petoskey, co-op students who work given hours and attend classes geared to Daylight Saving Time, the conflict with other activities such as church classes for students, piano-lessons, and other activities were among the reasons given. It was decided to continue on the present time for the remainder of this school year.

McKinmy, in a report prepared by the business manager, Robert Bogart, who was not present, said that the repair of the arches in the high school gymnasium to return them to their original 40-year life span had, to date, cost $26,000. The roof remains to be repaired and the bases of the arches re-inforced before the job is completed.

Roy Fortin, who is in charge of the Adult Education program reported that enrollments in all classes were still being accepted both for high school completion and enrichment classes.

City Plans Gala Mardi Gras Feb. 22 to 24

Winter doldrums got you down?

If so, there's relief in sight with announcement by the Chamber of Commerce and several local businesses Charlevoix's first annual Mardi Gras celebration, scheduled for the weekend of Feb. 22-24.

Mardi Gras--or Fat Tuesday, if you'll excuse a literal translation from the French -- has long been celebrated in France and in Gallic communities in the New World as their last wing-ding before the long and generally sober days of Lent.

New Orleans and Quebec City, both settled largely by French immigrants, have made a big thing of Mardi Gras for generations.

Now Charlevoix, which was named after a French priest-explorer who visited the wilds of the northern lake country before the pioneers arrived, will have a Mardi Gras celebration of its own, patterned after those of cities steeped in the French tradition.

Chamber Manager Vince Olach is working feverishly to hammer out the details of the first Mardi Gras, which is only two weeks away.

But balloting already has started at the Chamber office, Grey Gables, Central Drug Store and Williams' Dockside Pharmacy for a king and queen to reign over Mardi Gras festivities.

Each vote will cost $1 and all of the proceeds go toward buying equipment for a Sight-Mobile sponsored by Lions Clubs throughout District 11-E, which includes the Charlevoix club.

The Mardi Gras committee has drawn up the following list of candidates -- ten men and ten women -- for the royal posts:

KING

George Duke, Roy Rankin, Bill Stokes, Gordon Wellman, Herm Sizemore, Dr. Harry Custer, Bill Fochtman, Peter Pace, Dick Edwards and Larry Warner.

QUEEN

LoAnn Brown, Ann Hufford, Elizabeth (Debbie) Herschede, Sally McNamara, Beverly Kaiser, Marina Anegon, Charlotte Saltonstall, Pat LaVasseur, Barb Berlage and Georgia LaBlance.

The votes will be tabulated and the winners announced (and possibly crowned) at midnight Friday, Feb. 22 at Grey Gables.

The following night -- Saturday -- all of Charlevoix's dine-and-dance establishments, including the Argonne, the Woodshed, the Weathervane, and Grey Gables, will hold their own Mardi Gras balls.

Revelers are urged to dress in costume for the occasion and hit as many of the different celebrations as possible.

The king and queen, dressed in royal garb, will visit all of the participating establishments during the course of the evening.

Sunday the royal couple will ride in Charlevoix's first Mardi Gras Street parade, which is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m. at the corner of Park-ave. and Bridge-st.

Olach says the parade will consist of floats, wheeled vehicles, snowmobiles, marching bands and other marching groups.

The parade, which is expected to last about one hour, will terminate near the High School.

Olach says City Recreation Director Curt Kipke has been asked to organize activities for young people during the celebration, possibly including speed skating and figure skating competition, ski events at Mt. McSauba and snowmobile activities.

The celebration also will dove-tail the Lions Club's annual "Winter Outing" scheduled Sunday afternoon at Ferry Beach.

The Mardi Gras celebration was the brain-storm of Al Breeze of Grey Gables who feels that Charlevoix needs something in the dead of winter to compare with the Venetian Festival in July.

His enthusiasm for a Mardi Gras Celebration has proved contagious.

Olach sees Mardi Gras in Charlevoix becoming an annual event, drawing crowds of mid-winter visitors who ordinarily would be content to curl up by their firesides in Detroit, Flint, Lansing and Grand Rapids.

Although time is short, art teachers in Charlevoix Schools are being contacted about constructing gigantic Mardi Gras Heads of papier mache to be worn by parade marchers and other celebrants.

More details on Charlevoix's first Mardi Gras will appear in the Courier next week.

Beaver Islander May Be Berthed In Petoskey

The Beaver Island Boat Co. is planning runs out of Petoskey as well as Charlevoix next summer according to Lawrence McDonough, manager.

McDonough says the firm plans to berth the Beaver Islander at Petoskey, if the company is successful in bidding for dock space owned and operated by the City of Petoskey.

The smaller South Shore will be berthed in Charlevoix.

McDonough says the new schedule, will go into effect June 15 and continue until Labor Day.

Thanks to the new schedule, it will be possible to travel from Charlevoix to Petoskey by boat, with a stop-over at St. James on Beaver Island.

Here is how the new schedule will work:

The Beaver Islander will leave Petoskey in the morning for St. James with passengers and freight. After unloading, she will continue to Charlevoix, arriving about noon for more passengers and cargo. She will return to the island, unload and then proceed to Petoskey where she will be berthed overnight.

The South Shore will leave Charlevoix in the morning for the island, where she will lay-over for three or four hours, returning in the afternoon.

Both schedules will allow travelers from both Charlevoix and Petoskey to visit the island and return to the mainland the same day.

McDonough says the company also is investigating the possibility of conducting boat tours in the spring and fall before the tourists arrive in force.

He says the firm is also weighing a proposal by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce that the company conduct a "moonlight cruise" out of Charlevoix every Saturday night during warm weather.

Senior Government Day Next Monday

Charlevoix High School will be the site of this year's annual Senior Government Day slated for Monday, Feb. 11, for six Charlevoix and Antrim County schools.

City, county and state government officials are expected to take part in the annual seminar, which will be conducted by former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake.

Brake was in town Jan. 7 to work out details of Government Day with representatives from Charlevoix, Central Lake, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, East Jordan and Ellsworth.

Approximately 50 resource people are expected to be on hand for the day-long session which will look into such subjects as area development, conservation, education, and the energy crisis.

DEEP TRENCHES mark the site of an oil spill in Ellsworth emanating from a 20,000 gallon fuel oil tank on the property of the Howes and Howes Trucking Co., Inc., of Ellsworth. The Department of Natural Resources had the land trenched in efforts to contain the oil before it empties into Ore Creek.

Ellsworth Fights Elusive Oil Slick

Mrs. Levi Donaldson of Ellsworth is wondering how in the world anything will manage to grow in the garden plot next to her home next summer.

The land is saturated with fuel oil which leaked from a 20,000-gallon tank on the property of Howes and Howes Trucking Co., Inc., of Kaleva, which maintains a garage in Ellsworth kitty-corner from the Ellsworth Community School.

Mrs. Donaldson, the closest neighbor to Howes and Howes, noticed an oily smell emanating from her garden last Monday although the oil wasn't visible because of the snow.

About the same time, Roland Howes who lives on the trucking company property noticed that a tank containing No. 2 fuel oil was leaking.

Although the tank has a capacity of 20,000 gallons, it has a divider in the middle. Howes has no idea how many gallons of oil were spilled, but it is something under 10,000 gallons.

Local representatives of the Department of Natural Resources were called to the scene. They referred the problem to Ron Shaver, assigned to the Oil and Hazardous Materials Control Center in Mt. Pleasant.

Shaver spent three days in Ellsworth last week supervising containment of the spill.

Some of the oil ran through a drainage ditch in front of Mrs. Donaldson's property and into Ore Creek, which empties into Lake St. Clair in downtown Ellsworth.

When wind conditions were right last Thursday, Shaver supervised the burning of an oil slick on slough at the east end of the lake.

Shaver also ordered deep trenches dug in Mrs. Donaldson's garden in order to effect containment in the immediate area of the spill.

He estimated Friday that 95 percent of all of the oil below the containment has been taken care of, although another burn off may be staged if sufficient oil collects in the slough.

The problem above the containment next to the Donaldson home is more complicated because the extremely light oil is difficult to trap.

He estimated that only about 1,500 gallons had been recovered by late Friday afternoon. The problem is complicated by a high water table in the area.

Shaver gave instructions to Howes and his father, Gene Howes of Kaleva, on how to recover the oil and prevent any more from seeping into Ore Creek before he departed for Mt. Pleasant.

He said the DNR would continue to keep an eye on the situation.

Bank Donates Arm Bands

The Charlevoix County State Bank reports that it will make reflector tape arm bands available to Charlevoix youngsters who must walk to school and wait for school buses in the dark since the switch to Daylight Saving Time.

The arm bands will be available to all youngsters through the schools. Parents are urged to make sure their youngsters wear the bands when leaving for school in the morning.

Jerrald Redeker Elected President of Holland Bank

Jerrald H. Redeker, president of the First State Bank of Charlevoix for four years before going into the insurance business last year, has been elected president of the People's State Bank of Holland, effective March 4.

Redeker expects to begin working at the bank the last week in February. His family will move to Holland in the near future.

He will succeed L.C. Dalman who is retiring as president.

Serving with Redeker will be George Heeringa, chairman of the board, who replaces Clarence Klassen, who also is retiring.

People's State Bank is a subsidiary of Old Kent Financial Corp., headquartered in Grand Rapids.

A 1956 graduate of Hope College in Holland, Redeker has spent 12 years in banking, beginning with the Old Kent Bank and Trust Co. in Grand Rapids. He was vice president of the Metropolitan National Bank of Farmington before moving to Charlevoix in the late 1960's.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan Banking School and holds his graduate certificate from the American Institute of Banking.

One year ago Redeker left the First State Bank to join Charlevoix Board of Education and a director of the Lions Club. He has served as vice president of the consistory of the Community Reformed Church and was nominated by Hope College in 1970 as one of the "Outstanding Young Men in America."

A native of Waupun, Wisc., Redeker is married to the former Elsie Vande Zande. They have four children.

Drama Group Places First

Charlevoix High School drama students finished first last week in district competition at Petoskey with the one-act play "To Burn a Witch." Petoskey placed second.

The CHS group will now compete in regionals at Kirkland Community College Feb. 9.

Susan Boss received an exceptional acting award and Debbie Powell a superior acting award.

JACK GRUBAUGH (right) receives plaque from Gordon Wellman, president of the Charlevoix Community Chest, in recognition of his work as campaign chairman last year. The Chest board re-elected Wellman as president at its meeting last week.

ON ONE OF the coldest days of the winter, Boyne City attorney David Fershee was admitted to the Florida Bar Monday in ceremonies in the Charlevoix County Courthouse conducted by Circuit Judge Edward H. Fenlon. Looking on is Sheriff Philo Sumner. A 1973 graduate of the Detroit College of Law, Fershee was admitted to the Michigan Bar last year and also passed the Florida bar exam. Florida authorities gave him permission to take the oath in Michigan rather than make the long trip south. A former resident of Lansing, Fershee and his wife, Helen, have two children, Tina, 3, and Sandy, 1.

City Plans Gala Mardi Gras Feb. 22 to 24

Winter doldrums got you down?

If so, there's relief in sight with announcement by the Chamber of Commerce and several local businesses Charlevoix's first annual Mardi Gras celebration, scheduled for the weekend of Feb. 22-24.

Mardi Gras--or Fat Tuesday, if you'll excuse a literal translation from the French--has long been celebrated in France and in Gallic communities in the New World as their last wing-ding before the long and generally sober days of Lent.

New Orleans and Quebec City, both settled largely by French immigrants, have made a big thing of Mardi Gras for generations.

Now Charlevoix, which was named after a French priest-explorer who visited the wilds of the northern lake country before the pioneers arrived, will have a Mardi Gras celebration of its own, patterned after those of cities steeped in the French tradition.

Chamber Manager Vince Olach is working feverishly to hammer out the details of the first Mardi Gras, which is only two weeks away.

But balloting already has started at the Chamber office, Grey Gables, Central Drug Store and Williams' Dockside Pharmacy for a king and queen to reign over Mardi Gras festivities.

Each vote will cost $1 and all of the proceeds go toward buying equipment for a Sight-Mobile sponsored by Lions Clubs throughout District 11-E, which includes the Charlevoix club.

King, Queen to Reign; Street Parade Slated

The Mardi Gras committee has drawn up the following list of candidates -- ten men and ten women -- for the royal posts:

KING

George Duke, Roy Rankin, Bill Stokes, Gordon Wellman, Herm Sizemore, Dr. Harry Custer, Bill Fochtman, Peter Pace, Dick Edwards and Larry Warner.

QUEEN

LoAnn Brown, Ann Hufford, Elizabeth (Debbie) Herschede, Sally McNamara, Beverly Kaiser, Marina Anegon, Charlotte Saltonstall, Pat LaVasseur, Barb Berlage, and Georgia LaBlance.

The votes will be tabulated and the winners announced (and possibly crowned) at midnight Friday, Feb. 22 at Grey Gables.

The following night -- Saturday -- all of Charlevoix's dine-and-dance establishments, including the Argonne, the Woodshed, the Weathervane, and Grey Gables, will hold their own Mardi Gras balls.

Revelers are urged to dress in costume for the occasion and hit as many of the different celebrations as possible.

The king and queen, dressed in royal garb, will visit all of the participating establishments during the course of the evening.

Sunday the royal couple will ride in Charlevoix's first Mardi Gras Street parade, which is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m. at the corner of Park-ave. and Bridge-st.

Olach says the parade will consist of floats, wheeled vehicles, snowmobiles, marching bands and other marching groups.

The parade, which is expected to last about one hour, will terminate near the High School.

Olach says City Recreation Director Curt Kipke has been asked to organize activities for young people during the celebration, possibly including speed skating and figure skating competition, ski events at Mt. McSauba, and snowmobile activities.

The celebration also will dove-tail the Lions Club's annual "Winter Outing" scheduled Sunday afternoon at Ferry Beach.

The Mardi Gras celebration was the brain-storm of Al Breeze of Grey Gables who feels that Charlevoix needs something in the dead of winter to compare with the Venetian Festival in July.

His enthusiasm for a Mardi Gras Celebration has proved contagious.

Olach sees Mardi Gras in Charlevoix becoming an annual event, drawing crowds of mid-winter visitors who ordinarily would be content to curl up by their firesides in Detroit, Flint, Lansing and Grand Rapids.

Although time is short, art teachers in Charlevoix Schools are being contacted about constructing gigantic Mardi Gras Heads of papier mache to be worn by parade marchers and other celebrants.

More details on Charlevoix's first Mardi Gras will appear in the Courier next week.

Beaver Islander May Be Berthed In Petoskey

The Beaver Island Boat Co. is planning runs out of Petoskey as well as Charlevoix next summer according to Lawrence McDonough, manager.

McDonough says the firm plans to berth the Beaver Islander at Petoskey, if the company is successful in bidding for dock space owned and operated by the City of Petoskey.

The smaller South Shore will be berthed in Charlevoix.

McDonough says the new schedule will go into effect June 15 and continue until Labor Day.

Thanks to the new schedule, it will be possible to travel from Charlevoix to Petoskey by boat, with a stop-over at St. James on Beaver Island.

Here is how the new schedule will work:

The Beaver Islander will leave Petoskey in the morning for St. James with passengers and freight. After unloading, she will continue to Charlevoix, arriving about noon for more passengers and cargo. She will return to the island, unload and then proceed to Petoskey where she will be berthed overnight.

The South Shore will leave Charlevoix in the morning for the island, where she will lay-over for three or four hours, returning in the afternoon.

Both schedules will allow travelers from both Charlevoix and Petoskey to visit the island and return to the mainland the same day.

McDonough says the company also is investigating the possibility of conducting boat tours in the spring and fall before the tourists arrive in force.

He says the firm is also weighing a proposal by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce that the company conduct a "moonlight cruise" out of Charlevoix every Saturday night during warm weather.

DEEP TRENCHES mark the site of an oil spill in Ellsworth emanating from a 20,000 gallon fuel oil tank on the property of the Howes and Howes Trucking Co., Inc., of Ellsworth. The Department of Natural Resources had the land trenched in efforts to contain the oil before it empties into Ore Creek.

Ellsworth Fights Elusive Oil Slick

Mrs. Levi Donaldson of Ellsworth is wondering how in the world anything will manage to grow in the garden plot next to her home next summer.

The land is saturated with fuel oil which leaked from a 20,000-gallon tank on the property of Howes and Howes Trucking Co., Inc., of Kaleva, which maintains a garage in Ellsworth kitty-corner from the Ellsworth Community School.

Mrs. Donaldson, the closest neighbor to Howes and Howes, noticed an oily smell emanating from her garden last Monday although the oil wasn't visible because of the snow.

About the same time, Roland Howes who lives on the trucking company property noticed that a tank containing No. 2 fuel oil was leaking.

Although the tank has a capacity of 20,000 gallons, it has a divider in the middle. Howes has no idea how many gallons of oil were spilled, but it is something under 10,000 gallons.

Local representatives of the Department of Natural Resources were called to the scene. They referred the problem to Ron Shaver, assigned to the Oil and Hazardous Materials Control Center in Mt. Pleasant.

Shaver spent three days in Ellsworth last week supervising containment of the spill.

Some of the oil ran through a drainage ditch in front of Mrs. Donaldson's property and into Ore Creek, which empties into Lake St. Clair in downtown Ellsworth.

When wind conditions were right last Thursday, Shaver supervised the burning of an oil slick on slough at the east end of the lake.

Shaver also ordered deep trenches dug in Mrs. Donaldson's garden in order to effect containment in the immediate area of the spill.

He estimated Friday that 95 percent of all of the oil below the containment has been taken care of, although another burn off may be staged if sufficient oil collects in the slough.

The problem above the containment next to the Donaldson home is more complicated because the extremely light oil is difficult to trap.

He estimated that only about 1,500 gallons had been recovered by late Friday afternoon. The problem is complicated by a high water table in the area.

Shaver gave instructions to Howes and his father, Gene Howes of Kaleva, on how to recover the oil and prevent any more from seeping into Ore Creek before he departed for Mt. Pleasant.

He said the DNR would continue to keep an eye on the situation.

Bank Donates Arm Bands

The Charlevoix County State Bank reports that it will make reflector tape arm bands available to Charlevoix youngsters who must walk to school and wait for school buses in the dark since the switch to Daylight Saving Time.

The arm bands will be available to all youngsters through the schools. Parents are urged to make sure their youngsters wear the bands when leaving for school in the morning.

Senior Government Day Next Monday

Charlevoix High School will be the site of this year's annual Senior Government Day slated for Monday, Feb. 11, for six Charlevoix and Antrim County schools.

City, county and state government officials are expected to take part in the annual seminar, which will be conducted by former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake.

Brake was in town Jan. 7 to work out details of Government Day with representatives from Charlevoix, Central Lake, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, East Jordan and Ellsworth.

Approximately 50 resource people are expected to be on hand for the day-long session which will look into such subjects as area development, conservation, education, and the energy crisis.

Jerrald Redeker Elected President of Holland Bank

Jerrald H. Redeker, president of the First State Bank of Charlevoix for four years before going into the insurance business last year, has been elected president of the People's State Bank of Holland, effective March 4.

Redeker expects to begin working at the bank the last week in February. His family will move to Holland in the near future.

He will succeed L.C. Dalman who is retiring as president.

Serving with Redeker will be George Heeringa, chairman of the board, who replaces Clarence Klassen, who also is retiring.

People's State Bank is a subsidiary of Old Kent Financial Corp., headquartered in Grand Rapids.

A 1956 graduate of Hope College in Holland, Redeker has spent 12 years in banking, beginning with the Old Kent Bank and Trust Co. in Grand Rapids. He was vice president of the Metropolitan National Bank of Farmington before moving to Charlevoix in the late 1960's.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan Banking School and holds his graduate certificate from the American Institute of Banking.

One year ago Redeker left the First State Bank to join Charlevoix Board of Education and a director of the Lions Club. He has served as vice president of the consistory of the Community Reformed Church and was nominated by Hope College in 1970 as one of the "Outstanding Young Men in America."

A native of Waupun, Wisc., Redeker is married to the former Elsie Vande Zande. They have four children.

Drama Group Places First

Charlevoix High School drama students finished first last week in district competition at Petoskey with the one-act play, "To Burn a Witch." Petoskey placed second.

The CHS group will now compete in regionals at Kirtland Community College Feb. 9.

Susan Boss received an exceptional acting award and Debbie Powell a superior acting award.

JACK GRUBAUGH (right) receives plaque from Gordon Wellman, president of the Charlevoix Community Chest, in recognition of his work as campaign chairman last year. The Chest board re-elected Wellman as president at its meeting last week.

ON ONE OF the coldest days of the winter, Boyne City attorney David Fershee was admitted to the Florida Bar Monday in ceremonies in the Charlevoix County Courthouse conducted by Circuit Judge Edward H. Fenton. Looking on is Sheriff Philo Sumner. A 1973 graduate of the Detroit College of Law, Fershee was admitted to the Michigan Bar last year and also passed the Florida bar exam. Florida authorities gave him permission to take the oath in Michigan rather than make the long trip south. A former resident of Lansing, Fershee and his wife, Helen, have two children, Tina, 3, and Sandy, 1.

Monk Parakeet Poses Threat to State Crops

By Hilda Alexander

He is about the size of a blue-jay and the color of pea soup.

He has the face of a parakeet, the song of a creaking door and the habits of locust.

He is a super-bird called the Monk Parakeet -- or the Grey-Breasted Parakeet -- and he threatens to destroy vast quantities of Michigan crops if his present rate of breeding goes unchecked, Mrs. Mildred Ochs reported to the Charlevoix Garden Club at the group's January meeting.

Mrs. Ochs said Monk Parakeets have been spotted in 26 states from Florida to Maine and the birds apparently are learning to adapt to Michigan's long winters.

The Monk Parakeet already is a nuisance in Argentina and elsewhere in South America which has declared all-out warfare on the species.

Mrs. Ochs said the bird has no natural predators in the United States and can't be handled "with anything less than boxing gloves."

Unlike other parakeets, the Monk Parakeet won't talk but he never stops squawking.

The birds apparently were brought to the United States as pets, but their owners couldn't stand them and let them loose Now they are practically everywhere.

The January meeting of the Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Nancy Wood, with Mrs. Arla Staublin as co-hostess.

A lesson on the care of house plants was given by Mrs. Adgate Santek. She stressed the need for good soil, proper drainage, correct watering and suitable light conditions.

Plants that are loved, kept clean and are well cared for can be most rewarding, Mrs. Antek said.

Miss Kathy Wagner reported on the week she spent at the Higgins Lake Conservation School on a scholarship sponsored by the Garden Club.

The next meeting will be Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. Mildred Ochs, with Mrs. Eleanor Neff as co-hostess.

Big Manitoulin Ferry To Be Ready This June

Travelers around the Great Lakes will be interested to know that a new ferry will be in operation this summer between South Baymouth on Manitoulin Island and Tobermory, Ont., at the tip of the Bruce Peninsula.

The new vessel, which is being built at the Collingwood, Ont., will be christened the "Chi-Cheemaun". She is 376 feet long and will carry 500 passengers and 113 motor vehicles.

The Chi-Cheemaun will replace the M.S. Norgoma and the S.S. Norisle, and will carry more passengers and freight then the two smaller ships combined.

Because of the size of the new vessel, docking facilities at both South Baymouth and Tomermory are being completely renovated.

The hull of the boat is now off the ways at Collingwood and work on the vessel will be completed this spring. She will be christened in May and go into service in June.

The original construction cost was estimated at $8 million, but the figure has been revised upward to $10 million because of skyrocketing costs.

The Chi-Cheemaun will make the 40-mile run between the mainland and the island in about two hours. The Norgoma and the Norisle made the trip in three hours.

The passage between Lake Huron and Georgian Bay is generally considered one of the choppiest on the Great Lakes.

Travelers from the north may cross over to Manitoulin Island from the mainland on a highway bridge at Little Current.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll and family were in Manistee Saturday to attend the wedding of their son, Allen.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Minnie Myers who has received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. Mable Hannemamm, in Chicago. Mrs. Hannemamm spent several weeks with Mrs. Myers last fall and will be remembered by local friends and neighbors.

The family Night Supper at the church Sunday evening was well attended. We are happy that our new minister, Rev. Harold Kruse, and family will remain with us. We feel fortunate to find a pastor for our church so soon after the retirement of Rev. and Mrs. Harmon of Cheboygan who had been with us for 15 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury are spending several days with their sons and families in Swartz Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Mearle Scott are in Florida visiting friends and places of interest.

Mrs. Minnie Myers had a successful rummage sale last Friday and Saturday.

Where are the ususal winter birds? We seem to have very few, except chickadees and sparrows. We do have a new sparrow called the Eastern Fox Sparrow, which is one of the few sparrows that scratches with both feet at once. It leaps into the air kicks and scratches quickly with both feet, making everything fly before it lands. A thick covering of snow or other debris does not inconvenience this lusty sparrow in search of seeds and insects. They excavate. They breed in Alaska and Canada, nesting on the ground. They do not stay long in the northern states on their travels south.

The Fish Shanty Village is growing. One can see five near Hemmingway's Point. Phil Myner caught a nice lake trout and one brown trout this past week.

Our January thaw really turned into old fashioned weather with snow and zero temperatures that took everyone by surprise. The driving is hazardous with ice and snow, but is improving. We are wondering what the weather will be on Saturday when Mr. Ground Hog wakes up.

Rev. Cail Moving South

The Rev. John Cail, pastor of the First Baptist Church for the past three years, has accepted a call to serve a new church in Comstock near Kalamazoo he has told his congregation in Charlevoix.

The church, he said, is a new church, Christ Baptist Church, in the fast-growing community of Comstock.

He also plans to begin his doctoral program at McCormick Presbyterian University in Chicago. Being in southern Michigan will make it easier to commute, by car or train as well as air, to Chicago, he said.

Rev. Cail came here in March 1971 from Thomaston, Me.

He will be accompanied to Comstock by his wife, Elaine, and their children, Leonard and Tanya.

He will preach his last sermon in the Charlevoix Church Feb. 24.

Eat and Grow Younger

Heavy Sugar-Starch Diet Can Clog Up Digestive Tract

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Four of a Series

Let me turn clairvoyant for a moment, and "project" thoughts with you through an average day's eating.

Your breakfast consisted of a fruit—perhaps a canned juice (sweetened with refined sugar), or half a grapefruit liberally sprinkled with sugar.

Your cereal bowl was filled with a dry, wholly-artificial pile of something whose resemblance to a grain long since ceased to exist. And, of course, you reached again for the sugar bowl to flavor this already too-starchy cereal.

Toast? Of course, and more likely made with white bread; or perhaps a sweet roll or two, well coated with sugar frosting, eaten with your generously sugared coffee.

"Please pass the jelly." More sweet. Some morning you do get around to eating an egg, but usually you're too full after downing your starchy cereal and toast to want anything more.

So off you go to work. You feel quite a bit less than up to par; but by now you're probably belching as all the breakfast starches, plus those left undigested from previous meals, begin fermenting in your digestive system.

By mid-morning you're feeling pretty pepless. So what do you do? If you're at work, you take time out for a candy bar, or a soft drink, or maybe more coffee and another sweet roll.

Then comes lunch. You're hungry — and yet you're not. How about a sandwich, a cup of coffee and a piece of pie?

CAN'T THINK STRAIGHT

"That holds you until about 3:30, when you begin to feel so worn out and dispirited that you realize you'd better get something to eat if you want to keep going until dinnertime. More pie, or maybe a piece of cake, a candy bar, or a soft drink.

By the time you drag yourself home and get through a dinner that is a repetition of all your day's dietary sins (white bread, sugared coffee, perhaps a dish with rice or spaghetti or macaroni, and a starchy heavy dessert) you are more convinced than ever you're getting old.

You can't think straight any more; your job seems to take more and more out of you every day; there's no energy left in you for leisure hour activities; and you are sleeping poorly.

I could go on being "clairvoyant" and trace your footsteps to the kitchen before bedtime for that piece of pie which was left, or for a sandwich — but you're entitled to some privacy in your dietary indiscretions, so I'll leave you for the day, with your intestinal tract full of fermenting, half digested starches.

If you are the average person, of sedentary habits or occupation, the chances are that you eat about 75 percent more devitalized carbohydrate foods than are compatible with your good health and your desire to feel and look younger.

"But we must have carbohydrates for energy" you say.

CONSIDER THE ESKIMO

You are only half correct. While it's true that the sole function of carbohydrates is to provide heat and energy, what about the Eskimos who eat nothing except meat and fish — protein foods?

The Eskimo, far from being a slothful fellow who huddles into his skins with his teeth chattering like castanets, is robust, energetic and warm-blooded. In fact, it's only where "white" civilization has brought in its so-called refinements that the Eskimo ever falls victim to our respiratory and intestinal diseases. Colds and constipation are among the many "benefits" of civilization we bestowed upon the poor Eskimo.

How then, if the Eskimos in remote areas never eat anything except protein foods, can their bodies receive the fuel and energy which carbohydrates provide?

Every human body has been given the power to convert food protein into either body protein or energy sugars. Actually, the type of carbohydrate produced in the body from food protein yields more heat and energy than any of the carbohydrate foods you eat.

When you get enough proteins you need never worry about getting enough carbohydrates. Your big worry should be not to eat too much carbohydrates.

PROTEIN COMPLETE FOOD

Not only do high-starch meals overload the stomach and place an unnecessary strain on the heart, they are also predisposing factors in many ailments and serious diseases that appear in later years.

There is good scientific cause for believing that too much starch in the diet helps build up those unwanted deposits of cholesterol in the arteries, causing them to harden and become brittle to the point where a rupture brings on a fatal heart attack or a brain hemorrhage.

Heavy starch-eaters are also more susceptible to sinus and respiratory infections than are those who limit their carbohydrate intake to the sugars and starches found in natural foods (fruits, vegetables, low-fat milk, whole grains) and build their meals around high proteins.

Constipation, a common symptom of digestive disorders, is another universal ailment that can be traced directly to high-starch food habits. The same holds true for gas in the intestines and belching, which are uncomfortable manifestations of undigested starches fermenting in the digestive tract.

1st State Aid Payment Due

State Sen. Robert W. Davis (R-37th District) reports that the first quarterly payment of the 1973-'74 school State Aid funds was to be mailed to school districts throughout Michigan on or about Feb. 1.

Charlevoix schools will receive $46,960, Twin Valley schools $189,720, Boyne Falls schools $5,720 and the Beaver Island Community School $130.

Funds come from state tax revenues and are based on a formula which enables, on the average, each school district to provide equal educational opportunities for all school children.

LARRY HAMILTON, of 412 Antrim, Charlevoix, was one of two Northern Michigan University students to develop a new program for their mathematics department calculator. Hamilton, a senior, is currently student teaching in Shawano, Wis. (NMU photo)

Hamilton Puts Calculator To New Use at NMU

Two Northern Michigan University mathematics students have developed a new program for their department's electronic calculator, and have been invited to explain their program at a February seminar in Andover, Mass.

The seminar is sponsored by Wang Laboratories, Inc., manufacturer of the calculator. A total of ten papers will be presented at the gathering.

The students, Gary Herron, of Marquette, and Larry Hamilton, of Charlevoix, worked on the program over the past two years. Both are seniors.

They are the only undergraduates invited to take part in the seminar, which will be attended by professional people and educators who use Wang Calculators in their work.

The model calculator used at Northern is programmable, and is so much more sophisticated than the average machine, it is often called a "mini-computer."

The students' 1,200 step program, "Three Dimensional Plotting Program Suppressing Hidden Points," allows the calculator to make drawings without including unnecessary points. The Wang company tried to develop such a program, but was unsuccessful and abandoned its efforts.

Practical uses resulting from the new program include the plotting of data for physics and chemistry experiments, and the making of architectural drawings.

When the students started developing the program two years ago, they didn't have any practical use in mind.

"We've done it mostly for the enjoyment of writing our own program," said Herron, who plans to attend graduate school next year.

Hamilton, who is currently student teaching in Shawano, Wix., plans to teach high school mathematics.

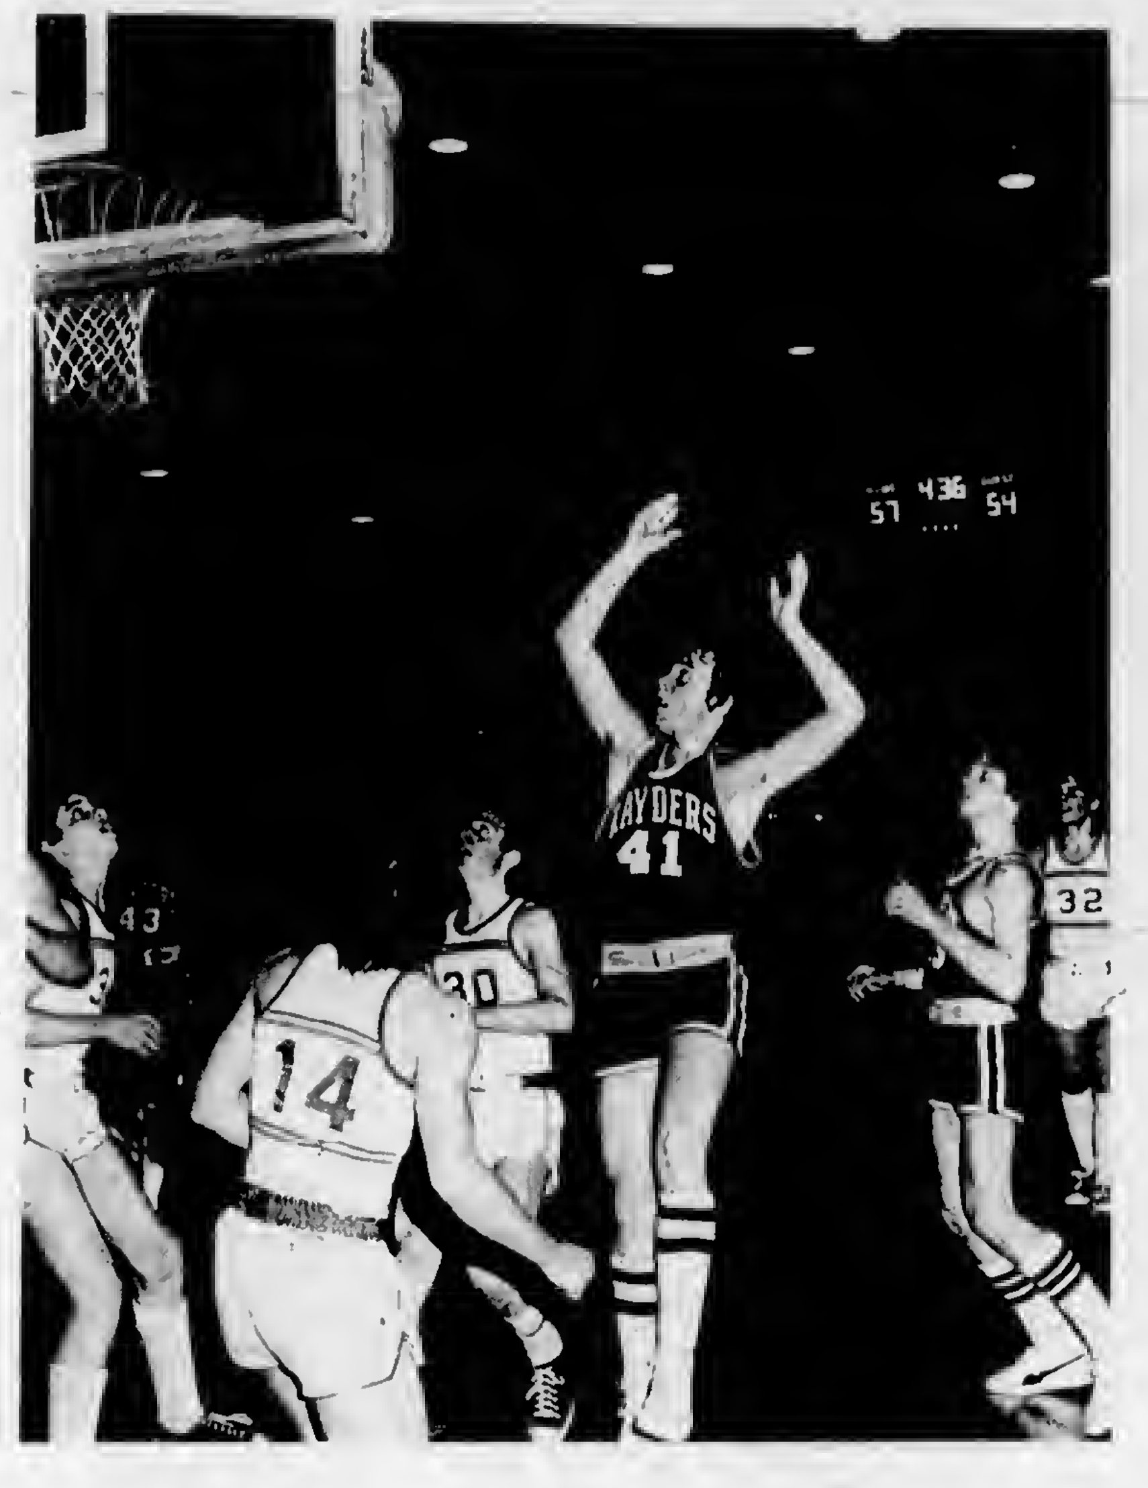
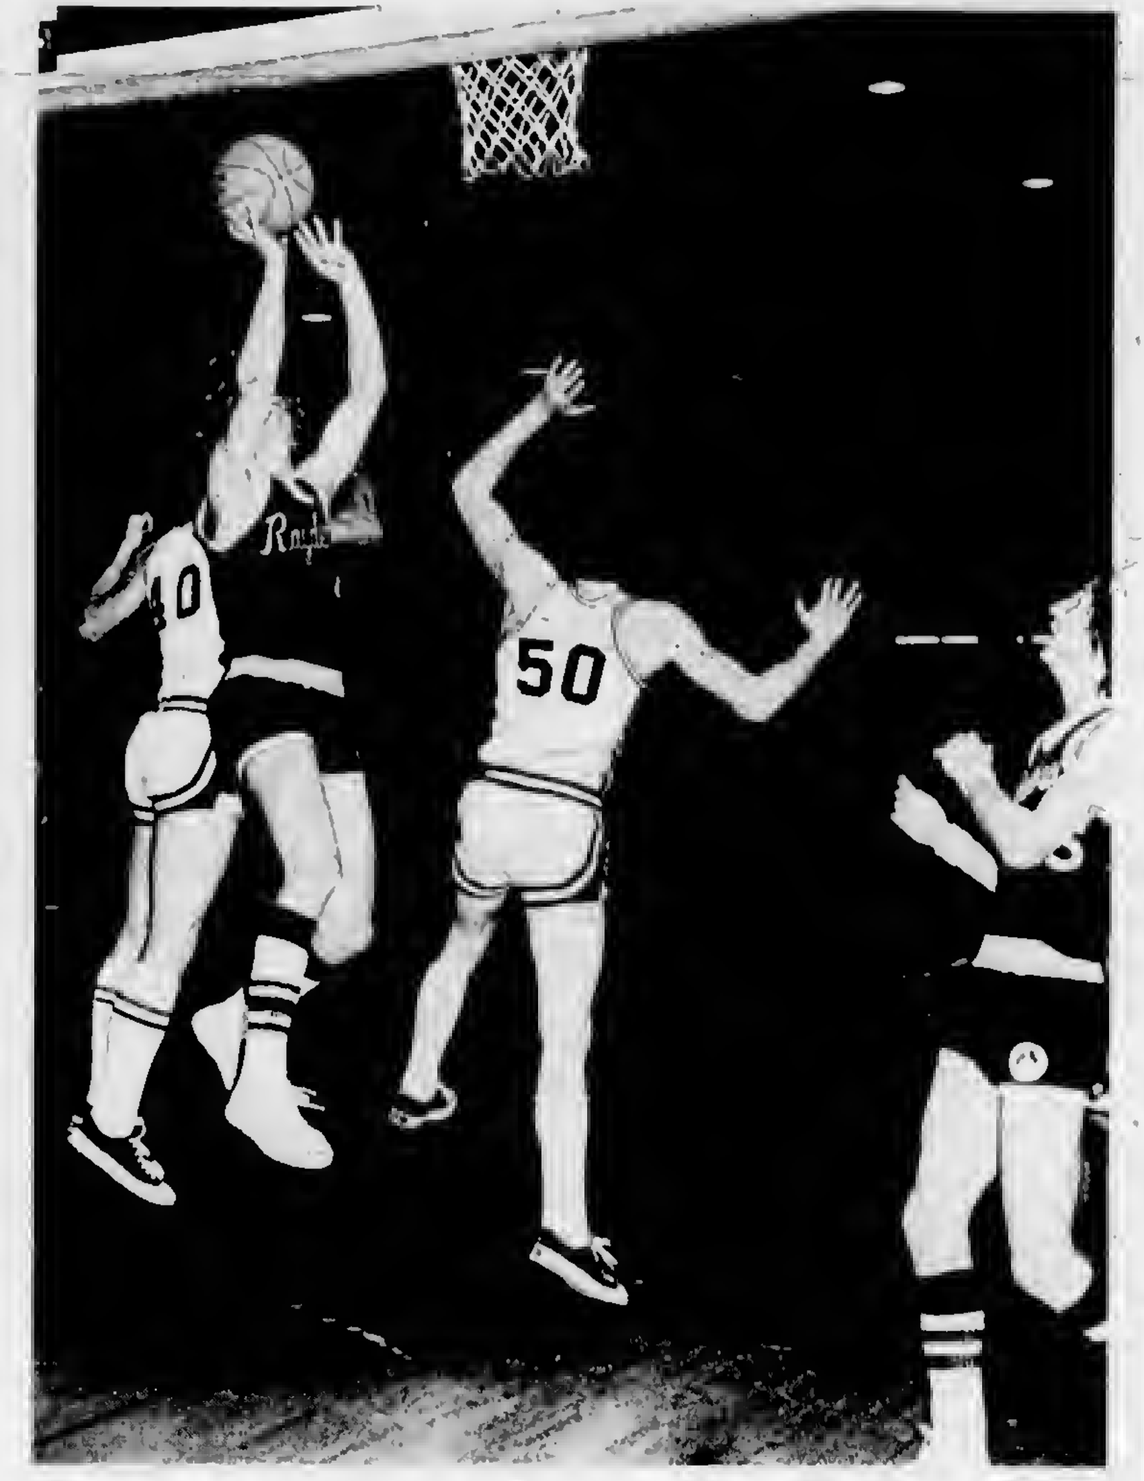
Varsity Loses, JV's Win Against St. Ignace



JV MARK HOSMER pops one in during game with St. Ignace Friday night. The score was nip and tuck most of the way, but the young Rayders emerged on top.



UNIDENTIFIED Varsity Rayder takes to the airways during game with St. Ignace Saints Friday night. Charlevoix's first score of the game -- a free throw -- came with only 39 seconds remaining on the clock in the first quarter.

1st Quarter Slump Fatal To Rayders; Saints Win

A first quarter in which they were out-scored 18-6 cost the Charlevoix Rayders a win over the second place St. Ignace Saints here Friday.

In the second period, however, the Rayders kept pace with the visitors as both teams scored 25 points each. Randy Faust accounted for seven, Clayt Jones for three quick buckets, Jerry Skippergosh and Bob Alger, starting his first Varsity game, had four points each, Mike Streeter three and Dan Greene, who had replaced Kevin Stokes in the starting line-up, one.

As the second half got underway, the locals were outscored 21-19 as Skippergosh scored seven points, Streeter six, Alger three, Jones two and Stokes one.

Still determined to overtake the Saints, the Rayders had their best period going into the second half scoring 11 fieldgoals and six free throws to outscore St. Ignace 28-17 before time ran out. Skippergosh led the attack with nine points followed by Alger with seven, Streeter six, Faust four and Jones two as the Saints won by a three point margin after Charlevoix had closed the gap to three points.

Skippergosh scored 24 of the Rayders 78 points made on 25 fieldgoals, 26 charity shots on 46 attempts while attracting Alger had 16, Streeter 15, Faust 11 and Jones 10 points each. 25 personal fouls. Stokes and Green had one point each.

Four Saints were in double figures with Louie Grondian scoring 20 points, Ray Russell 16, Jim Bishop 11 and Greg LaTour 10 to account for the team's 33 fieldgoals and 15 of 30 attempts. St. Ignace had 32 personal fouls.

This week Charlevoix will host Benzie Central here Tuesday night and will travel to Boyne City to take on the Ramblers who are presently tied for first place with Cheboygan. Charlevoix is in fourth place with a 5-5 record.

CLAYTON JONES (45) maneuvers for better shot at basket in Friday's game with St. Ignace.

Free Throws Make Difference for JV's

Charlevoix's little Rayders went to the free throw line to defeat the St. Ignace JV's 71-66 Friday night after both teams hit 25 field goals from the floor.

Charlevoix connected 21 of 38 freethrow attempts while St. Ignace scored 16 of 31 attempts to make the difference. The Rayders committed 24 personal fouls while St. Ignace was tapped for 28.

Charlevoix trailed 18-15 at the first quarter but came back strong in the second period to go ahead 37-32 at halftime.

With their second place standing at stake, St. Ignace came back strong to outscore the Rayders 16-10 to take a 48-47 lead going into the final period when the inspired Charlevoix five outscored the visitors 24-18 for the victory.

The win gives Charlevoix a 4-6 standing for the season.

Ten of the 12 Rayders who saw action scored with Klooster scoring 19 points; Mark Hosmer 12; Scott Boss nine; Matt Doan and Jim Skippergosh eight points each; Steve Michael five; Kirk Lieberman and Casey Culbertson, four each; Jon Greene and Ed Russell one each.

Bill Winston had 28 points and Dan MacDonald 15 points for the opposition.

Small FHA Group Gets Things Done

By Regina Borths

For a club with only 10 members, the FHA has accomplished quite a bit this year.

The group has held a successful cake giveaway and bakesale.

They decorated the tree in the high school patio at Christmas.

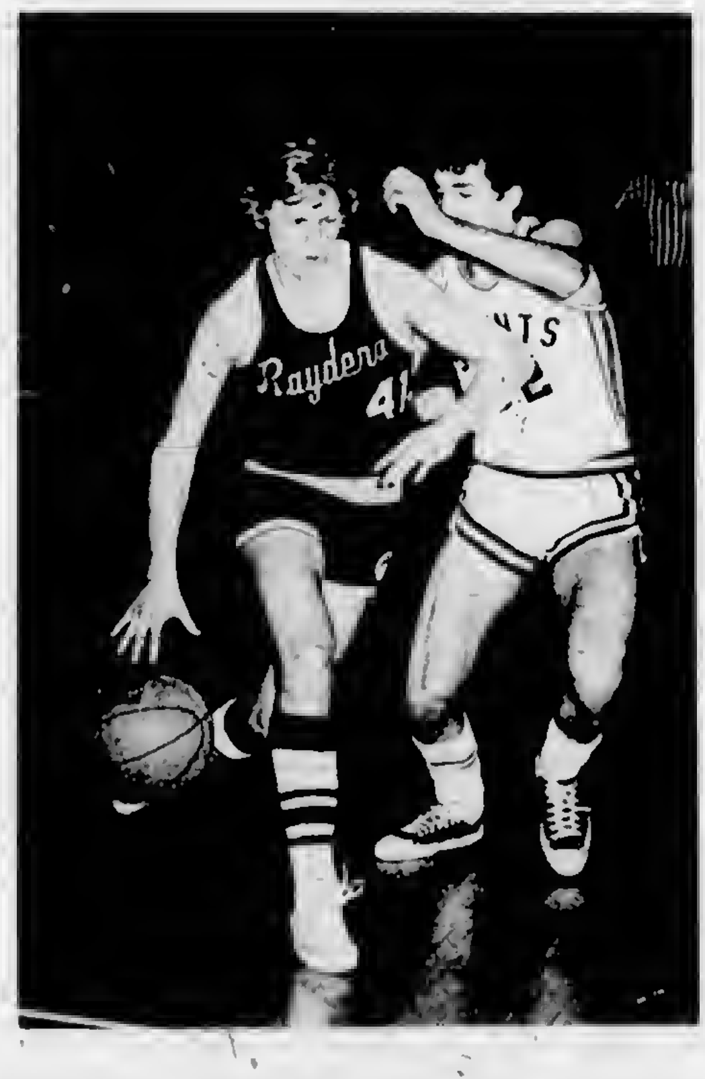
And they made doll clothes at Christmas for needy children. Dolls were donated by the Dahlquist Store, Oleson's Variety Store, Carls' Corners and the Cal Gould family.

The club is now working on curtains for the Sheltered Workshop, purchased with $150 earned by the youth group associated by the Charlevoix-Emmet Association for Retarded Children at the Penny Arcade.

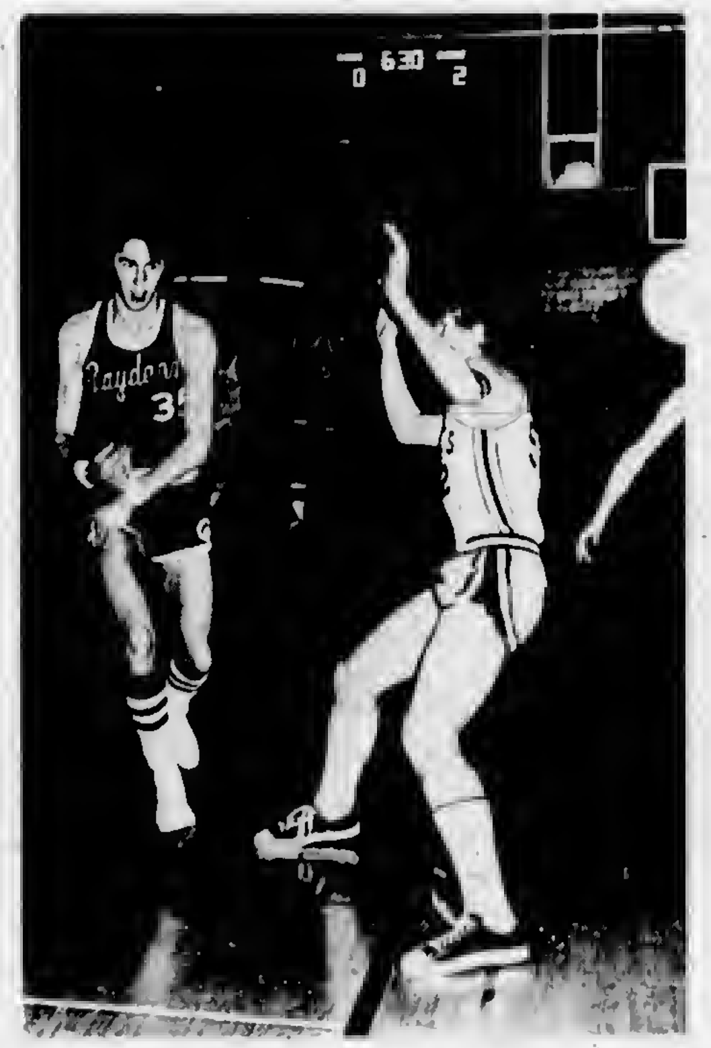
The FHA also is planning a bake sale and candy giveaway Feb. 14. Tickets for the candy giveaway cost 15 cents, or two for 25 cents. One grand prize and three runner-up prizes will be awarded. Members are selling tickets.

The girls also are making plans for an overnight trip this spring.

Girls interested in joining are invited to attend the next weekly meeting Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the Home-Ec room.



RANDY FAUST (41) keeps possession of ball despite stiff opposition from unidentified Saint.



NOW YOU see it, now you don't. Jerry Skippergosh (35) had possession of the ball (extreme right) but lateraled past Saints' guard.

Lancers Squeak Past Cardinals

The Ellsworth Lancers had an unexpected threat from the lowly Johannesburg Cardinals Friday night before they defeated the visitors 61-58.

Earlier in the week, Ellsworth had moved into a first place tie with Mackinaw City after downing the Comets 50-48 in a makeup game postponed from mid-January.

The Lancers had what looked like a comfortable lead going into the final period when they led 47-20. The Cardinals, however, came back strong to outscore them 18-14 and trim their lead to three points at the final horn.

The Ellsworth JV's won a squeaker from the Cardinals by a score of 53-52.

Teacher Feacher

FOURTH Grade teacher Mrs. Jackie Meier carries her keen interest in science into the classroom.

Teacher Finds Time For Skiing, Church

Mrs. Jackie Meier is a fourth grade teacher at the Charlevoix Elementary School. A visitor to Jackie's classroom would quickly notice her keen interest in science as microscopes, batteries and magnets line the cupboards and countertops. Also available to the students is a variety of educational games, records, and books. Indeed, all lends to a stimulating and inviting place to spend the day.

In addition to teaching, Jackie helps her husband Chuck manage the Mt. McSauba Ski Area. This endeavor proves to be a full time job for the whole family which includes four boys, one girl, and one grandson. All members of the family pitch in to help with the family project. The Meiers feel this has been a great learning experience for the whole family.

Jackie also finds time to teach a catechism class at St. Mary's Catholic Church. She does like to spend some time at home where she enjoys sewing, reading, and skiing—of course!

Jackie has been a teacher in the Charlevoix School System for 11 years. Her preparation for teaching took place at Ursuline College in Cleveland, Ohio, and at Barry College in Miami, Fla. She went on to earn a Masters Degree in Elementary Education from Michigan State University.

Born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio, Jackie came to live in Charlevoix after meeting her husband here while visiting one summer.

Jackie is busy and always active with kids. When asked how she feels about teaching she said simply, "I really like kids. I wouldn't be doing these things if I didn't."

Middle School 7th Graders Being Tested

The Charlevoix Middle School is administering National Educational Development Tests to Seventh Graders this week to assist the staff, students and parents to plan together for the educational and vocational future of the students, according to Condit Drury, Middle School counselor.

Drury says the NEDT program will give the school the type of information it needs to help students make realistic decisions.

"The program will reveal how well students can apply the skills they have acquired since entering school," Drury says. "It also will help us recognize the strengths in each student's educational development, and, at the same time, will pin-point weaknesses. This information will enable us to improve our program so that other youngsters can be helped earlier in their education.

Library notes

By ELEANOR RATIGAN
By Eleanor Ratigan

Because of the recent upsurge of interest in comets, space and UFO's we are pleased to report on our new collection of science fiction books. Even those of our patrons who are not especially SF fans, should look over these new titles. Some of them are highly stimulating novels, fast-paced, easy to read, and they offer top entertainment. Others are wildly fantastic, but they suggest possible events that could happen, that might happen and that most of us never dreamed of.

"Childhood's End" was written by Arthur C. Clarke, a former chairman of the British Interplanetary Society and now a Patron of the Ceylon Astronomical Assn.

"Galactic Pot-Healer" was written by Philip K. Dick one of science fiction's most prolific and well-known writers.

"Andromeda Breakthrough" is a new novel by the authors of "A for Andromeda," Fred Hoyle and John Elliot.

"The Little People" was written by John Christopher who has been described as the discoverer of a new approach to the art of inducing terror by inventing characters who are human and engaging. This novel concerns an engaged British couple who become the owners of a castle in Ireland and turn it into a hotel. Their love for each other is nearly shattered by the guests they have taken in, but even more disturbing are the haunting suggestions of an evil in the castle. This is a mystery thriller, and our Gothic buffs should enjoy it.

"A Specter Is Haunting Texas" is science fiction at its very best, written by Fritz Leiber, one of America's top writers of imaginative fiction.

"Orbit 5" is an anthology of science fiction stories edited by Damon Knight. The stories were carefully chosen and have never appeared anywhere in print before. One of the stories, "The Big Flash", written by Norman Spinrad combines underground rock music and atomic warheads to create a nightmare vision of tomorrow.

The next book contains two science fiction novels by J.G. Ballard. They are both marvelously written stories that contemplate the catastrophic manifestations of nature gone wild. In "The Drowned World" the author tells of a slight increase in the sun's heat which has caused reversion on most of the earth. "The Wind From Nowhere" tells of a wind of unknown cause which spreads across the face of the earth, increasing in velocity at a sustained rate of five miles per hour every day. Within two weeks the cities of the world have been reduced to rubble, and man has burrowed beneath the ground to escape the fantastic gales.

Married At Bethany Lutheran

Arrangements of white mums and pink carnations graced the altar of the Bethany Lutheran church for the wedding of Ruth A. Bogart and Nuel L. Johnson on Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Bogart and the late Mr. and Mrs. O. Earl Johnson.

The Rev. Duane Imig officiated at the double-ring service in the presence of their immediate families and close friends. Mrs. James McMullan, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a full length gown of burgundy velvet with lace time for her wedding. The empire bodice featured a high neckline, a satin yoke outlined in lace and long, lace-trimmed sleeves. She carried a ball bouquet of red roses, pink carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Ueil Binkert of Jackson, as her only attendant, wore a full length gown of brown print crepe and carried a single red rose.

Oliver Johnson assisted his brother as best man. Edmund and Richard Bogart, brothers of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Bogart wore a white woven silk suit and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of miniature red roses and pink carnations.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents followed at Harmony Hall of the United Methodist church. Assisting were Mrs. James Bishaw, sister of the bride, Mrs. Wilson Baker and Mrs. Norman Helms.

The couple will reside at 118 Belvedere ave.

The bride is a graduate of Michigan State University. The bridegroom is employed at Hufford's Industry.

Wedding guests were present from Fountain, Muskegon and Imlay City.

Andersons of Norwood Offer Pond to Firemen

Mrs. Richard Anderson of Faculak-rd. reports that she and her husband have a newly-dug pond on their property which Charlevoix and Ellsworth firemen could have used to fill their tankers during the fire at the Raymond Stafford home in Norwood Jan. 22.

Both fire departments ran out of water and had to scoot into Charlevoix—a round trip of about 16 miles—to refill their tankers. While they were gone the fire gained new headway. The Andersons live about one-mile from the Norwood Corners.

Mkrs. Anderson says there is ice on their spring-fed pond, but that it wouldn't be difficult to chop a hole in it.

"We have a million gallons of water the Fire Department is welcome to use whenever they need it," she says.

Mrs. Anderson believes there may be other farm ponds throughout the area that would be available for fighting rural fires.

The Fire Department reports that it does have a portable pump which could be used to fill tankers from lakes and ponds, providing they are close to passable roadways.

The Fire Department also has received an offer of assistance from the Eastport Fire Department in fighting fires south of town, so the degree of fire protection in the Norwood area appears better than ever before.

We Support Milliken On Repeal of DST

We heartily concur with Gov. William Milliken's stand on Daylight Savings Time in the dead of winter: It just isn't worth the hazards and inconvenience in light in fuel savings that are very minimal at best.

The governor has written President Nixon asking for repeal of a federal law which put the entire nation on Daylight Saving Time for the next two years.

Milliken's office has received many complaints from parents who fear for the safety of their children who must go to school more than an hour before dawn.. Nationwide, 13 youngsters have been killed since daylight time went into effect one month ago and dozens of others have been injured by automobiles in the pre-dawn darkness.

Furthermore, some utility officials report little evidence of energy savings by the change in time.

Daylight Savings Time was adopted in hopes that longer hours of daylight in the evening would result in a savings of electrical power.

If the federal statute on Daylight Savings Time is not repealed by Congress, the governor says he will ask the Legislature to exempt Michigan from a continuation of DST next fall.

We believe that all of Michigan should adopt Central Time, since, geographically, that is where we belong. We could even live with Central Daylight Time, since that would put us right back where we were before the big switch to daylight time in January.

But if the powers-that-be reject Central Time, they must at least exempt us from Daylight Time in the dead of winter.

The Charlevoix School District to date is fortunate in that it hasn't had any youngsters killed or injured in the pre-dawn darkness. And the sun is rising earlier with every passing day.

But next winter we may not be so lucky. We must not subject our youngsters to unnecessary hazards -- particularly to hazards that arise from the Nixon Administration's attempts to dramatize a fuel crisis that many experts still claim is "manufactured."

Check With Teacher First

Feb. 1, 1974

To The Parents of Charlevoix School Children

Things are kind of getting out of hand when it comes to complaints at school pertaining to personnel and policy. I think each of us should stop and think before we say anything. And then if there is a legitimate gripe we should go through the chain of command.

If you cannot get any satisfaction from a teacher, go to the principal and then to the superintendent. This way you will know the results.

By the time my child gets home with a tale she got from someone else, who got it from another person and on down the line, it might not be true facts. I know adults that do the same thing.

I would be very much interested in organizing a Parent-Teachers Association in Charlevoix, so when this sort of thing arises there is a place to turn for both parents and teachers.

Thank you,

Lois M. Wasoski

Impeachment? Forget It

By BOB CLOCK

We might as well forget about impeaching Mr. Nixon and settle down to three more years of skulduggery in the White House, with more inflation and more unemployment while the President and his fatcat friends wax wealthy on our miseries..

It was very obvious that the chicken-livered Congress that gave the President a standing ovation before his State of the Union message last Wednesday night isn't about to vote for impeachment in any way, shape or form.

And even though Pat Nixon led the cheering section throughout her husband's speech, I was astounded that so many of our elected lawmakers would rise to their feet on so many occasions to hoot their approval of his inane remarks.

In the name of all that's holy, what is this country coming to?

Up until the President' address, I was convinced that he would be evicted—or quit—before spring, giving the nation the incentive it needs to beat down inflation, spur employment and put the country back on the road toward prosperity for one and all, not just a few at the top.

From here it appears that the President has made so many promises to so many lousy crooks that his effectiveness as a national leader is just about over. The quicker he is removed from office the better.

But after Wednesday night, talk about impeachment is just that: Talk. It will never happen.

True, there were pockets of grim resistance in the audience, mostly among Democratic senators and representatives and members of the Supreme Court. It was the Republicans, to their eternal discredit, who created all the hoop-la and they will pay dearly for it come November.

Members of the Supreme Court were superb. They might as well have been wax figures from Madam Tussaud's museum. While the rest of the assemblage slavered over the President, court members maintained a stoic reserve that told you they don't think too highly about what Mr. Nixon has done to the country.

Needless to say, the President dwelt at length at what he considers his accomplishments in the field of international relations. He reminded us that he ended the war in Vietnam last January — more than four years after he promised to do so during his electioneering for his first term. He bragged about settling the war in the Mideast, even though the U.S. stand precipitated the gravest energy crisis on record. And he reminded us about how he has established limited relations with Red China, which, incidentally, involved a wheat deal with the Chinese that could well result in a bread famine in the United States before too many months pass.

These are the things he is proud of.

He also told us — and this is the incredible part — that Americans have more buying power than ever before in their history. This is a terrible, tragic lie, and the President knows it. Never in my long years as a wage earner has my buying power been less than it is today and I don't think the Clocks are alone in this respect. Inflation, induced by Mr. Nixon's rotten policies and politics, has cut my spendable income by about one-third in the past year alone.

If you have fared well under the Nixon Administration, I'd like to know how you have done it. You can get in touch with me at the Poor Farm.

At the present rate of inflation, we will all be living off food stamps by the time Mr. Nixon's term in office ends in January, 1977.

Now let's talk about Watergate. Mr. Nixon saved that murky topic for last so we'll do the same.

"One year of Watergate is enough," the President intoned, glaring into the television cameras. And incredibly the audience clapped, and clapped and clapped.

For my money, one year of Watergate is too much. But to end the investigation now, before all the facts are known and the culprits punished, would be doing a grave disservice to the American people. We have a right and an obligation to know exactly what happened, how it happened and what we can do to prevent it from happening again.

Too much is at stake, including the future of our form of government, to sweep Watergate under the carpet and forget about it.

But we are terribly afraid that the President has so many members of Congress in his hip pocket that this is exactly what will happen. Why else would they have cheered him with such gusto?

So be prepared for the biggest whitewash job in the history of American politics. Mr. Nixon is going to be running the show for the next three years.

Constant Readers

By JIM FITZGERALD

Because of my constantly jolly attitude, you probably won't believe it. But my life has had its ups and downs.

(Right now you are probably thinking: "If the big clown says he used to run an elevator, I am not going to read another word." Quit reading).

The rest of this column is strictly for Mother, Aunt Madeline, Grace Niggeman and Frances Kiskadden. Constant readers (Mother, Aunt Madeline and Grace Niggeman) will notice I've added 1 more constant reader (if you think reading this column is hard, you should try writing it).

Grace Niggeman taught me English composition at Port Huron Junior College 25 years ago. It was her encouragement that decided me to become a newspaper writer rather than a rack boy in Curley Peloso's poolroom.

Last Christmas I visited Mrs. Niggeman. Strictly by coincidence, she lives in the apartment next to Aunt Madeline. This is a worrisome thing for me. One fire could wipe out more than half my readership.

Prince Rainier and his wife Grace Kelly always fly in separate planes so 1 plane crash wouldn't leave Monaco without a ruler. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman also travel separately, for the sake of their children and the box office. For similar reasons, I think my readership should spread out and otherwise take darn good care of themselves.

Anyway, Mrs. Niggeman astounded me by reciting, word for word, something I wrote in 1949. She claims to have been my most constant constant reader for all these years. She is obviously doing penance, trying to relieve the guilt she feels for having pushed me upon the public in the first place. Personally, I'd rather wear a hair shirt than memorize this nonsense.

Nevertheless, a Christmas kiss was not enough. From now on, Mrs. Niggeman, the greatest teacher I ever had, shall forever be publicly listed along with my 2 other constant readers.

As for Frances Kiskadden, she is not a constant reader. She is a selective reader. She wrote pointing out that I wrote a good column back in 1960, or maybe it was 1950. It described my harrowing experiences as the elevator operator at the Ballentine Dry Goods Co. in Port Huron in 1942. Mrs. Kiskadden asked me to publish that column again.

I have beeen waiting over 20 years for someone - anyone - to request a repeat. My wife is under instructions to clip and file every column. I have long been anxious to come to work and simply type those marvelous words: "This column is repeated by popular request," I would then spend the rest of the day in the poolroom, bragging to the guys about how I was living off the residuals from my reruns, just like Desi Arnez.

So you can imagine my delight when I told my wife to dig out the elevator column. But she couldn't find it. I told her to look harder. Nothing. I wanted to beat on her face. Instead, I joined the search. I spent 4 fruitless hours looking for that lousy column.

"It would only take you 1 hour to write a new column," she said.

I hate wives like that.

But I will write the elevator column again, maybe next week. Mrs. Kiskadden might become a constant reader.

And if she gets on the same bus with Mother, Aunt Madeline and Mrs. Niggeman, that teetering you hear will be my career as a columnist.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

In addition to the free porch light, early Charlevoix homes boasted other enviable features common to that pre-thermostat period of history.

Heating systems were of three types: Round Oak stove with purposely long runs of stove pipe to extract the last degree of radiant heat, forced air furnace and steam heat with oversize cast iron radiators. All were fired by wood or coal, both of which were used conservatively due to the work involved as well as the cost.

With the fire banked the early morning temperature reached the point where the night cap, flannel gown and bed socks became fashionable evening attire. During the day, the housewife maintained a cool working temperature relying on her shawl for comfort when she relaxed with her mending or knitting.

The chimney led through the upstairs bedroom occupied by small children grateful for the lingering heat it imparted. Even some of the more modest homes were equipped with that modern status symbol, a fireplace in the downstairs bedroom.

The first floor was often designed to provide free hot water heat for the bathroom. The uninsulated hot water tank was placed in the bathroom and piped through the common dividing wall to the jacket of the kitchen range.

Rural residents were confronted with a winter associated danger-the blizzard. A line was strung between house and barn to guide the farmer tending the stock. Without this foresight one could flounder blindly in circles and freeze to death virtually on his own threshold obliterated from view in the storm.

A low wall of planks nailed to stakes surrounded many farmhouses to the floor level. The space was filled with manure and the heat of its decomposition warmed the crawl space and the floor above.

Another form of free insulation was available to all who chose to haul it from the local sawmill. Sawdust filled the spaces between studs of the double sheathed wall, a practice not always appreciatd by a later owner rewiring to modern standards.

According to statistics, Americans compromise 5 percent of the world's population and consume 30 percent of the world's energy supply. Had these early pioneers squandered natural resources as we have done our present dilemma would have occurred a decade earlier. Thus at this point in time (to coin a new phrase) we would have passed through our crisis and revel in an abundance of atomic generated power far beyond our wildest dreams.

As we sped on a full tank of gas past the disposal area for almost indestructable radioactive wastes many of us old duffers would be reminded of our childhood days when we whistled bravely as we hotfooted with tingling scalp past the cemetery.

Of course this is only a figurative analogy - we hope!!

When Will It All End?

Jan. 28, 1974

Sir:

Let me get this straight: 1,400 at Monroe Creek, now 900 at Camp Charlevoix and a couple hundred more off Waller-rd., including a trailer court. Maybe someone can convince Mr. Dykersterhouse that people don't like smelly horses and put in another 500 or so on the Blue Dot Farm property. Or how about closeing off the golf course It's only used in summer anyway. It would probably accommodate another two or three hundred. Or how about...

Enough Said.

P.S. I also am a Charlevoix businessman, so I, too, prefer to remain anonymous.

Thank You.

Del Carson's Death Leaves Questions

Although the body of Delbert Carson, 75, has been found, friends and relatives will never know what made him leave the comforts of his snug farm home on one of the coldest, snowless nights of the winter, walk 1,000 feet down Carson-rd. in his stocking feet and shirt sleeves, turn into an open field, lie down on his back in a drainage ditch and freeze to death.

An autopsy performed at Little Traverse Hospital last Wednesday, the day after Mr Carson's body was found, indicated that the retired East Jordan farmer died of exposure.

Funeral was held Thursday at the Watson Funeral Home in East Jordan, the Rev. Chandler Benton of the Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Carson, who lost his wife and only son in an automobile accident in 1970, disappeared from his home on Carson-rd. about five miles southeast of East Jordan the night of Dec. 29.

Neighbors became alarmed when his house lights failed to come on at dusk and notified his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kit Carson of Charlevoix. Sheriff's deputies and East Jordan police investigated and found the door to the Carson home open and Mr. Carson missing. His winter jacket, cap and boots were found in the house.

A massive search by law enforcement officers and volunteers, many of them on snowmobiles, failed to turn up any trace of the missing man.

Last weekend, Mrs. Clifford Pumfrey who lives directly across the road from the Carson home, noticed her seven-year-old malamute, Kiyah, acting strangely.

"He would stand at the end of our driveway and put his head in the air and act as if he was trying to scent out something," Mrs. Pumfrey said.

Last Tuesday morning, Mrs. Pumfrey took Kiyah for a walk down Carson-rd. The dog trotted about 1,000 feet, stopped and bounded about 30 feet into a field. Mrs. Pumfrey investigated and saw what she thought was a wrist and shirt sleeve. She hurried and called her son-in-law and the county sheriff's department.

Deputies say it appeared as though Mr. Carson had laid down to sleep. He still wore his glasses. One hand was on his chest and the other on his abdomen. His wallet, containing about $46, was intact. There was no sign of foul play.

Sen. Davis Asked To Explain Stand

The local unit of Common Cause has publicly asked State Sen. Robert Davis to explain why he voted on Jan. 15 against the strong enforcement amendment of the Campaign Finance Disclosure Bill.

Common Cause members in the area are concerned that the section calling for an independent state elections commission was eliminated from the bill, which Davis supported. The bill passed the Senate 34-0.

Mrs. Margaret Duerr of Charlevoix said that without the independent elections commission provision, the Campaign Finance Disclosure Bill "lacks strength."

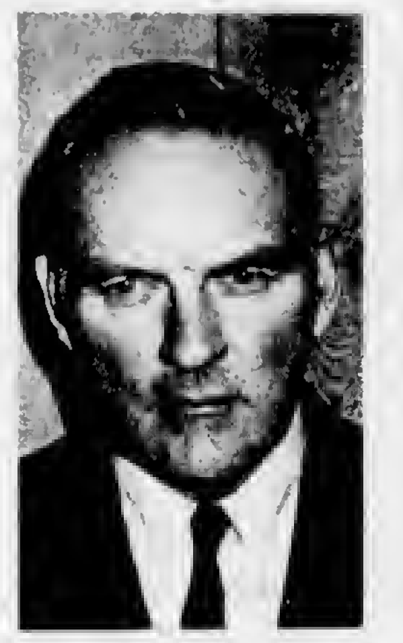
Hansen vs Fochtman: Tight Race for Mayor

Probably the most important contest on Monday's primary ballot is the race between Mayor Edward P. Hansen, who is seeking his third term, who Richard Fochtman, who was appointed to the Council in 1972 following the resignation of Roger Westenbroek.



Edward P. Hansen

Hansen, 54, is campaigning on the basis of what he calls his "track record", which includes the avoidance of large lawsuits during his two years in office, a reduction in city taxes of one mill, the construction of hangars at the airport and progress on the May-st. and North Side sewers.

Hansen was born in Charlevoix Township in 1918 and was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1937. He worked as a mechanic before becoming manager of Charlevoix's Marine Terminal in the early 1940's.

He served in the Army Air Force during World War II and was teaching instrument flying at Luke Field, Ariz., at the time of his discharge in 1946.

After the war he did charter flying, gave flight instruction, sold used cars and operated the Standard Station on Petoskey-rd.

He joined Carey Oil Co. in 1962 and left in 1967 when he bought the Zephyr Station on S. Bridge-st.

Hansen served on the Council three terms from 1956 until 1963. He also was on the County Tax Allocation Board for six years.

He and his wife, the former Joan Grandmaison of Bay City have eight daughters, Mrs. Stan (Paulette) Hoover of Charlevoix, Rebecca, Annette, Rochelle, Heidi, Gayle, Andrea and Melissa.

Hansen belongs to St. Marys Parish, the American Legion and the Air Force Association.

Although Hansen makes no promises, he says that if he is re-elected he will try to reduce city spending, keep taxes down and push for the completion of important city projects, such as additional sewers and parking areas. He says he will give high priority to the orderly growth of the city as the population increases.

Fochtman, 49, is interested in developing an expanded secretarial program, under a financing system which will permit township residents to pay part of the cost of present programs now paid for almost entirely by city residents.

He also is thinking of a three to five-year program of street improvements, an improved and expanded water system and further separation of storm and sanitary sewers.

If elected, he says he will get an ordinance on the books governing the hiring of a city administrator. He also will attempt to improve communications between city officials and city workers.

"As things stand now, the right hand doesn't know what the left hand is doing half the time," Fochtman says.

Richard Fochtman

A native of Petoskey, Fochtman moved to Charlevoix as a child and was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1942. He spent 33 months in the Army Air Corps during World War II.

He was married Oct. 8, 1949, to the former Bonnie Sutton. They have four sons, Rick, 23; Gerald, 22; David, 20; and Mike, 17.

Fochtman is a former president of the Charlevoix Lions Club, is a member and founder of the Rod and Gun Club, past member of Lodge 282, F & AM, and has served on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the Charlevoix Development Corp.

Two Roberts Square Off In Second Ward Primary

Incumbent Second Ward Alderman Robert Timms, 39, will face Robert Lieberman in the Feb. 18 primary election.

Timms was born in Detroit and moved to Petoskey in 1946 with his family. He was graduated from Petoskey High School in 1952.

He studied electronics at Western Michigan University for two years before entering the Army.

Robert Timms

After his discharge he worked for Radio Electronic Supply Co. in Petoskey for five years before joining Gill's Appliance Co. in Charlevoix. Two years later he bought the company, selling out to Eldon Potter in 1968.

For the past five years he has operated a TV and appliance repair business in Charlevoix.

Timms and his wife, the former Barbara Phelps, live at 314 W. Hurlbut-st. They have one son, Robert, 16, and two daughters, Tammy, 14, and Marjorie, 13.

During his two years on the council Timms has been a stickler for answering questions and solving problems brought by city residents as promptly as possible.

Robert Lieberman is a native of Toledo, Ohio. He attended Michigan State University and received his B.A. degree from Alma College in 1949. Between schools he spent three years in the U.S. Marine Corps.

In 1949 he was married to the former Martha Jane Kohler of Charlevoix.

He worked for the Montgomery-Ward Co. in Alma and the J. C. Penney Co. and the Sears-Roebuck Co. in Saginaw before moving to Charlevoix in June of 1954 to open his own retail clothing store on Bridge-st. He will celebrate his 20th year in business this summer.

The Liebermans, who live at 216 Park-ave., have five children, Mrs. Thomas (Kristin) Schaperkotter of Chicago, Kraag, a senior at Alma College, Kit, a freshman at Northern Michigan University; Kirk, a sophomore at Charlevoix High School; and Karl, a student at the K-4 school.

Lieberman has served as a director of the Community Chest and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. He recently was elected to his second term as president of the Chamber. He also is a member of the Charlevoix Lions Club and has helped plan career training programs in Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

Lieberman also has been active in the Charlevoix Development Corp.

Robert Lieberman

Mrs. Lieberman is president of the Charlevoix Board of Education.

Lieberman says he has entered the council race because he is interested in working on Charlevoix's proposed zoning ordinance and building codes.

"You might say I have a genuine interest in good city government," he added.

Try to Save Bridge-st. For Retail

The City Council Monday night took action to save what is left of the downtown section of Bridge-st. from further inroads by office-type operations as opposed to retail businesses.

City fathers approved the wording of a change in the zoning ordinance which would prohibit any more ground floor offices from opening up on Bridge-st. from Antrim-st. to the bridge.

A hearing on the proposed change in the ordinance will be held March 11.

Existing offices will be permitted to continue as "non-conforming" uses. However if the non-conforming use is discontinued, it may not be reinstated by a future tenant or property owner.

For the past several months, the council and downtown businessmen generally have been concerned by a proliferation of ground floor offices on Bridge-st., a section of town which they feel should be reserved for retail merchandising.

The feeling is that businesses which rely on walk-in traffic generate more walk-in traffic throughout the entire area.

Many of the new businesses, particularly real estate firms, do much of their business by appointment and by telephone.

Office operations will continue to be permitted on the second stories of Bridge-st. buildings and in portions of the buildings that have entryways off Bridge-st.

In other action the council:

–Tabled a request by Vida Richardson for setback variances for a home she plans to build at Lincoln and May-sts. until neighbors have a chance to express their opinions.

–Set a public hearing for March 11 on a request by Ski & Shore for the rezoning of a lot at the corner of Robinson and S. Bridge from R-1 to Restricted Office.

–Approved taxi licenses for Betty Deverse and Oscar Ward after they submitted proof that they meet the city's new insurance standards.

--Approved the dates June 8 and Sept. 28 for East Park Fleamarkets, July 13 for the Hobbycraft Show, July 26-28 for Venetian Festival and Aug. 10 for the Waterfront Art Show at the request of the Chamber of Commerce.

--Heard a request by Mayor Edward P. Hansen that as many members as possible attend a meeting of the Theater Group Planned

Mrs. Connie Carr of Charlevoix thinks local people with dramatic talent have waited long enough to form their own little-theater group.

So she is going to do something about it.

Mrs. Carr planned to appear before the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night to ask the Chamber's backing for such an undertaking.

Anticipating a positive response, she has reserved the downstairs community room at the First State Bank for a meeting of anyone interested in joining such a group on Thursday, Feb. 14, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Tom Duke, Ralph McRae Seek First Ward Seat

Two building contractors are vying for the First Ward seat on the Charlevoix Council to be vacated by Alderman Sam Supernaw, who is not a candidate.

They are Thomas Duke, 431 Michigan-ave., and Ralph McRae, 304 Nettleton.

Thomas Duke

Duke, 45, was born in Brighton, Mich., was graduated from Redford High School and attended Highland Park Junior College. He has been a licensed builder and real estate broker since age 21, operating chiefly in Farmington and Detroit.

He and his wife, Gail, who have lived in Charlevoix for the past three years, have three children, Nancy, a junior at Michigan State University; Tom, a freshman at Grand Valley State College; and Susan, a second grader at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

In addition to his construction activities, Duke is chairman of the First State Bank of Charlevoix and chairman of the Metropolitan National Bank of Farmington and operates a real estate investment business.

He has served as a trustee (GOP) of Farmington Township and a member of the township Planning Board. In Charlevoix he was chairman of a mayor's blue-ribbon committee to recommend changes in the multiple-family dwelling ordinance. The changes were adopted by the council.

Duke also belongs to many civic and fraternal organizations, including the Charlevoix Lions Club.

As a candidate in the First Ward, Duke has sent a long letter to his constituents on his goals if elected. They include keeping Petoskey-ave. largely a residential street, providing for written council agendas at least 48 hours before meetings, streamlining of the bill-payment procedure and conducting a full impact study on the cost and other factors involved in the laying of sewer lines into Charlevoix and Hayes Townships.

"The extension of major sewer lines to a proposed shopping center and 900 unit condominium area to the north, by way of faith and credit bonds, could put millions of dollars of indebtedness over the heads of the taxpayers of these three areas," Duke wrote in his letter.

Duke also favors a public vote on the proposed zoning ordinance, preparation of an inventory of city-owned land, development of a sign ordinance, preparation of a ten-year budget projection and simplification of the language in public zoning notices.

A native of Pellston, Ralph McRae, 67, was graduated from Pellston High School in 1924 and operated a milk truck and city bus in Chicago as a young man. During World War II he spent 44 months in the Aleutian Islands and on Okinawa.

Ralph McRae

He returned to Michigan in 1946 and operated the Standard Station at the corner of State and Antrim-sts. in Charlevoix. About the same time he became involved in the McRae Lumber Co. at Pellston, the family business.

In recent years, McRae has operated his own construction business in Charlevoix.

He is married to the former Dorothy Ikens, a Charlevoix kindergarten teacher.

If elected, McRae says he

Mother of 11 Challenges Selph in Third Ward

Third Ward Alderman Gerald Selph will be challenged by Mrs. Henry (Angeline) Borths in the Feb. 18 primary election.

A native of Prairie View, Ark., Selph lived in Grand Rapids before moving to Charlevoix to make his home in 1950.

He was appointed to the council by Mayor Edward P. Hansen in August of 1972 to serve out the unexpired term of Conrad Klooster, who resigned.

Since moving to Charlevoix, Selph operated the Gulf gasoline station at the corner of M-66 and U.S. 31 for ten years and also has worked in construction. He worked as a mechanic at the city garage for two years.

Since Jan. 1 he has been employed by the Medusa Cement Co. at the Charlevoix Plant.

Selph and his wife Evelyn live at 105 Eaton-ave. They have four children: Mrs. John (Pamela) Marek of Ironton; Roger of Owosso; Timothy at home and Mrs. Mike (Julie) Wood of Pontiac.

Selph says he is running for election in hopes of seeing the May-st. sewer to completion.

"I have been after the city to put in the sewer for 10 years and now I'd like to see the job finished," he says.

Selph's present term on the City Council is the first time he has held public office.

Mrs. Borths is the mother of 11 children and feels her experience in rearing such a large family will stand her in good stead as a representative of the Third Ward.

A native of Renova, Pa., Mrs. Borths was graduated in 1943 from St. Joseph's high school in Renovo. She served for 19 months in the Women's Army Corps (WAC's) during World War II.

She was married to Henry Borths and lived in Two Rivers, Wisc., before moving to Charlevoix in 1967 when

Teacher Feacher

Mrs. Lou Brock Started As Teacher at Phelps

(This is the third in a series of articles on Charlevoix teachers prepared by the Charlevoix Education Association.)

"The role of the teacher is not only to teach the subject matter, but to teach the child how to become a better citizen," explained Lou Brock, Fifth Grade math teacher at the Middle School. Lou's various teaching experiences support her statement.

She first began teaching at age 19 in a rural K-8 school in Phelps, Mich., about six miles southeast of Charlevoix. As the sole instructor of 45 children, Lou not only taught the students, but built fires, carried in water, and cooked hot lunches for them. She received a mere $45 per month plus an additional $5 for doing her own custodial work.

One of Lou's projects designed for the individual child was to provide a dental check-up for each student. A Charlevoix dentist volunteered his services for $50. Lou and her students managed to earn the full amount by picking potatoes for Mr. Blanchard and husking corn for Mr. McClanaghan after school and on Saturdays.

Not only did Lou provide the perfect model of a good citizen, but also taught the children the importance of dental care.

After teaching two years in Phelps, Lou married Aaron Brock, a dairy farmer. She retired for a few years in order to raise a family, but later returned to her profession and taught at Ironton and Walloon Lake. While teaching the mentally handicapped at the County Trainable Program in Ironton, Lou's husband was injured by a cow. Lou thus acquired the responsibility of helping the hired hand milk sixty cows before and after school for four weeks!

Lou received her elementary teaching certificate from Central Michigan University in 1968, and has been employed by Charlevoix Public Schools for the last four years. She is usually the first teacher to enter the building and the last one to leave. She believes in individualized instruction, and implements her own program by making herself available to her students during the lunch hour and after school.

Lou is both a friend and a teacher to her students. She received many Christmas Cards from the fifth graders, one of which stated, "To a real friend and my teacher."

Lou Brock is a real friend to both her students and the faculty. Her final statement during this interview was, "You must live as you go along. Don't wait until you retire in order to start living. The same opportunities will never return."

MRS. AARDN Brock has spent a lifetime teaching Charlevoix area youngsters.

Want to Keep Busy? Join the Hospital Guild

By Mrs. Floyd Chamberlain

Want to do something useful with your spare time? Do you like to sew, knit, read to children or work as a saleslady?

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital has a place for you. Our membership is open to everyone. Our dues are only $1 a year. You may be on the active or inactive list. And we promise to find something you'd like to do if you decide to be active.

Among the volunteer jobs are passing and picking up trays, feeding patients, distributing mail and reading to children. We have a husband and wife working on this program. For more information call Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie at 547-2630.

If you'd like to do something for kiddies, we make puppets, pillows and stuffed animals for the pediatrics ward. If you are interested, call either Mrs. Conrad Klooster at 547-9408 or Mrs. Ted Weidman at 547-9374.

We also make layettes for newborns. If you're interested, call Mrs. C. Riley at 547-6660.

If you like to knit (we need bonnets and booties for the layettes) call Mrs. Floyd Chamberlain at 547-6614.

Mrs. James Driggett (547-2270) also will welcome your ideas and assistance in the preparation of tray favors for special holidays.

Help also is needed in The Showcase, the gift shop maintained by the Guild in the hospital lobby. There are afternoon and evening openings available. Just call Mrs. James Gallagher, 547-9136.

Some Guild members stop at the hospital every day to make sure the cart is supplied and books and magazines are in order. Another member cuts up nylons for the stuffed animals.

We'll be looking for you at our next meeting, held the second Monday of every month at 8 p.m. at the hospital.

GAMBLE Rogers, an entertainer in the mold of the late Will Rogers, will appear nightly at Duffy's Tavern near Harbor Springs until March 3.

Laugh Blues Away With Gamble Rogers

By Cheryl Galley

Take a tall, lanky, good looking man with a Will Rogers sense of humor, a Hank Williams style on the guitar and a deep, easy singing voice that can sooth all your worries away and you have Gamble Rogers.

It is nice to know in these troublesome days of inflation and recession, that there is someone who can take you back to those good old carefree days of bobby socks and skeeters - southern style.

It took Will Rogers to get this country through the Depression. Perhaps Gamble Rogers is just the sort of medicine we all need in these far too serious times.

Having been recently engaged at the Raven Gallery in Southfield and currently appearing at Duffy's Country Inn in Harbor Springs (through March 3), Rogers and bass accompanist, Don Smith, are brilliant, witty, and thoroughly entertaining. They definitely should be on your calendar for a delightful evening.

DAVE SHOOKS and his wife, Vera, of Ellsworth pose on the hearth of one of the fireplaces on display in their new Morning Valley Fireplace Shoppe in the Oleson Shopping Center. Shooks and his partner, Ron Morgenthaler of East Jordan, are planning a grand opening in the near future.

New Business Responds To Crisis With Fireplaces

A new business stemming directly from the energy crisis has opened in Oleson's Shopping Center.

It is called Morning Valley Fireplace Shoppe and specializes in fireplaces of all kinds as well as a fireplace equipment and fixtures.

The owners are Dave Shooks of Ellsworth and Ron Morgenthaler of East Jordan.

Incidentally, the name Morning Valley is a direct translation of the German name Morgenthaler – which means Morning Valley.

Shooks, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wes Shooks of Ellsworth, is married to the former Vera Somerville of Central Lake.

Morgenthaler and his wife, Shirley, have one son, Jeremy, one year old.

Shooks says he and Morgenthaler opened the shop in Charlevoix "because fireplaces are in demand." He predicts that they will become a necessity for home heating in the near future."

The firm specializes in all kinds of fireplaces, both built-in and free-standing.

They even have a model, insulated with an air jacket, that can be installed against an existing wall.

The free standing models are of either sheet metal or ceramics. They are adapatable to almost any room, with the chimney passing directly through the roof of the house.

Models on display at Morning Valley carry such trade names as Malm, Martin, Preway, Heatilator, Superior and Massachusetts Bay Colony. The later firm specializes in colorful ceramic fireplaces in a variety of shapes and sizes.

Shooks, who has a free-standing fireplace in his trailer home in Ellsworth, is enthusiastic about the sleek, modern fireplaces he has on display.

"For one thing, you get more heat out of them because the air circulates on all sides," he says.

He also points out that they don't require expensive footings and massive masonry chimneys. One model actually can be suspended from the ceiling.

In addition to custom made and ready-made fire places, Morning Valley also handles fireplace grates, screens, bellows, shovels, brooms, lighters, wood holders and complete fireplace sets.

Shooks and Morgenthaler hope to add lines of Franklin-type stoves and kitchen ranges in the near future.

However, because of the demand for more elementary heating devices brought on the shortage of fossil fuels, all kinds of wood-burning stoves are in short supply at present.

Randall Castle Is Promoted

Randall K. Castle, 17, formerly of East Jordan, has been promoted to PFC while serving with the 3rd Infantry Division in Germany.

Castle's father, Archie Castle, lives at 411 Main-st., East Jordan. His mother, Mrs. Martha Clark, lives in Flint. His wife, Sandra, is with him in Germany.

Wheelbase	108"	98.4"	98.4"	91.0"
Front track	59.1"	51.6"	52.9"	51.0"
Ignition System	Electronic Ignition	Points & Condenser	Points & Condenser	Points & Condenser

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price, excluding destination charges, dealer preparation, state and local taxes. Whitewalls ($27.45) and wheel covers ($25.75) as shown are optional. Prices effective 1-21-74.

As you can see, Duster's sticker price is below popular Japanese imports. And what you do spend, buys you a lot more. For example, Duster seats five adults, comfortably. The Toyota, Mazda and Datsun—only four. Duster's got a standard electronic ignition that virtually eliminates ignition tune-ups. The other three don't even offer one. And finally, Duster is every inch a compact. With easy handling and parking. And good gas mileage on regular fuel.

Want a car that offers a lot for the money? Then see a member of your Economy Team about a new Duster. You know who I mean?

Library notes

It is nice to know in these days of uncertainties that we can depend for sure on some of our favorite authors.

Robert Wilder is one of our old reliable standbys. Each new book offers us just as much entertainment and satisfaction as the last one.

"The Sound of Drums and Cymbals" is set against a background of the gold and tinsel world that is Hollywood. It is a story about three generations of a family who built – and destroyed – a giant studio. This is Wilder's 20th novel.

Shirley Ann Grau is another dependable standby who never disappoints us. "The Wind Shifting West" is her first collection of short stories since the publication of "The Black Prince" in 1955. The setting of some of the stories is sometimes the rural South and sometimes an East Coast island resort, but in each one, the author's essential concern is with the interior landscape-human beings and the force, the reality of their own feelings. We like everything Shirley Ann Grau writes, but we found this collection of short stories to be outstanding:

Announcing a new Rabbi novel will bring cheers from the gallery. Everyone has read Friday the Rabbi Slept Late, Saturday the Rabbi Went Hungry, Sunday the Rabbi Stayed Home, and Monday the Rabbi Took Off. Now Harry Kemelman has given us "Tuesday the Rabbi Saw Red." We anticipate a waiting list for this delightful new book by one of our tried and trusted favorites.

TYPICAL OF the youngsters being helped by Big Brothers of Charlevoix County are Joe Murphy and Rex Bartholomew of East Jordan, the "little brothers" of Terry Boss of Charlevoix. Boss took the boys on a camping trip to the Upper Peninsula this summer. If you are interested in joining the organization, write Big Brothers at P.O. Box 192, Charlevoix, Mich. 49720.

Brothers Plan Big Outing

Big Brothers of Charlevoix County will have a Winter Sports Outing for all Big and Little Brothers at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17 at Shanty Creek Ski Lodge near Bellaire.

The outing will be sponsored by John S. Meeske, general manager of Shanty Creek. There will be no charge to members.

William Miller, executive director of the organization, said car pools are being formed in Charlevoix and Boyne City.

Miller also reports that the local unit has signed up five new Big Brothers in Charlevoix. They are Dean Eby, Dr. David Strawbridge, Jim McGarry, Matt Timmons of the U.S. Coast Guard, and Don Luedke who retired recently from the Coast Guard and has returned to Charlevoix to make his home. While stationed in Charlevoix, Luedke was instrumental in getting Big Brothers organized in the county.

Purpose of the organization is to provide adult male companionship to boys from fatherless homes on a one-to-one basis.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX IS IN SERIOUS TROUBLE AND

WE CANNOT STAND ANOTHER YEAR WITHOUT LEADERSHIP AT THE COUNCIL TABLE!

Mayor Hansen has been fully aware of the problems facing Charlevoix the Beautiful, yet he has failed, and in some areas, refused to take positive and affirmative action to LEAD the City in seeking solutions.

On August 21, 1973, the Michigan Bureau of Environmental Health notified the City that they would no longer approve water main extensions "representing an appreciable water demand."

Why? Because the City had made no effort to make the changes needed to keep our water system abreast of the area growth. It is February, 1974 and still no affirmative action has been taken.

On August 21, 1973, the Dept. of Natural Resources notified the City that any future connections into our sewer system were in jeopardy.

Why? Because the City has failed to:

a. Enact a proper Sewer Ordinance.

b. Start a program of combination sewer separation.

c. Prepare a workable system to operate sewage pump-stations during power outages.

These matters are still not resolved!

The City Electrical System is in dire need of improvement and repair. While he has been aware of this for two years, still the Mayor refuses to move ahead with an over-all plan for up-grading.

The 1970 Comprehensive Plan and City Zoning Proposal still lays dormant because the Mayor refuses to "lead" the way for their adoption.

Since the resignation of the City Administrator in September of 1973, the Mayor has refused to push for the adoption of an Ordinance so we can go about the business of hiring a fulltime qualified Administrator.

Two years ago, the Mayor was told of the need to get assistance in re-working our assessment roll. After 6 months, he appointed and directed an assistant to the Assessor. Now we find out that after one year and four months on the job, the assessment roll is not up to date, and the unfair system of factoring will be used in the preparation of the 1974 Tax Roll. This is an act we feel is totally unnecessary and uncalled for. What this means is that some people will actually pay the taxes that others rightfully owe.

The Mayor continues to drag his feet in co-operating to solve the downtown parking problem. Meanwhile, shopping centers loom on our outskirts.

The May Street Sewer is in serious jeopardy -- not because of the low bidder's failure to perform, but because of the Mayor's inability to proceed with the sale of bonds. The truth of the matter is that procrastination and a failure to know what to do, has placed us in a serious and costly position.

In July of 1973, 63 items were helplessly bogged down in committee -- all in need of Mayoral leadership. As of February, 1974, 56 are still unresolved, to say nothing of what has been put into committee since July.

What do we have after two years of Mayor Hansen?

1. An 80 percent increase in sewer rates.
2. A 20 percent increase in electric rates.
3. Increased taxes.
4. Morale among City employees at an all-time low.
5. Complete disregard for and the subsequent breakdown of the chain-of-command in the City operation.

Prior to his election in 1972, Mayor Hansen wrote in a "letter to the editor, stating "City Government is politics and this letter is politically motivated." While we question that local government should be steeped in politics, it appears from the above list that Mayor Hansen has spent his time playing politics instead of solving problems with affirmative actions.

Mayor Hansen is a man of many words, and as he likes to say, "profound statements." We say actions speak louder than words, and we want a man of action!

Breaks Leg Snowmobiling

An East Jordan resident, Stanley Dipzynski, 72, of 416 Lake-st., was taken to Little Traverse Hospital via ambulance Saturday morning for treatment of injuries suffered in a snowmobile accident in Cheboygan County, just over the Charlevoix County line.

According to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department Dipzynski apparently was attempting to climb a steep hill when his snowmobile rolled backwards over him fracturing his leg.

The East Jordan ambulance was called when a litter was requested in order to remove the injured man from the densely wooded area.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES

JANUARY 28, 1974
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Present: Aldermen Timms, Fochtman, Plumm, and Selph. Absent: Alderman Supernaw and Alderwoman Wallace.

The Minutes of the January 14, 1974 meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Vincent Olach of the Chamber of Commerce inquired if the City has made any attempt to get railroad passenger service back into Northern Michigan and asked if there is any objection to the Chamber pursuing it. Some Councilmen verbally approved.

Enter Alderman Supernaw.

Mr. John Cianci, representative of the G & T Construction Company, was present to explain and answer questions regarding to the projected price increases due to the delay in the May Street Sanitary Sewer Project as outlined in their letter dated January 28, 1974. It is their intention to start the project in early April, 1974 (weather permitting).

Attorney Berlage advised Council to take under consideration G & T Construction Company's letters, but not to take any action at this meeting. He felt that the engineers, McNamee, Porter & Seeley should be consulted first in this matter.

Correspondence from Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission recommending that Council approve the split of the Walker Miles property on East Hurlbut was read.

Alderman Timms offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption, supported by Alderman Supernaw.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Walker A. & Grace M. Miles are owners of the W½ of Lot 11 and all of Lot 12 of Newman's Addition to the City of Charlevoix; and wish to split the property into two parcels;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that Parcel No. 1 be the South 139.5 feet of the W½ of Lot 11 and the South 139.5 feet of Lot 12, Block 21 of Newman's Addition, and Parcel No. 2 be the North 75 feet of the W½ of Lot 11 and the North 75 feet of Lot 12 of Block 21 of Newman's Addition to the City of Charlevoix.

The Resolution was adopted by the Following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Fochtman, Plumm, Selph, and Supernaw.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderwoman Wallace.

The building permit No. 101 for Sequanota Landscaping Service & Supply was discussed. Since it is classified as a temporary building, Council stipulated that it be securely anchored.

Council was informed of a State requirement for plat map naming; that the name should end in Subdivision. Charlevoix Abstract now is completing the survey map and asked for a complete name.

Resolution was offered by Alderman Supernaw and supported by Alderman Plumm that the name of the Plat be changed from "Industrial Park" to "Norman D. Ance Subdivision" in memory of Attorney Ance, who served the City for many years.

The Resolution was approved by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Timms, Fochtman, Plumm, Selph, and Supernaw.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderwoman Wallace.

The question of a "Utility Authority" for the expansion of services outside of the City was discussed. The City Attorney was asked to get more details of what is involved in creating such an authority.

Discussion took place on borrowing or transferring monies into a separate bank account to guarantee to the G & T Construction Company that funds are available to meet the contract. Mr. John Cianci was advised that the bonds are ready for sale and the City should be notified very soon. Council decided to delay action until the next regular meeting of February 11, 1974.

Council was advised that the Federal Government is contesting the City's sewer rates, which is holding up final settlement on the Waste Water Treatment Plant. The matter was put into Committee for further study on February 4, 1974.

Alderman Supernaw offered the following amendment to Ordinance No. 258 and moved its adoption, supported by Alderman Timms.

ORDINANCE NO. 337

In regard to the sweeper, Mr. Wexstaff said nothing has been done because of other necessary repairs at the garage. The school has been contacted regarding bicycle racks and will be glad to help in a few weeks.

Be sure to vote Monday, February 18th. The First Ward in particular has two candidates with very different backgrounds and certainly un-related viewpoints on what Charlevoix needs. All indications foretell a very large turn out for this primary election. Already in the First Ward over one hundred persons have received absentee ballots and as many as seventy percent of the voters in the First Ward could go to the polls February 18th. I think that any one running for any office should really put forth an effort to win, otherwise he is letting down those people who have confidence in him. If you are concerned about the results of this election tell your friends to be sure to vote.

More fish shanties are appearing in the shanty village off from Hemingways Point. A young fisherman caught a lake trout that weighed 15 pounds and also one that was 12 pounds in deep water this Tuesday.

It was cloudy and cold all day Saturday so Mr. Ground Hog stayed home but the sun has been shining bright every day this week and with near zero temperatures that has been making good ice all over our lake. Sonny Williams and Neil Woodbury have been out to the point with their cars and several snowmobiles have been having great fun. But do be careful when it becomes warmer as there is always a thin streak from the old company dock toward the point. Old timers say there is a current through there that wears the ice thin. We have had a few accidents there, so, watch out and take care.

A step in the right direction

The question has been asked, how can you cut taxes and give good service at the same time?

The answer is, by stopping waste. On May 7th, 1973, your Mayor Ed. Hansen vetoed a motion to spend $20,000 for a consulting firm. The consulting work was done for a price of $6,100 for a saving of $13,100. A saving of several thousand dollars has been made by purchasing Government surplus transformers and a back-up power unit.

We ask you to take a step in the right direction by going to the polls and voting for Mayor Ed. Hansen

RANDY FAUST (41) prepares to shoot as Jerry Skippergosh (35) assists with supplications to the powers-that-be. Charlevoix lost to Boyne City 81 to 78.

Rayders Bow to Boyne; Freebies Make Difference

Charlevoix and Boyne City each scored 35 field goals in their meeting Friday but the Rayders committed 19 personal fouls to 14 by the Ramblers to give them a three-point 81-78 victory.

The win by Boyne City also boosted the Ramblers into the lead in the Michigan-Huron Shores league after St. Ignace dropped Cheboygan to second place in the standings by a 98-76 margin.

In their game at Boyne City Friday, Charlevoix scored on eight of 11 freethrow attempts while Boyne City was successful on 11 of 21 to spell the difference between victory and defeat.

Boyne City jumped to a 26-19 first quarter lead which they were never able to increase to more than 10 points throughout the game.

In the opening eight minutes, all five Rayder starters scored with Jerry Skippergosh pushing in three field goals and a free throw, Randy Faust and Clayt Jones adding two field goals each and Mike Streeter and Bob Alger one each.

In the second period, both teams scored 21 points as the Rayders trailed 47-40 at halftime after Faust had scored 11 points including four field goals, Skippergosh four from the floor and Dan Greene one field goal.

As the second half got underway, the Ramblers outscored the visitors 21-17 to give them their biggest point spread of the game, 67-57, going tinto the final period. Faust contributed four field goals, Skippergosh, seven points and Streeter two in the period.

The last period definitely went to the Rayders as they outscored Boyne City 21-14 to give the league leaders one of their closest games. Skippergosh scored a third of his 33 points in this period, with Streeter adding six and Faust and Dave Martincheck two points each to trim the Ramblers' victory margin to three points.

Besides Skippergosh's 33 points, including 14 field goals, Faust had 25 points on 11 from the floor and three from the line, Streeter had five field goals for 10 points, Jones four points and Alger, Martincheck and Greene two points each.

Scott Upton had 19 points, Brad Upton 18, Lon Kowalske 15 and Dave Peck 14 for Boyne City.

Says Column on Nixon Symptom of Hysteria

February 7, 1974

Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Attention: Mr. Robert Clock

Dear Mr. Clock

Your Clockwise article on impeaching the President was typical of the hysteria in our country today. Let's give him the same courtesy that we give everybody, and that is, a man is innocent until proven guilty. To blame the President for inflation and the energy crisis is ridiculous. It is a simple mathematical fact that a small percentage of increase in the huge sum paid to organized workers looms large in the price inflation. Those liberal spokesmen who blame the entire inflation problem on increased corporate profits are playing the role of demagogue. So you have to pay more for food. For over 40 years our big city liberals have treated the farmer like he was some kind of boob. They expected this boob to put cheap food on his table. He was expected to work seven days a week without time and a half and double time and no paid vacations to please the liberal bosses and their underlings. If there was ever an occupation which demands our respect and appreciation it is the American farmer. We are still the best fed people on earth, and pay the cheapest prices also. Nobody had the farmers vote in their pockets. I hope he is getting some share of the increase of food prices.

Selling wheat to any Communist country is stupid, but why blame Nixon for this. On October 24, 1973, Congressman John Ashbrook provided the documentation for his conclusion that "there is no such thing as Soviet technology. Perhaps as much as 90 to 95 percent of Soviet technology came directly or indirectly from the United States and its allies. In effect, the United States and its allies have built the Soviet Union, its industrial and its military capabilities." Fifty years of shameful dealings with the Communists have been the legacy left us by the liberal democrats and liberal republicans. This has been an economic success for the Communist slave rulers but an economical and political disaster for the United States.

Eugene Lyons, former Senior Editor of Readers Digest, wrote a book called "Assignment in Utopia". He went to Russia praising Communism and its leaders. After many years of apologizing for communism, he decided to tell the truth. In his book he tells of thousands of American technicians supervising the building of Russian factories at the same time Stalin was killing off millions of Russian Kulaks. A Kulak was anyone who owned anything of value or merely anyone who Stalin didn't like.

People under dictatorships, it has been well said, are condemned to a lifetime of enthusiasm. It is a wearing sentence. Gladly they would burrow into the heart of their misery and lick their wounds in private. But they dare not. Sulking is next door to treason. Like soldiers weary unto death after a long march, they must line up smartly for parade.

While we can't undo all the mistakes you liberals have made in your assessment of Communism over the last 50 years, we can prevent similar mistakes being made again.

In Clayton Fritchey's column in the Detroit Free Press we read "that the United States enjoyed in December the greatest foreign trade surplus in history". He also says "that in the short run the United States may have to endure some inconvenience, perhaps even some hardships, but nothing like the rest of the free industrialized world. In the coming months American exporters are going to pay more for fuel, but since the United States imports only a relatively small percentage of its oil from the Persian Gulf, the extra cost will be substantially smaller than that paid by foreign exporters totally dependent on the Arabs. Obviously this favors foreign trade, which is one reason the dollar has been climbing. Considering the inherently strong economic position of the United States, and the arrogant provocations of the Arab oil cartel, the Nixon Administration has shown commendable restraint in resisting the temptation to talk tough or angrily threaten retaliation.

Mr. Clayton Fritchey certainly is no Nixon man. In fact, he has often been caustic toward the Republican Party, the Nixon Administration and Conservatism. This can be understood because Mr. Fritchey has long been associated with the Democratic Party in various capacities, including that of publicist for the Democratic National Committee. How in the world did you come to the conclusion that the United States stand precipitated the gravest energy crisis on record?

I watched President Nixon on television also and his speech was no different than any other State of the Union speech. I also watched the cameras as they focused on national leaders such as Senator Kennedy. Senator Kennedy is the leader of liberal forces in this country and may be our President some day. One thought that came to my mind as they focused their cameras on Senator Kennedy was the fair treatment he has received after his tragic Chappaquiddick affair. Listening to the rantings and ravings of liberals today, I wonder if Nixon would have survived a similar tragedy without being tarred and feathered.

Thank you,

Robert L. Olson

'Operation Garden Plot' Could Ease Hunger Pangs

Economists are now predicting that the rate of inflation will grow even faster in 1974 than it did in 1973, all of which means hard times ahead for all of us -- particularly retired people, large families and the families of workers who are only marginally employed or subject to periodic lay-offs.

And the dollar-shortage for many of them is going to hit first and hardest where it hurts the most -- the family pantry.

Despite President Nixon's rosy predictions for the nation, the specter of hunger already is an unwelcome guest at many Charlevoix County dinner tables. And more and more families are going to feel the pinch as time goes on.

More welfare dollars are not the answer, because the dollar isn't worth today what it was two weeks ago. And it will be worth even less two weeks hence.

But we do have one asset aplenty in Charlevoix County that could alleviate the food problem this summer and fall and on into the winter of 1974-'75. That asset is arable public land, now lying fallow, that could readily be turned into garden plots for people who are willing and able to work them.

The Courier has broached the subject of establishing "Operation Garden Plot" with both County Clerk Clarence Rabach and Charlevoix Mayor Edward P. Hansen. Both feel the plan has considerable merit.

Rabach and his assistant Norman Boeck presently are doing the groundwork for a county-wide commission on aging, which hopefully will be able to secure funds for projects to assist senior citizens. But the commission may not be organized in time, or funds may not be available in time, to be of much assistance this year. And even then, the projects will assist only the elderly.

However, Mayor Hansen says that the city has considerable land, much of it former farm land near the city airport, which would lend itself to such use. Another possible area would be that portion of the Industrial Park which was once part of the golf course.

Either site could be plowed, disced and fertilized at a nominal cost and staked off into garden plots for those who want them.

The cost of such a project could easily be borne either by local governments or by donations by area businessmen.

During the Depression, the late Henry Ford divided some of his farms in Dearborn into garden plots for his employes. The produce they grew and canned often meant the difference between going hungry and being well-fed during the dark days of the 1930's.

We think the time is ripe for the City of Charlevoix and other communities in northern Michigan to follow Mr. Ford's example.

We cannot wait for Washington to move on inflation because Washington is helpless in foundering.

BUT WE CAN HELP OURSELVES.

If you would be interested in working a garden plot this summer, please leave your name, address and telephone number at the Courier office. You can reach us at 547-6558.

We will relay information on the number of persons interested to the City Council at its Feb. 25 meeting.

Please act quickly. The planting season will be here before you know it.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump Jr.

The year 1921 was no milestone to Silas Rupert. It was just another year in a life span which had never been kind to him, and yet was filled with countless human comforts denied to many of us. He was tall, rawboned and uneducated. He qualified easily as the least prepossessing man in Luce County.

He walked eight miles every day, in blistering heat and lung-piercing cold, to pile lumber at the sawmill for ten hours each day to earn three dollars with which to feed, clothe, and shelter five children who walked two miles to school, where they were often taunted about their handed down garments.

The high regard of his fellow workers is born out by a lunch hour incident in the fire hole. The 'hog' operator mentioned that he spent seven days on his immigrant journey to Michigan from Ellis Island.

"Shucks", said Silas, "That's nothing! I spent a whole week getting here from Minnesota."

Today, this would evoke laughter, but in those times, picking on misfits was a humiliation left to barnyard fowl, which improve their species in this heartless fashion. What did it matter how a man reckoned time if his word was his bond?

Silas never missed a day nor complained about the monotony of his work. There were no paid holidays or coffee breaks. The bargaining agreement was expressed with lids from snuff cans nailed to the wall to read: "A man who does no more than paid for, gets paid for no more than he does!"

One day, Silas found a wallet near a lumber pile, and being unable to read, showed it to his partner who told him it belonged to the company president. This individual visited the fire hole at noon hour to make known his loss.

Silas handed him the wallet, a gesture which was acknowledged by a thumbing of the sheaf of bills to check for pilferage.

"You have a large family, don't you, Silas?" he asked after being satisfied with the count.

"Yes, sir," answered Silas. The other employees became alert.

"You returned $800 to me which is six months wages for you," the president mused aloud in disbelief. "You're a poor man, aren't you?" This more a statement of fact than question.

"Yes, sir," replied Silas.

"Why didn't you take the money and return the wallet with no one being the wiser?"

"I would have known," said Silas slowly.

"You are a poor man and always will be," stated the executive, as he pocketed the wallet and lit a Havanna. Turning at the door, he offered a parting piece of advice.

"You always will be poor because you're too d— honest!"

No listener laughed. This was reward enough for Silas.

Clockwise

Tom Edison, My Hero

By Bob Clock

Back when I was in grade school I had visions of becoming the greatest inventor the world has ever known – better even than Thomas Edison, who was one of my childhood heroes.

Although Edison was an old man when I was born, I felt a special kinship for "The Wizard of Menlo Park."

In the 1860's when my Great-Grandpa Winter was stationmaster at the Grand Trunk depot in Stratford, Ont., a young man by the name of Tom Edison came to work for him as a telegrapher. He also had his room and board at the Winter home and conducted some of his early experiments with electricity upstairs in his little bedroom.

Those years were pure hell for poor Great Grandma Winter who harbored a deep suspicion of anything electrical until the day of her death at age 89 in 1931. She was particularly fearful of electrical storms. Whenever one threatened, she would boot the cat outdoors, because cats were supposed to attract electricity. Then she would tack newspapers over all of the mirrors and windows and barricade herself in the middle of the living room behind a fortress of bed pillows.

If it stormed at night she was always up and dressed, ready to meet her Maker.

So you can see she didn't enjoy having Tom Edison monkeying around with electricity in one of her upstairs bedrooms.

One of the happiest days of her life was when Tom lost his job with the Grand Trunk and moved back to the states.

Grandma's children weren't nearly so fearful of Tom Edison and his experiments. When Edison died some enterprising Canadian newsmen arranged a long-distance telephone interview with my great uncles who searched their memories for stories about Tom Edison's early days in Canada. They came up with a full page of copy, accompanied by pictures, which appeared in the Windsor Star.

So that is why I was brought up on stories about Tom Edison and his marvelous inventions. And I was determined to out-do him in his chosen field.

All of these recollections came swirling up out of nowhere the other day when my daughter Katie asked me to help her to make something electrical for a unit on electricity that was in progress among Fourth Graders at the Elementary School.

"That's easy," I told her, thinking back to my ow early ambitious to become another Tom Edison. "We'll make a telegraph key."

Now telling kids about telegraph keys today is asking to telling them about whip-sockets and whipple trees. There was a day when every kid in town was familiar with the clatter of the telegraph down at the railroad station. But it is one of the sounds that has disappeared from our electronically-oriented society.

So we had Katie look up information in the encyclopedia about Morse Code and read up on how messages were relayed electrically long before the days of the telephone.

I didn't have a blueprint for making our telegraph key, but I had made literally dozens of them back in the days I dreamt of becoming a great inventor. We bought a dry cell and some bell wire, found a nail and a tin can and borrowed a pair of tin snips from Bert Lehman. Before long the telegraph was mounted on two blocks of wood and working like a charm.

Katie was delighted, but I was swept by great waves of nostalgia for my long-defunct career as an inventor. I had always thought I could do something big with electro-magnets, but I never got beyond the telegraph key.

I fared somewhat better with mechanical contraptions, including a Rube Goldberg devise affixed to a broomstick which I used to pick cherries from the big tree in our backyard. It took all day to pick enough cherries for a pie, but at least my invention worked.

I spent long hours – nay, years — toying with ideas about perpetual motion, but none of them proved practical.

My inventive ambitions came to a crashing end one day when I tried to make a mechanical eating device. A girl in our neighborhood had fallen out of her cherry tree and had broken both arms. The poor girl had to be hand-fed and I was all pity and sympathy.

So I devised a contrivance operated by a foot pedal whereby a spoon affixed to a broomstick (we had lots of brooms without handles at our house) would come swooping out of the heavens, pick up a mouthful of food off a dinner plate and deposit it in the mouth of the operator.

When it was finished, I couldn't wait for supper to try it out. So I put a blob of peanut butter on one of my mother's best dinner plates, sat down at the table and proceeded to test my brainchild. The spoon rose in the air and descended dramatically into the blob of peanut butter. Then, to my horror, the spoon continued in my direction, carrying the sticky peanut butter and the plate with it.

As the plate crashed to the kitchen floor, little Bobby was high-tailing it out the back door with his invention under his arm and his mother in hot pursuit.

The world can be grateful that I never tried to invent anything else.

Eat and Grow Younger

Caveman Ate Plenty of Meat --He Needed It, So Do You!

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Five of a Series

For several chapters now I've been acquainting you with protein and explaining why protein is your blood food need. Actually, the protein story is so old it's new.

There were no nutrition scientists and health teachers to warn our pre-historic cavemen ancestors that if they wanted to be alert and powerful enough to survive the incredible dangers of life in their era, they had to "eat their protein every day."

OH BOY, PROTEIN!

What they did was to grab a piece of meat — more than likely raw or only half-cooked — and wolf it down. It was their instinct to seek food that satisfied their hunger cravings and kept them strong enough to meet the physical problems of their rigorous lives.

PROTEIN INSTINCT STRONG

Even today, the instinct for protein, man's best energy food, is strong among primitive peoples, although the supply of such food available to them may be scarce. The more primitive tribes, living in regions of Africa where the hunting of wild animals is not plentiful enough to supply their instinctive appetite for meat, attempt to satisfy this craving by eating grubs and caterpillars, by trapping birds, mice and ground squirrels.

"Unpleasant eating" you say. And I agree. But protein, nevertheless, is an appeaser for the hungry native's craving for energy food.

Between our national habit of gorging ourselves on starch-and-sugar foods and guzzling soft drinks, the savage's taste for worms and varmints, the primitive black man has more nutritional justification for his choice than do we for our substandard diets in this land of "culture and enlightenment."

I enjoy a wedge of pie, a slice of cake, a piece of candy or a plate of spaghetti as thoroughly as anybody. But I recognize these artificial foods for what they really are — dissipations, not nutrition. I realize these heavy starches and sugars are life-shorteners, not youth-preservatives.

PROPER TIME FOR SUGARS

There is a proper time to eat sugars and starches, but that time is not at your regular mealtime. If you feel that you have to munch on a piece of candy, or eat a slice of cake, by all means do so at very rare intervals, between meals, and far enough away from the next meal so that you don't take the edge off your appetite for the youth-protecting protein foods.

But never, if you wish to derive any benefit from this Eat-and-Grow-Younger regimen, include heavy starches with your high-protein meals.

Unnecessary aging begins with starch and sugar addiction.

But I must be careful not to give all carbohydrates a black eye. Like many villains there is also a good side to our bad man. The carbohydrates found in vegetables, fruits, milk, whole grain and seed cereals are good carbohydrates from natural sources. These foods also contain varying amounts of protein (something wholly lacking in artificial starches), in addition to valuable minerals and vitamins. They are a necessary contribution to your Eat-and-Grow-Younger diet.

It's only when carbohydrates wander too far from the "straight and narrow path" of good nutrition that they become harmful.

"THE STAFF OF LIFE"

What are the "wrong kind" of carbohydrates?

Let's take bread as an example — the staff of life. But is it?

Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan of the University of California stated that modern production methods rob bread of 30 nutrients. Think of it! You are eating bread under the mistaken idea that it is giving you a certain amount of nourishment, yet it is 30 nutrients poorer than the bread your ancestors baked in their kitchens.

"Enriched" flour restores four of the 30 missing nutrients, but leaves you short-changed of 26.

Which brings us to white flour, the principal ingredient of our "staff of life."

Nature never created a white grain of wheat or rice, nor a white grain of cane sugar. Such improvements were left to the ingenuity of modern processors.

To produce white flour (enriched or otherwise), three-fourths of the minerals (plus undetermined amounts of vitamins B-complex and E), are sifted out — leaving only the white starchy cells and refined gluten of the wheat.

The same sort of processing takes place with sugar cane and sugar beets which are milled and refined down to white crystals devoid of all food values except pure starch.

CAR DRIVERS WARNED

The U. S. National Safety Council warns automobile drivers against overeating on starches before and during trips.

That stuffy feeling resulting from a too-starchy meal cuts down your mental and physical alertness and leaves you wanting to doze, an extremely dangerous desire when one is behind the wheel of an automobile. (Rarely can one eat enough protein to produce a gorged feeling, since the appetite is satisfied much more quickly with protein foods than with high starches).

The average driver has the habit of stuffing himself on candies, cake, pie, sandwiches and sweet drinks, all easily accessible to the motorist at every roadside stand; often he substitutes these all-starch items for regular protein meals.

Next: "Plenty of protein" not always right; youth-protecting value depends on quality, not quantity, of protein foods you select.

MARDI GRAS
time!

Big Mid-Winter Holiday Starts Friday at Midnight

Although plans for Charlevoix's first annual Mardi Gras celebration have been in the works only three weeks, the big festival this weekend should be one to remember, according to Vince Olach, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

First event on the schedule will be the crowning of a Mardi Gras king and queen at Grey Gables at midnight Friday.

Judge Glenn Allen of the Michigan Court of Appeals will be on hand to preside at the coronation, according to Olach.

Balloting will continue until the time of the crowning at Williams Dockside Pharmacy, Central Drug Store, the Chamber of Commerce office and at GG. Each vote costs $1.

As of Monday afternoon, Georgia LaBlance and Elizabeth Hersehede were tied for first place in the queen's contest. Barbara Berlage was second and LoAnne Brown and Pat LaVassieur were tied for third.

In the king's race, George Duke was leading, followed by Bill Stokes, Herm Sizemore and Dick Edwards.

Saturday daytime events will be largely winter sports contests for all age groups, according to Curtis Kipke, city recreation director.

Speed Skating Races sponsored by Hess Furniture will be held at Ferry Beach starting at 10 a.m.

Grey Gables will sponsor Mardi Gras Ski Races at Mt. McSauba, starting at 1 p.m.

And a Cross-Country Ski Race sponsored by Portside Sports will be held on the city golf links starting at 4 p.m.

The sponsoring businesses will provide trophies for the winners.

Saturday evening, Mardi Gras balls and parties are planned at the Argonne, Shed, Weathervane, Town House and Grey Gables.

The king and queen will be escorted from establishment to establishment throughout the evening to reign over festivities.

Celebrants are urged to attend the parties in costume, although non-costumed participants also will be welcome.

Highlight of the weekend will be a street parade Sunday afternoon from Park-ave. and Bridge-st. to the High School.

Olach says many organizations have announced their intention to enter floats, marching units, vehicles, and musical groups but that more are needed.

To secure your niche in the Mardi Gras parade, simply call Olach at 547-2101 and he will reserve a spot for you.

He suggests that high school organizations might be interested in joining the parade, along with small musical combos.

The parade will organize at 11:30 a.m. on Park-ave. west of Bridge-st. The marchers will start down Bridge-st. at 12:30 p.m.

The City Council has given permission to snowmobilers to use their machines on downtown streets during the parade and in getting to and from the Lion Club's annual winter outing which will be held immediately after the parade at Ferry-ave. Beach. (See separate story for details of Lion's Club outing.)

Backers of the Mardi Gras festival hope to make it an annual event in Charlevoix, attracting visitors from around the state.

They figure Charlevoix, with its French name and origin, is a natural for a Mardi Gras celebration, similar to those held in Quebec City and New Orleans.

BREMEN, Ind., industrialist Ronald F. Farrell, who displays his paintings each summer during the Waterfront Fair (next to Neff's Market), has been awarded the Delta Sigma Kappa Sorority award at the 50th annual Hoosier Salon exhibit in Indianapolis. Farrell won the purchase award for his entry, "Vanderburg Country Barn," a winter landscape. Farrell was in Charlevoix last week to take photographs of buildings and landscapes which may lend themselves to brush and canvass. He took many pictures of Chralevoix's C&O depot, which he considers an architectural masterpiece of its kind.

THERE ARE some costly side-effects to the high price of gasoline. Most stations are going to have to buy new pumps, because present models will not register sales in excess of $9.99. That, incidentally, is the new sales limit at Charlevoix's Holiday Stationstore. Standard dealer John Norton has signs on his pumps saying the pump reading is only one-half of the actual number of gallons pumped. Problems upon problems.

RABBITS are a problem on Lewis-st. The Lehmans are contemplating a nice rabbit stew unless the intruders cease and desist.

CARL A. Norberg of St. Petersburg Beach, Fla., thinks it's about time someone assembled all of the available data on the sailing vessel era on the Great Lakes. So he is doing it himself. He is particularly interested in the "Mackinaw" boats of the early 1900's, designed and constructed by the late Capt. Roy Ranger of Charlevoix. In later years one of the boats was owned by John P. Wilson of the Chicago Club. Anyone familiar with the boats should contact Norbert at 3682 Belle Vista Drive E., St. Petersburg Beach, Fla. 33706. Norberg is interested in the lines of the boat, and photos and stories of their use around the Mackinac area.

Hundreds Pay Respects To Special Ed Director

Hundreds of Charlevoix area residents attended funeral services Friday evening at the Winchester Funeral Home for R. Dale Fassett, 37, director of Special Education for the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. The Rev. Elmer Faust of the Methodist Church officiated.

Mr. Fassett died unexpectedly Feb. 13 as he was preparing to leave his office at the Char-Em building on Mercer-blvd.

An autopsy performed at Little Traverse Hospital indicated that Mr. Fassett died of an embolism.

Deputy Supt. Charles Crosser of Petoskey, the only other person in the building at the time, summoned the Charlevoix city ambulance when Mr. Fassett collapsed, but he died before it arrived minutes later.

Mr. Fassett was born in Glasgow, Mont., and moved to Michigan's Thumb area as an infant. He was graduated from Sandusky High School and received B.A. and M.A. degrees from Central Michigan University in speech correction. He did work toward his doctorate at Wayne State University in Detroit.

He worked as a speech correctionist in Mt. Pleasant and Fraser, interned in Oakland County and was employed by the Clare County Intermediate School District before moving to Charlevoix in 1967. He joined the Char-Em District as a speech correctionist, but was named director of Special Education shortly after.

During his six years as director, Mr. Fassett greatly expanded Special Education services to physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped youngsters in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties.

An Army veteran with service in Germany, Mr. Fassett brought the Special

Voters Return Timms, Selph

Building contractor Ralph McRae, 67, will be the only new face on the Charlevoix Council when city officials are sworn in come April.

McRae defeated Thomas Duke by 14 votes in city primary balloting on Monday, with less than half of the registered voters casting ballots.

Edward P. Hansen, 54, was returned as mayor, defeating challenging Alderman Richard Fochtman 597 to 523. Fochtman will keep his First Ward seat on the council for another year.

In the Second Ward, Alderman Robert Timms, 39, defeated challenger Robert Lieberman 226 to 115.

And in the Third Ward, Alderman Gerald Selph defeated Mrs. Angeline Borths, 194 to 141.

Also returned to office were City Clerk Ida Heise with a total of 935 votes in the three wards and City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham, with 937 votes.

Although the general election will be held April 1, the primary winners are expected to be elected hands-down, barring write-ins.

The only contest on the April 1 ballot will be between Republican Donald Meggison and Democrat Paul Osterberg, candidates for the 13th District seat on the County Board of Commissioners vacated by the death of Kit Carson in December.

Only 943 voters showed up at the polls Monday out of 2,180 registered voters, according to the city clerk's office, a turn out of about 43 percent.

A total of 257 absentee voters cast ballots, the largest number in city history.

Edward P. Hansen

The closest race was in the First Ward where Duke actually out-polled McRae in the machine tally 168 to 143. However on absentee ballots, McRae received 70 votes and Duke 31, giving McRae a 14-vote edge overall.

The First Ward also went for Fochtman for mayor, giving him 255 votes to Hansen's 160. However Hansen won the Second Ward 221 to 130 and the Third Ward, 216 to 138.

Absent voters supported Fochtman over Hansen in all three wards: First Ward, 76 to 27; Second Ward, 34 to 32; and Third Ward, 37 to 32.

TERRY MOL became an Eagle Scout in ceremonies Monday night at Charlevoix High School. From left are Larry Anders of Petoskey, Charlevoix's first Eagle Scout; Mrs. Jack Mol, Terry, Mr. and Mrs. John Mol, Terry's grandparents; and Scoutmaster Louis Edwards. Mol received his Eagle pin at the end of a banquet honoring local Scouts sponsored by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club. Terry's father, Police Chief Jack Mol, is attending the FBI Academy in Virginia and was unable to be on hand. Tom Mort received a Life Scout Award from CHS Principal Vane Smith.

CITY CLERK Ida Heise (left) and City Treasurer, Annabelle Cunningham were re-elected without opposition in Monday's balloting. Mrs. Heise received 935 votes and Miss Cunningham 937 votes.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Loucks

Sherrie L. Farrell, John Loucks Wed

Sherrie Lynn Farrell of Ellsworth became the bride of John Albert Loucks in ceremonies Feb. 9 at the Atwood Reformed Church, the Rev. Larry Brossiet officiating.

The double-ring rites were performed in the presence of about 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Donald G. Farrell of Ellsworth and the late Mrs. Donald Farrell. The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Jeanette Loucks of Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a scalloped neckline, fitted bodice, fingertip sleeves and a chapel train. She carried a bouquet of iris and gladioli.

Soloist Mrs. Robert Klooster sang "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Hans DeYoung.

Maid of Honor Mrs. Thomas E. Louiselle chose a gown of powder blue crepe and navy blue velvet. A similar gown was worn by Mrs. Stanley Sokolowski, bridesmaid.

Jon Schmidt was best man and Robert Sneathen was groomsman. Thomas Louiselle and Alan R. Loucks were ushers.

A reception followed the wedding at the American Legion Hall, with music supplied by the Four-Fifths.

The bride is employed at the Charlevoix County State Bank. Loucks is a surveyor's helper. They are making their home at 110 Belvedere-ave.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Illinois and Ohio.

Teacher Feacher

JOHN MILLS (right), building trades instructor at Charlevoix High School, looks on as aide Ken Bartley (left) and students Tom Hodgkinson and Steve Siltzema assemble table saw in basement of building trades house on Hampton rd. Built entirely by students under Mills' direction, the house will be ready for occupancy this summer.

Practical Skills Stressed In Building Trades

(Following is the fourth in a series of articles on Charlevoix teachers prepared by the Charlevoix Education Association.)

One could easily say that John Mills has a great deal of experience to add to his teaching of the high school Building Trades class.

Several years ago Mills and a friend built a motel with cabins in the Upper Peninsula. After the year it took to build the motel, they also opened and ran it during summers for three years.

Other building accomplishments include three small sailboats and his own home in Bellaire. Mills also dreams of building a large sailboat someday with enough room for an extended sailing trip.

Born in Detroit, Mills returned there to teach after receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree in Vocational Education from Western Michigan University. He taught drafting and machine shop in East Detroit for 13 years. During that time, he also acquired his Masters degree in Industrial Education from Wayne State University.

Mills and his family, which includes his wife Shirley, and two sons Paul and Neil, moved to Bellaire in 1969. Shortly after the move, John became the leader of a Boy Scout troop in Bellaire for boys aged 11 to 15.

Mills has found that summer does not necessarily mean a rest from building. In fact, most summers find him practicing his trade. The "project" as he terms them, are either helping out a friend or adding to his own home. He does, however, always find time for a family camping trip which usually includes a great deal of hiking. Some of the hiking has been done on the Appalachian Trail.

The Building Trades class is one of the more unique classes offered to area students. During its four years of existence, the class has completed one house a year, which is sold upon completion. The scope of the class is varied and far-reaching, which demands a teacher with numerous qualifications.

As a Building Trades teacher, Mills must teach plumbing, carpentry, masonry, electricity, landscaping, and painting. He feels the numerous experiences the students have in the class will help them when they enter the job market and begin to choose a job. Equally important, Mills sees his class as a chance for a student to "actually see their learning experience and appreciate a finished product."

Congregationalists To Install Pastor

The Rev. Mr. Raymond H. Giffin will be installed as minister of the First Congregational Church on Sunday, Feb. 24, in a service jointly sponsored by the church and the Cheboygan Association of the United Church of Christ.

Mr. Giffin will read a paper on his beliefs and intentions in the ministry at 4 o'clock, which will be followed by discussion.

At 5:30 p.m. there will be a fellowship supper, followed by the service of installation at seven.

Preaching the sermon on "Our Common Ministry in a Changing Society" will be the Rev. Mr. Glenn Baumann, minister of the United Church of Christ in Midland.

The public is invited to the afternoon session and the evening service, but reservations for the supper are required.

Representing the Charlevoix Ministerial Association at the installation will be the Rev. Mr. Elmer Faust of the Methodist Church.

Has Role in MTU Drama

Patricia J. Durr of Charlevoix has been selected to play the role of Nella in the production of the opera "Gianni Schicchi" at Michigan Technological University.

Miss Durr is a junior liberal arts major at Michigan Tech. She is the daughter of Lt. Col. William R. Durr, 213 Antrim.

The opera will be presented Mar. 15-16 by the University's Music Division and the Michigan Tech Little Theater.

Council Receives Sewer Request

The following actions were taken by the Charlevoix City Council last week.

--Discussed a request by Richard Way for further sewer and water line development in Westport Subdivision.

--Nominated ten persons as candidates for a commission to study compensation of the city's elected and appointed officials. The number will be whittled down to five before the commission is organized. Candidates include Ralph Hess jr. and Conrad Klooster, representing business; Hal Hill and Jerry Stanblin, representing industry; Mrs. Larry Warner and Fay Davis, representing the community at large; Ralph Hamilton and Dr. Robert Tollas, representing the professions; and Howard Horton and Harvey Cole representing labor.

--Discussed city policy regarding cars parked on Bridge-st between the hours of 2 and 6 a.m. They apparently may not be towed away under the present ordinance, but the owners may be ordered to remove them for snow removal purposes.

--Heard a plea by Alderwoman Jeannine Wallace for a skating rink in the valley for little folks next winter. She believes the big rink at Ferry Beach, which is used by hockey players, is too dangerous for little children.

--Paid bills totaling $201,711.87.

THE FORMER Lincoln School on Garfield-ave. is now the home of the Leslie T Shapton post of the American Legion. Although the building has been re-sided and the interior remodeled, the basic lines remain the same.

She Saw Halley's Comet From Lincoln Schoolyard

(The following paper on the Lincoln School was presented at the last meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society by Louise Bush Beutner, a native Charlevoixan who recently returned to her home town to live.)

By Louise Bush Beutner

The Lincoln School, now removed from school history and converted to an American Legion post, has a past as follows:

It was built in 1889 to satisfy the needs of a growing population and as a direct result of the burning in that year of a four-room general school on the site of the present Middle School.

A new school was built, also two ward buildings for elementary use, one on the north side, one on the south, the latter being my first school, the Lincoln.

In 1945, long after I knew it, an arrangement was made to transfer the building to the Legion, but with the Board of Education retaining certain land adjacent.

I remember the school before I attended it. The land around it was treeless, as it is today, and perhaps that is why my father, Charley Bush, walked there with me on a spring evening, held me up to see a bright blob in the sky with a tail behind it. "Remember that," he said, "It's Halley's Comet," and gave an astronomy lecture.

The next year I attended, and the year after that I returned from school one afternoon to find my father reading a newspaper with stupendous headlines – The Titanic had struck an iceberg.

The building wasn't graceful, but utilitarian and blocky, housing four grades in its first and only story. I believe the siding was painted a yellowish dun color. Now the outside has been transformed by a type of more modern siding. An no doubt the interior is transformed; I'm sure our desks and blackboards are no longer there. The railing of the little porch looks to be the same; we girls held onto it and danced jigs while we waited for the doors to open.

I have an old photo of one of the classrooms with grade pupils in it -- I think it was fourth grade. My mother wrote the names of the pupils on the back, but neglected to put down the grade. She did write the name of the teacher, Miss Bessie Hanshew. Another year I had Mary Finucan for teacher, the daughter of a Lakes captain.

You will see that it is a modern school, with steam heat. A whole battery of steam pipes ran around the window-walls almost waist-high, as the photo shows. I remember nothing about inside washrooms, but I'm sure we had them. After all, we had steam heat, it was not a country school, so there must've been plumbing.

Also, I can't remember any playground equipment, but the truth is it wasn't needed. There were so many places to play then and so little real traffic on the streets.

I knew best the ones who sat near me in school or who lived near me. I lived at 902 Bridge Street and played a good deal with Irma Carey. I believe she lives elsewhere now. Myrtle Heinhart, now Mrs. Gaskin, was another playmate.

Second behind me (the girl with the checkered hair-ribbons) sat Albert Widdifield, the boy I played with most. The business of his father, Harry Widdifield, provided us with our most glorious playground, a large space to the rear of their brick house on E. Upright Street. He was in the wood, ice, and coal business, so here were the stables, a very large ice-house, and a wood-yard with many rows of cordwood on it. The rows varied in length and made a system something like an English maze in which we played "Run, Sheep, Run!" The ice-house was best in summer when school was out; it had such cooling damp sawdust in it.

Of course playmates don't continue in perfect harmony, and when we had a tiff or a quarrel we stuck out our tongues and yelled this verse:

"Snip, snip, snorter,
Kalamazoo resorter!
Nobody loves him
But a big fat porker!"

This verse could be indigenous only to such a town as Charlevoix and was made up by ourselves. It didn't even rhyme.

I don't know nearly as many subsequent facts about my fellow pupils as those who have lived here constantly, but a few things, either of an ongoing kind or terminal in nature, came my way. I believe one of the Swanson brothers was killed in very early labor trouble in Detroit, and I think most know that Albert Widdifield was in one of the two planes that collided over the Grand Canyon.

The girls at least had a custom, not official but charming, of making baskets of art paper, filling them with flowers, and hanging them on door knobs on May Day. We hunted mayflowers, Dutchmens' Breeches, even arbutus for which we slogged through cedar swamps with wet feet.

We were an unclassified group of students, the slow ones and the quick ones together, but the teachers knew our paces differed. They tempered the wind to the shorn lamb, and kept the smarties under wraps. I look back on it as a splendid school.

Smokers Invited to Kick Habit

Old tobacco weed got ya? Your fingers are stained and your wife says you smell like Smokey the Bear?

Take heart, because help is at hand.

A free five-day clinic for smokers who would like to stop will be held in the Community Room of the First State Bank starting Feb. 25 and ending March 1. Meetings start at 7 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Petoskey and will be conducted by a pastor-nurse team.

The clinic includes colored movies, group discussion and a prescribed regimen for kicking the habit.

The sponsors suggest that everyone with a smoking problem plan to attend. And bring a friend. Or two.

Stanley P. Mc Rae

McRae Named State Week Aide

Mackinaw City lumber dealer Stanley P. McRae has been named regional Michigan Week chairman for northwestern Michigan. The announcement was made by Walter North, comptroller of the Mackinac Bridge Authority and Michigan Week deputy general chairman for northern Michigan.

"Stan McRae is well known for his active participation in local affairs," North said. "He served as Michigan Week regional chairman here five years ago, and we are fortunate to have his capable leadership at the regional level again this year. I urge all the citizens who live in Region 4 to give him their fullest cooperation and support."

McRae, who graduated from Michigan State University, was a 4-H agent in Isabella County and a farmer for several years before joining the family lumber business in Pellston. Since 1954 he has operated the McRae Lumber Company in Mackinaw City. Closely associated with education, he has held numerous school board posts and is currently serving a six-year term on the board of the Cheboygan-Otsego-Presque Isle Intermediate School District.

ALMOST A SCORE Charlevoix residents turned out last Thursday night for the first meeting of a new little theater group in Charlevoix. The meeting was called by Mrs. Dennis Carr who feels Charlevoix should offer an outlet for local dramatic talent. The next meeting of the group will be Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room at the First State Bank. Members will review scripts for a possible dramatic production in the near future.

To Cut Back Road Work If Gas Funds Evaporate

Michigan's road maintenance services may soon face severe cutbacks as reduced motor fuel use slices revenues for state, county, and municipal highway and street agencies.

"Funds for road upkeep and safety improvements may be cut by more than $75 million in 1974 if gasoline consumption is reduced 20 percent," it was pointed out today by Richard W. Walker, executive director of the Michigan Good Roads Association.

"While all motorists support necessary conservation measures during the current energy crisis, the anticipated loss of revenues is certain to adversely affect road maintenance standards," Walker noted.

The threatened decline in gasoline tax revenues – the user levy which supports highway construction and maintenance--more than offsets gains made in 1973 when Michigan increased the gas tax two cents per gallon.

"The revenue loss will fall heaviest on many out-state counties and smaller municipalities," Walker said. "Tuscola county alone estimates it will lose $262,000 a year from its share of state Motor Vehicle Funds."

Walker said many local road agencies as well as the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation will be forced to lower maintenance standards and drop improvement projects because of sharply decreased income from the gas tax.

Michigan now collects about $378 million annually from its nine cents per gallon gasoline tax and this revenue is shared between state, county and municipal road administrations.

"Even though general travel may be restricted by shortages of gasoline, safe roads continue to be essential for car-pooling and increased bus use," Walker declared. "Even developing mass transit programs rely on road use and Michigan cannot afford to let its highway transportation network deteriorate."

The Michigan Good Roads Association director also noted that the state's license fee income, which is used to support highway programs, may show declines in 1974 as more car owners shift to smaller compact vehicles. State license fees are based on car weight.

"For several years Michigan has been raising only enough road and street money to meet about half of our needs for adequate maintenance and reconstruction, and the current decrease in highway funds poses new threats to safe travel by motorists," Walker said.

Travel Policy In Works

The following actions were taken by the Charlevoix Board of Education last week.

A policy relating to the reimbursement of school personnel for expenses incurred while traveling and attending conferences was presented by Larry Warner of the policy committee. The policy will be adopted at a later meeting.

Mrs. Sandra Fassett, Vocational Education director, presented a proposed plan for re-decorating the cafeteria by the use of carpeting around the edges, construction of a bench under the windows, hanging of draperies and installation of smaller tables to give the room more of a restaurant style atmosphere for the commercial foods classes. Funds for the project, which would cover a two-year period, would come from Vocational Added-Cost monies from the state.

Clement J. Wagner was named to represent the Charlevoix School District at the Char-Em Intermediate School District budget meeting.

A recommendation that Supt. James McKimmy solicit bids for Board of Education indemnity insurance was approved.

The matter of the sale of the Building Trades house in Hampton Village was tabled until the March 11 meeting.

Supt. McKimmy reported that the school had received a refund of $1,136.86 or 24 percent of the premium of Workman's Compensation because of the low accident rate

He also said school had requested and received a 30-day extension on the deadline for submitting a request for the Beaver Island Light Station property and that the School District has until March 15 to apply foir $3,835.86 in federal funds for use in the Indian Education program.

Supt. McKimmy, Max Novak and Mrs. Jane Lieberman presented brief reports on the recent M.A.S.B. meeting.

Robert Wasoski asked why thermostats are turned down so low. He was advised that the school was attempting to cut fuel consumption 15 percent.

A student present asked when fire alarms would be installed in the portable classrooms. He was advised that they were on order and would be installed as soon as they arrive.

Miss Gerri Stanko announced a Parents Awareness Night scheduled for Feb. 21. A move will be made to organize a Middle School Parent-Teacher group at the meeting to be held at the Middle School.

March 11 was set as the date of the next meeting.

Eat and Grow Younger

Youth Benefits of Proteins In 'Quality,' Not Quantity

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Six of a Series

Not all proteins are alike. It is as much a question of "plenty of protein" as it is a question of making certain to eat enough of the right kind of protein—or complete proteins. The youth protecting value of the protein foods you eat depends not so much on the quantity as on the quality of the protein you select.

In recent years you've probably heard or read about "the amino acids." What this means is that all food protein is broken down in the chemical laboratory of your body into amino acids.

The truth about these various kinds of food proteins was first suspected when laboratory animals were noticed to be slowly starving to death on an exclusive diet of certain proteins, and yet thriving on an exclusive diet of still other proteins.

From these observations it was discovered that some foods are complete proteins, while others are incomplete. What this means is simply that some foods (the complete proteins) contain all of the essential amino acids, and other foods do not.

You could live to a healthy, youthful old age by eating nothing except the foods that are complete proteins (witness the exclusively meat-eating Eskimos and Gauchos), whereas slow starvation would be the inevitable result if you attempted living exclusively on the incomplete vegetable proteins.

Lean meat (this includes gland-meats, fish, poultry), eggs, cheese and other milk products are complete proteins, that is, they contain all of the essential amino acids in correct proportion for maximum human nourishment.

INCOMPLETE PROTEINS

Whole grain products, soybeans; legumes and some nuts are classed as partially complete proteins — meaning that their amino acids are not in balanced proportions to meet all body needs. However these proteins are valuable "secondary" foods.

Vegetables, fruits and some grains are incomplete proteins. Corn, for instance, contains only seven essential amino acids, while cabbage has even fewer. Yet by no means does this lessen the value of vegetables, fruits and whole grains in your diet; what "incomplete" means is that you cannot subsist entirely on these low-grade protein foods. But these incomplete proteins can be used to great advantage in a diet as supplements to the high-protein foods.

(When I say that you cannot subsist on a diet of fruits and vegetables, I can imagine you thinking, "But how about the vegetarians?" We'll get to them a little further along.)

Each plant or animal food we eat contains a special variety of protein. The closer a food protein resembles human protein, the more valuable it is for human nutrition. That is why we speak of high-grade proteins, meaning those foods that yield a maximum of protein nutrition in relation to the quantity consumed; and low-grade proteins, meaning those that furnish the body with only small amounts of usable protein.

MEAT WORTH MORE

To illustrate: 100 grams of meat protein (high-grade) are far more valuable to human nutrition than 100 grams of carrot protein (low grade).

A diet built around foods containing all of the essential amino acids is a youth protecting health-promoting diet because it is a high-protein diet. If any doubt still lingers in your mind that a high-protein diet is imperative for you to look younger and live out your allotted span of years, let me remind you that you are made of protein.

Let me outline briefly what we know to be the direct effect of the essential amino acids on the human body. (You needn't remember their names—which are jawbreakers!)

Argenine is called the "fatherhood amino acid." When seriously lacking in the body, the sex instinct undergoes a marked decrease in men and women alike.

MEATS MILK EGGS
GRAIN PRODUCTS LEGUMES
CARROTS CORN, ETC.

Amino Acid Content

Tryptophane is known to help ward off signs of premature aging. It protects you against certain eye disorders, easy susceptibility to colds and respiratory disorders.

Valine is directly related to the nervous system (one part of the body that really takes a beating as we grow older), and your diet must contain plenty of this protein if you want to avoid nervous disorders and digestive upsets.

Methionine, if seriously lacking in the body, may cause hardening of the liver (cirrhosis) and nephritis (a serious kidney disease). It is also necessary to maintain body weight.

RED BLOOD CELLS

All of these essential amino acids, plus the literally thousands of different protein combinations manufactured in your body from them — must do an uninterrupted job of building, repairing and replacing, if you are to remain a living animal. (The red coloring matter in your blood, or hemoglobin as it's called for example, may contain as many as 576 different amino acid groups.

A red blood cell lives about 30 days. This means, that every month a fresh, newly processed red blood cell must be recruited from your bone marrow into the bloodstream as a replacement.

To make sure that you have the correct answer to the nutrition riddle "How much protein is enough?" your safest bet is to eat more than enough.

The Charlevoix Rayders are scheduled to go against the Petoskey Northmen in a game on the Rayder court Tuesday. The game had been postponed from Friday because of the death of Charlevoix Faculty member Bruce Morgan.

Friday will find the Rayders traveling to Gaylord to take on the Blue Devils.

On Tuesday, the Rayders clashed with the high flying Harbor Springs Rams who returned home with a 77-52 victory to their credit.

Paced by Dave Ketterer who had 20 points for the game, the Rams jumped to a 20-11 first period lead which was increased to 41-23 at halftime and 59-37 going into the final period.

The Rams, with eight of 11 of its players scoring, poured in 37 field goals and picked up only three charity shots in seven attempts while committing 10 personal fouls.

Charlevoix scored 25 field goals and hit on two of six free throw attempts while collecting 10 personal fouls.

In the first period of the game, it was Mike Streeter who scored two buckets, Clayt Jones who had three points and Jerry Skippergosh and Randy Faust who had a basket apiece. Bob Alger was the fifth starter.

The half ended with the Rayders having 23 points on the board on two field goals each by Skippergosh and Faust and one each by Jones and Streeter.

The Rayders had their best period late in the game when Alger and Skippergosh scored two buckets apiece, Faust three points and Jones and Streeter one basket each.

Adding to the Rams' total were Mark Clare who had 17 points, Glenn Morse with 14, Jeff Bodzick with 12, Tony Morse with six, Terry Morse with four and Tom Burley and Gary Manville with two points each

The Ramblers were in control all the way as they held a 14-12 first quarter advantage which was increased to 28-22 at halftime and 44-35 as they roared into the final period when they outscored the Vikings 28-15.

Terry Elzinga with 16 points topped the four starters who were in double figures. Scott Upton followed with 15, Brad Upton with 14 and Dave Peek with 13 points.

Wayne Westervelt with 18 points was the only Viking to hit the double figure mark.

Boyne City's JV's won by a 54-51 margin.

Harbor Rams Defeat Devils 106-56

East Jordan Red Devils fell victim to the Harbor Springs Rams by a score of 106-56 Friday as the latter posted their 11th straight league win.

Pete Hammond with 17 points was the only Red Devil in double figures as the Jordanites trailed 32-12 at the quarter, 54-26 at halftime and 85-42 going into the final period.

Jeff Bodzick canned 28 points, Mark Claire 22; Tom Burley 11, Dave Ketterer and Tony Morse 10 each for the Rams.

Harbor Springs JV's won by a 65-44 score.

Flu Bug Helps Rayders Nip Soo Matmen

Charlevoix Rayder wrestlers hosted the Soo in a meet here Monday and walked away with the meet by a score of 35-26, thanks to the flu bug.

In winning, however, the Rayders had only one decision and one tie, picking up the other points on forfeits because members of the Soo squad had the flu.

The DeYoung brothers, Tim and Pat, were only point winners. Tim, in the 98 pound class won by a 6-0 decision over Dick Stebelton and Pat came through with a 6-6 tie with Ken Hartwig.

Ellsworth Negotiators Are Named

Dwight Boss, president of the Ellsworth Education Association, announced today the recent formation of their Association's Personnel Negotiations Team for the 1973-74 academic year.

The team will consist of Jack Gebott, jr., Chief Negotiator; Hugh Campbell, secretary, and Dwight Boss, member.

Negotiations with the Ellsworth Board of Education are expected to begin about March 1.

"An area of concern with the Association this year is bringing about a reduction in the disparity in salary and fringe benefits within the Charlevoix-Emmet School District," Boss said.

Boyne Next for V-Ball Gals

The Charlevoix Girls Volleyball team will be at Boyne City Wednesday where the team will be defending its 14-1 record against St. Ignace, Cheboygan and Boyne City.

The Rayderettes then went on to defeat Petoskey 15-13 and 15-7 and Cheboygan 15-7 and 15-0 to take the meet.

Charlevoix will host a meet here Feb. 28 with Rogers City, Cheboygan and Gaylord to close out the current season. The same night, Petoskey, Grayling and Boyne City will be at St. Ignace.

All meets start at 6:30 p.m.

Out-of-Towners to Pay More to Use EJ Dump

EAST JORDAN – If you live outside of East Jordan, it's going to cost you more to use their landfill.

East Jordan councilmen last week jumped non-resident dump fees from 50 cents to $1 for individuals while at the same time increasing commercial rates from $1 to $2 a cubic yard.

According to City Supt. Dennis Stepke, all people wanting to use the landfill facilities will be required to purchase a dump card from the city clerk.

This will enable the city to determine who is not a city resident or belongs to the five townships now under contract with the city.

Those townships in contract with the city are Wilson, Eveline, Echo, South Arm and Jordan.

Faced with a landfill that is beginning to fill up quickly, Councilman Bob Pearsall said non-resident use may have to be done away with all together.

Presently, several industries from as far south as Mancelona use the city facilities.

In other business last week, the council:

--Agreed to extend a contract offer to W. A. Porter for another 90 days on the M-66 sewer extension until the city can get reimbursement on its lagoon project.

–Heard a monthly report that showed 21 calls for January.

–Approved Larry Woodcock as auditor for the city.

–Approved a resolution to eliminate two of the 10-non-elderly low income houses being proposed because of increased costs. The remaining 20 elderly units are still projected to be constructed.

Dale Fassett Devoted Lifetime to Children

Few of us who live out our alloted span of three score years and ten will be able to crowd as much accomplishment into a lifetime of labor as R. Dale Fassett did in his 37 short years.

Mr. Fassett, director of Special Education for the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, died unexpectedly last Wednesday evening as he was preparing to leave his office at the Char-Em Building on Mercer-bld.

His death came as a shock not only to his family, friends and neighbors in Charlevoix but also to the many hundreds of handicapped children who have benefitted from his keen interest in their problems since he picked up the reins of the Special Education office six years ago.

His death also dealt a severe blow to his colleagues and co-workers throughout northwestern Michigan who have benefitted from his advice and counsel in dealing with the problems of the handicapped.

Raised on a farm in Michigan's Thumb, Mr. Fassett was no stranger to hardship and deprivation as a boy. He decided at an early age to do something for kids, wherever and whenever he could.

After graduation from Sandusky High School, Mr. Fassett attended Central Michigan University where he received his B.A. and M.A. degrees in speech correction. Following the birth of a mentally retarded daughter in 1960, he devoted all of his energies toward helping handicapped children, regardless of their problems.

Since Mr. Fassett moved to Charlevoix in 1967, Special Education programs offered youngsters in Charlevoix, Antrim, and Emmet counties have increased many fold to include services for all physically, mentally and emotionally deprived children.

Mr. Fassett was instrumental in bringing the Special Olympics for handicapped children to northern Michigan.

He spearheaded the formation of a Big Brothers chapter in Charlevoix County. The organization provides one-to-one male companionship to boys from fatherless homes.

He worked tirelessly toward expanding and improving facilities of the Charlevoix-Emmet Association for Retarded Children, which operates a sheltered workshop on Garfield-st., one of the few in northern Michigan.

He labored diligently as a member and officer (he was president at the time of his death) of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, an organization dedicated toward improving the welfare of Charlevoix youngsters through its youth activities.

Although Mr. Fassett was thoroughly involved in his community and totally committed to his work, he collected friends as easily and effortlessly as other people collect match folders or bottle caps.

His affable good humor and sharp wit made him good company for everyone who had dealings with him. He will be sorely missed by Charlevoix-at-large.

New Library Book Zeroes in on Energy

Dear Mr. Clock:

As a geologist I heartily recommed to the people of Charlevoix a book entitled "The Earth and Human Affairs." It's available at the Charlevoix Public Library and should be of interest to students and to others who are attempting to evaluate some of the information that has recently been flooding the American public in connection with the "energy crisis."

This little book was written by a group of earth scientists with support from the National Academy of Sciences. It represents their views on means of preserving our society by the most effective and wise use of our natural resources. This is not a highly technical, specialized treatise but rather shows in easily understood sequence the relationship between the earth, its soils, waters, and mineral resources including those contributing to sources of energy and how man's increasing desires for the "good life" have during recent years been altering the face of the earth.

No attempt is made to draw lines between "environmentalists" and "exploiters" of the earth's resources Rather it provides factual informaton which will hopefully aid the citizen in formulating his own goals in relationship to national well being.

It is the hope of the authors, shared with geologists everywhere, that people become more aware that the earth's resources are limited and unless a balance can be achieved between demand and available resources, we will be faced with continuing crisis which will be upsetting not only to our industrial technology but also to our political and social fabric.

The public is deluged with information on the wonders of the products from our assembly lines and cannot be faulted if it has pretty much lost touch with the sources of raw materials that make the assembly line possible. Unless these facts are brought into public view and discussed in some detail the average citizen will regard with some skepticism admonishments to make sacrifices and adjust to the laws of supply and demand.

Although continuing education may be a new experience for some people it is vital if they are to evaluate the actions of both government and industry and have some voice in how their lives are being shaped.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump Jr.

Granted: Many early Michigan settlers told tales as tall as the surrounding pines. Still, one would-be historian was cutting on the wrong forty when he related these early American humorists to Ananias of Biblical times.

Ananias, you recall, was the rogue who told such a whopping fib his wife dropped dead. The number of grandmothers and great-grandmothers at any senior citizen potluck is living proof that their menfolk indulged in colorful stories, not lies.

There's a heap of difference! A lie is a flagrant deception whereas a story presents certain facts which direct the discerning listeners footsteps along the narrow path of truth. Ed Dufloe, of the class of 1914 (4th grade) aptly illustrates this separation of fact from fantasy.

Ed, the best trout fisherman in Luce County, never wet a line in the Two Hearted River which he described as a series of commercial pools for tourists. He employed his skill on Silver Creek, an icy cold spring fed stream which meandered, often underground through springy bogs which telegraphed ones approach to wary trout three bends up and downstream.

These fish had a distinct flavor and grew to an enviable size in this protective environment which defied the best efforts of cursing flyfishermen who festooned the bordering tag alders with Royal Coachmen and swarms of other exotic insects of artificial origin.

On any given day Ed could outwit 15 Silver Creek trout. Unlike others who guard the secret of success like a housewife's favorite recipe, Ed gladly shared his lore with those less fortunate.

When asked, "What do you use for catching these fish?", Ed would reply obligingly.

"Chewing gum."

"Chewing gum! What a barefaced lie," would snort the chargined questioner.

"Call me a liar if you're of a mind to," Ed would reply, "but first let me acquaint you with certain well known facts."

"I have a glass eye, thanks to a flying rock chip while learning the stone mason trade. When I sneak up on a likely hole I stick this eye to the end of my pole with a wad of gym. I lower it down carefully and have it a look around. This way I only fish where there is something to be caught. Of course if they are less then 12 inches long I leave them to grow some more."

Like unbiased judges at a debate lets review briefly the points scored by the affirmative side.

1. Ed had a glass eye.
2. Ed had chewing gum in his pockets at all times.
3. Ed caught fish when others failed.

Tp quote Ed's favorite philosophy: "A fool will call a man a liar; the smart man will call his bluff!"

In his eighty-eight years Ed met many fools. These encounters, though painful to a man of integrity, served to heighten Ed's pleasure whenever he came face to face with an honest man. This happened on occasion–whenever he shaved!

Hello, Florida

By BOB CLOCK

The following might be taken as an open letter to all of the Courier's good friends who have forsaken the frigid north for the sunny skies of Florida this winter.

Almost every mail brings letters from transplanted Charlevoixans enquiring about living conditions in Charlevoix during the winter of high prices and scarcities.

Last week we heard from Mrs. Clara Puhek, who owns and operates a summer resort at the foot of W. Dixon-ave.

"I'm wondering and worrying about a gas crisis this summer," she writes from Florida. "For the past two weeks it's been a battle to get some. You just can't imagine these long lines of cars. It's frightening.

"I've enjoyed the two issues of the Courier and hear the "condo" is gigantic. Any occupied to date? Looking forward to summer."

John Schroeder, who is spending the winter at North Palm Beach sent us a clipping from the Palm Beach Post Times on the fuel shortage. It was an interview with a certain Lester Bowles of Abington, Mass., who waited in line for 45 minutes to buy gasoline. When he reached the pumps, the station operator refused to sell him any gasoline. Bowles, who is a bicycle dealer in his home town, insisted, and eventually was allowed to purchase $2 worth of gasoline.

In his interview with Post Times reporter Michael Walsh, Bowles said he was going to write to his friends and relatives back in Massachusetts and tell them "to stay the h— home."

In his note, Schroeder says he paid 56 cents a gallon for premium at one station which was out of regular. In November when they went south, the Schroeders paid 39.1 cents for regular. He adds that half of the stations are closed at the end of the month.

Schroeder and Mrs. Puhek will be happy to learn that, although gasoline prices are high in Charlevoix, there is no apparent shortage – yet. Once in a while you'll find three or four cars lined up at a station, but you encountered that before the crisis.

But it sounds like we're paying a few pennies more for both regular and premium than they are in Florida. Some gas stations have limited purchases to $9.99, because the pumps won't go any higher. And some stations have new four-digit pumps on order.

They also might be interested to know that most of our stations are closed on Sundays but that we are learning to live with the situation. Most drivers make sure their tanks are full, or nearly full, on Saturday evening.

It also would be safe to say that most Charlevoixans are doing less driving than ever before. On weekends, highways are practically deserted, except for ski cars and buses. Fortunately some stations near tha ski areas are staying open on Sundays to sell skiers enough gas to get back to the freeways.

Generally, I think Charlevoixans are keeping their fingers crossed that vast new supplies of gasoline will become available by next summer when the tourists are due to arrive. If gasoline is in as short supply then as it is now, Charlevoix is in for some lean days – days like Florida is experiencing this winter.

Mrs. Puhek, naturally, is interested in La Croft condominiums, which is situated just across Dixon -ave. from her home. We think she'll be pleased with the overall appearance, although we hope that summer and greenery will do something to improve the sheet-metalish effect of the carport roof that runs along the Michigan-ave. sidewalk.

Literally hundreds of Charlevoix residents and visitors from nearby communities toured the first two model units over the weekend and were enchanted by the view, the layout of the rooms, all of the built-in convenlences and the chic carpeting and furnishings. Our kids took one look and were ready to move in.

Although some critics have said the building looks more like Miami Beach than it does Charlevoix, La Croft has the stamp of quality workmanship throughout and certainly is an asset of tremendous proportions to Charlevoix.

As for the wather, the winter of 1973-'74 has been just so-so in Charlevoix. There are still fairly high snowbanks along most residential streets although the downtown section has been scraped down to the pavement. We still haven't had a good old fashioned blizzard, but winter still has a few more laps to run before it's over.

Everyone is talking about the winters of 1970-'71 and 1971-'72 with just a tinge of nostalgia. Those were the winters, you'll remember, when country folks were snowbound for a week or more at a time and snow drifts climbed over the roof of the Courier office.

We really don't need another winter like that right away.

When Does Nixon Play?

By JIM FITZGERALD

Let the shallow people wonder whether President Nixon should be impeached or enshrined. What I want to know is does he or does he not get up in the middle of the night to play the piano?

Who is telling the truth, his wife Pat or his daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower (speaking of shrines)?

Julie told the world her father was having trouble sleeping and sometimes crawled out of bed and padded to the piano. But, a few weeks later, Pat denied it.

No wonder the American public is confused.

According to United Press International, Mrs. Nixon's eyes flashed when she said her husband didn't get up in the middle of night to play the piano. He plays "before he goes to bed," she said.

It is well known that Mr. and Mrs. Nixon do not share the same bedroom. Her flashing eyes probably keep him awake.

And Julie doesn't live in the White House at all, Washington, Florida, California or Camp David (which is a place, not a description of Julie's husband). The young Eisenhowers live in a castle rented from Bebe Rebozo for $1.98 a month.

So. How can either Pat or Julie be sure exactly when the President plays the piano?

It is from such crevices that credibility gaps grow.

It may well be the public will never be told the entire truth. At least, not until after Nixon's death, when Ron Ziegler's memoirs will be published. In Washington, it is general knowledge that Ziegler turns the pages of Nixon's sheet music, and sometimes even hums along.

Judge Sirica could subpoena the piano-room tapes. But what would they prove? The sound of music would mean the hills were alive and Nixon was playing. But it would not be fair to interpret every silence as indicating he was sleeping. It has not been proved that Nixon spends every night either sleeping or playing the piano. There are other things to do during the night's most lonely hours. He could be reading, or writing, or breaking into a psychiatrist's office.

Likewise, it would be unfair to become suspicious of an 18-minute suspicious hum in the piano tapes. That could simply be a solo by Ziegler.

Obviously, as important as it is to have an informed public, it would not be feasible to take the question directly to the President. He could not answer without calling either Pat or Julie a liar. Then the lie, whichever, would have to be explained. The explanation, of course, would be that the lie was told in the interest of national security. The same as in bombing Cambodia.

The American public has enough to worry about. People should not be told their security depends upon when their President plays the piano. So I hereby ugree to squelch my newsman's curiosity in favor of patriotism. (Is that the National Anthem I hear?)

Play it again, Dick. Whenever.

Sun May Meet Our Energy Needs

Like a sunburned bathing beauty scientists are squinting at the sky with new respect.

Many see the sun as the ultimate answer to the world's darkening energy crisis, the National Geographic Society says.

The heating oil shortage, rising gasoline prices, burning up natural gas reserves, hitting the bottom of the Nation's coal mines – these problems or prospects are focusing more and more hope on solar energy.

In the United States, $12 million has been appropriated for studies by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation. Many argue for larger crisis funding.

Up to now, making the sun do man's work in any big way has been the stuff of laboratory theories, of science fiction writers, and of pioneering ecologists, conservationists, and pollution fighters.

Sunny Bonanza

There's plenty to work with: The total sun power shining on the ground in the contiguous 48 states alone is 600 times more energy than the Nation uses.

Or, on any one day, the average amount of solar radiation falling on Lake Erie is more than the total energy used throughout the United States.

However, over the next 30 years the country is expected to use more energy than it has since the Mayflower arrived.

At that rate, fossil fuels will be hard put to meet demands. According to a research geophysicist of the U.S. Geological Survey, the Nation's oil will be almost gone by the year 2000, and the world's by 2030.

Natural gas in the United States should be at peak production in the next 10 years. Most of the world's minable coal may last for 300 years more.

By then, scientists hope to have the earth energized by something else–like sun power. They have several ideas of how to bring the sun down to earth.

Orbiting Sun Trap

A huge satellite, put into orbit above the atmosphere 22,300 miles high and revolving always in a fixed position above the United States, would be exposed to sunlight almost 24 hours a day. Rays of the sun would be converted to electricity by millions of solar energy cells covering the satellite's absorbing panels, which might measure 25 square miles.

Changed to microwave energy, the electricity would be beamed to earth for final conversion into electric power circuits.

Another plan calls for miles of suncatchers on sun-baked deserts of the southwest. Panels with specially coated glass pipes would trap the sun's heat like a greenhouse and the heat could then be used to drive electric generators.

Meanwhile, a few dozen houses in the United States–now neighborhood novelties–already are obtaining up to 75 percent of their electricity from sunpower roof panels.

Scientists trying to capture the sun recall that it has not always been put to peaceful use. In 212 B.C., Archimedes, the Greek physicist, defended Syracuse by erecting enormous metal mirrors to reflect the sun and burn the sails of an attacking Roman fleet.

County 'Air Force' Gets First Plane

Charlevoix County has maintained a "navy" for years–the Ironton Ferry.

Now it has an "air force."

County Commissioners agreed last week to accept delivery of a surplus federal government DeHaviland Beaver for use in emergencies on Beaver Island.

Some $4,000 in Revenue Sharing monies will be used to bring the plane to Charlevoix County from Davis-Monthan AFB in Arizona. A total of $1,600 has been earmarked for delivery and insurance and $1,800 for maintenance for the balance of the year.

The six-passenger plane, which will be assigned to the Sheriff's Department, can be converted to carry two stretchers.

It will be used for rapid evacuation of injury victims from the island and for other Civil Defense purposes.

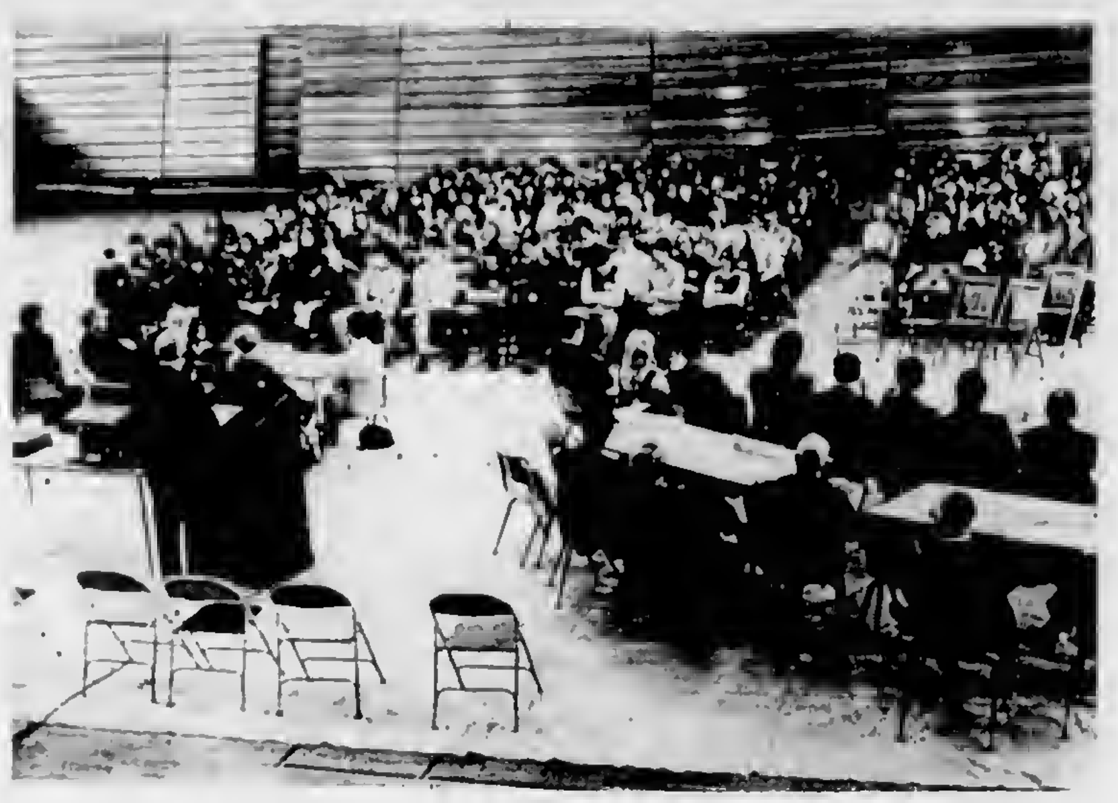
The plane cost the Army $99,529 when it was new.

Three pilots on the island are qualified to handle the craft.

Children Will Get Fluoride

Topical fluoride applications will again be offered to Charlevoix area children this summer, accordig to Mrs. John Uhrick, and Mrs. Curt Kipke co-chairman of Charlevoix's topical fluoride committee.

Sponsored by the Michigan Department of Health, the treatment calls for four visits to the clinic. The teeth are cleaned on the first visit and fluoridated is applied. The next three visits are for fluoride applications only.



APPROXIMATELY 300 high school seniors from Charlevoix, Boyne City, East Jordan, Boyne Falls, Central Lake, Ellsworth and Beaver Island attended Senior Government Day Monday at Charlevoix High School. The program was moderated by D. Hale Brake, former state treasurer who is now director of education for the Michigan Townships Association. Dozens of government representatives, including State Sen. Robert Davis and Rep. Ralph Ostling, were on hand to answer questions posed by the seniors relative to government, the energy crisis, law enforcement and other topics.

Council on Aging Holds 1st Meeting in County

A committee named by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for the purpose of organizing a Council for the Aging in the county held its initial meeting at the county building Friday.

The meeting was called by Clarence Rahach, county clerk and a member of the meeting for the purpose of "getting the thing off the ground", as he put it. After relating the history of the committee, he called on Norman Boeck to whom he had delegated the task of attending meetings and conferences relating to the subject as well as gathering pertinent material.

The purpose of the organization, Boeck said, was to secure and maintain maximum independence and dignity in a home environment for older people capable of self-care with appropriate supportive services and to remove individual and social barriers to economic and personal independence for older persons.

A film depicting some of the ways this could be done and what other communities had accomplished was followed by an explanation of the program, - how it was organized and what could be accomplished through such an organization.

After discussing the advantages of a commission over a council, those present voted to organize a Commission for the Aging and to start by drawing up a constitution and by-laws.

Boeck told the group that approximately 21 percent of the county's population was in the 55 year or older age group and that the percentage was rising every year.

New City Contract Calls For 30¢ Pay Increase

Plus 25¢ Hikes In 1975 and '76

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night ratified a three-year contract covering non-uniformed city employees. The contract calls for hourly rate increases of 30 cents an hour this year, 25 cents an hour in 1975 and 25 cents an hour in 1976.

City employees, represented by the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO), already have ratified the pact.

The new contract also reduces the work-week from 44 hours to 42 hours, according to Acting City Administrator Robert Wexstaff.

Rather than have employees come in for two hours Saturday, Wexstaff said the extra two hours have been added to the Monday-to-Friday work week. Some employees will still be required to work Saturdays, but will receive compensatory time off during the week.

The work-week will drop to 40 hours in March of 1975.

The new constract also:

--Defines temporary and seasonal employees, who are not covered.

–Provides pregnancy leave for female employees, and –Provides for 75 cumulative paid sick days until Jan. 1, 1976, when the number jumps to 80.

In other business the council:

–Told Harold Kaufman that the city expects G&T construction of Traverse City to start work on the May-st. sewer on April 1, weather permitting. Kaufman said he heard that a lawsuit was in the wind, but the rumor was denied by Mayor Edward P. Hansen. G&T has asked the city for $16,000 in addition to the bid price because of rising costs.

--Heard a request by Richard Way for the extension of more sewer and water lines into Westport Subdivision. The city will pay 40 percent of the water line, although te developer must bear the full cost of the sewer line. The city also pays 55 percent of street construction costs. The council said it would work up some cost figures for inclusion in the next budget.

–Approved the appointment of Dan Geneit to the Board of Review to fill the unexpired term (one year) of Theodore Browe.

–Hired William Cockfield to do working drawings of the proposed city dock building, to used by the Beaver Island Boat Co. The architect's fee will be $800.

–Discussed a request by the Belvedere Club to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to construct finger piers for small boats just west of the Belvedere marina.

–Agreed to cash a certificate of deposit totaing $37,599.87 (Revenue Sharing)

It's Rayders vs Devils In Tourney on Tuesday

Charlevoix Red Rayders will meet the East Jordan Red Devils at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March, 5, in the first round of the Class C District Tournaments at Boyne City.

The pairings were announced Monday afternoon after the drawings at Boyne City.

The winner of the Charlevoix-East Jordan match will play Elk Rapids at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 7. Elk Rapids drew a bye on the first round.

Boyne City and Rogers City will pair off Monday, March 4 at 7:30 p.m., with the winner playing Onaway Wednesday, March 6. Onaway drew a bye on the first round.

The finals will be held Saturday, March 9, starting at 7:30 p.m.

All of the tournament games will be played in Boyne City.

Hospital Buys Weekend Emergency Services

Charlevoix Area Hospital will have a fully-staffed emergency room on weekends beginning March 9, according to Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger.

Krueger says the hospital board has engaged an independent organization of emergency room physicians to provide coverage at the hospital from 10 a.m. Saturday until 10 p.m. Sunday.

The move will allow Charlevoix doctors more free time. At present, at least one doctor must remain on call on weekends.

Providing the new service will be the Northern Professional Emergency Physicians of Grayling Krueger said. The organization already is serving several hospitals in northern Michigan.

"In a recent study of the emergency room used by patients, it was found that the number of emergency cases cared for by the hospital medical staff has increased 50 percent in the past 12 months," Krueger said.

He added that Charlevoix doctors presently are handling 3,000 emergencies a year.

"The demand on the medical staff, who are on call for emergencies, has become a tremendous burden," he added.

The new emergency room service not only will ease the demand on Charlevoix doctors but also will provide a greater degree of immediate medical attention to the patient," Krueger pointed out.

Patients will be billed by the emergency physicians for their services.

The organization has been guaranteed at least 60 emergency cases a weekend. If the case load falls short of that number, the doctor on duty will be reimbursed $12.50 by the hospital for every case short of that number.

"If the need for emergency care increases, it is hoped that seven-day-a-week 'in the hospital' emergency room coverage may be possible by July 1," Krueger said.

Jr. High Band Fete Slated for Saturday

Charlevoix High School will be the scene of the District II Junior High Band and Orchestra Festival Saturday, March 2, according to Clarence Odmark, CHS band director.

More than 1,400 junior high musicians from 16 schools throughout the area will participate. Several schools are sending more than one musical group.

The participating schools are Boyne City, East Jordan, Kalkaska, Gaylord (2 groups), Onaway, Cheboygan (2 groups) Benzie Central (2 groups), Traverse City (3 groups), Frankfort, Suttons Bay, Kingsley, Glen Lake, Mancelona, Central Lake, Rogers City and Charlevoix (2 groups).

The festival will begin at 8 a.m. and will continue at 25 minute intervals throughout the day, ending at 6:10 p.m.

Charlevoix will be represented by the Seventh Grade Band, which will open the festival at 8 a.m., and the Eighth Grade Band, scheduled to play at 9:45.

Both groups are directed by Cary L. Stutzman.

The public is invited to attend all events free of charge.

Odmark is serving as local chairman. Stutzman is district chairman of all Band and Orchestra Festivals.

Judges will be James Hewitt, Otsego High School; Monte Sheedle, Owosso High School; William Denhrock, Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport High School; and Lester Knot, Jenison High School.

The local chapter of the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) will serve snacks in the High School cafeteria throughout the day.

WHILE THE COST of fuel oil and gasoline has only doubled in the past year, the price of propane gas has jumped 400 percent in northern Michigan, according to Cong. Philip Ruppe. Ruppe says that although it is too late to be of any assistance this heating season, the Federal Energy Office has established a May 15, 1973, base price on propane gas produced after Jan. 31, 1974, plus any increased costs incurred in production. The Congressman says it will be two months before propane produced under the new regulations will reach consumers. In the meantime they'll pay the high dollar...

THE PRICE of milk is going up again. Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, reports that farmers will begin receiving 60 cents per hundredweight more on March 4. The added cost will be passed on to the consumer. Lake says that milk production costs are skyrocketing and there's no end in sight.

Morweld Steel Co. Is Sold

Moreweld Steel Products Corp. has been sold for a reported $2 million to a Washington D.C.-based firm, it was announced Monday by Moreweld President Maurice Taylor.

The purchaser was listed as Intermarco Management Co., which said it would expand the facilities of the firm.

Moreweld is a heavy steel manufacturer with a major Army defense contract to produce 105 millimeter anti-tank projectiles for the U.S. Army and NATO countries.

It has been operating in Ellsworth since 1950 and has 65 employees.

Taylor said he would remain with the firm for five years as a consultant.

Blizzard Closes School

The winter's first bonafide blizzard of the season roared into the Charlevoix area early Friday morning, abruptly ending a spell of spring-like weather.

Lloyd Kuebler, the city weatherman, said 6.1 inches of snow fell on Charlevoix Friday and Saturday, bringing the season's accumulation to 72 inches.

The storm piled up two-foot drifts across some country roads and reduced visibility.

Charlevoix School Supt. James McKimmey called out the buses at 1 p.m. Friday in order to get youngsters home before roads became impassable.

Winds died Saturday night and Sunday broke frosty and clear for Mardi Gras events.

Ellsworth's First Game Is Thursday

Ellsworth, one of five teams in the Class D tournament scheduled to open at Mancelona Tuesday, drew a first round bye and will not see action until 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

At that time the Lancers will clash with the winner of the Mancelona-Central Lake game.

The finals in this tournament will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 9.

The tournament will open at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 5 when the host team, Mancelona, plays Central Lake.

On Tuesday, Bellaire and Alba, which drew first round byes, will meet at 7:30 p.m. The winner of this game will advance to the finals on Saturday night.

Murphy Wallace Member of Group

Alma College's Kiltie Band, which makes a concert appearance at Charlevoix High School in Charlevoix on Monday, March 4, is regarded one of Michigan's best small college bands.

The 10:45 a.m. concert at Charlevoix High School is one of 16 presentations by the Alma band during its spring tour of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

Miss Maurine (Murphy) Wallace of Charlevoix is a member of the band.

During its marching season the Alma band is attired in colorful kilts of Royal McPherson tartan for its parade participation and for its pregame and halftime performances at Alma College football games. In the last six years, the band has traveled to 13 states and Canada, covering over 15,000 miles.

Each year in May the band plays a leading role in the city of Alma's Highland Festival, an event that lures Scotsmen from throughout the United States and Canada for two days of festivities and competition among pipers, drummers, Highland dancers and pipe bands.

The Alma College was formed in 1922 by student Kenneth Wolfe, now a physician in the city of Alma. From an initial membership of 12 students the band has grown to its present total of 75 musicians. First uniforms of the band, according to Dr. Wolfe, were some old hand-me-down Masonic Lodge outfits. Later the band acquired more appropriate uniforms of maroon and cream, and soon after Alma athletic teams adopted the nickname "Scots" in the 1930's the band obtained its first kilts.

Musicians in the Alma Kiltie Band are students majoring in virtually all of the academic disciplines at the college. Alma College, located at the center of Michigan's lower peninsula, has an enrollment of approximately 1,200 students.

MILK DEPOT FOR CHARLEVOIX

FACTORY DIRECT

Here are the facts:

Town scuttlebutt has probably let you know that we are planning to open a drive in dairy store at the old car wash, located next to Hansen's service station on Bridge Street. This will be completed this spring, but due to the fact that we do our work ourselves, it takes time to finish things the way we want them. At the Bridge street location, you won't have to get out of your car, as it will be drive in service.

Every day we have inquiries as to when we will be in the new building, and sell our products to you at the lowest possible prices. We have decided to accommodate you the best we can until the milkhouse is open, and will be selling products direct from our factory office, located at 206 West Lincoln.

We have had our products distributed through a depot in Boyne City for several weeks, and the response has been tremendous. It is no more than fair, to get the same service available to you, and we have been working toward that end.

Let's tell it like it is. Some people were upset because we had some sour milk a while back. This was true, and no one was more concerned than we were about it. We want to bring you the best product available at the lowest prices we can. In trying to find a top quality milk supply, we got several shipments of milk delivered to us of inferior quality, and this upset us very much. I spent days finding a top notch milk supplier, who believes as I do, in the American free enterprise system.

The milk supply we now have is number one, and laboratory checked every day. We are very happy about this, and felt we should tell you the reason for the poor milk we had during that short period. With any product, the finished product can only be as good as the raw material you have to work with. We now have a premium quality raw product which we are very happy with.

We have been working day and night, to get our operation streamlined. Stop and see our plant. We have nearly completed inside work, and made our office rustic, complete with old barn lumber and Grandpa's antiques. The windmill has been bought, and we will begin work on the outside of the plant in the spring.

The prices of dairy products are soaring so fast, something has to be done so that you can buy the product at the lowest price possible, and we feel the best way to do this is to sell it direct to you from our bottling plant.

Have your take home wages risen 33 percent in the last seven months? This is how much the price of milk has come up, with no end in sight. We have no control over this, as the federal government tells us how much we have to pay.

Since we own one of approximately 22 bottling plants in the entire state, we are in a position to give you factory direct prices, to help you stretch your fast diminishing food money. I talked with a business executive last week, who had talked with all the big boys in the dairy industry, and the recommended increase to take effect on March 4, is 7 cents on the wholesale market, and 10 cents on the retail, per gallon. We are going to do everything in our power to get you the merchandise at prices you can afford to pay.

PRESENT PRICES

1 Gal. Homogenized $1.22
1 Gal. Lo Fat $1.18
1 Gal. Skim $1.03

All our products will be low priced accordingly.

We've got the factory, and the personnel with the know-how to produce a product of top quality, and we look forward to serving you at our Lincoln street plant, until the Village Milkhouse dairy store is completed on Bridge Street.

Mardi Gras Holiday Just What We Needed To Wind Up Winter

Maybe we had brooded on Watergate too long.

Perhaps "cabin fever" had set in at the tag-end of a long and dismal winter.

Maybe we had fretted too much about inflation and the state of the economy.

Whatever the reason, Charlevoixans were ready to pull out all the stops last weekend for the city's first annual Mardi Gras celebration.

With the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce, area businesses, St. Mary's School, civic organizations and a host of individual well-wishers, the big holiday weekend came off with a bang.

And next year's celebration—with more time to plan and something to build on – should be even better.

Particular credit goes to:

--Al Breeze, Mr. Music at Grey Gables who came up with the idea of a Mardi Gras celebration and helped hammer out the details with his volunteer committee.

--Vince Olach at the Chamber of Commerce office who tied all the loose ends together, from the crowning of the king and queen Friday night right through to the street parade Sunday afternoon.

–To Portside Sports, Grey Gables and Hess Furniture which sponsored skating, skiing and cross-country events Saturday.

--To the Lions Club for capping off the gala weekend with its annual winter outing at Ferry Beach.

–To the many businesses which assisted with the election of King William, Queen Elizabeth, Prince Herm and Princess Georgia.

–To Fritz Allard and the kids at St. Mary's School who created the fantastic Mardi Gras heads out of papier mache.

–And to the hundreds of Charlevoixans who kicked in a buck-a-vote during the royal election—all of which went toward equipping the Lions Club's "Sightmobile."

The Mardi Gras promoters have pretty much decided on a similar format next year, with all proceeds going to another yet-to-be named charity.

Mardi Gras was just what we needed this year to take our minds off Watergate, winter and the economy. Hopefully by next year at this time we will really have something to celebrate.

Milk Depot Is Dairy's Answer to Inflation

On Page 3 of this week's Courier, you will find a full page advertisement by the Village Milkhouse (Maxbauer's Dairy) announcing the opening of a milk depot on Wednesday at the plant on Lincoln - st.

Dale Boss, who bought the business last summer, feels that retail prices of dairy products have reached the point where they are beyond the means of many Charlevoix families.

And Mr. Boss, who has raised a brood of kids of his own, knows how important milk is for youngsters.

He hopes that by opening the depot he will be able to provide milk at prices most families can afford.

Although there are bound to be some hard feelings among retailers who handle Maxbauer's products, we are confident that reason will prevail and that Charlevoix will not be confronted by a price war on the dairy front.

Many Charlevoixans will still prefer the convenience of picking up their milk when they do their grocery shopping. Others who spend a disproportionate amount of their food budget for milk undoubtedly will prefer the economy of depot prices.

We wish Mr. Boss well on his newest venture. His courage in attempting to "do something about inflation" is the most heartening news we have heard in some time.

Fatalities Dip, Insurance May Follow

Q. Will the reduction of traffic deaths have any effect on our automobile insurance premiums?

A. A sharp drop—almost 50 percent in the number of lives lost in Michigan traffic accidents in January raises hopes that the cost of auto insurance may start dropping within the foreseeable future.

This comes despite a recent warning by State Insurance Commissioner Daniel Demlow that motorists shouldn't expect any reduction in premiums for "at least a couple of months" or perhaps a year.

This comes, too, as New Jersey reports such great success in its first year of no-fault insurance that drastic premium cuts already have been made and more are believed pending.

Michiga state police reported that 98 persons died in January as a result of traffic accidents in the state. This was a reduction of 89 compared with the 187 in January of last year.

State police reported it was the lowest January death toll since 94 deaths were recorded in 1962. The all-time high was 189 in 1937 and the all-time low was 59 during the war year of 1943.

Several causes are given for the sharp drop, principally a sharp drop in driving mileage because of the energy shortage and because most drivers have voluntarily reduced speed as a fuel-saving measure.

State safety pfficials will be interested in reading the results when the new 55-mile-an-hour speed limit on state highways is put into effect. A bill reducing the state limit to that figure currently is nearing completion of its passage through the Legislature.

The lowered speed limit is expected to cut the traffic toll even more. State police have one interesting theory about the lower death toll which they call the "six-pack theory." It is pegged on the theory that rising unemployment is a factor because unemployed workers are more likely to take a six-pack of beer home and drink it rather than going to a bar and then driving home in a rather shaky state—a significant factor in many accidents.

Insurance Commissioner Demlow said it is too early to tell what effect the drop in the death roll would have on insurance premiums because several factors are involved—the gasoline shortage, higher unemployment with lowered driver mileage, and with the new no-fault law in effect.

He said there is a reluctance by insurance officials to cut premium rates early in the history of the no-fault law for fear that the lowered speed and fewer driving miles may ultimately prove to be more of a significant factor than the experience with no-fault.

In New Jersey's first year of no-fault insurance, an immediate 15 percent cut in premiums was ordered, totaling $87 million and averaging about $25 on each policy.

In addition, other cuts were made of 10 to 15 percent.

New Jersey reports a "substantial" reduction in the number of auto accident cases being taken to court as a result of no-fault.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump Jr.

The theme of the hit song "Knock Three Times" dates back 45 years to the country court house in Newberry. The pipe knocker was the waspish county treasurer who, being brief in all matters, insisted on being addressed simply as Jim. He had been reelected to office ever since arriving with the building cornerstone.

His 'What you doing down there?' was telegraphed to no intriguing female but to Big Ole, the mammoth Scandinavian janitor, who acquired his position through connections with the sheriff according to local rumor. The sheriff did wield a bit of influence from the first time they met in Larsons Hotel-Bar.

There were certain legal aspects to a minor tiff involving some bodily damage and considerable destruction of furniture. Five disfigured patrons were rendered into varying stages of stupor by Ole who was Norwegian, not Swede; a distinction which he thus impressed upon the misinformed.

Being $99.95 short of the $100.00 assessed damage, Ole graciously accepted the sheriff's offer of free lodging, an accommodation he enjoyed over more than 12 years of their staunch friendship. In return, Ole maintained the grounds and buildings with the help of a crew of minor felons recruited periodically by the court.

Ole set up a comfortable bachelor apartment in the basement of the adjacent courthouse as a hibernation for the winter months but Jim hammered home his opposing views by pipe tapping, tapping being a misnomer if ever there was.

No sooner would Ole compose his massive torso in the king size chair salvaged from the judge's chambers when Jim, whose puny frame could slip between the slats of a picket fence, would shatter the solitude of this subterranean retreat with a clanging as deafening as that of a stamping press.

After thus alerting Ole, Jim would lean over and shout into the floor opening around the pipe which was an integral part of the intercom.

"How about some heat up here?"

Jim spent most of his working hours complaining of a particular section of his skinny anatomy freezing off; a habit which startled, embarrassed, offended or amused the varying personalities of his waiting customers.

In due time Ole would lumber in to bleed air out of the system, all the while snorting in Norse about an anemic pen pusher too miserly to buy long johns. Though the words were alien, the focus of Ole's contemptuous glance interpreted the meaning quite adequately.

This display of economy at the local level made tax paying a pleasure and townsfolk waited patiently in line for the privilege of contributing toward such an effective administration.

In those days a computer would never have earned its keep for no self respecting electronic robot would stoop to print out an annual tax bill for $14.38. Although we pay slightly higher taxes today to justify its use, the computer has a far more important advantage. While providing the necessary 'arms length' relationship between ensconsed office holders and grumbling taxpayers, it never has to answer the complaints it creates!

Clockwise

Love & Marriage In Neverville

By BOB CLOCK

Whenever the cares of my workaday world seem almost too much to bear I have an out: I high-tail it up to Neverville in the Upper Peninsula to talk over my problems with Status Quo, the affable manager of the Neverville Chamber of Commerce.

I was sure that the road into Neverville wouldn't be plowed, so I threw my old hickory skis in the back of the bus, bid Judy and the kids goodbye and headed for my fabled Shangri-la on the north shore of Lake Michigan.

As I suspected, the road leading into Neverville from U.S. 2 was blocked by high snowbanks and the little wooden sign pointing south was buried under a drift. But I pulled over on the shoulder, strapped on my skis and headed off into the woods.

The morning air was frosty but the sun shone brightly through the leafless hardwoods with a fierce intensity. Before long I removed my jacket and tied the arms around my waist. I would have a sunburn before the day was over.

Within an hour I reached the outskirts of Neverville and proceeded to ski down the snowy main street toward the Sulphur and Molasses Drug Store. Lake Michigan was a dazzling sheet of snow and ice at the end of the street.

When I reached the drug store, I unbuckled my skis and leaned them up against the building. Then I threw open the big front door and was greeted by a great gust of warm air emanating from the big pot-bellied stove. Status Quo was seated at one of the little wire-legged tables at the back of the room and I headed directly toward him, my ski boots making an ungodly racket on the wooden floor. Status rose to his feet and thrust out his hand when I neared his table.

"Welcome back," he exploded. "I've been waiting for you."

We shook hands and I sat down across from him while Status motioned to the girl behind the counter to bring me a mug of coffee.

"What do you mean you've been waiting for me?" I asked, pulling off my heavy mitts. "How did you know I was coming?"

"I get the Courier," Status replied, matter-of-factly. "And when I read in January that Charlevoix County had 74 divorces and 192 marriages last year — well, I knew you'd be along before too long. Fact is, I expected you before this."

"You guessed right," I told Status as the girl set a steaming mug of coffee in front of me and freshened up the dregs in Status' cup. "I'm worried about what's happening down below, not only in Charlevoix but everywhere else in the state. The divorce rate is so staggering that it is damaging not only to families but to the whole fabric of society as well. Does Neverville have a divorce problem?"

Status poured a dollop of heavy cream into his coffee and looked thoughtful.

"Divorce is a word you very seldom hear in Neverville," he began shortly, "and there's no simple answer, either, because we're human just like everybody else. I can't tell you when the last Neverville couple split up. It' was well before my time, and I've lived here better than 25 years. We don't even have a divorce attorney in town.

"I'll tell you one thing," he continued. "Folks in Neverville don't get married as early as they do elsewhere. When they finally decide to take the step, they know pretty much what they're looking for. Most of the fellows are up in their late 20's and the girls are not far behind. Can't tell you when we had a teenage marriage in Neverville. Must have been years ago."

"But you can't tell me that every couple in Neverville is happily married," I protested.

"No, I wouldn't go that far," Status answered slowly. "But I would say that they're tolerably happy, and, when all things are considered, I'd say that's quite an achievement."

"But is it right, in today's liberated society, to be satisfied with only being tolerably happy when everyone has a god-given right to be soblimely happy?" I asked.

Status looked puzzled.

"You've gotten hold of some bad information somewhere," Status answered. "You know, the old fellows who gave us our constitution didn't guarantee us the right to happiness. Only the 'pursuit of happiness.' A lot of people get the two mixed up. Nobody is 100 percent happy, 100 percent of the time. Why if he were, he wouldn't even know that he was happy because he'd have nothing to compare it with. The only people I know who are completely happy are locked up in state institutions.

"But for some reason," Status continued, "a lot of people down below have the idea that the first time something goes wrong with their marriage they have an obligation to themselves to run to the divorce court. Up here in Neverville we know that problems—all problems— are fleeting; just as happiness—any kind of happiness is fleeting.

"I've told you before that time is one commodity we have in abundance in Neverville. And time can take care of so many problems, if you only let it."

I was growing exasperated.

"Do you mean to tell me that when a marriage goes sour in Neverville, you just sit back and let time take care of it?"

Status smiled.

"That's about it. If you take your marriage vows seriously, and most of us do, then you'll know that our old enemy Time can also be our best friend. Why Mrs. Quo and I had a real set-to this morning after she frizzled my eggs for the third morning hand-running. I left the house in a real huff. But she's making me an apple pie for lunch—you can smell it all over town—and I'm taking her a box of candy when I go home. We'll have things patched up by lunch time."

"Frizzled eggs are one thing," I answered. "But what about big problems like sex and money? Can time take care of those?"

Status studied his empty coffee cup.

"There are sex problems and money problems in Neverville, just like everywhere else," Status answered. "We all grow old and we all get down on our luck once in a while, but..."

Status paused and let his eyes drift toward the snowy sunlight on main street.

"But it doesn't make sense to solve one problem by creating a larger problem, does it. There has to be a spark of something – call it love – between two people or they wouldn't get married in the first place. And that spark never goes out if you fan it everyday with a little kindness and consideration for each other."

I could see I was getting no where and emptied my cup without speaking.

"Another thing," Status said, "Nevervillians make a big thing of wedding anniversaries. One year, two years, ten years, 50 years — we celebrate them all. After all, every year of married life is an accomplishment of sorts. It's worth saving and building on.

"And another thing," he continued, "Nevervillians don't pretend to have all the answers to life's problems. We talk over the real sticky ones with the Man Upstairs every Sunday in Church and somehow they aren't so sticky after all. Works like a charm. You folks down in Charlevoix ought to try it. After all, church is where you speak your wedding vows and that's where you can renew them every week, if you've a mind to."

"We have more than a dozen churches in Charlevoix," I huffed.

"Are they filled every Sunday?" Status asked.

I didn't say anything because Status already knew the answer as well as I did.

If it Fitz

Don't Touch Me!

By Jim Fitzgerald

Remember that TV commercial where the joker was striding forward purposefully, all clear ahead, when suddenly CLANG! He hit an invisible shield constructed to keep cavities out of neighborhood teeth.

Well, in Detroit there's a guy named Sexton who this year will sell $8 million worth of those shields. The purpose of Sexton's shields is to keep the good guys safe from the bad guys.

I checked into a motel the other night. The room clerk was sitting in the middle of a glass box. I expected goldfish to swim by his head.

I rapped on the shield to get his attention, and then spoke into a microphone. As a smalltown boy, I wanted to know what was going on. The clerk explained he was encased in bullet-proof acrylic plastic to protect against burglars.

"This reminds me of the penny arcade," I told him. "There should be two handles sticking out of your case and a claw on the inside. For 25 cents I would get one minute to pick you up in the claw and drop you through the credit-card slot. If you shook loose, I would still get a bubble gum ball."

Old-timers might remember when taxi drivers got out of the car and opened the back door for customers. Today a big-city cabbie is so scared he won't get out of his car until it is parked in his bedroom with the blanket pulled up over the hood.

The shield between cabbie and customer always aches my chintzy nature. The idea of the wall is so I can't rob him. But what if the fare is $3 and all I have is a $5 bill? When I slip the $5 through the money slot, will he think I'm tipping him $2? How do I tell him I'm not a big spender, send him a postcard? I wouldn't dare pound on the shield. I think that automatically fills the backseat with tear gas and sets off an all-points alarm in Efrem Zimbalist jr.'s bedroom.

The ultimate in complicated security is the set-up designed by Sexton for dry cleaners. Clothes are bulky. You can't slip an overcoat through a money slot. So Sexton has constructed an acrylic cage with double doors. The customer opens his door and inserts the clothes in a closet. He then shuts his door which makes it possible for the clerk to open another door on the other side of the closet and snatch the clothes. Or vice versa. Both doors cannot be opened at the same time.

Beautiful. Who says people need people? After a hard day's work, the dry cleaner clerk goes home and sleeps in an empty tooth brush tube.

The purpose of shields, of course, is to assure that nobody touches nobody no way. If a man can't shake your hand or pinch your bottom, he also can't break your face or grab your purse.

There may be some of us who think the game is worth the risk. Touching another person is supposed to be good for you. Many ministers encourage it during Sunday services. Psychiatrists use touching in group therapy and charge $50 an hour for teaching adults to play ring around the rosy.

But there is nothing therapeutic about a stranger's touch at midnight in Central Park. A mugged man quickly learns to distrust the world.

In a few years, Sexton will probably be selling portable shields to be worn while walking through ghettoes or on campus. Double doors will be strategically located so that, for instance, eating would be similar to making a deposit at a drive-in bank.

But a shielded life isn't funny. It's the saddest damn thing I ever heard of.

Brothers Thank Mr. Meeske

Mr. Bob Clock, Editor,
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Mi., 49720

Dear Bob:

We sincerely thank you for the assistance on our Winter Sports outing February 17th, which turned out to be a success.

We would like to publicly thank the sponsor, Mr. John S. Meeske, Gen'l Mgr., Shanty Creek Ski Lodge, Mr. Will Wiegandt, Big Brother, Bellaire, coordinator and the Community Chest support that made it all possible.

It was attended by 15 Big Brothers and 19 Little Brothers which included 8 from Petoskey Big Brothers as our guests.

The afternoon was filled with skiing, sit skiing, snowmobiling, etc., on our own slope with a welcome warming shack with snacks at the bottom.

It was topped off by a superb luncheon in the main lodge with seemingly endless supply of food and all were home by dark without a single bad incident.

Sincerely,
William E. Miller

'World Day of Prayer' Plans For City Revealed

Charlevoix will celebrate the World Day of Prayer Friday, March 1, with services starting at 1:30 p.m.

Theme of the program is "Make Us Builders of Peace," according to Mrs. Vernon Matthews jr., program leader.

Music for the program will be supplied by Mrs. James Jensen, pianist, and Mrs. Dawson Way, organist.

They will accompany soloists Mrs. Reed McVey and Mrs. Lee Moerland. A duet will be sung by Mrs. Mike Bonar and Mrs. Delbert Batdorff.

Mrs. Jerrald Redecker and Mrs. Richard Oostmeyer will speak briefly on "How Prayer Brings Peace."

Prayers will be offered and Scriptures read by representatives of the several churches of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association.

The offering will be used in mission work by Church Women United.

Mrs. Jane Fiedler, publicity chairman, urged all members of the community to attend, both men and women.

"The people of the community are invited to share this time of visible fellowship, through songs, Scriptures, prayers and testimonies, that we may be better prepared to be "Builders of Peace" in our homes, neighborhoods and nations," Mrs. Fiedler says.

JERRY SKIPPERGOSH catches a rebound during first quarter rally against Petoskey Northmen. The Petoskey squad learned where the basket was in the second period, however, and went on to win by nine points.

MIKE STREETER (23) takes a long shot at the basket in Rayder-Northmen game Tuesday. He made it.

Early Lead Evaporates As Northmen Catch Fire

The Charlevoix Rayders were scheduled to play at Gaylord Tuesday, Feb. 26, in a game postponed from Friday because of the blizzard.

In their last appearance on the court, the Rayders bowed to the Petoskey Northmen by a score of 62-53.

The Northmen, intent on sharing in the league title presently held by St. Ignace, were outscored by the Rayders 18-12 in the first period as Jerry Skippergosh swished in four field goals and two charity shots and Randy Faust, Clayt Jones, Mike Streeter and Bob Alger added one each from the floor.

In the second period, however, the Northmen took over 20-7 for a 34-25 halftime advantage as the Rayders scoring was limited to two buckets by Streeter, one by Alger and a free throw by Skippergosh.

As the game went into the second half, the Rayders were able to hold the Northmen to seven field goals while picking up six for themselves on three by Skippergosh, two by Streeter and one by Jones.

The last period surge that the Rayders were hoping for never developed as both teams scored 16 points apiece to give the Northmen a nine-point win. Skippergosh scored a field goal and two free throws, Jones and Alger two buckets each and Faust and Streeter one each.

Skippergosh was top scorer for the Rayders with 21 points followed by Streeter with 12; Jones and Alger with eight each and Faust with four points to account for the Rayders' 24 field goals and five of seven free throw attempts while collecting 10 personal fouls.

Kim Thomson had 20, Dave Kalchik 16 and Bruce Hilton 12 for the Northmen who scored 30 field goals and two of six free throws. The team had 11 personal fouls.

JV's Lose To Northmen

Charlevoix's little Rayders, in their meeting with Petoskey on their home court Tuesday, came out on the short end of a 43-25 score as they failed to hit in double figures through the game.

Petoskey went ahead 8-3 at the end of the first quarter, increased the lead to 18-7 at halftime and 27-16 going into the final period.

Steve Michael scored eight points, Matt Doan seven, Scott Boss four, Jim Skippergosh and Eric Slone, two points each and Kirk Lieberman and Mark Hosmer, one point each for the game.

Wareck had 10 for the Northmen's JV's.

Lancers Stage Easy Victory Over Wolves

The Ellsworth Lancers easily defeated Wolverine by a score of 66-50 in a game played Saturday afternoon.

The Lancers will travel to Mackinaw City this week to do battle with the league leading Mackinaw City's Comets.

In their game with the Wolves Saturday, the Lancers were never headed as they led 14-8, 32-18 and 49-32 by quarters.

Fred Vail with 21 points paced the victory followed by Dennis Way with 12 and Jerry Klooster with 10.

Al Coale had 24 for Wolverine.

The Ellsworth JV squad defeated the young Wolves 63-41.

V-Ball Team Eyes Title Here Tonight

The Charlevoix Rayder girls volleyball team, coached by Mrs. Marie Osterberg, will close out its current season Wednesday when a four-team meet is held here with Charlevoix as the host team.

The local squad will go into the meet with a 17-1 record. Playing here Wednesday night in a meet that may decide the league title currently held by Gaylord will be Rogers City, Cheboygan and Gaylord.

In last week's competition, Charlevoix won all three matches but dropped games to Boyne City and St. Ignace.

Charlevoix defeated Cheboygan 15-7 and 15-5; won the first game over Boyne City, 15-5; dropped the second 15-12 and rallied to take the third 15-10 for the match and lost to St. Ignace 15-11 but came back strong to win the last two 15-1 and 15-7.

Going into Wednesday's action, the Charlevoix team, with a 17-1 record in Michigan-Huron Shores league action, is in the running for the title now held by Gaylord (16-2), Mrs. Osterberg said.

Red Devils Come From Behind to Win

The East Jordan Red Devils had to come from behind Saturday night to defeat a stubborn Bellaire five that battled right down to the final horn when the scoreboard stood at 73-71.

Bellaire had taken a slim 18-17 first period lead only to have the Jordanites fight back to take a 39-34 haftime margin.

Bellaire, however, was not going to give up without a struggle as they fougt back for a 54-49 advantage going into the final period when East Jordan outscored the Eagles 24-17 for the victory.

Pete Hammond with 31 points kept the Devils in the running with Bob Nemecek adding 12 and Terry Murphy and Bill Reid 10 each.

Roger Mason had 20 points, Glen Bruner, 15, Tom Lane 14 and John Overpuel 13 for Bellaire.

The Bellaire JV's won easily by a score of 61-30 over the young Red Devils.

Ramblers Closing In On Conference Title

The Boyne City Ramblers assured themselves of at least a share of the Michigan-Huron Shores title with a 102-58 win over Rogers City Saturday night.

Only a victory over the third place Petoskey Northmen on Friday stand between Coach Russ Harvey's lads and possession of the title now held by St. Ignace.

In their meeting with Rogers City, the Ramblers were in command all the way with a 23-19 first period lead which was increased to 50-33 at halftime and 78-45 going into the final eight minutes.

All five starters were in double figures led by Dave Peck with 24 points and followed by Scott Upton and Lon Kowalso with 23 each and Terry Elzinga and Brad Upton with 12 points each.

Mark Belusar had 20 and Mike Florip 12 points for the Hurons.

The Rogers City JV's defeated the Rambler JV's 65-63 in an overtime.

Drew, Whitley, Christ In Wrestling Regionals

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team will be represented by three of its members, Terry Drew in the 132 pound class, Pat Whitley in the 145 pound category, and heavyweight Phil Christ when the local squad goes to Freeland Saturday to participate in regional competition.

These three Rayders survived tough district competition at Benzie Central Saturday to advance to the higher bracket.

Charlevoix, with eight points, placed ninth among 11 teams entered in the district meet. Rogers City and Reed City with 19 points each won the meet. Other area teams that racked up points were Onaway in sixth place with 10½ points; Grayling next with 10; Kalkaska in eighth with 8½ points and Elk Rapids in a tie with Roscommon for last place.

Drew, a sophomore, pinned Larry Kruse of Roscommon in 55 seconds and Duane Cox of Scottville in 1:48 to win; Whitley, senior captain, won in a 9-3 decision over Dan Beltz of Roscommon and Christ, a junior, pinned Gordon Babcock in :38 seconds to place first in his class.

Coach Norm Probert said that Tim DeYoung finished the season undefeated in dual meet competition but lost in the district meet.

Before going into district competition Saturday, the Rayder wrestlers had won Thursday in a meet at Glen Lake by a score of 50-46 and lost to Frankfort by a 30-26 score.

At Glenn Lake the following players won by pins: Tim DeYoung (98); Dan Key (105); Terry Drew (132) and Terry Mol (138). Rex Hodge (112) and Phil Christ (heavyweight) won by forfeits and Bob Hilton (119); Pat Whitley (145) and Dan Mort (155) by decisions. Mort's was by a superior 22-1 score.

At Frankfort Frank Olach (119) and Whitley won by pins; and Tim DeYoung, Tom Mort (155), Dan Mort (167) and Christ won in decisions. Dan Mort and Christ won by superior decisions of 10-0 and 23-98, respectively.

Coach Probert had only praise for Dan Mort who only recently received permission to compete after an earlier illness. He won by superior decision in both meets.

The Rayders finished the season with an 8-5 record in dual competition.

Eat and Grow Younger

Low-Protein Diet Unwise--Can Be Dangerous to Health

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Seven of a Series

WE'RE VEGETARIANS!
MACA RONI

I am not an advocate of vegetarianism. However, I realize there exist strong religious convictions which reconcile thousands of persons to a meatless diet. And I have no intention of attempting to convert them to a meat diet (although I shall suggest foods that can increase the amount of high-protein in such a diet without materially increasing the bulk).

All too frequently, enthusiastic vegetarians will convert to their way of eating, others whose health may actually be endangered by this low-protein diet, and who have no strong religious convictions to prevent their adopting a more youth-protecting diet. It is to these fad vegetarians that any efforts at conversion in this chapter are principally directed.

My wife told me not long ago of a couple who unloaded 24 packages of macaroni and spaghetti from their basket onto the checker's counter in a large supermarket.

"We're vegetarians," the woman said to the checker, evidently by way of explanation.

HIGH-STARCH DISHES BAD

That's exactly the danger point in most vegetarian diets. High-starch dishes take the place of high-protein foods. And the protein obtained from lentils, legumes, soybeans and nuts is neither a complete protein nor ample enough to counterbalance all the pure starches eaten to satisfy hunger. Actually, many vegetarian diets are nothing more nor less than biologically unsound high-starch diets.

Generally speaking, vegetarians fall into three classes: The first group includes those who live mostly on fruits and nuts, and regard all animal food as physically degenerating and morally debasing.

The second group objects to eating animal flesh, either for religious or moral reasons, but includes all vegetable foods, in addition to fruits and nuts. The third group is composed of dieters known as "lacto-vegetarians," that is, they are permitted all vegetable foods plus milk, milk products and eggs, although no animal flesh, either because of sentimental reasons or because of a false notion that a meatless diet makes for better health.

LARGE QUANTITIES NEEDED

In the first two groups—those eating nothing except fruits and nuts, and those eating these foods together with all vegetables — enormous quantities of plant foods must be consumed to provide even a minimum of the body's daily protein requirement. After a time, the human digestive tract is likely to have trouble taking care of so much bulk.

The "lacto-vegetarians" are merely non-meat eaters. Since they are obtaining high-grade protein from eggs, cheese and other milk products, theirs is by far the safest vegetarian diet, providing they are careful to supply their bodies with the minerals and vitamins, in concentrated form, which they miss by not eating fish, poultry or red meats.

One prejudice against meat grew up in the old days when a mistaken theory was advanced that "dangerous and toxic effects of putrefying bacteria in the lower intestine" was a result of eating meat. Nothing, of course, could be further from the truth. Any putrefaction that takes place in the intestinal tract usually results from half-digested starches in a digestive system that is overloaded with carbohydrates.

Don't bring on protein-starvation, with its accompanying dangers to your health and to your desire to avoid growing old too soon, merely to avoid a vague disorder, not scientifically established.

Properly cooked meats do not implant germs in the body, nor produce toxic conditions in the intestines. The hydrochloric acid in your stomach juices is so powerful a germ killer that by the time the digestive acids finish their job on the meat you eat, it is wholly bacteria-free.

Meat is the most easily digested protein food and is highly nourishing. To shun it for any reason whatsoever is to cheat the body of a high-grade protein that carries with it valuable supplies of minerals, vitamins and other nutrients.

It's next to impossible for an all-vegetable diet to provide your body with an abundance of the essential nutrients so vitally needed if you are to enjoy a long life and a youthful one.

NOT TRUE VEGETARIANS

Time and again I have had George Bernard Shaw and Mahatma Gandhi pointed out to me as good examples of "vegetarians" who lived long and vigorous lives. Yet here's the flaw in this argument. Neither was a vegetarian in the strictest sense of the word — they simply did not eat meat. Both ate liberally of eggs, milk and cheese, thereby fortifying their bodies with high-grade protein.

If you do not touch flesh food (the most concentrated source of high-grade protein), then by all means you should include ample quantities of eggs, cheese, skim milk powder, buttermilk or other sour milk products, and seed cereals in your daily meals.

Using skim milk powder liberally in cooked and uncooked foods is a splendid way of fortifying a diet with extra protein.

One advantage of a high-protein diet is that you can eat less in bulk, yet be well nourished, whereas the average high-starch diet overloads the stomach, placing a severe strain on a no-longer-quite-so-young heart.

Waldner Petitions Board To Meet on Consolidation

Karl Waldner and four other residents of the Twin Valley School District have petitioned the Board of Education to hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 28, at the Boyne City High School to discuss problems in connection with the demerger of the district.

Six years ago, the former Boyne City and Twin Valley School Districts voted to consolidate, however in the years since the combined district has been unable to generate support for funds for a new high school and consolidation is floundering.

The petition, which was signed by Waldner, John Mariage, Martin L. Paul, Roseann Herrmann and Patricia Fall, was presented by board member Oral Sutliff.

Waldner says such a special meeting may be called by petition under the Michigan Constitution, Article 1, Section 3.

Specifically the petitioners want to discuss whether or not Sen. Robert Davis and Reps. Mark Thompson and Ralph Ostling should be asked to draft and introduce amendatory referendum language to the consolidation law which would give residents of the district the right to change their minds on consolidation.

They also would like to discuss whether the question of split sessions should be put on the June school ballot.

The petitioners imply that the board has been stalling on a school building program "more reflective of the district's citizen's true needs" and they question the right of the board to impose a three-minute speaking rule for visitors at board meetings.

They also question the legality of barring citizens from board-teacher contract negotiations. They also would like two or more public meetings of the board each month, with the implication that in the past some meetings have been held in secret.

Waldner says the special meeting will be open to all citizens and there will be no three-minute limit on presentations.

In cross-country ski events sponsored by Portside Sports, Jon Paget posted the best time; Sue Miller was the youngest finisher; Edith Gilbert was the...well, the "most mature" finisher; and Maureen Fochtman finished last.

MARY HELVIG carries her interest in nature into the classroom. Here she pores over book on dinosaurs with Rhonda Buchanan and Dane Tollas, second graders at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

Miss Helvig Brings Love Of Nature to Classroom

Mary Helvig, a second grade teacher at the K-4 Elementary building, is a native of Fairmont, a small town in southern Minnesota.

During many of her summers in Fairmont Mary acted as a director for children's recreation programs.

Her interest in children was continued at Augsburg College in Minneapolis where she earned a degree in elementary education.

Miss Helvig started her teaching career with a move to Saginaw, where she taught second grade children for two years. Her love for travel and the out-of-doors then took her to Colorado for four years where her teaching experience included working with third and fourth grade students.

Mary's last move brought her to Charlevoix. She travels daily to Charlevoix from Norwood where she lives in a large farmhouse overlooking Grand Traverse Bay.

Being out of doors is one of Mary's interests along with traveling. Two of her summers have been spent at Rocky Mountain National Park where she took ecology courses. Any season will find Miss Helvig out of doors with her friends. In the winter she roams the countryside on snowshoes, cross country skis or snowmobile. During the warmer months she enjoys hiking, camping, canoeing and golfing. She also likes to spend time at her trailer in the Upper Peninsula. An owner of property near Ironwood, she enjoys the woodsy wilderness that the Upper Peninsula still offers.

Yes, there's no doubt that Mary has a feeling for natural things--woods, wilderness, and naturally-kids.

Char-Em OK's 13.2 Cents a Mile

Char-Em Intermediate Board of Education approved mileage reimbursement rate on a sliding scale based upon the price of gasoline. The current rate will be 13.2 cents per mile.

James S. Shepard, superintendent, reported that the Department of Natural Resources intends to make application for the government surplus lighthouse on Beaver Island's south point.

The Board directed the Superintendent to explore with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources the potential utilization of the property by the area school districts for outdoor education programs.

The time and date for the General Fund preliminary budget hearing of constituent school district representatives was set for 8:30 p.m. Feb. 25, 1974.

The Board discussed the career education program and heard a report from Susan J. Shepherd and Jim Wilderom on current and future activities involving the project.

As Prices Soar

EJ Council Hesitates On Big Street Program

It may be some time before East Jordan gets its massive street improvement program proposed late last year.

East Jordan City councilmen indicated they wouldn't go ahead with the proposed $5,139,000 project because of the current economic situation.

Last November, Williams and Works of Grand Rapids presented council with a seven-phase preliminary study that called for both street rennovation and the addition of storm and sanitary sewers.

With the proposal in hand, the council and city superintendent were to evaluate the study and scale it down to something that would meet the city's needs both economically and physically.

After reviewing plans and deciding on possible financing alternatives the council indicated it would put the question before the voters.

But with rising costs and an unstable economic situation, the council members are hesitant about going ahead with the project.

"If we don't get a bond issue, there are going to be a lot of people disappointed in the town," Councilman Bob Pearsall said recently.

Mayor Harry Watson said the cost is 20 times more than the city can afford.

"This is one of the things with austerity that might have to be laid aside," he said.

However, Pearsall said he wants East Jordan residents to know why it won't be done.

After talking with two different engineering firms, Watson said the project proposed by Williams and Works could be done for a lot less.

In the meantime, he said there were some stop-gap measures that could be done now and later included in a long-range program.

Despite the situation, City Supt. Dennis Stepke said the city should continue to provide a maintenance program.

Pearsall added that he didn't think people are aware of how much the cost of street construction has increased.

The matter has been referred to the council's street committee, which will report back in March.

Players 'Outclassed'

Debaters Place Second In State Competition

The Charlevoix High School One Act play cast returned home Saturday with a single excellent acting award after participating in the state finals at Mt. Pleasant Friday and Saturday.

Twelve schools ranging in size from Class A through C appeared in plays of their choosing, Mrs. Connie Ford, coach of the local team said. She went on to say that "Our girls did a good job. I was proud of them. They were just outclassed."

Susan Boss was awarded an excellent acting award for her performance in the CHS performance of "To Burn a Witch."

Southfield won top honors with "Vivat, Vivat Regina", a period production; St. John's High School was second with "Spoon River Anthology"; Portage Northern, third, with "The Miracle Worker" and Midland Dow, fourth, with "Inherit the Wind".

Charlevoix placed first in state competition in 1973.

Local residents will see the production when the class presents its "Evening of Entertainment" next month.

Last week, the CHS Debate Team, also coached by Mrs. Ford, placed second in the state in Class C-D competition of the Michigan High School Forensics Association State Championship Debate Finals at Central Michigan University.

Charlevoix lost to Ithaca High School by a 2-1 decision to place second among 18 entries in the class.

Charlevoix went into the semi-finals with a 6-0 record against Ann Arbor Green Hills, former state champions, whom the team defeated 3-0.

Their loss in the finals was the only one suffered by the local debaters in the entire tournament.

The debaters argued the question: Resolved: That the Federal government shall provide a program to employ all employable U.S. citizens living in poverty.

Members of the Debate Team are Anita Boss and Shiela Brady, seniors; and Gayle Boss and Kim Blanchard, juniors.

MSU Cites Debra Smith

Debra Smith of R-1, Charlevoix, was among 619 Michigan State University students who achieved all-A's during the fall term.

Of the honor students, 501 were from Michigan and 118 were from out of state.

Grandvue Addition Depends on Water

Charlevoix County Social Services is planning another addition to the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

Vern Whiteford of the Charlevoix County Social Services Board has asked East Jordan to consider extending a water main from the city to the facility.

He said the move was to accommodate the possibility of adding another 28 to 30 beds to the all ready till to 70-bed capacity center.

"I would like to know if it would be possible?" Whiteford asked recently.

He said Grandvue presently has two old wells on the site that on hot summer days cannot provide enough water to even to the grass.

He added that the present facility has a waiting list.

Under Whiteford's recommendation, the city would finance the project as it did for a sewer extension several years ago.

The county board met two weeks ago with an Ypsilanti engineering firm to discuss the proposal.

Librarian To Speak at U-M Dinner

Robert M. Warner, director of The Bentley Library for Michigan Historical Collections and professor of history, at the University of Michigan, will be the featured speaker at a Feb. 28 dinner meeting, sponsored by the U-M Alumni Club of Cheboygan.

The meeting will be held in the Indian River Inn, Old US-27, in Indian River. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7:30 p.m. All "Top O'Michigan" alumni and historical society members are cordially invited to attend and hear Dr. Warner's remarks.

Dr. Warner has delighted numerous alumni and historical societies audiences with readings from the diaries of Michigan's first students and with liberal quotes from the first U-M faculty and administrators.

Islander Recalls Trip to City Across Ice Forty Years Ago

Patrick LaFreniere of Beaver Island, who is spending the winter in Charlevoix, recalls that it was just 40 years ago March 4 that he and four other Beaver Islanders made a memorable journey from St. James to Charlevoix on the ice to bring back building materials for the island's Roosevelt School.

Accompanying LaFreniere on the hazardous trip were his brother, Archie LaFreniere, Charlie Martin, Stanley Floyd, all of Beaver Island, and the late Emmet McCann.

Charlie Martin led the caravan in a Dodge touring car with a platform mounted on the rear. LaFreniere drove a two-ton Chevrolet truck with a pair of sleighs behind.

Although there was solid ice from the island to the mainland, the party started out with extreme caution, testing any suspicious patches of ice before venturing onto them.

"Charlie went first," LaFreniere recalls. "I figured if he could make it, I could make it."

The travelers headed due east of St. James to Ile aux Galets (Skilagalee) where they chatted with some ice fishermen from the mainland.

Then they headed south across the mouth of Little Traverse Bay toward Charlevoix.

When they reached town, they were chagrined to find high ice banks along the shore that were too rugged for the two vehicles. Finally they found a spot near the present Charlevoix Hospital where the banks weren't quite so high. They were able to reach land with the help of Capt. Oscar Smith and his Coast Guard crew.

The party left St. James at 7 a.m. and arrived in Charlevoix at 7 p.m. - a 12 hour trip across the frozen wastes of northern Lake Michigan. The temperature was in the 20's most of the day.

After picking up lumber, building blocks, mortar, plaster, nails and lathe at the Parmalee Lumber Co. and loading them on the truck and sleigh, the party headed back for St. James on March 7.

Before leaving, LaFreniere surveyed the route across the ice to the island by air, the small plane traveling about 20 feet over the ice.

"There was only one crack, about six inches wide, near the steamboat channel, although the temperature that morning was 34 degrees below zero," LaFreniere says.

After returning to Charlevoix, LaFreniere hopped in his truck and the party set off, hell bent for election, heading straight for the south end of the island.

When they reached the crack, it had closed to about two inches and the car and truck crossed over without incident.

At the steamboat channel they headed north toward St. James.

"We found out later that Gat and Julie Cole, who lived at the south end of the Island, thought they were losing their minds when they looked out their window and saw a Dodge car and a Chevy truck driving up the steamboat channel," LaFreniere recalls.

They encountered another crack in the ice in Paradise Bay and the sleigh lost of its runners, but the party reached shore safely.

Sierra Club Is Seeking Moratorium on N-Plants

Michael McCloskey, the executive director of the Sierra Club of San Francisco, the nation's oldest and one of the largest conservation organizations in the country, came to Midland to meet with area Sierra Club leaders on Wednesday, Feb. 20.

McCloskey discussed plans fur implementing the resolution passed by the Board of Directors of the Sierra Club on Jan. 13, calling for a moratorium on the licensing, construction and operation of new nuclear reactors utilizing the fission process.

The Sierra Club was one of three national environmental organizations that intervened in the Midland case.

The contents of two secret reports of great importance to Michigan residents, which the Atomic Energy Commission and the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy have suppressed, were discussed and are being disclosed to the public here. One report has to do with the proposed new guidelines for nuclear power plant siting which the AEC Regulatory Staff has prepared. These guidelines list the locations of both the Midland N-plants and Fermi No. 2 in Lagonna Beach near Detroit as unsafe.

The Atomic Energy Commission has not only kept these guidelines secret, but has refused to implement these siting standards drawn up by its Regulatory Staff.

According to the Staff's new way of determining safe locations for nuclear plants, nearly one out of every three N-plant sites now proposed is unsafe.

The AEC met with nuclear industry representatives on April 12, 1973, to disclose these new siting guidelines. The Commission was warned by the nuclear industry at that time that there would be adverse public reaction from issuance of these criteria because they would alert the public to the nuclear safety problem.

The Commission bowed to the public relations advice of the industry and suppressed the report. The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy permitted the suppression of this report.

In addition to the secret siting guidelines, the report of an AEC Task Force that was charged to study in depth abnormal operational problems in nuclear plants also was suppressed by the Commission and the Joint Committee.

Their report concluded that serious safety problems are "besieging" the country's nuclear power plants and that the level of safety of nuclear power plants is "still an unanswered question."

Both of these secret reports were made public for the first time by Ralph Nader and the Union of Concerned Scientists in testimony before the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy on Jan. 28, 1974.

Following these disclosures, Nader and UCS charged the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy with failure to perform their watchdog function of reviewing the nuclear program objectively and giving Congress and the public the necessary information to guard public health and safety.

They called upon the Joint Committee to recommend its own dissolution and on the leadership of Congress to set up a Select Committee to investigate and report independently to Congress on the safety hazards associated with nuclear power.

SPARKS from a welder's torch started a fire at La Croft condominium at the foot of Dixon-ave. Thursday. Charlevoix firemen answered the call and damage was minimal.

Handicapped Kids Enjoy Winter Outing

Saturday, Feb. 16, proved to be an afternoon of fun for the 19 mentally and physically handicapped youngsters who were guests at the annual Fun Day hosted by the East Jordan Snowmobile Club.

Nine snowmobiles and cutters manned by 15 club members awaited the youngsters when they arrived at the clubhouse at 1 p.m. Saturday. After rides around the club grounds, everyone entered the clubhouse for a lunch of hotdogs, cake and hot chocolate...all everyone could eat. Everyone then returned to the out-of-doors for more rides before departing for home late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Michael Raecke, director of ARC Sheltered Workshop here, reported that it was a fun afternoon for adults as well as the youngsters. "Physically handicapped youngsters were picked up by teams of adults and placed in cutters for the snowmobile rides and other entertainment. The kids loved the hospitality of the group as much as the adults who accompanied them appreciated their efforts. It's a fine community service project the club renders and they should be commended for their efforts in behalf of these people" Mrs. Raecke said.

CG Urges Care On Frozen Lakes

If you have a mind to go traipsing across the frozen surface of the northern Great Lakes this winter, take heed:

Officers on the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, stationed in Charlevoix, reported last week that the cutter would begin ice-breaking operations Feb. 20 to assist the tug James A. Hannah and barge from the Straits to Lansing Shoal light.

Additional icebreaking may take place in the vicinity of the Drummond Island ferry.

"Fishermen, snowmobilers and anyone who uses the frozen surface of these waterways is advised to use caution when venturing onto them," the Coast Guard says.

The Coast Guard suggests that anyone traveling on the ice should exercise extreme caution, particularly around "tracks" left by passing vessels.

Persons are encouraged to call the nearest Coast Guard station to obtain the latest information on locations where ice-breaking is taking place.

Mrs. Allard died Feb. 24 at Charlevoix Hospital a few hours after she was admitted.

The former Lela Howe was born in Hayes Township March 6, 1896. She was married to Mr. Allard in 1916 and the couple always made their home in Charlevoix, where Mr. Allard was in charge of the street department. He died in March, 1973.

Mrs. Allard was a member of St. Marys Church and its Rosary Altar Society. She also was a member and past president of the American Legion Auxiliary. She catered during the summer at the Belvedere Club.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Clinton Groth of LaCanada, Calif., a nephew, William Steffens of Petoskey, whom she raised, and other nieces and nephews.

Persons wishing to honor Mrs. Allard's memory are asked to contribute to the American Legion Auxiliary Fund.

Smith

Funeral for Mrs. Mary I. Smith, 59, of Charlevoix was held at the First Baptist Church Feb. 22, the Rev. John Cail officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith died Feb. 19 at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City where she had been a patient for one week. She had been in failing health since last spring.

Council

to repay the electric fund 16,000 and McRae Lumber Co., $8,000 for the addition to the city garage. The balance will be reinvested.

--Appointed Leonard Dubey street administrator, succeeding Ida Heise, who resigned.

--Hired Materials Testing Co. of Grand Rapids to do soil testing for the May-st. sewer at a cost of $860.

--Approved the appointment of Fay Davis (1 year), Dr. Robert Tollas (2 years), Harvey Cole (3 years), Ralph Hess (4 years) and Conrad Klooster (5 years) to the city's new compensation Commission.

--Approved a split of the former Grate property on Prospect-st. at Round Lake into two lots. The property has been purchased from Robert Huber by Harry Lesser and J.A. Baer of St. Louis, Mo.

The meeting ended with a sometimes heated discussion between Mayor Hansen and Alderman Sam Supernaw over the city's water system. The state has told the city that it must update water facilities before adding any new users. Hansen is afraid residents wouldn't stand for a big bond issue to do the work, however Supernaw insists that something must be done to provide more water. A letter from the state indicates that the city has reached the capacity of the present system.

Islander

The return trip took only 55 minutes – instead of 12 hours.

That spring, islanders began work on the Roosevelt School, named for the country's new president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The building still stands at the corner of the Kings Highway and Sand Bay-rd. It is the home of Mrs. Ruth Colby, who reports that the floors are still as tight and smooth as the day they were laid.

LaFreniere recalls that there used to be considerable traffic across the ice between the island and the mainland, chiefly between St. James and Cross Village. For years, winter mail was carried by a horse-drawn sleigh by the former Jock Gibson.

In 1925, mail was delivered to the island for the first time by air, with the plane landing on the ice of Paradise Bay.

Gibson's horse, Buckskin, which he had sold to Joe Sendenburgh, was on hand to greet the plane when it landed. The little horse walked out on the ice to examine the craft and dropped dead on the spot, LaFreniere says.

In recent years, the snowmobile has replaced cars and trucks on junkets to the mainland. Last weekend, more than a dozen snowmobilers from St. James traveled to Naubinway in the Upper Peninsula on an overnight junket.

Included in the party was Charlie Martin, who made the memorable trip to Charlevoix two score years ago to fetch materials for the Roosevelt School.

MR. AND MRS. Milford A. Tyrrell, 103 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Feb. 16 at the Eastport Baptist Church. Many friends and relatives from throughout the area joined in the celebration.

Theater Group Has Name And Officers

Charlevoix's newly organized little theater group now has a name and officers.

At last week's meeting, members of the group voted to call themselves the Pine River Players.

Lee Meilleur will serve as the group's first president, assisted by Vice President Jessie Lee and Secretary-Treasurer Connie Carr.

A committee was named to review a number of plays and come up with a recommendation on the first production.

The next meeting of the Pine River Players will be held Tuesday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room at the First State Bank.

Young People To Show Film

A movie, "The Rapture," a David Wilkerson production, will be shown by the young people of the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix.

The movie tells of how the news media will possibly react to the disappearance of 500 million people.

The movie will be shown Saturday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix. The church is located at the corner of Petoskey-ave. and Meech-st. on Charlevoix's north side.

Girls Win Volleyball Crown

The Charlevoix High School Girls Volleyball Team, coached by Mrs. Marie Osterberg, won the Michigan-Huron Shores volleyball title Wednesday with a record of 20 wins and one loss for season.

The single loss was to Gaylord, the defending champions, who finished second in the standings with an 18-win three-loss record.

This is the second time in three years the volleyball team has captured a league title. The first year (1971) the volleyball team brought the first Michigan-Huron Shores league title to the school.

In the final night of action Wednesday, Charlevoix was host to the play defeating Cheboygan 15-1 and 15-5; Gaylord 15-8 and 15-12 and Rogers City 15-11 and 15-2 after losing the first game in the match by a score of 15-11.

In the same meet Gaylord defeated Rogers City 15-12 and 15-7 and Cheboygan 15-3 and 15-6 after losing the first of three games 15-5; Cheboygan lost its first game to Rogers City 15-6 and then went on to win the next two 15-9 and 18-14.

Playing their last game were Tori Alger, Tiller Otis and Bobbi Sladek who are seniors.

Returning for another season will be Beth Egler, Barb Goss, Cheryl Pence, Lee Steelman, Glenda Reedy, and Lori Kaeslin, juniors; Heidi Dove, Carol Streeter and Judy Elzinga sophomores and Kay Currey and Sandra Hodge, freshmen.

'Mellowed' Birchers Seek New Converts

Mellowed by its past political successes and defeats, the John Birch Society is on the move again in the Charlevoix area.

About 35 persons attended a recruitment meeting of the Society Monday evening in the Community Room of the First State Bank to hear a discussion of the society's goals by Malcolm Dale, John Birch co-ordinator for northern Michigan.

Some of those in attendance were John Birchers of long-standing, like former State Rep. Richard Friske. Others attended out of curiosity. Still others turned out because they feel the society and its emphasis on God and the Constitution may provide answers to the problems of galloping inflation, centralized government and corruption in high places.

Dale used the occasion to announce his retirement as northern Michigan co-ordinator, effective April 1. He says he intends to devote all his energies to the Michigan Americanism Council, which he helped found and which has led the state-wide referendum on the increase in gasoline taxes.

Dale said it is easier to sell John Birch Society today than it was five years ago because so much of modern history has butressed the society's old contention that an "international satanic conspiracy" is afoot to bring the world's governments under the heel of a dictator.

Five years ago, Dale said, you had to do a lot of research to back up the society's contentions. Today you can read all about it in your daily newspaper.

He said Americans shouldn't be overly concerned over whether President Nixon remains in office or is impeached.

"If you get rid of Nixon, another front man–another puppet–will take his place," Dale said.

He claimed the prime concern of Americans should be whether their elected representatives in Congress are voting in accordance with Constitutional principles. He charged that 80 percent of the time congressmen vote against their oath to protect and defend the Constitution.

He was sharply critical of what he called "appointive government" – lawmaking by bureaucrats who never won a vote of the people. He said that under the Constitution, all laws must be passed by the House and Senate.

He also lamented the concentration of powers on the higher echelons of government, pointing out that the people have let their local responsibilities slip away one by one.

Dale's main thrust was against the United Nations, the Council on Foreign Relations and other "one-world" groups which he insists are out to bring all nations into a totalitarian dictatorship. He sees world leaders involved in a massive conspiracy to unite all of mankind under one government.

As evidence he points to a proposal by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions to create "The United Republics of America" and the "Atlantic Union Resolution" which was passed by the U.S. Senate but defeated in the U.S. House.

Dale said the leaders of the conspiracy come from such divergent groups as the "super rich" and organized labor, which, ostensibly, should be at odds with one another but appear to be working toward the same goal.

Turning to the current economic crisis, Dale said "the world is facing the biggest financial halocaust it has ever seen."

"We are going to go through hell," he said, "but we are going to save this nation."

To support himself while working for the Michigan Americanism Council, Dale said he intends to deal in silver.

Rayders, EJ Square Off In Tourneys at Boyne

The Charlevoix Rayders will enter district tournament play against East Jordan at Boyne City at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday after closing out their 1973-74 cage schedule at Gaylord last Tuesday.

The scheduled game with Cheboygan here Friday was forfeited when the Charlevoix schools were closed because of a flu epidemic.

The Rayders came out on the short end of their meeting with Gaylord last week by a score of 64-63 despite a last ditch stand that closed the score to one point at the final horn.

Charlevoix closed out its current season with an unimpressive 5-9 record in league play and a 6-14 record in overall play statistics show.

In their game at Gaylord, the Rayders outscored the Blue Devils from the floor, scoring 29 field goals to 27 for the host team but hit on only a third of their charity shots or five of 15 while collecting 15 personal fouls. Gaylord compensated by connecting on 10 of 23 free throw attempts after collecting the same number of personal fouls.

Gaylord jumped to an 18-11 first period lead which the Rayders were never able to overcome as the Blue Devils forged to a 31-26 margin going into the second half. The Rayders had their best period in the third outscoring Gaylord 21-18 to trim the Blue Devil lead to two points 48-46 going into the final eight minutes.

JIM MCKINNEY of Charlevoix is director of the musical "Hello, Dolly", now playing at the Old Town Playhouse in Traverse City. Here McKinney poses with Anne Campbell of Traverse City who sparkles in the role of Dolly Levi. Remaining dates for the show are March 7, 8 and 9 and March 14, 15 and 16.

Sight Funds Donated

Both Charlevoix merchants and Lion Club members made a sight mobile for Northern Michigan become reality Monday with a check for $1,056.

District Governor Don Seifried of Central Lake received the donation from Chamber of Commerce Director Vince Olach during the Charlevoix Lion Club noon luncheon at the Grey Gables Inn.

The $1,000 donation was the last amount of money needed by Northern Michigan Lion Club members to launch a massive blindness prevention program for 27 counties.

With the money, Seifried said they would be able to equip a mobile trailer with two vision screen units that can be used in detecting sight problems.

Presently, there are only three such trailer units in the entire state.

"So far as our district goes, this has to be one of the greatest things done this year," he said.

"To get this kind of participation is unbelievable."

The District Lion Governor said they had already purchased a 20-foot long trailer and had been in need of funds to equip it. It is estimated the project will cost about $3,500 a year to run.

"We will be able to do vision screen from pre-school to elderly," he continued.

Once the trailer is equipped, Seifried said it will be taken to the 60 Northern Michigan Club locations during the years, where it will be set up for free community use.

KIDS take notice: Because of the weekend thaw, ice on area lakes may be dangerous to walk upon. Bridge Tender Chick Gallagher was startled last week to see several small children venture out onto the ice of Round Lake at the channel entrance. His warnings went unheeded, but the youngsters made it across the channel on the treacherous drift ice and up the ladder without incident. It could have been a different story.

IF YOU would like to air your gripes about the high cost of propane gas (up 400 percent in the past year), plan to attend a meeting at Cheboygan High School Thursday, March 7, starting at 7:30 p.m. The meeting was called by State Sen. Robert W. Davis, who is looking into propane pricing and marketing practices. He would like to hear your views.

THE NEW speed limit on Michigan's highways is now 55 miles per hour. You won't pick up any points for driving between 55 and 70 mph on expressways, but you will on all other roadways. Signs specifying the new limit are now being posted around the state. The new limit was suggested by the federal government as a means of conserving fuel and the Michigan Legislature concurred.

CHARLEVOIXANS who remember George W. Pamp of Harbor Springs as a football letterman, cage star and trackman, will be happy to learn that Pamp recently has been named director of the New Native American Outreach Project of the State YMCA at Mt. Pleasant. Pamp is now married and has three children.

MEMBERS of the Charlevoix Snowmobile Club took youngsters from the Ironton School on a winter outing last Wednesday afternoon. The volunteer drivers included John Brock, Harold Thomas, Sara Cummings, Sonny Williams, Bill McClanathan, Sandy McClanathan, Rexine Dutcher, Woody Woodbury and Terry Cummings. The group spent more than an hour traveling wooded trails in the Ironton area.

Planners May Zero In On Parking and Utilities

Charlevoix Regional Planning commissioners may be undertaking two major projects in the ensuing months–parking and utilities.

At their Friday luncheon meeting, Charlevoix Planning Commission Chairman John Campbell announced they would be seeking backing from the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce for a new parking program.

Now under consideration by city council, the commission is proposing a housing authority be formed to develop downtown off-street parking.

But, Campbell says, the program isn't going to get off the ground unless someone makes a move and tells city council there is some interest.

"There's not enough push from downtown business," says Campbell.

Campbell says he is upset because the advisory commission has put in a lot of time and has not received much response.

Campbell said he was going to ask for chamber support at its next meeting.

In other business, the ad-

New Industry Seeks Stover Zone Change

The Charlevoix City Council next Monday night will be asked to approve a change in the zoning of a building and parcel of land on Stover-rd. across from St. Marys Cemetery from Commercial to Industrial-1.

The property is presently owned by John D. Cole of Dayton, Ohio, and Walloon Lake, who would like to sell it to Ron Pair of St. Clair Shores who manufactures anti-pollution filtering systems for boats that load and unload dusty cargoes.

The structure on the site was built by Ernest Manthei of Petoskey about five years ago. It was rented as office space for the Char-Em Special Education staff until the new building on Mercer-blvd. was completed last year. It also has been used for warehousing.

The operation will include light sheet metal forming, a small machine shop, a paint spray booth and some arc and spot welding.

Pair says the operation is "relatively clean" and does not "deposit or emit objectionable odors, gases, fumes waste or noise."

Pair expects to employ 10 persons after one year of operation, two of whom will move to Charlevoix from St. Clair Shores. He says the eight new employees will be recruited in the Charlevoix area.

Band Fete Re-Scheduled For Saturday

The Junior High School Band Festival, cancelled last Saturday because of Charlevoix's flu epidemic, will be held this Saturday at Charlevoix High School, according to Band Director Clarence Odmark.

Charlevoix school administrators called off classes last Thursday and Friday when absenteeism in classrooms averaged about 30 percent.

AN UNEXPECTED "heat wave" Sunday afternoon sent the temperature soaring in Charlevoix. The thermometer at the main office of the Charlevoix County State Bank registered 60 degrees by midafternoon. At 6 p.m. the mercury still stood at 57 degrees at the bank branch on M-66.

to repay the electric fund $16,000 and McRae Lumber Co., $8,000 for the addition to the city garage. The balance will be reinvested.

–Appointed Leonard Dubey street administrator, succeeding Ida Heise, who resigned.

–Hired Materials Testing Co. of Grand Rapids to do soil testing for the May-st. sewer at a cost of $860.

–Approved the appointment of Fay Davis (1 year), Dr. Robert Tollas (2 years), Harvey Cole (3 years), Ralph Hess (4 years) and Conrad Klooster (5 years) to the city's new compensation Commission.

–Approved a split of the former Grate property on Prospect-st. at Round Lake into two lots. The property has been purchased from Robert Huber by Harry Lesser and J.A. Baer of St. Louis, Mo.

The meeting ended with a sometimes heated discussion between Mayor Hansen and Alderman Sam Supernaw over the city's water system. The state has told the city that it must update water facilities before adding any new users. Hansen is afraid residents wouldn't stand for a big bond issue to do the work, however Supernaw insists that something must be done to provide more water. A letter from the state indicates that the city has reached the capacity of the present system.

Islander

The return trip took only 55 minutes – instead of 12 hours.

That spring, islanders began work on the Roosevelt School, named for the country's new president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The building still stands at the corner of the Kings Highway and Sand Bay-rd. It is the home of Mrs. Ruth Colby, who reports that the floors are still as tight and smooth as the day they were laid.

LaFreniere recalls that there used to be considerable traffic across the ice between the island and the mainland, chiefly between St. James and Cross Village. For years, winter mail was carried by a horse-drawn sleigh by the former Jock Gibson.

In 1925, mail was delivered to the island for the first time by air, with the plane landing on the ice of Paradise Bay.

Gibson's horse, Buckskin, which he had sold to Joe Sendenburgh, was on hand to greet the plane when it landed. The little horse walked out on the ice to examine the craft and dropped dead on the spot, LaFreniere says.

In recent years, the snowmobile has replaced cars ad trucks on junkets to the mainland. Last weekend, more than a dozen snowmobilers from St. James traveled to Naubinway in the Upper Peninsula on an overnight junket.

Included in the party was Charlie Martin, who made the memorable trip to Charlevoix two score years ago to fetch materials for the Roosevelt School.

MR. AND MRS. Millord A. Tyrrell, 103 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Feb. 16 at the Eastport Baptist Church. Many friends and relatives from throughout the area joined in the celebration.

Gaylord compensated by connecting on 10 of 23 free throw attempts after collecting the same number of personal fouls.

Gaylord jumped to an 18-11 first period lead which the Rayders were never able to overcome as the Blue Devils forged to a 31-26 margin going into the second half. The Rayders had their best period in the third outscoring Gaylord 21-18 to trim the Blue Devil lead to two points 48-46 going into the final eight minutes.

Sight Funds Donated

Both Charlevoix merchants and Lion Club members made a sight mobile for Northern Michigan become reality Monday with a check for $1,056.

District Governor Don Seifried of Central Lake received the donation from Chamber of Commerce Director Vince Olach during the Charlevoix Lion Club noon luncheon at the Grey Gables Inn.

The $1,000 donation was the last amount of money needed by Northern Michigan Lion Club members to launch a massive blindness prevention program for 27 counties.

With the money, Seifried said they would be able to equip a mobile trailer with two vision screen units that can be used in detecting sight problems.

Presently, there are only three such trailer units in the entire state.

"So far as our district goes, this has to be one of the greatest things done this year," he said.

"To get this kind of participation is unbelievable."

The District Lion Governor said they had already purchased a 20-foot long trailer and had been in need of funds to equip it. It is estimated the project will cost about $3,500 a year to run.

"We will be able to do vision screen from pre-school to elderly," he continued.

Once the trailer is equipped, Seifried said it will be taken to the 60 Northern Michigan Club locations during the years, where it will be set up for free community use.

KIDS take notice: Because of the weekend thaw, ice on area lakes may be dangerous to walk upon. Bridge Tender Chick Gallagher was startled last week to see several small children venture out onto the ice of Round Lake at the channel entrance. His warnings went unheeded, but the youngsters made it across the channel on the treacherous drift ice and up the ladder without incident. It could have been a different story.

IF YOU would like to air your gripes about the high cost of propane gas (up 400 percent in the past year), plan to attend a meeting at Cheboygan High School Thursday, March 7, starting at 7:30 p.m. The meeting was called by State Sen. Robert W. Davis, who is looking into propane pricing and marketing practices. He would like to hear your views.

THE NEW speed limit on Michigan's highways is now 55 miles per hour. You won't pick up any points for driving between 55 and 70 mph on expressways, but you will on all other roadways. Signs specifying the new limit are now being posted around the state. The new limit was suggested by the federal government as a means of conserving fuel and the Michigan Legislature concurred.

CHARLEVOIXANS who remember George W. Pamp of Harbor Springs as a football letterman, cage star and trackman, will be happy to learn that Pamp recently has been named director of the New Native American Outreach Project of the State YMCA at Mt. Pleasant. Pamp is now married and has three children.

JIM MCKINNEY of Charlevoix is director of the musical "Hello, Dolly", now playing at the Old Town Playhouse in Traverse City. Here McKinney poses with Anne Campbell of Traverse City who sparkles in the role of Dolly Levi. Remaining dates for the show are March 7, 8 and 9 and March 14, 15 and 16.

'Mellowed' Birchers Seek New Converts

Mellowed by its past political successes and defeats, the John Birch Society is on the move again in the Charlevoix area.

About 35 persons attended a recruitment meeting of the Society Monday evening in the Community Room of the First State Bank to hear a discussion of the society's goals by Malcolm Dale, John Birch co-ordinator for northern Michigan.

Some of those in attendance were John Birchers of long-standing, like former State Rep., Richard Friske. Others attended out of curiosity. Still others turned out because they feel the society and its emphasis on God and the Constitution may provide answers to the problems of galloping inflation, centralized government and corruption in high places.

Dale used the occasion to announce his retirement as northern Michigan co-ordinator, effective April 1. He says he intends to devote all his energies to the Michigan Americanism Council, which he helped found and which has led the state-wide referendum on the increase in gasoline taxes.

Dale said it is easier to sell John Birch Society today than it was five years ago because so much of modern history has butressed the society's old contention that an "international satanic conspiracy" is afoot to bring the world's governments under the heel of a dictator.

Five years ago, Dale said, you had to do a lot of research to back up the society's contentions. Today you can read all about it in your daily newspaper.

He said Americans shouldn't be overly concerned over whether President Nixon remains in office or is impeached.

"If you get rid of Nixon, another front man–another puppet–will take his place," Dale said.

He claimed the prime concern of Americans should be whether their elected representatives in Congress are voting in accordance with Constitutional principles. He charged that 80 percent of the time congressmen vote agaInt their oath to protect and defend the Constitution.

He was sharply critical of what he called "appointive government" – lawmaking by bureaucrats who never won a vote of the people. He said that under the Constitution, all laws must be passed by the House and Senate.

He also lamented the concentration of powers on the higher echelons of government, pointing out that the people have let their local responsibilities slip away one by one.

Dale's main thrust was against the United Nations, the Council on Foreign Relations and other "one-world" groups which he insists are out to bring all nations into a totalitarian dictatorship. He sees world leaders involved in a massive conspiracy to unite all of mankind under one government.

As evidence he points to a proposal by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions to create "The United Republics of America" and the "Atlantic Union Resolution" which was passed by the U.S. Senate but defeated in the U.S. House.

Dale said the leaders of the conspiracy come from such divergent groups as the "super rich" and organized labor, which, ostensibly, should be at odds with one another but appear to be working toward the same goal.

Turning to the current economic crisis, Dale said "the world is facing the biggest financial halocaust it has ever seen."

"We are going to go through hell," he said, "but we are going to save this nation."

To support himself while working for the Michigan Americanism Council, Dale said he intends to deal in silver.

MEMBERS of the Charlevoix Snowmobile Club took youngsters from the Ironton School on a winter outing last Wednesday afternoon. The volunteer drivers included John Brock, Harold Thomas, Sara Cummings, Sonny Williams, Bill McClanathan, Sandy McClanathan, Rexine Dutcher, Woody Woodbury and Terry Cummings. The group spent more than an hour traveling wooded trails in the Ironton area.

Planners May Zero In On Parking and Utilities

Charlevoix Regional Planning commissioners may be undertaking two major projects in the ensuing months–parking and utilities.

At their Friday luncheon meeting, Charlevoix Planning Commission Chairman John Campbell announced they would be seeking backing from the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce for a new parking program.

Now under consideration by city council, the commission is proposing a housing authority be formed to develop downtown off-street parking.

But, Campbell says, the program isn't going to get off the ground unless someone makes a move and tells city council there is some interest.

"There's not enough push from downtown business," says Campbell.

Campbell says he is upset because the advisory commission has put in a lot of time and has not received much response.

Campbell said he was going to ask for chamber support at its next meeting.

In other business, the ad-

Band Fete Re-Scheduled For Saturday

The Junior High School Band Festival, cancelled last Saturday because of Charlevoix's flu epidemic, will be held this Saturday at Charlevoix High School, according to Band Director Clarence Odmark.

Charlevoix school administrators called off classes last Thursday and Friday when absenteeism in classrooms averaged about 30 percent.

New Industry Seeks Stover Zone Change

The Charlevoix City Council next Monday night will be asked to approve a change in the zoning of a building and parcel of land on Stover-rd. across from St. Marys Cemetery from Commercial to Industrial-1.

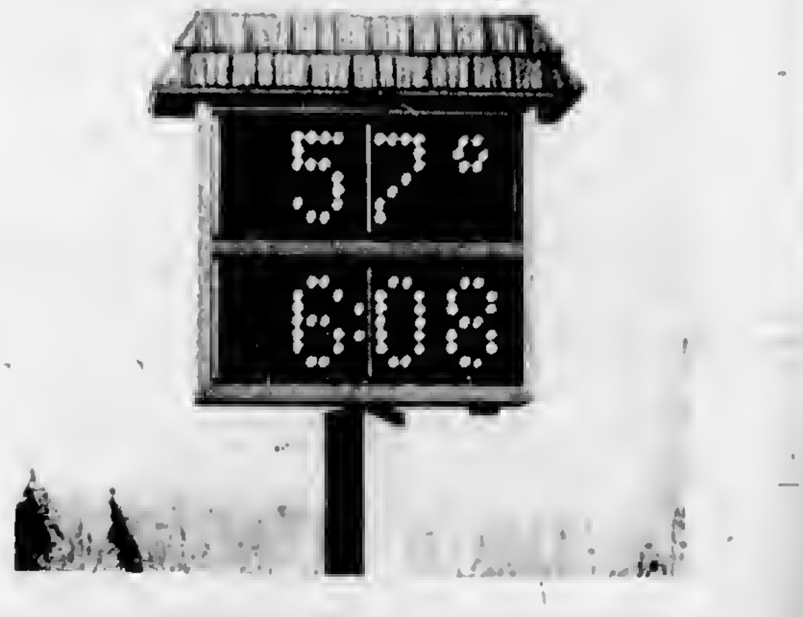
The property is presently owned by John D. Cole of Dayton, Ohio, and Walloon Lake, who would like to sell it to Ron Pair of St. Clair Shores who manufactures anti-pollution filtering systems for boats that load and unload dusty cargoes.

The structure on the site was built by Ernest Manthei of Petoskey about five years ago. It was rented as office space for the Char-Em Special Education staff until the new building on Mercer-blvd. was completed last year. It also has been used for warehousing.

The operation will include light sheet metal forming, a small machine shop, a paint spray booth and some arc and spot welding.

Pair says the operation is "relatively clean" and does not "deposit or emit objectionable odors, gases, fumes waste or noise."

Pair expects to employ 10 persons after one year of operation, two of whom will move to Charlevoix from St. Clair Shores. He says the eight new employees will be recruited in the Charlevoix area.



AN UNEXPECTED "heat wave" Sunday afternoon sent the temperature soaring in Charlevoix. The thermometer at the main office of the Charlevoix County State Bank registered 60 degrees by midafternoon. At 6 p.m. the mercury still stood at 57 degrees at the bank branch on M-66.

Next Draft Lottery Set for March 20

Young men born in 1955 will have their Selective Service lottery numbers drawn on March 20 during the 6th annual draft lottery to be held in Washington, it has been announced by Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service.

Michigan has approximately 75,000 19-year-olds who will have their lottery numbers established by this drawing. The present standby Selective Service System is required to continue to register and classify young men as a part of our defense preparedness program.

All young men are required to register under the draft law at the time of their 18th birthday. They are assigned their random sequence number through the lottery which is held in the year in which they become 19. They are potentially vulnerable to induction during the calendar year of their 20th birthday.

As a result of the lottery on March 20, some of the men born in 1955 will be placed in a class available for military service by their draft boards.

This group will form a standby pool of "readily inductible" men during calendar year 1975. This group would be available to supplement the all-volunteer armed forces in event of a national emergency.

In Michigan 18-year-olds can register at Selective Service offices or with volunteer registrars who are located in most high school, colleges and other community centers.

Prohibition Found Plenty Of Support in Charlevoix

By Bernice Wexstall

"There'll be prohibition aplenty--in 1920, when Columbia drives the booze away!"

There are few old-timers left who remember the words and music of the above mentioned prohibition song of the World War I era but those who do, including Art Wexstaff, recall the gusto with which it was sung at worship services in the Charlevoix Methodist Church.

Although nobody is quite sure, the song is believed to be the work of Dr. Allan M. Wilkinson, a native born medical doctor who practiced in Charlevoix in those early years before moving to California to make his home in a more agreeable clime.

However, Dr. Wilkinson may have had some assistance from Rev. Quinton Walker, pastor of the Methodist Church during the World War I years. Both Dr. Wilkinson and Rev. Walker were enthusiastic hoot-and-holler evangelists and prohibitionists to the core.

Now that the Charlevoix Historical Society has committments from old-timers on public school histories they are presently looking for like committments on histories of the several churches which will be added to historical files that posterity may know from the records how it was in Charlevoix at the turn of the century. It is to be hoped that these histories will contain human interest anecdotes as well as historical data.

All churches have much to offer, as do the schools. Rev. Elmer Faust of the Methodist Church informs the Society that his church also has prohibition "slides" which we may borrow for a historical program come summer. Prohibition seems far remote from today's society but at the turn of the century it was a vital issue.

Prohibition didn't work and the amendment was repealed during the reign of Franklin D. Roosevelt. It seems impossible to legislate morals either then or now so it was deemed advisable to annul the early amendment, but we must recognize the integrity back of the original movement which did eliminate the saloons of the land even though it failed to curtail liquor consumption.

The Historical Society invites all who have remembrances of our Charlevoix Churches to bring them to the attention of their minister or members of the Society.

For early anecdotes unrelated to either church or school, the public is invited to contact Mrs. Edward Beutner, phone 547-6094. Mrs. Beutner is presently working on such a record for the Historical Society.

Charles Hock, 31, Petoskey, was assessed $21 for speeding.

Hike in Assessments Means You'll Pay More

The most unenviable guys in town last Saturday morning were the clerks at the Charlevoix Post Office.

Not only did they have to explain the new postal rates to irate patrons, but they also caught a lot of guff from angry property owners who received their new assessments with Saturday's mail.

The increases appear to average about 20 percent, although some undoubtedly are much lower and others much higher.

The consensus among the Post Office crowd was that they wouldn't mind the fat new assessments -- which only mean their property is worth more than it was last year -- if millage rates would drop accordingly.

But, of course, millage rates won't drop, except in the case of debt retirement levies which must generate a given number of dollars each year and no more.

You can be sure that the country will still levy its 15 mills for schools, the townships and county operations. And the city levy doesn't stand a chance of dropping 20 percent, what with higher wages for city employes and increased costs of everything from gasoline to paper clips.

And the school millage isn't about to drop either. The cost of running our schools hasn't diminished one penny in the past year and the school people are going to need every cent they can get their hands on. Furthermore, whenever assessments go up, State Aid goes down, necessitating more local support for schools.

So this leaves the poor property owner faced with a 20 percent increase in his taxes this year, whether or not he can afford to pay it.

And with inflation undermining the value of the dollar with every passing day, a lot of people aren't going to be able to pay their taxes. When it comes to a choice of buying groceries or paying taxes, taxes must, of necessity, take a back seat, regardless of the consequences.

The problem, as we see it, stems from the vast influx of downstate dollars into the local real estate economy. Detroiters high-tail it to Charlevoix and pay outlandish prices for property just to get away from the problems of the metropolitan areas. And when the assessors take a look at the going-price of real estate hereabouts, all of our property values increase accordingly.

All of this, of course, is rather flattering to local property owners who find their homes worth far more than they ever expected. But flattery doesn't pay taxes.

The people hurt the worst are those on fixed incomes who bought homes in Charlevoix because they thought this was a good place to live. Now some of them may have to sell out and move someplace else where taxes are less killing.

They did not buy their homes with the same impersonal detachment that one uses in buying stock in General Motors or the Ford Motor Co. They bought them to live in, hut now they find the old family homestead is too rich for their blood.

Also hard hit are medium and low income families who find they must compete in the real estate market with workers from metropolitan areas earning two or three times the going Charlevoix wage. There is no way they can do it.

You can argue all you want that Charlevoixans would still have to come up with the same amount of money for the public coffers, regardless of their assessments, but this is nonsense. We can vote down taxes, but we can't vote down assessments.

We don't pretend to have a ready answer on how to slow down the tax assessment merry-go-round. But we do recall that assessments were more equitable -- from a humane standpoint -- before the state started dictating assessment policies.

Federal Greed Blamed For Soaring Inflation

Dear Editor,

The national economy may be likened to a big auction. Imagine yourself and nine friends at an auction, each one of you with $100. The price of the goods is determined by what each of you is willing to bid for each item for sale. So the prices are established by bidding against each other. But suppose some outside person slipped one of your friends one hundred newly printed dollars that all of you had to accept as legal tender. What would happen? Instead of one thousand dollars ($100 each) bidding for the goods, we now have one-thousand plus the newly created one hundred dollars. The guy with the new money has an obvious advantage and can bid up the price of the goods. Thus we have an inflation of price resulting from the inflation of the currency. The amount of money in circulation has increased by one hundred dollars, diluting the buying power of your money by ten percent.

Why would the federal government do this to us? The answer is simple: Why not? The federal government needs money to feed its voracious appetite. There are only two ways that the government can get this income. The first is taxation, but sooner or later there comes a time when the people start complaining about heavier and heavier taxes. It's not long before those in government find an excuse to turn to the printing presses. This is what has been going on for years and years. The federal government has been the culprit all along. Somebody has to pay for all the programs that emanate from Washington. The bureaucrats haven't the nerve to tax us directly for all the nutty programs that have come from the banks of the Potomac, so they have resorted to inflating the monetary supply as the answer.

Inflation is the cruelest of all forms of taxation, because it strikes the hardest those who can least afford it: the elderly on fixed incomes, retired pensioners, the poor. Inflation robs the frugal, depletes your savings, and eventually destroys the nation itself.

Inflation is to economics as cancer is to the body. It saps your energy and destroys the body that supports it.

The next time you pay more for anything, don't blame the merchant, the farmer, or the manufacturer. Put the blame where it belongs: on the liberal federal politician who keeps the printing presses running while he spends you into oblivion!

Yours truly,
Dr. Manuel J. Kaner

Davis Explains His Stand on Disclosure Bill

Feb. 22, 1974

Mr. Robert Clock
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, MI 49720

Dear Bob:

I noticed in last week's Charlevoix Courier an item which asked for my explanation about an amendment that was deleted from the Campaign Disclosure Bill, Senate Bill 1016. This letter is in response to that article.

First of all, I wholeheartedly supported Senate Bill 1016 and would support Senate Bill 1016 with the independent election commission or without it. There is a question of constitutionality here in Michigan relative to an independent commission.

The Michigan constitution provides that a commission such as the one proposed must be placed under an existing department. The amendment that was proposed did not meet Michigan's constitutional guidelines; if a constitutionally appropriate amendment should be added in the House, I would support it. It should also be noted that the idea behind independent agencies is to be free from political pressures but if the commission were to be appointed under the amendment that was proposed, it would be by its nature political. The responsibility for Senate Bill 1016 rests with the Department of State, and it was felt by many that adding more bureaucracy would not be necessary.

In conclusion, I think Senate Bill 1016 is a good bill with or without the independent commission.

Sincerely,
ROBERT W. DAVIS

Clockwise

I Can't Wait Much Longer

By BOB CLOCK

A month ago today Clockwise expressed the opinion that the Congress that gave President Nixon so many standing ovations during his State of the Union message was not about to impeach him.

Today I am not so sure that the Congress has any other choice.

Last week seven top Nixon aides, including H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John N. Mitchell, were indicted by a grand jury for their alleged roles in the Watergate cover-up.

The same grand jury gave Chief U.S. District Judge Sirica a sealed report which is believed to contain the jury's conclusions about President Nixon's possible involvement in Watergate.

It it does, and if Judge Sirica turns the information over to the House Judiciary Committee, then it seems institution of impeachment proceedings is mandatory.

As of last weekend, 36 persons in the Nixon Administration had either been accused or convicted of crimes in connection with Watergate and related scandals. And more indictments are expected.

Is it possible that the Boss didn't know what was going on? You can answer that one yourself.

If he did not know, then he wasn't a very good boss. If he did know, then he has no business occupying the White House for another minute.

The next few weeks should be among the most traumatic in the history of the American Republic, since we have never come face to face with such apparent wide-spread corruption in any branch of government.

After the Clockwise column on Mr. Nixon's State of the Union message appeared on Feb. 6, I was surprised at the number of telephone calls I received, most of them from readers in their 80's. Do you know what they are afraid of? They are worried that they will die before Nixon either resigns or is removed from office via impeachment. And they don't want to leave this mortal coil while the reins of their beloved government are still in the hands of Richard Nixon and his henchmen.

Imagine that!

Another factor which may force the issue in the House is the election of Democrat VanderVeen to Gerald Ford's old seat in Congress – a seat which had been considered "safe" Republican territory for 63 years.

If Nixon continues in office, Republican congressmen up for election in November have been served notice to start packing their bags. The nation is fed up with the political hanky-panky of the Nixon Administration and voters are in the mood for a thorough housecleaning, regardless of whose ox is gored.

Which is really a shame, because many of the Republican lawmakers who will lose all come November have spotless records and deserve something better.

Should Mr. Nixon resign? This is a question he can answer better than anyone else, since he is privy to all the facts. Some political analysts have come to the conclusion that he will never resign because he is incapable of self-criticism. Furthermore, he couldn't care less about the fate of the Republican Party, which he practically abandoned during the 1972 campaign, to the eternal credit of the GOP.

Yet to my way of thinking, resignation would be far preferable to impeachment, which is certain to be an agonizing experience for most Americans.

For one thing, resignation would be faster than impeachment and the country would have a new head-of-state immediately.

There is no arguing that Mr. Nixon's effectiveness as president has been just about nil ever since the clouds of Watergate collected over the White House last spring. Inflation gallops onward and upward with every passing day, fed by shortages–both man-made and artificial–of most of life's essentials.

A new president – one who has not made promises to the milk producers, the oil industry, the wheat brokers – would be in a position to draw the line of rising prices which have made a mockery of our weekly paychecks for the past year.

The country needs relief from inflation now, this week, today. If we must wait for lengthy impeachment proceedings it may be too late to save the economy for a collapse that would make the dark days of 1929 seem like a Sadie Hawkins Day dance at the Middle School.

Political purists, of course, prefer impeachment to resignation, claiming that only impeachment proceedings will bring all the facts to light. As a newsman, I agree. But as a guy with six mouths and a healthy mortgage to feed, I can't wait much longer.

Watching the Kids Grow

"I don't want the million dollars. I want to go home and watch my kids grow up."

Who said it? Lee Trevino. Jack Nicklaus. John Delorean. They all say it.

I'm always reading about fathers who put family ahead of money. Trevino won't play in the Master's golf tourney this year because he'd rather take his kids fishing. Delorean quit General Motors because board meetings left him no time to give his son piggyback rides in airports.

All of which throbs my conscience. So the other Thursday I left the poolroom early. I could easily have won another $10 from a couple of car salesmen who have been out to lunch since December. But I went home instead.

"Where are the kids?" I asked my wife. "I want to watch them grow."

"They are both about 10 feet tall now," Pat answered. "If they grow much more we will have to move into a cathedral."

"Gee whiz," I said, "Golly. Time flies. I can't remember the last time I saw Ed. He must be a teenager by now. Does he still have red hair?"

"I think so. I bumped into someone in the hall one night last month and he had red hair. I asked him if he was our son but he couldn't answer because he had a jar of pickles and 12 record albums in his mouth."

"How can you be sure he still lives here?" I asked.

"I can tell by the locked doors and the noise and the debris. Whenever he goes into a room he bolts the door behind him. There is usually another boy with him. I think they are having a contest to see who can play a stereo the loudest. Sometimes I knock on the door with a hammer but no one ever answers. They think I am a group named Mad Mom. Last year I won a Grammy Award for best rapping by an individual performer in torment.

"When the music stops, I know they have disappeared. The only noise remaining is the crackling of potato chips swirling to earth. I then climb into the room and spend hours removing sox from pop bottles, pretzels from planters, and basketballs from jockey shorts.

"And that's how I know he still lives here," she said. "If you want to watch him grow you'll have to sneak into his room disguised as a bag of Fritos."

"What about Chris? She's still in high school. Maybe I could watch her grow," I said.

"Chris was home for awhile last week," Pat said, "because she had the flu. She was so weak she was forced to limit her phone calls to 6 hours each. I had to go next door and call her up to take her temperature. I asked her to dry the dishes and she said she couldn't because she was dying and I'd be sorry at her funeral. An hour later she and her boyfriend left town on a toboggan.

"Usually, Chris only comes home to wash her hair or see if it's Christmas yet. Most of the time she is shopping. There's one shopping mall where, if she doesn't show up for a week, they send someone after her. It's either that or lay off 52 clerks. Another shopping center has installed a plaque dedicating a fountain to her in grateful appreciation.

"If you want to watch Chris grow," my wife concluded, "you'll have to sneak into her wallet disguised as a credit card."

"Forget it," I said, "I'm going back to the poolroom."

"Just a minute, I'll go with you," said Mad Mom.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

Today's real estaters are mere babes in the woods compared with 'Full Moon' Harris of the early thirties who hosted his prospects with cocktails in an air-conditioned sleigh boasting two horsepower.

Full Moon concentrated his considerable talents on one lone farm which he marketed two weeks annually.

As a specialist in options, he had 96 of them on this single parcel over a period of 12 years. At the time when hamburger sold five pounds for a dollar, he averaged $400 a season for a grand total exceeding $4800; a tidy some on an investment property whose owner of record was the State of Michigan.

Full Moon cooked at a deer hunters camp on the Two Hearted River and drove to Newberry twice weekly to replenish his supply of food and booze. He also shuttled new guests, prospective landowners to him, arriving from downstate. On the return trip to camp, Harris would turn necessity into profit by planning his schedule.

Between Pine Stump Junction and Whiskey Creek lay an open swamp, an ideal backdrop for his promotional pitch. Well versed in that keystone of success, optical illusion, he would halt the horses for a breather when midway across. The panorama made words unnecessary.

No colored slide at a two-bit come-on luncheon could ever do justice to that field of golden swamp hay on a level carpet of snow, waving gently beneath a full moon. The cramped city dweller, awe-struck by this amber sea rippling toward the distant shores of evergreen, felt a kinship with the early pioneer first beholding the Western prairies.

Reluctant to break the spell, Harris would say softly,

"There's my farm, all planted in winter wheat. I'll have to sacrifice it on account of my lumbago."

"How much land do you own?" The question came with feigned nonchalance.

"One hundred sixty acres more or less," Harris would reply while sliding back a blanket to expose inviting refreshments.

"What does that mean, more or less?" Question and cork popped out together.

"These are larger acres (note the familiar ring) then those below the Straits," the super salesman would explain. "We pace them off in wintertime and the snowshoes go in for good measure."

In camp that evening, bargaining instincts honed keen with anti-frostbite medication, each listener in turn would seek a private word with the farmer destined for retirement. The opening offer was generally $25 for a 60-day option.

"That wouldn't be fair to you," Full Moon would whisper righteously to each one. "I want you to see it in summer and I'll give you a six month option for $50 at $25 an acre. Money passed and the bargain was struck with a handshake, all in utmost secrecy.

The increasing quota of daily stimulants generally resulted in an obliging lapse of memory on the part of his clients, but occasionally a die-hard optionee would later drive up to acquaint the doubting spouse with his windfall. This would be farmer, after a horrified glance at ten scraggly acres of stagnant frog haven, returned to the village post-haste in search of the party of the first part.

Stopping at the livery stable he fumed, "Where can I find Mr. Harris?"

"Hey pa," a freckled moppet piped into the dimness of the stable area. "Here's the third man this summer buying the Harris farm.

The response which drifted back was a strange, hardly human, high pitched snicker.

"That was Diamond," the lad volunteered, "one of the horses Mr. Harris uses during deer season. Sounded almost like he was laughing didn't it?"

The city man answered with a glaring scowl which remained in place till he reached the outskirts of Grand Rapids. Only then, when happily dodging traffic, did a smile appear. The happy traveler was now on familiar ground where kids, who never saw a horse, didn't ask stupid questions of their elders.

Earned Income Report Due On April 15

The 1973 report of earned income is due April 15, 1974, according to Gordon L. Sattelmeier, manager of the Petoskey Social Security office.

The report of earned income must be filed by persons who received at least one social security check in 1973 and earned more than $2,100.

Sattelmeier said only people born after Feb. 1, 1901 need file the report. Also, filing a federal income tax return does not take the place of this annual report.

Anyone who needs help in completing their annual report can call, write, or visit the Petoskey social security office located at No. 2 Penn Plaza. Phone 347-8727.

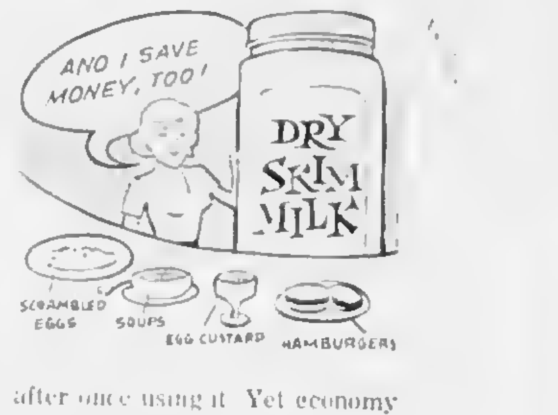
Dry Skim Milk Provides Good, Cheap, Low-Calorie Protein

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Eight of a Series

Milk, man's first and oldest beverage, has taken on a new form that puts it in the front ranks of concentrated protective foods. I refer to dry skim milk—an inexpensive, readily digested, high-protein food that is handy to use and short on calories.



I must confess to taking a few liberties with history when I say that dried milk is "new." Actually, long before the birth of Christ the ancient Egyptians prepared a concentrated milk by drying it in the sun.

And the sturdy Mongol horsemen who made up the invading armies of the conqueror Genghis Kahn were supplied with sun-dried milk as a concentrated marching ration that would assure them full nourishment necessary for their strenuous campaigns.

HELPS DIET PROGRAM

So, we're a few centuries late in learning that dried milk is a wonderfully concentrated food. If everyone in this country were to use this economical food in their daily diet, it could overcome the widespread deficiencies of protein, calcium and riboflavin which afflict thousands upon thousands of persons, causing them to fall ready victims to the diseases and problems of aging.

Did you know that the addition of even so little as a tablespoonful of powdered skim milk to your daily servings of food would be a worthwhile contribution to your Eat-and-Grow-Younger program?

Did you know that powdered skim milk is tolerated by persons who find whole fresh milk hard to digest?

Did you know that the highly concentrated amounts of protein, calcium and riboflavin in dry skim milk can help prolong your "prime of life" and aid you in retaining youthfulness?

A mistaken belief popularly held about fresh milk is that the "richer the milk, the better." Nothing could be further from the truth. The protein, minerals and vitamin B-complex (riboflavin and thiamine mainly) are all contained in the skim milk, not in the cream.

If you want to gain weight, dry skim milk used liberally, will provide extra amounts of the protein, minerals and vitamins, lack of which probably caused you to be underweight in the first place.

If, on the other hand, overweight is your problem, and yours should be a reducing diet, then dry skim milk is equally good. Liberal amounts of this powdered skim milk can be used without making your calorie count jump up like the thermometer on a hot day.

This milk can be incorporated into your reducing menu in a number of flavorful and appetite-satisfying ways. Moreover, the highly concentrated protein in this type of milk is a valuable aid to a high-protein reducing diet, since the more protein you eat (without adding calories) the more quickly your sluggish thyroid gland can be prodded into taking over and bringing your body weight back to normal.

SKIM MILK CAN HELP

Then again you may not like the taste of either sweet milk or buttermilk well enough to drink it. If so, dry skim milk makes it possible for you to obtain all the health-protective values in this protein food without offending your sense of taste.

Incorporate at least one-half cup of the milk powder into your food each day, and you'll get all the benefits of a quart of fresh liquid milk.

Right now powdered skim milk is the biggest food bargain of all. You can slice your milk bill to a third with powdered skim milk as well as supplementing your diet with the valuable proteins and vitamins and minerals found in this wonderful food.

From the standpoint of economy and convenience alone, housewives tell me they would not be without skim milk powder after once using it. Yet economy and convenience are but two of the advantages gained by the advent of dry skim milk.

A teaspoon of skim milk powder thoroughly mixed into the beaten eggs makes wonderful scrambled eggs for breakfast, an excellent high-protein dish with which to start off the day. At lunch, dry skim milk can be added to soups. At dinner, the fruit pudding or egg custard served for dessert should contain a tablespoonful or more of dry skim milk in addition to the liquid milk specified in recipes.

REAL NUTRITION BARGAIN

If you want an extra-juicy-extra-plump, and extra-rich broiled hamburger soon, just add a couple of tablespoons of skim milk powder to the mixture.

For about 40 cents a day you can furnish 60 percent of your family's daily protein allowance. Compare this with getting an equivalent amount of complete protein from other sources. Your savings in the food budget can be quite substantial.

Dry skim milk can help build strong and healthy bodies in childhood and adolescence. In adult life, it will help maintain and sustain you. In old age, it can help you find the balanced level of nourishment that can ward off the illnesses associated with increased years.

Is there a real need for dried skim milk? With more than half of our "civilized" people losing their youth before they are 40, I should say there is.

Cage Title Returns To Charlevoix Co.

Boyne City returned the Michigan-Huron Shores basketball title to Charlevoix County this week after defeating Petoskey 50-46 to end the season with a 12 win-two loss record.

The Ramblers found themselves battling every play of the game to maintain their first place standing and to capture the title.

Petoskey grabbed a one-point 9-8 first period lead but Boyne City put on the pressure to take over 28-21 at halftime.

The Northmen, however, were not going to give up without a fight as they fought back to a 38-36 advantage going into the final period. With the title within reach, the Ramblers outscored their hosts 14-8 for the winning margin.

Scott Upton, with 22 points, all on field goals, paced the game followed by Dave Peck with 10 points. Bruce Hilton had 13 and Dave Kalchik 10 for Petoskey in the low scoring game.

EJ Ties For Third

The East Jordan Red Devils defeated Gaylord St. Mary Friday by a score of 89-71 to end the season in a three-way tie with Bellaire and Mancelona for third place in the Ski Valley standings.

East Jordan had only one more field goal than the Snowbirds, 31, but made up the difference from the free throw line where they connected on 27 of 46 attempts as they capitalized on the visitor's 29 personal fouls while collecting only 17. The Snowbirds with 30 field goals hit on 11 of 18 shots from the line.

The Jordanites were in control all the way as they went ahead 21-17 at the quarter; 44-36 at halftime and 68-55 going into the final eight minutes.

Terry Murphy poured in 26 points followed by Pete Hammond with 25; Bob Reid with 12 and Rod Cummings with 11.

Tom Tomaski had 25 points, Chuck Lovelace 12 and Mitch Dobrzelewski 10 for the Snowbirds.

Harbor Springs won the Ski Valley title in the recently organized league.

Rev. Johnston Reviews Changes in Liturgy

A review of the latest additions of "Prayer Book Studies" by the Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston, vicar of Christ Episcopal Church, Charlevoix has been published in the latest edition of "The Living Church" magazine.

The "Studies" deal with proposed changes in the Episcopal Prayer Book which have been used on a temporary experimental basis for the past few years. The changes are incorporated in what commonly is called "The Green Book."

The changes have been a point of contention within the church ever since they were proposed.

Some Episcopalians favor the straight-forward language of the Standing Liturgical Commission employes in the Green Book.

Others, and they are probably in the majority in Charlevoix, prefer the stately language of the old Book of Common Prayer, although on rare occasions the meaning may not be so clear.

In his review, Rev. Johnston warns that he has been highly critical of much that has been done under the guise of "revision," and cautions the reader about his "pronounced, and very obvious, bias." He also disqualifies himself as a liturgical scholar.

"I am, for want of a better term, a bibliophile, but I hope I am not so obtuse and wedded to the past that I am blind to any present good," he writes.

He confines his remarks to new renderings of the Psalms, the new Catechism, Holy Baptism and a supplement to that service, the Dedication and Consecration of a Church, the Concelebration of a New Ministry and An Order of Worship for the Evening.

Rev. Johnston says he is confident that the new baptism service and the Psalter will be widely used.

"But it will take an effort on the part of the clergy and congregations to test the mettle of the rest—and that doesn't mean using them once each!

Islander Wins $24,000

Ed Wojan, 27, of St. James, Beaver Island, won $24,000 — $2,000 a month for 12 months — the Michigan Lottery's special bonus drawing last Thursday at Allen Park.

Wojan, who bought tickets and then forgot about them, didn't realize that he had one of the winning tickets until the Lottery Commission informed Dick LaFreniere, proprietor of Lafreniere's General Store in St. James, that one of his customers had purchased one of the winning tickets.

LaFreniere canvassed his lottery customers, located Wojan and the young boat and snowmobile rental operator made a flying trip to the mainland to be on hand for the drawing.

If he hadn't made it tu Allen Park on time, he would hove won only $500 a month.

Wojan and his wife, Connie, plan to donate $2,000 to the Beaver Island Medical Center and $2,000 to the Beaver Island Airport for a hangar for an emergency airplane.

Parking, Utilities

visory commission heard a request from Engineer Alvin Granger for support to form a utility commission between Charlevoix and neighboring townships.

The purpose of the authority would be to study water and sewer needs with the hopes of eventually forming a joint authority similar to the one in Harbor Springs.

However, City Councilman and Commission member Richard Fochtman cautioned the group that Charlevoix already is deeply in debt for the new waste water treatment plant.

While he favored the move, Fochtman said the city still had some sewer problems to take care of before getting into a co-operative move with townships.

"This gets real complicated real quick," he said.

Democrats Weigh Sander Levin

Seventy-nine Democrats from northern Michigan, including several from Charlevoix, convened in Gaylord Saturday to meet with Sander Levin, who is expected to announce his candidacy for governor.

Levin believes that one of the problems in government today is a lack of communication between the people and their elected officials.

He charged that government has been "too aloof, too remote, and as a result, its responses to the real concerns of the people have been too little and too late."

In answer to questions, Levin said:

–He is against a referendum on a proposed amendment to outlaw handguns, although he concedes that crime is an increasing problem.

–He favors repeal of the Michigan sales on food and drugs.

–Michigan residents were misled into believing lottery funds would be used for education.

--He opposes Project Sanguine, the massive doomsday radar grid proposed for the Upper Peninsula.

–He favors local decisions on land use, with a bi-partisan commission to survey planning problems statewide.

The meeting was chaired by Libby Maynard.

Saginaw Savings Opens Branch at 207 Bridge

The official opening of Saginaw Savings and Loan Association's new office in Charlevoix took place Monday morning.

Fred G. Theuer, president of Saginaw Savings was assisted by Mayor Edward P. Hansen in cutting the traditional ribbon activating the new savings and loan facility.

Saginaw Savings and loan Association was founded in Saginaw in 1888. It has twelve other offices in northern Michigan. The assets of the association have risen rapidly particularly during the past ten years to a total exceeding $180 million.

The new office is located at 207 Bridge Street in Charlevoix. The interior decor of the new office will have a coordinated nautical theme in keeping with the history of the Charlevoix area and its close association with surrounding lakes.

In all of their office locations, Saginaw Savings offers the most modern facilities to provide the utmost in savings and loan service for their old and new customers.

Gary J. Bailey has been named manager of the new Charlevoix office. Bailey joined Saginaw Savings two years ago in the management training program. He was previously manager of the St. Charles office of Saginaw Savings and served four years in the U.S. Marine Corps with two years in Vietnam. He was honorably discharged in 1968.

Bailey is a graduate of Ferris State College with a B.S Degree in Business Administration and is married to the former Connie Gillert of Traverse City.

Saginaw Savings offers a wide range of customer services ranging from regular passbook savings accounts with on-line computer transactions. Customers may also save-by-mail, utilize Check-A-Month accounts and Transmatic services and purchase money orders. Saginaw Savings loan division handles consumer oriented loans as well as the traditional savings and home loan services.

LAST WEEKEND was the first time for round-the-clock emergency service at Charlevoix Hospital. Doctor on duty from 10 a.m. Saturday to 10 p.m. Sunday was Robert Williams, M.D., of Grayling, member of an emergency team which provides services to hospitals throughout northern Michigan. Charlevoix Hospital may buy the service full-time this June.

Planners Back Effort To Save Rail Service

Charlevoix County has joined a protest over a federal proposal to eliminate Northern Michigan rail service.

Charlevoix County Planning Commissioners sent Planner Bill Mercer armed with a list of objections of why service shouldn't be curtailed to present in public hearing Friday in Detroit.

The commission met last Thursday to adopt a position statement objecting to the federal plan and asking if the service is abandoned to at least save rail right of ways.

A report issued Feb. 1 by the U.S. Transportation Department claims that virtually all of the present railroad service and right-of-way in the northwest region is "excess" and therefore expendable.

All but the Chesapeake and Ohio Line as far north as Manistee could be abandoned, under the report's proposal.

Among excess lines would be the Penn Central route through Cadillac, Petoskey and Kalkaska to Mackinaw City; the Ann Arbor Railroad line from Owosso to Frankfort and its cross lake Ferry service; and the C & O track from Manistee through Tompsonville, Traverse City and Charlevoix to Petoskey.

Shuffles Off To Buffalo

The Coast Guard Cutter Sundew departed for Buffalo, N.Y., waters last week to test the vessel's experimental bubbler system for breaking ice.

THE WHARF, granddaddy of all of Charlevoix's condominiums, will have plenty of company this summer. See Pg. 8.

110 Air School Woes in Private

The largest crowd in memory, more than 110 persons, gathered at the High School Monday for the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education which lasted until 11:35 p.m. and included an executive session of the board from 9 until 10:55 p.m.

The major business of the meeting had been transacted before the board went into executive session to allow persons wishing to discuss various issued to do so.

The meeting was reconvened and the contracts of Robert Bogart as business manager, Vane Smith as high school principal, Roy Fortin as assistant principal in the High School and Geri Stanko as principal of the Middle School were extended for the 1974-75 school year. The contracts of Bogart, Smith and Fortin received unanimous approval of the board. Miss Stanko's contract was approved by a vote of 6-1 with Max Novak casting the dissenting vote.

Peter Spieles, who has taught in the Middle School for several years, has been named to the vacancy of biology instructor in the high school beginning in September.

June 10 was set as the date of the annual school election at which time a renewal of millage for operational purposes will be placed on the ballot. The amount of the millage will not be determined until after available millage is allocated by the County Allocation Board.

Robert Bogart was appointed as deputy to the secretary of the Board of Education for the purpose of conducting elections during the calendar year of 1974.

The real estate firm of Ski & Shore was engaged to sell the Building Trades home as per terms of their written offer, restricted only by the board of education being provided the opportunity to sell the house within 20 days of establishing the price of the structure.

The policy relating to reimbursement of expenses to school personnel attending conferences and other school business was approved. Under the policy $10.00 per day will be allowed for lodging, $7.50 for meals per day and 12 cents per mile for travel.

However, to collect all receipts for payments made must be turned in.

Vane Smith, High School principal, reported on the citation received from the North Central Association for inadequate secretarial services in the high school. He said that with guidance, adult education, vocational education and the Co-op program being handled through his office there was need for more clerical help.

He also reported on the proposed Senior trip which has been scheduled for May 27-29 to Cedar Point, Ohio, via chartered bus and return. Eighty-five of 110 students have signed up for the trip he reported. The students have earned enough money for all but spending money for the trip.

The board approved the establishment of a workshop to be held late in August on Middle School philosophy and program.

Channel Walkway, Lights Approved By City Council

The City Council Monday agreed to maintain a lighted public walkway and landscaping along Pine River Channel, if the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers does the work.

The council voted unanimously to accept responsibility for the improvements once they are completed.

The project includes railings along both sides of the channel from the bridge to Lake Michigan. The north channel bank also would have a walkway and a long concrete "bench" for sight-seers from one end to the other.

In other action involving the Corps of Engineers, the council said it would provide dock and storage space to the Corps when work is storted on rebuilding the channel wall from the bridge east to the city dock.

In an unrelated matter, the council filed an objection with the Corps to the construction of long finger piers into Round Lake as proposed by Timberlee Hills in front of the Wharf condominium. The council believes the piers would be a hazard to navigation.

Wards Boat Livery also has objected to the proposal on grounds that the long piers would virtually shut off their boat docks from marine customers.

In other business the council:

--Heard a request by Alderman Jeannine Wallace that the city get moving on a proposal to provide garden space near the airport for Charlevoix families who are fighting a losing battle against inflation. If you ure interested in such a garden plot, leave your name and oddress with Mrs. Wallace or at the Courier office.

–OK'd minor changes in the Grate Subdivision at the foot of Prospect-st. The parcel has been divided into two R-1 lots at the request of the new owner, Alyce Lesser.

–Formally approved a ban on the establishment on ground floor office-type businesses on Bridge-st. from Antrim-st. to the bridge. The area has been reserved for retail use.

–Rezoned property at the southwest corner of Bridge and Robinson-sts. from R-2 to restricted office. Ski and Shore plans to remodel the house on the property into three office suites.

–Set a public hearing for April 8 on a request by Ron Pair of St. Cloir Shores to rezone a building and property on Stover-rd. across from St. Marys Cemetery from C-2 to light industrial. Poir would like to buy the property from John Cole of Dayton, Ohio in order to estoblish a branch of Ron Pair Industries, manufacturers of air pollution control equipment. Cole and Pair were represented at the meeting by Robert Sell of Chorlevoix. The building formerly wos the Char-Em Special Education office.

–OK'd the removal of the name of Elizabeth Pierce from the liquor license at Grey Gables. The license will be held solely by co-owner David Phillips.

–Agreed to ask bids on commercial dock space on Round Lake. The Beaver Island dock and building requires a minimum bid of $10,500 for three years, with a 10 percent deposit. The city will use the money to remodel the ticket office and freight shed. Bids will be opened March 25 ot the council meeting.

–Decided not to advertise for gas and fuel oil.

--Increased the cost of Saturdoy grave closings by $10 for youngsters up to two years old, $15 for children up to 12 yeors old; and $32.50 for adults. The change was made necessary by the new contract with the CWA which cuts the work-week to 42 hours. The new cost of Saturday closings in the three categories will be $30, $35 and $97.50.

--Decided that all new tombstones at city-maintained cemeteries must be flush with the ground after March 21. Raised tombstones create problems in grass cutting and raking.

–Expressed disapprovol of a proposal in the Legislature which would allow voters to register at branches of the Secretary of State.

–Learned that a special meeting will be held March 18 to handle sale of the May-st. sewer bonds.

--Heard a proposal by Aldermon Richard Fochtman that the city odvertise for publication bids.

Jr. Band Wins "I" In Fete

The Charlevoix Middle School band, directed by Gary Stutzman, was one of two Class C to earn I ratings in the District II Band and Orchestra Association Junior High festival held here Saturday.

This is the first time a Charlevoix Middle School band has qualified for state competition. Until 1973 there was no qualifying festival for this division.

The second class C band to win top rating was the Onaway Area Junior High band directed by Karan Pregitzer.

Twenty-one bands and orchestras from 17 communities participated in the all-day festival held at the Charlevoix high school. The festival opened at 8 a.m. and continued until 6 p.m.

Judges were Dr. Harold Wright of Northern Michigan University, Henry Verberkmoes of Lake Linden, William Sutherland of Linden and George Anderson, head of Music Department at the Saginaw Public Schools.

A total of eight musical groups received I Division ratings and the right to enter the State Festival to be held at Clare on May 4.

The Charlevoix Seventh grade band participated but entered unclassified; that is the band played for comments from the adjudicators but no rating.

Raft Race Coming

Shades of Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer!

The retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce has put its stamp of approval on a raft race, scheduled June 15, from Ferry Ave. Beach to Round Lake.

The rafts may be made of anything that can float, but they must not have hulls, motors or fixed oars.

A similar roce is held every year on the Grand River in Grand Rapids.

The promoters hope that the race will encourage an influx of tourists in mid-June, before the summer crowds arrive.

Participants would be required to wear sneakers and life jackets, with a minimum of two persons aboard.

Entry fee will be $10 ond two $100 prizes would be aworded. Other awards may be made for the best looking and the most original raft.

So far, 30 persons have expressed an interest in participating, according to Vince Olach, chamber manoger.

The chamber also will sponsor a fishing contest this summer, starting on Memorial Day.

Snider Will Retire

Glenn B. Snider, principal of the Charlevoix Elementary School for the past 19 years, will retire at the end of the school year, Supt. James A. McKimmy told the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night.

Snider joined the Charlevoix faculty in 1947 after two years with the Army in the South Pacific. After eight years in the classroom, he was named principal in 1955.

A native of Marion Township, Snider graduated from Charlevoix High School and attended the University of Michigan one year before enrolling in Antrim County Normal College.

After graduation, he taught in Charlevoix County rural schools while working on his B.A. degree at Ferris State College. He received his degree in 1949 and his M.A. degree from Central Michigan in 1953. He also has 30 hours credit beyond his masters.

Snider and his wife, Connie, a first grade teacher in the Charlevoix system, have a daughter, Mrs. James (Nancy) Labiak of Colowna, B.C., and a son, Glenn R., an electrical engineer with Collins Radio in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

When Snider joined the Charlevoix system, the Elementary School had 375 students in six grades and kindergarten and a faculty of 13. The present enrollment in 573 in four grades and kindergarten, with a faculty of 19 plus four special teachers for music, art, physical education and the learning center.

He says his staff has worked hard to create a good image in the community.

Mrs. Snider plans to remain on the faculty.

Sports? You Name It, Dave Moyer Has Done It

(Following is the sixth in a series of articles on Charlevoix teachers prepared by the Charlevoix Education Association.)

If you ever need information on sports' activities in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area, be sure you ask Dave Moyer. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer R. Moyer of Petoskey, Moyer has spent most of his life involved in sports.

At Petoskey High School, Dave played varsity basketball (he was an all-state player), football, and ran track. As a senior, Moyer was chosen by WWTV Cadillac to be on a basketball "Dream Team." His two hour television debut was one of his most memorable experiences.

Moyer's talents extend beyond sports. He played coronet in the band and orchestra, sang baritone in the choir and boys' ensemble. He was a member of the National Honor Society and was chosen as the "Outstanding Teenager of America." He was voted as "most likely to succeed" by his fellow students and teachers, and received an athletic scholarship to Central Michigan University.

While attending the university, Moyer played basketball for one year and football for four. Not only was he engaged in sports, but was a member of the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity and the Men's Glee Club.

Moyer graduated in 1972 with a major in Physical Education and Recreation, and a minor in Industrial Arts. He did his directed teaching in Bloomfield Hills at West Hills Junior High School and Andover High School.

Presently Moyer is the physical education teacher at the Charlevoix Middle School, assistant coach in both varsity football and track. He also coaches freshmen basketball.

He belongs to two independent basketball teams and one volleyball team.

He skis regularly and is presently planning a spring ski trip to Colorado and New Mexico. When asked what his favorite sport is, Moyer hesitated and said, "I guess I really don't have one."

Alvin Ranger was present to go over the survey, requested by the Council, of the Norman D. Ance Subdivision for an industrial park. He pointed out that the Health Dept. is not likely to approve the subdivision until such time as sanitary sewers are installed and a lift station will be necessary. He was advised by the Council to complete his survey and present it to the Health Dept. for their approval.

Ald. Fochtman stated his concern over the condition of West Dixon Ave. and asked that an estimate of the cost of repairing and rebuilding the street be made. He also added his concern over the need of read-o-matic water meters being installed, thus eliminating the necessity of city employees going into homes to read meters. He ask that in future planning of any Sunday parades; consideration be given to the churches so that the hour does not conflict with their services and suggested that parades form at the water front instead of Park Ave. He questioned if the Chamber of Commerce contract and lease was not due for renewal as of March 1, 1974.

Alderwoman Wallace read from a letter regarding the contract with the Chamber and the need for it to be amended. The letter was given to attorney Berlage with a request that he look into the matter.

Moved by Ald. Fochtman that the Council adjourn.

Ida A. Heise, City Clerk

Barbara Wilson Heads Teachers' Association

Barbara Wilson, a teacher at the Charlevoix Elementary School, has been elected president of the Charlevoix Education Association (CEA) for the coming year.

Serving with her will be Vince Chew, vice president and president-elect; Kay Smith, secretary; Pat Carland, treasurer' and Ann Schenk, co-ordinating council representative; and Janet Langeland, regional council representative.

The annual election was held last Tuesday.

William Murray, former president, will head the contract negotiating committee this year, assisted by Condit Drury, Barbara Berlage, Barry Anderson, Nelson Green, Vince Chew and Karen Hinds.

Mrs. Wilson said that meetings with Board of Education bargainers probably will begin within two weeks.

The CEA is official bargaining representative of Charlevoix teachers and is affiliated with the Michigan Education Association and the National Education Association.

A recent survey conducted by the CEA indicates that the teacher's primary concerns this year are salary increases, with a built-in cost-of-living escalator clause, smaller classes at some grade levels, improvements in fringe benefits and longevity increases for teachers with long tenure, according to Murray.

He says that 50 percent of Charlevoix teachers will be on the top salary steps in the fall.

"We have to recognize that many of these people have received very little in salary increases over the last few years, during a time of ever increasing inflation."

He added that as a result, Charlevoix teachers on the top steps are receiving 13 percent less than the state average for similar experience levels.

State OKs May-St. Bonds

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, Chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, has announced that the Commission approved $163,000.00 of "1974 Special Assessment Bonds (District 1A)" for the City of Charlevoix.

Attorney General Kelley said, "The proceeds will be used for defraying part of the cost of constructing Sewer Improvements in Special Assessment District No. 1A, in the City of Charlevoix."

These bonds are payable from Special Assessments for the May-st. sewer.

Other members of the Municipal Finance Commission are Allison Green, state treasurer; and John W. Porter, superintendent of public instruction.

The following fees are to be paid from the bond proceeds: Bond attorney, - $1,157.50; and Local Attorney, - $6,000.00 (Deferred).

Canadian Commentator Sums Up Uncle Sam

(Editor's Note: Ever since we heard about comments on America and Americans by Canadian news commentator Gordon Sinclair last summer, we have hoped to get our hands on a copy of his text. One arrived in the mail last week from Roy Bennett, who is spending the winter in Zephyrhills, Fla. We hope you read it from start to finish. Then we hope you read it to your children and grandchildren and make copies of it to send to you friends and relatives. Lastly, we hope you clip it out and put it in a scrapbook to re-read whenever you feel this country of ours is not living up to the high ideals of the founding fathers. Our copy of Mr. Sinclair's remarks is a reprint from the Jan. 7 Tampa Tribune. The original broadcast was made June 5, 1973, over station CFRB.)

The United States dollar took another pounding on German, French and British exchanges this morning, hitting the lowest point ever known in West Germany. It has declined there by 41 percent since 1971 and this Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly least appreciated people in all the earth.

As long as 60 years ago, when I first started to read newspapers, I read of floods in the Yellow River and the Yangste. Who rushed in with men and money to help? The Americans did.

They have helped control floods in the Nile, the Amazon, the Ganges and the Niger. Today, the rich bottomland of the Mississippi is under water and no foreign land has sent a dollar to help. Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy, were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts. None of those countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris. I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help. Managua, Nicaragua, is one of the most recent examples. So far this spring, 59 American communities have been flattened by tornadoes. Nobody has helped.

The Marshal plan, the Truman policy, all pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent war-mongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar build its own airplanes.

Come on. . . let's hear it! Does any other country in the world have a plane equal to the Boeing jumbo jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10? If so, why don't they fleet them? Why do all international lines except Russia fly American planes? Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy and you get radios. You talk about American technocracy and you find men on the moon, not once, but several times. . . and safely home again.

You talk about scandals and the Americans put theirs in the store window for everybody to look at. Even the draft dodgers are not persued and hounded. They are here on our streets, most of them. . . unless they are breaking Canadian laws – and getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here.

When the Americans get out of this bind – as they will – who could blame them if they said, "The hell with the rest of the world." Let somebody else buy Israel bonds. Let someone else build or repair foreign dams or design foreign buildings that won't shake apart in earthquakes.

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the Americans who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke. Nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke. I can name to you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble.

Can you name even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble? I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around. They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these: But there are many smug, self-righteous Canadians. And finally, the American Red Cross was told at its 48th annual meeting in New Orleans this morning that it was broke.

This year's disasters, with the year less than half over, have taken it all and nobody – but nobody – has helped.

Stumping the Woods

By Olie O. Stump, jr.

Depending on the point of view, Uncle Charley was either blessed or cursed. with an 'unharnessed' energy source–his mule, Jenny. She regarded the leather trappings of his harness with as much disfavor as the rack in medieval times. If her master were to profit from the sweat of a brow, she reasoned, let it be his own. After all, females, be they animal or human, were placed on earth to beautify, not to perspire.

Her clairvoyance made Charley's bag of tricks an open book, one of primary reading level. His most artful ruse, while entertaining, served another purpose, since it confirmed her long harbored suspicion that Charley was a bit 'backward'. He approached Jenny by walking backward, thinking it would appear he was going away from her. Thus, he could retreat to within range of the bridle concealed beneath his coat.

Deviousness brings its own just reward as Charley was soon to discover. Bereft of rear view vision, he stumbled over a root and fell headlong into a patch of mature raspberry bushes. Immediately, the air was rent with the sound of ripping fabric which exposed further vulnerable areas to the thorns, and with Charley's comments pertinent thereto.

Unconcerned, Jenny munched on a clump of grass awaiting the next move in this game of catch as catch can.

On rare occasions, Jenny would participate in one of Charley's ventures purely out of feminine curiosity. In one of Charley's ventures purely out of feminine curiosity. In one such instance, the first and last, she consented to go shopping with Charley. He, of course, blundered at the very outset by tying her behind the store in a spot as shady as Death Valley, with matching temperature.

The wind raised havoc with Jenny's hairdo, the swirling sand discolored her coat, and the sun beat down in utter disregard of her delicate complexion.

Why, she fumed silently, should she suffer such indignities to haul groceries which never graced her table? Furthermore, since she harvested her own home-grown menu, why should not Charley do likewise?

She forcefully indicated her displeasure by bouncing Charley over every rut and pothole on the return journey. Divining her thoughts about terminating the logistics run in the nearest convenient drainage ditch, Charley jumped down and walked with a restraining grip on her for the last mile.

Jenny ruled out any further excursions of this nature by upgrading an energy shortage to a total power failure, a proclamation which forced Charley to join a transportation pool–a horse pool with his neighbor, Evergreen Heino. This wounded Charley's ego, for he could not reciprocate in kind. As he lamented to Evergreen in a fit of exasperation.

"All I have is a dumb mule!"

Heino glanced reflectively at Jenny, lolling in the shade of an elm. His gaze turned to Charley. It was a quizzical non-committal expression. Being a kindly man, Evergreen kept any doubts he felt to himself.

920 Percent Assessment Hike Rapped

Board of Review
Charlevoix Township
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Gentlemen:

Your notice of re-assessment on our lots 10, 11 and 12 of block 2 in Pine Point arrived today. We are shocked and this is a VIOLENT protest. Of course, it is impossible for us to be there March 11 or 12 and you know it.

Last year you raised the assessment on these three completely unimproved lots $1000 over the previous year which was an 800 percent increase in 5 years. We protested but you merely denied the protest.

With this $300 increase it is now 920 percent over that in 1968.

If someone wanted to buy these lots to build on them, they would be refused permission to build because of the water level. So technically the lots are of no value except as pretty woods.

We couldn't sell these lots for what we paid for them in 1968 much less 920 percent more!

This assessment is outrageous and we protest it and will continue to do so.

Sincerely,

Joanna D. Gunn
(Mrs. Carl M.)

A girl named Sandi Waun wants my opinion of Women's Lib. She wrote me:

"I am a senior at Sandusky High School, presently enrolled in a journalism class. I am doing an article on Women's Lib. I would appreciate it if you would give me your opinion, pro or con."

Dear Sandie:

I don't know if it has anything to do with Women's Lib, but I certainly do like women who ask for my opinion. In fact, that's how my wife won me. She was a new secretary in our newspaper office and I was Clark Kent with no "S" on my underwear. The same day I met her, she asked me if I thought it would rain that evening and I was so overwhelmed I asked her to marry me.

My problem was that I was raised in a matriarchate (ask your teacher). I had 4 sisters, led by Terrible Jean, no brothers, 1 mother and a father who traveled a lot. The only time any of those women sought my opinion was when Terrible Jean asked me if I'd had enough. She was usually sitting on my back, pounding on my head, and my opinion was always yes, I had.

So you see, Sandie, I've had a tough time adjusting to this Women's Lib thing. I was drafted into World War II before I learned women didn't swing the big stick everywhere. The biggest surprise was learning Hitler wasn't a woman.

And the biggest puzzle was how come, if men ruled the world, I got drafted into the lousy army and Terrible Jean didn't? This still puzzles me.

Also, what about good manners? My mother taught me to open doors for women and to never say dirty words in front of them. These are habits I cannot shake. When a woman drops something, I automatically get on my knees and start looking for it. This was OK when I was 15. But lately, some of the women have been forced to show their gratitude by helping me to my feet and assisting me to the nearest rest home.

Another thing, Sandie, is I would rather admire a pretty woman than anything else. And this isn't a sexist, ogling thing. I don't want to assault them or even pinch. I just appreciate looking at them, the same way I'd admire a rainbow or a 3-cushion bank of the 8-ball into the side pocket.

Then there is the money thing. In the usual family, the man goes out and makes it so the women can spend it. No lie, housework and child-rearing are not simple tasks. Housewives earn their keep. But it is Old Dad who must produce or get fired. It's a difference in pressure. If your mother forgets to dust on Monday, it's no big deal, she can do it another time. But if Dad doesn't make his quota on Monday, he may be jobless Tuesday and the father of a hungry family by Friday. It's a responsibility that can weigh on a person a lot heavier than dirty diapers.

Women's Lib is absolutely right when it says Terrible Jean and I should get the same pay if we do the same work. We should have the same chance to get a job and her credit card should be worth as much as mine. But other than that, Sandie, I don't see where you women have much to squawk about.

Men court you and support you and protect you and help you put on your coat. And all we marvelous fellows ask in return is that you don't wear your curlers downtown.

It may be a man's world, Sandie, but most of us are exceedingly magnanimous about it (ask your teacher–unless she's a woman).

Streaking

By BOB CLOCK

For better or worse, the age of the "streaker" has come to Northern Michigan.

In case you've been living in a closet somewhere, "streakers" are men and women, usually callow youths, who strip to the buff and prance about in public places to the horror or delight of on-lookers.

According to reliable sources, a young man in a jump suit rode the chair to the top of Boyne Mountain Saturday afternoon, disrobed and schussed Victor in the altogether.

Another story made the rounds over the weekend that a young man jumped out of a car parked in front of the Courier office last Friday night, streaked across the bridge and was picked up on the other side by his accomplices.

Although the streaker craze is just aborning, I'll bet you a pair of gym shoes that we won't hear the end of it for quite a spell. This summer should be highly interesting in Charlevoix, which already attracts more than its share of kooks in July and August.

Of course, the daily press and columnists are having a heyday with the streakers, and almost anything is a welcome change from Watergate.

Joe Falls, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press, speculated Friday on what the Tigers would do if a streaker chose to violate their lair in downtown Detroit. He interviewed several of the players at Lakeland, Fla., for their opinions.

Shortstop Eddie Brinkman said he might even try it himself in Florida, if his mother weren't in town. "Anyway, I think all they'd notice is my new mustache."

Rookie John Knox said it would be one way to get his picture in the paper.

"But you'd have to pick your spot," he told Falls. "You'd have to head for the dugout. Yes, that would be the best place to end up. I mean, you wouldn't want to wind up out in centerfield.

Willie Horton found it hard to believe people actually run around without their clothes.

Columnist Judd Arnett also did a superb piece on streaking. The ghosts of his puritan past stood around his desk urging him to wage war with the exhibitionists, but he didn't have it in his heart to do so. He came to the conclusion that streaking is more fun and games than anything else. Judd's a good head.

United Press International called on the experts to analyze the streakers. The behaviorial scientists see streaking as a harmless, if tasteless, fad that will streak away if no one notices it.

Christina Maslach, University of California social psychologist, suggested that people streak "to do something risky and not get caught. Perhaps it is to do something novel and see what it is like."

Caroline E. Preston, a University of Washington psychiatrist, doesn't feel that the streakers' motives are very profound.

"I think it has nothing to do with sexuality at all. If anything, it's a kind of denial of sexuality," she says.

Paul Blaney, a psychologist at the University of Texas, claims streaking and sexual exhibitionism are unrelated.

"The motivations behind streaking are trivial, whereas exhibitionism is a reflection of emotional disorder," he says.

Norm Yetman, a sociologist at the University of Kansas, believes it is interesting that authorities tend to look the other way when confronted with streakers.

"This seems to illustrate the fact that streaking is apolitical and not a threat to the existing structure," Yetman claims.

Zigmond Lebonsohn, a Washington, D.C., psychiatrist, says that streaking reflects changing attitudes toward nudity.

And he may be right.

Although I am a few years younger than Judd Arnett, I too was raised in a society that was aghast at nudity in any form. Even bathing suits, when I was a kid, covered the human torso from the knees to the elbows. And when the bare midriff came in for women, Americans caught their breath, closed their eyes and lamented the passing of the old scheme of things. For a couple of days, anyway.

In recent years, however, the human body has been coming into its own, with all types of see-through streetwear for both women and men. Streaking appears to be the next step in the movement toward total liberation.

I am not going to take sides, but I predict that the present craze is going to give many of America's age old taboos on nudity their day in court. And you know as well as I which way our liberal courts will rule.

I'm glad I'm not in the clothing business.

Eat and Grow Younger

Honey One of Finest Sweets --Unexcelled as Energy Food

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Nine of a Series

Please don't get the idea that I am against all sweets in your Eat-and-Grow-Younger diet. I enjoy a sweet as much as you. But I try to confine these sweet sprees to a type of carbohydrate that will make a definite contribution to my daily quota of vitamins and minerals—that is, to confections and desserts made with pure honey.

HONEY
I GIVE YOU GO!!!

Perhaps you've never been told that honey is the only animal carbohydrate available to us as a sweet; that it is the only predigested sugar in nature, being 99 percent predigested when it reaches your table. Although the dextrose of levulose (sometimes called "grape sugar" or "blood sugar") in honey is the sweetest of all sugars, it is also the mildest, the easiest to digest and the best source of quick, lasting energy.

Honey is one of the few sweets that possess natural laxative properties. It is also one of the quickest stimulants known. Moreover, the use of honey in the diet as a sweetener does not result in the heavy production of body fat that follows use of 100-percent carbohydrate, no-vitamin, no-mineral white sugar.

Honey has a high vitamin C content. The darker the honey, the more nutrition it contains.

VITAMINS IN HONEY

Most honeys can also supply your diet with thiamine and riboflavin (along with other B-vitamins) and a good proportion of food minerals, plus some hormones and a few amino acids (protein), together with diastase and enzymes to help digestion.

Can the same be said of refined, white sugar? Indeed not! You get nothing but pure starch when you buy white sugar—and your problem is how to cut down on starches, not increase them.

As a supreme conditioner for strenuous activity, honey was appreciated in ancient times. The unparalleled athletes of ancient Greece trained for their Olympic games on honey. Today mountain climbers and long-distance swimmers use large amounts of honey in their training diets.

There is an easily proved, wholly scientific reason why honey is a wonderful food to build quick energy in run-down bodies, to promptly stimulate fatigued bodies back to normal, and to feed weakened heart muscles.

Honey contains as its prime ingredient the sugar dextrose — which is readily converted in the body to glycogen — the only form sugar can be stored in the body for ready use when energy is needed, (main storage places are the liver, gland cells and muscles).

Every bite of carbohydrate you eat (flour, bread, cake, spaghetti, rice, white sugar, candy, chocolate) must first be broken down to dextrose—a long and intricate process.

You have heard the expression "blood sugar level" many times. What it means is that a certain amount of glycogen must be present in your bloodstream at all times; otherwise your body efficiency grows less and less. In case of a severely decreased blood sugar level (insulin shock, brought on by an overdose of the diabetes treatment, is one instance), the brain slows down so completely that the person goes into a coma.

In a much milder form, a lowered blood sugar level causes you to seek a between-meals snack when you begin feeling brain-and-body tired.

COUNTERACTS FATIGUE

Whenever your blood sugar falls to such a low level that it needs raising almost instantly to counteract severe fatigue and a general slowing down of the heart muscle — would you be wise in eating a food that requires long, intricate digestive processing before it can be turned into dextrose that produces instantly usable glycogen? Or should you choose a food that is already 99 percent predigested dextrose? That means honey!

When you depend on other carbohydrates for energy (the lactose in milk is the one exception), your heart muscle, your brain cells, your bloodstream must all wait for that urgently needed glycogen until the long, intricate digestive process is finished.

EXPERTS AGREE

Not only is honey itself the purest of foods, it is also a good purifier for your digestive tract. Dr. Schuette of the University of Wisconsin says dark honey contains practically all the minerals composing the human skeleton. Dr. Metchnikoff, famous Russian scientist, attributed the unusually long life of Bulgarian peasants to their milk-and-honey diet. Dr. Rubner of Berlin University, an eminent nutritional physiologist, has proved that honey contains an abundance of important B-vitamins.

Two or more teaspoonfuls of honey with each meal will insure adequate honey nutrients for your body needs.

The ancients believed this natural sweet meant a great deal to their survival. And, judging from the results of many modern experiments, I believe it offers all of us an opportunity to live life to its fullest.

MRS. LILLIAN MOORE (left), celebrated her 90th birthday March 7. With her is her life-long friend, Mrs. Floyd Ikens who was 91 in January. Both are lifetime residents of the Charlevoix area.

Marks 90th Birthday

'Old Undine' Was Home To Mrs. Lillian Moore

Mrs. Joseph (Lillian) Moore of Charlevoix is more surprised than anything else by the fact that she has lived to celebrate her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Moore was feted last Thursday by dozens of friends from the Methodist Church and other well-wishers at a party in her honor at the Lee Moerland home on the Belvedere.

"It just doesn't seem like 90 years," Mrs. Moore said cheerfully as she surveyed the cards and presents around her birthday cake in the center of the big dining room table.

In truth, Mrs. Moore, who still has keen eyesight and sharp hearing, wears her years lightly.

Her friends attribute her longevity to her cheerful disposition.

And Mrs. Moore herself admits: "I'm the happiest when I can be of help to someone else."

She sold her home on Carpenter-st. two years ago and at present is living with the Getch Campfield's on Bridge-st. While the Campfields are on an extended trip, Mrs. Moore is keeping house — and that includes everything from preparing meals, making beds and cleaning — for Mrs. Campfield's father, Edward Smith, who will be 89 years old June 11.

Mrs. Moore was born in Sheboygan, Wisc., March 7, 1884, the daughter of Henry and Adele Sandrock. When Mrs. Moore was three years old, the family moved to Old Undine, a lumber camp and sawmill town on the shore of Lake Charlevoix, just west of Hortons' Bay.

She recalls the schooners coming in from Chicago to pick up cargoes of lumber from the Cram and Whitford Mill. The village and mill now exist only in the memory of old timers like Mrs. Moore.

In the late 1890's, the mill moved to the foot of Stover Creek in Charlevoix, in hopes of cutting logs brought down by boom from the Cross Village area. However, the mill owners didn't count on Lake Michigan storms which could tear a boom apart in minutes and scatter logs over the entire lake. The company went bankrupt and most of the employees moved to Bellingham, Ore.

A cousin of Mrs. Moore's, Hazen Whitford, is still living in Custer, Ore. He is the same age as Mrs. Moore.

In 1902, Mrs. Moore married Matthew Saunders, who died in 1902. A few years later she married Gene Crandall, who died shortly after in Florida. In 1950 she married Joe Moore, who died in 1950.

All of Mrs. Moore's husbands have been farmers and she has spent most of her life as a farm wife. However, she did work at the old Charlevoix Hospital on Hurlbut-st. for a time. She also worked as a practical nurse, taking care of many Charlevoix mothers and their newborn babies.

Mrs. Moore had three children by her first husband, Mr. Saunders. Clayton, the oldest, was born in 1903 and died last Dec. 8 at the age of 70. A daughter, Dorothy, died when she was 13 years old. Her only surviving son is Wallace Saunders, 63, who lives in Detroit and Florida.

Mrs. Moore embraced and kissed her friends as they trooped into the Moerland home to wish her a happy birthday.

"I am a very fortunate person," she confided to the press. "I have so many, many friends."

One of the celebrants was Mrs. Moore's girlhood friend, Mrs. Eloyd Ikens, who celebrated her 91st birthday Jan. 8.

Hospital Guild Notes

Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild Notes.

There is always something you would enjoy doing that would be helpful to the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital whose services are many.

At the present time the scholarship committee is busy supplying application blanks to the schools in the area served by the hospital in order that graduating seniors may apply for the schollarship. In the beginning the scholarship, given annually, was limited to those students interested in a professional nursing career. However, this has now been expanded to other fields to include medical technician, physical therapy or the practical nursing programs. The scholarship offers a total of $150 per year or a total of $450.00 for a three year training program. The scholarship application forms may be found in the principal's offices of area schools. Deadline for filing the applications has been set for May 1. On the scholarship committee are Mrs. Robert Hoffman, Mrs. Robert Tollas and Mrs. Richard Martin.

The Guild's year ends in August 31 so the Nominating Committee composed of Mrs. Robert Neff and Frances Milner is busy preparing a slate of officers to be presented at the annual meeting. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor at that time.

Another upcoming event is the spring meeting of the North Central Michigan Association of Hospital Administrators scheduled for May 1 at the Walter and Mae Reuther Family Education Center at Black Lake in northeastern Michigan. Planning to attend are Mrs. Floyd Chamberlain, who will be retiring as president after two years in the office, Mrs. Floyd Brown, Mrs. A.R. Stabnick, Mrs. James Gallagher, Mrs. T.R. Weidman and Mrs. James Driggett, president of the local guild.

One of the highlights of the Guild's spring activities is the annual Membership coffee. This year Mrs. Conrad Klooster, Jr., will host the event at her home in Meadowlane. You may be either an active member participating in any or all of the Guild's many activities or you may be an inactive member. Which ever one you choose, your $1.00 membership fee works for you. New members are welcome. If you are a newcomer to the community this is an excellent way to become acquainted and make new friends while serving a worthy cause. Memberships may be renewed at this meeting, or you may just come and find out more about this organization that has been serving the Charlevoix Area Hospital for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie will serve as chairman of the membership coffee.

One of the Guild's services to the hospital is the making of favors for patients' trays for all major holidays. February is a month filled with holidays, all of which were remembered with colorful favors in keeping with the occasion. Mrs. Gordon Freedmnn made the Lincoln birthday favors; Frances Milner the Valentines and Mrs. Robert Neff those for Washington's birthday. Mrs. Dinwiddie is presently preparing those honoring the good St. Patrict.

Memorial and gift cards also are available through the Guild.

If you are at a loss for a memorial for a loved one or would like to remember someone on the occasion of a birthday or anniversary, you may make a contribution to the Guild. A card will be sent in your name to the family, in the event of a memorial, or to the honoree if it is a gift. Mrs. Harry Gebeau, who can be reached at 547-2521, will do this for you.

The Hospital Guild meets the second Monday of every month at the hospital. The meetings are scheduled for 8 p.m. The next meeting will be Mar. 11. Won't you make an effort to attend and share in the joy of helping others?

Horton Bay United Methodist Church members and friends are invited to attend the Grand Traverse District meeting, to be held Saturday, March 16, at the Asbury United Methodist Church in Traverse City, located near Junction M-72 and M-22. The meeting of the Christian Social Concerns Workshop will begin with registration at 2:45 p.m. Rep. Michael Dively will be the guest speaker at the 3:15 p.m. meeting. There will be two workshop sessions, 4:15 and 6:30 p.m. Men and women are invited to the meeting.

They Want to Latch Onto Casino's Old Fence, Gate

You wouldn't think an old iron fence and gate in Charlevoix could cause a lot of commotion statewide. But it has.

Ever since an article on Koch's Colonial Club casino in Charlevoix by Mrs. Edith Gilbert appeared in the Detroit Free Press Feb. 3, the author has been snowed under by an avalanche of letters from persons interested in getting their hands on the fence and gate which surround the crumbling casino ruins on Meech-st. A picture of the fence and gate appeared with the article.

Hal Forbrig, owner of the property, also has received inquiries from persons interested in buying the fence and gate, but they are not for sale.

Sigfried Rippe, district manager for Timex, wrote to Mrs. Gilbert that he was impressed by her story on the Colonial Club in the Detroit Magazine.

"I would like to purchase the front gates and install one side on each side of my home. The beautiful past history plus the decor is exciting. Can you help me to procure them?"

Although the fence once surrounded one of Michigan's most infamous illegal gambling operations, a church group in Fowlerville would like to latch onto the ironwork and let it rust out its days amid more pious surroundings.

"I would like to know if I can make arrangements to obtain this iron fence," writes Chester J. Summers of Brighton. "I would like to use it as part of the renovation of St. Agnes Church in Fowlerville, Michigan. The congregation has moved to a new building, and I am trying to restore the 1893 brick structure with hopes of making it an historical building. I have already acquired a 1,600-pipe, three-manual pipe organ, formerly housed in Ann Arbor. Most of the stained windows have been already restored.

"If it is at all possible to acquire the fence before the structure is destroyed, I am sure the entire population of Fowlerville would appreciate it. I would guarantee the proper care as well as recognition of this fence," Summers concludes.

Artist Reed Ray of Detroit isn't interested in acquiring the fence and gate for himself, but he thinks it should be saved.

"Since Sunday there's been a lot of talk around Detroit about your story on the Old Colonial Club," he writes. "You should have the fence and gate moved over to your own place."

However not all of Mrs. Gilbert's correspondents have been interested in the fence. David Coulter of Farmington wrote that the article stirred "fond memories" of old Charlevoix. He recalled one incident involving the old D. M. Ferry Seed Co. of Detroit and "Charlevoix" corn.

The company "maintained a seed warehouse right on Lake Charlevoix, or Pine Lake as it was known then. At this warehouse uncleaned seed from the farmer growers was received, milled, hand picked by scores of women who worked at picking-belts and made ready for sale. Garden pea and radish seed were the prime seed crops. Here, such later Charlevoix luminaries as Bert Staley, of hardware fame, and Clark (Bud) Coulter found early employment.

"One day a "Dar" Meech approached the warehouse manager and asked him to try some special sweet corn seed. Mr. Meech further asked that if D. M. Ferry Co. liked the variety and put it into production that the variety be named 'Charlevoix'. The variety was found to be sweeter than Golden Bantam, larger eared, much longer lasting and more productive.

"D. M. Ferry liked the variety, put it into production and named it 'Charlevoix.'

"The corn could have and should have been a great success, but it never made a major impact on the market, outside of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana (states from which most of Charlevoix's 'resorters' came) because few people could pronounce 'Charlevoix,' were embarrassed by this and bought Golden Bantam. 'Charlevoix' as a variety did persist until replaced by newer hybrid varieties in the fifties."

JERRY SKIPPERGOSH contends with Rambler Terry Murphy in Saturday night's bout with Boyne City. The Ramblers won, 61 54.

Local Five Lose In Third Match

The Charlevoix Rayders advanced to the finals in the District tournament against the Boyne City Ramblers who came through with a 79-61 victory over the local quintet to take the District title.

Charlevoix had won over East Jordan 61-54 on Tuesday and over Elks Rapids 76-48 to go into the finals against the league champions.

Boyne City reached the finals by edging Rogers City 62-56 on Monday and winning over Onaway 52-43 on Wednesday.

In the championship game Saturday night Charlevoix got off to a slow start to give the Ramblers a 20-6 first period lead which was cut tby one point, 38-25 at halftime. Boyne City, however, came back strong as the second half got underway to increase the advantage to 57-39 going into the final eight minutes. The Rayders kept abreast of the Ramblers in the last period as each team scored 22 points but the Charlevoix quintet was unable to overcome the earlier deficit.

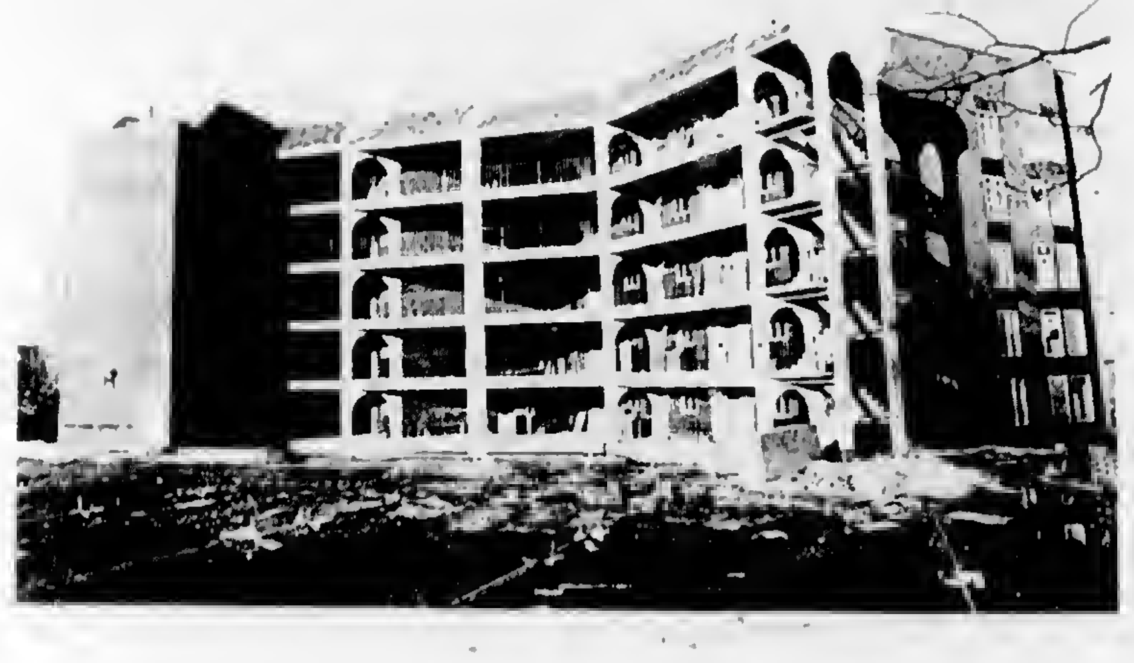
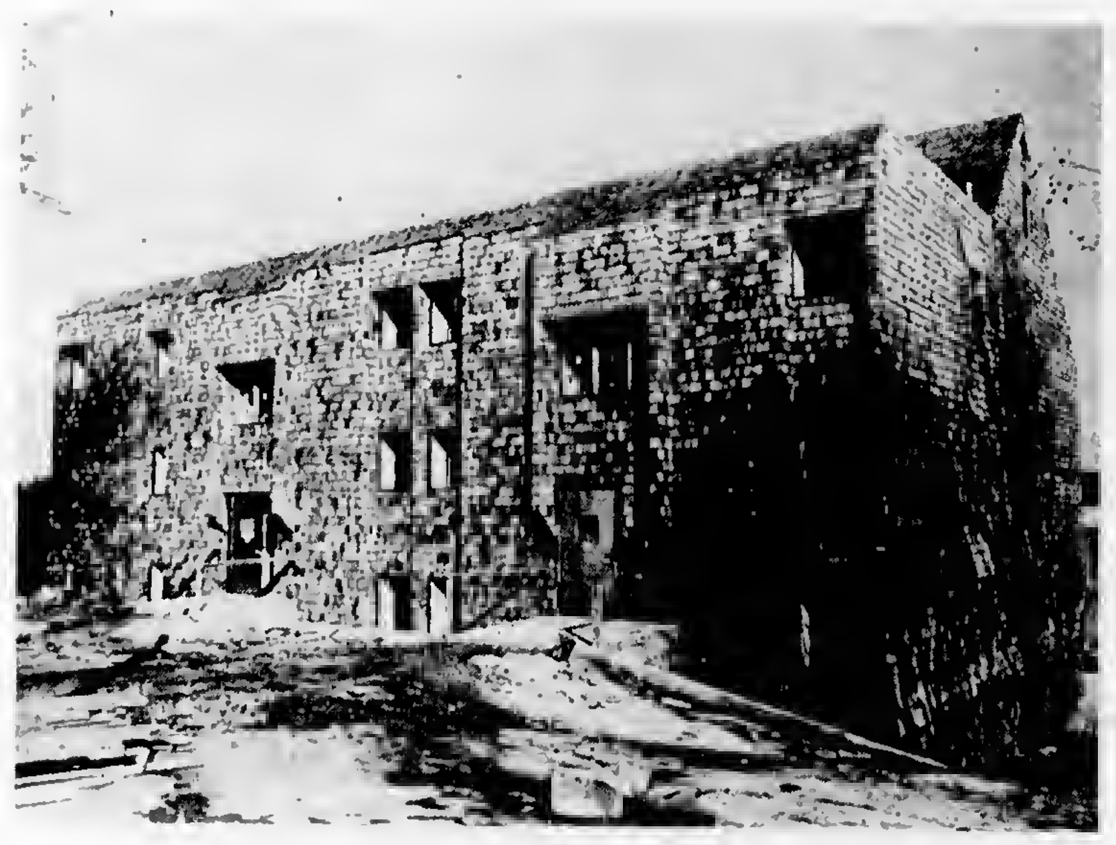
Condominium Era Dawns in Charlevoix

7 Developments Offer 159 Units, More Planned

La Croft



La Havre



Condominium living may soon become a way of life for many Charlevoix residents.

A year ago, the first condominium, The Wharf, opened for occupancy. By the summer of 1974, an additional 47 units will be on the block, with additional units still on the drawing board.

Although condominiums have not won total acceptance among native Charlevoixans, they offer many advantages denied most other homeowners.

All maintenance chores–grass cutting, snow removal, window washing – will be taken over by associations of condominium owners once the units are sold. This feature is particularly attractive to older couples who have gone the route of the summer cottage but are no longer interested in chasing squirrels out of the chimney or mice out of the dresser drawers.

Condominiums should be less susceptible to break-in and damage by vandals than the summer cottage.

Many also will offer recreational features missing in conventional resort properties, including swimming pools and sauna baths.

Most of Charlevoix's condominiums offer spectacular views of Lake Michigan and Round Lake and many prospective customers will buy their units for the view alone.

Condominium units in Charlevoix range in price from $13,900 to $75,900.

Here is a run-down of the units that will be on the market this summer:

Chez Charlevoix is located on Petoskey-rd. across from the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course. The six, two-story townhouse units have been built with year-'round occupancy in mind. Developer is Dean Eby of Charlevoix.

The Dunes is located between Michigan-ave. and the Lake Michigan shore. The 24-unit complex will offer an indoor-outdoor swimming pool on the lake side as well as sauna baths. Developer Ron Steffes of Southfield was issued a permit for 32 units, but trimmed down the size in order to provide more room for grounds and parking.

LaCroft, with 62 units, is the largest development. Located at the site of the former Beach Hotel at the foot of Dixon-ave., LaCroft units range up to three bedrooms. All units over a superb view of Charlevoix sunsets over Lake Michigan. Two elevators will whisk residents from the parking level to the top floor. An outdoor swimming pool is located on the beach side, with a huge recreational room also facing the lake on the ground level. Each unit has a sun terrace. Ralph Hess of Charlevoix is one of the developers.

The former Weathervane Terrace motel has been "condominiumized" and 36 individual units are now on sale. The mini-condominiums are designed as weekend retreats. When not used by the owners, they may be rented.

The Sandcastle is located across Pine River Channel on the site of the Former Tower Hotel, which has been rebuilt from the ground up. The one, two and three bedroom units offer a variety of floor plans to suit individual tastes. Some of the eight units have natural fireplaces.

Moving south, The Wharf offers an excellent view of boating activities on Round Lake. Some of the 12 original units are still available and the site is large enough for additional construction in the future. Steeltree Properties of Traverse City is the developer.

LeHavre, also located on Round Lake, was designed with Charlevoix's French heritage in mind. Eleven units are housed in the cedar shake building, which also has boat and dock facilities. Additional units are planned for the site. Developers are Bob Collins and James Craig of Ann Arbor.

4th Graders Bare Worries in Letters to Nixon

Mrs. Chew's Kids Write the President

If Judge Sirica, the House Judiciary Committee or the various grand juries investigating the Watergate affair don't hear from President Nixon for the next few days, there's a good reason.

The President is busy reading and answering 32 letters sent to him last week by Fourth Graders in Mrs. Vince Chews Language Arts class.

The epistles, which were written as an assignment in letter writing, don't pull any punches with the President. They demand answers on a wide variety of national problems ranging from the shortage of toilet paper to Watergate and the energy crisis.

Some of the youngsters are sharply critical of the president; others hold him in adoration. Many of them plead with him to try to do better.

Several contain a personal "thank you" to the President for ending the war in Vietnam and bringing home the POW's.

Martha Staley, daughter of County Commissioner Ken Staley, shows a certain adeptness at walking the political fence.

"I am not against you, although I'm not for you either," she tells the President in her opening paragraph. "I like you because you are willing to help other countries when they need help."

She ends with: "I don't like Watergate and I wish it would end. I have never written to a president before. I hope you like my letter."

William Ranger had this to say: "I think you should speak the truth to the American people because we are counting on you to make peace around our country...Watergate is disgraceful. I think you should give tapes to the court and say what you're hiding and get on with things like the paper shortage, gasoline shortage, etc."

Kristine Kelly lamented the gasoline shortage this way: "I don't like to have Christmas or Thanksgiving without the whole family."

Tanya M. Ford told the president she was concerned about the high price of food, but she put in a plus for her peer group first: "This is a letter from a good class."

Craig Sheppard plunges into the fuel shortage. Then he writes: "Well, I'm all confused. Do you know if there is or isn't a fuel shortage?" He concludes, "I have many more questions but I know you are busy because you have much more mail where this came from."

"Toilet paper is another big problem," Cynthia Engler wrote the President. "One time we went shopping and we went over to where the toilet paper is kept and there was a sign. It said, "Only one toilet paper per customer." So when my mom went to pay she told the lady that one toilet paper was for me and one was for her."

"Tell me now, is there really a fuel shortage?" Vance Reusch asks Nixon. "If so will we have enough fuel for next winter?"

Christine Clifford confided that she was all for the President at election time, "but now I'm not so sure. "Well, I do know one thing you did right. You stopped the war and brought back most of the POW's."

Karen Robinson decries the high price of food and gasoline, adding, "I think you can do a better job."

Joe Smith told the President how his family is saving fuel by turning down the thermostat and thanked him for ending the war, but he complained about the change in time: "What is Daylight Savings Time accomplishing? I don't understand, Mr. Nixon. Please do a better job."

Mike Paul oozes sympathy: "It must be awful being right in the middle of everything. There's so many problems in the United States. The worst problem is Watergate. Watergate is the longest problem I can think of...I'm getting tired of it. They're probably going to find out who done it when your term is up. I hope not. Three more years is a long time for Watergate."

Watergate and the oil shortage worry Katie Clock. "Can you tell the truth about Watergate?" she asked the President. "It has been worrying me and lot more people, too. Is there an oil shortage, or is it a phony shortage?"

Billy Horton complains to the President about the shortage of paper bags, paper napkins and scratch paper in school as well as food prices: "Some people can't buy food because it's too expensive."

Jimmy Boggs asks politely about the fuel shortage, Watergate and the Middle East War, adding sympathetically, "Is it hard being President?" He also slips in a commercial at the end: "My dad owns a pastry shop. It's called Boggs Pastry Shop."

"If there is really a fuel shortage, would you try to do something about it?" asks Gary Drury.

"I am too young to know very much about politics," writes Patricia Morgan, "but I know you must have a very hard job." Patricia also tells the President about one of the results of high-priced fuel. "My grandma is very old and lives alone on a farm in Ohio. She has always had a coal stove but last winter she got an oil furnace and now she must pay so much for oil that she can hardly afford it as she is on Social Security."

High prices bother Sandy Miller: "The price of groceries has gone up as fast as the fastest jet in the world. My whole family wishes it would come down."

Betsy Roebuck complains about Daylight Time and paper and oil shortages. Then she adds: "My mom and dad have been watching Watergate, and I don't like it I don't even know what's going on. I'm confused." (Editor's note: Join the club, Betsy.)

"I think the high cost of food is awful," Robert Minna writes the President. "Yesterday we were eating leftovers. They didn't taste very good."

"Food prices!" wails Billy Brodin. "They're so high that we can't even have a decent meal. We can't even enjoy goodies!"

The President has a genuine fan in Kevin Mort: "I agree with you on Watergate. Some people might not, but I do. I agree with the things you say. I've wanted you for president every year. Whenever you're on TV, I listen to you. I like your speeches. I like your voice."

Randy Schnackenberg asks the President to do something to protect the environment: "I have had a chance to walk in the woods, but a lot of people haven't had this chance."

Jim Buchanan asks the President to lay his cards on the table: "Is there really a gas shortage or is it a fake? Some people say there is and some say there isn't."

Scott Kelly also believes in calling a spade a spade: "I think that you have not done well as the President for the years that you have had it. I'm not sure who started this Watergate stuff, but whoever started it is really going to get it when they catch him and I hope you didn't start it."

Sally Westenbroek tells the President she is worried about the energy shortage, food prices and pollution: "Water pollution, air pollution and many other kinds too."

"Could you do something about the gas shortage," asks David Staublin. "I want to see how my grandfather is. He lives in Illinois and has had two heart attacks. What are you going to do about the water pollution" Pretty soon there won't be enough water to drink."

"Inflation is a big problem, "Christie North tells the president. "Please work a little harder on it."

Colleen Smith told the President: "I'm glad that the war is all over because I have two older brothers and I don't want him to go to the war."

Michele Hollow complains about the rising cots of higher education: "I think that the colleges are expensive. My sister always comes back for money and food." After mentioning the gas shortage, the toilet paper shortage and Watergate, Michele adds: "Not everybody is perfect so I think you are good president."

Patti Cook laments about high prices: "It seems every time my mother comes home from the grocery store she says, "They're all out of toilet paper.' or 'Paper's getting too expensive.' Other times she's saying, Millk's gone up.' "

James Duke has a few kind words: "In the past few years you've done a pretty good job. The cost of food has gone up very high, especially meat. I don't have a suspect on the Watergate hearings, but I wish it would get over fast. I hope the Israelis get their way."

But Heidi Oestrike lets the President have it with both barrels: "I think that you should do something about the electricity shortage. One day in school, the principal had to turn off all the lights to keep the bigger machines going. The prices of food are so high that our family might have to stick to "casseroles" for a while. We are doing our share. Please do your share."

Floyd

Word has been received of the death recently in Muskegon of Fred L. Floyd in Muskegon. Funeral was held at Mt. Mary's Church in Muskegon, Msgr. William Hoogterp officiating. Burial was in Norton Shores Cemetery.

Mr. Floyd was born on Beaver Island Dec. 15, 1896, and was married to the former Ruth Graham on the island in 1916.

He was a member of St. Marys Church and DAV Post 103.

He is survived by his widow; three daughters, Mrs. Les (Cleo) Edward of Muskegon, Mrs. Earl (Eva) Racine and Mrs. Vera Polarski, both of Manistee; one brother, James Floyd of Charlevoix; and a sister, Mrs. Catherine McCauley of Ludington. Also surviving are 18 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Gillespie

Funeral for Mabel A. Gillespie, 73, of Levering was held at St. Mary's Church March 6, the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating. Burial was in St. Marys Cemetery.

Mrs. Gillespie died March 3 at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey.

The former Mabel Perron was born in New Hampshire Sept. 11, 1900, and moved to Beaver Island with her parents when she was seven years old.

In 1920 she was married to Daniel Gillespie on the Island. He died in March, 1940, and she moved to Charlevoix where she lived until moving to Levering five years ago.

She was a member of St. Clements Church, Pellston.

She is survived by a son, Eugene, of Pellston; three daughters, Mrs. Tracey (Rosanna) Harvey of Round Lake, Ill., Mrs. Bernard (Roberta) Keiser of Levering, and Mary Jane Gillespie of Levering; 14 grandchildren; a brother, Simeon Perron of Charlevoix; a sister, Mrs. Leon Keiser of Melvindale; and two half-sisters, Mrs. Sale Hardesty of Clearwater, Fla., and Mrs. Walter Meecher of Dayton, Ohio.

City Trio Buy Theater In St. Ignace

William Supernaw, Tom Merta and Sam Supernaw of Charlevoix, owners of the Cinema III, have purchased the St. Ignace Theater from Gary Gustafson.

The new owners plan to change the name to St. Ignace Cinema, Inc.

The interior of the building will be remodeled, concessions added and acoustics corrected before the opening, planned some time in April.

BC Attorney Opens Law Practice Here

Attorney David Fershee, 29, of Boyne City, is now sharing office quarters in the Elzinga-Redeker Building on Upright-st. with Attorney Wallace Tuttle.

Fershee, who has had a law practice in Boyne City since last October, will move his family into the Robert Wise residence on Upright-st. in the near future.

A native of Battle Creek, Fershee graduated from Owosso High School and received his BA degree from Ferris State College in 1969. He was awarded his law degree from the Detroit College of Law in January, 1973, and was admitted to the Michigan Bar last June.

Fershee and his wife, the former Helen Rawlinson of Portage, Mich., have two daughters, Tine, 3; and Sandy, 1.

Fershee said that he picked northern Michigan as a place to start his law practice, "because geography is important to me." And he likes the geography of the Charlevoix area as well as any he has seen.

Fershee also was admitted to the Florida Bar this winter. The wearing-in took place before Circuit Judge Edward Fenton at the Charlevoix courthouse.

The initiation of negotiations for the Master contract for teachers for the 1974-75 school year have begun, it was announced.

Clement J. Wagner, who was named by the board to attend the budget meeting of the Char-Em Intermediate School District made a brief report on the meeting.

Following the executive session, several visitors tried to speak out on several issues relating to the Middle School. However, they were advised that they had had an opportunity to air their ideas during the executive session which was called for this purpose.

Cancer Society Kickoff Coffee Next Wednesday

The Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Cancer Society reports that it will conduct its "Kickoff Coffee" at Boyne Mountain Wednesday, March 27, at 10 a.m.

Anyone interested in helping with the annual "Cancer Crusade" in April is cordially invited to attend, according to Mrs. Albert Seger, county chairman.

Assisting Mrs. Seger this year will be Mrs. Robert Potter, co-chairman for rural areas, and Mrs. Leroy Buchanan, co-chairman for the city of Charlevoix.

Speaker at the "Kickoff Coffee" will be Ron E. Chalke, division representative of the American Cancer Society.

Persons interested in assisting with this year's crusade may call Mrs. Seger at 547-9723.

A large share of the money raised in the local crusade is used locally to assist cancer victims in many ways. The rest of the money is used for research into the cause and cure of cancer.

Thanks to donations over the years, many forms of cancer are now considered curable.

May-st. Bonds Sold At 5.0 Pct. Interest

The Kenower-McArthur Division of American Securities Corp., Detroit, was low bidder Monday night on $163,000 worth of bonds to finance the construction of Charlevoix's May-st. sewer.

The bonds will be retired over a 10-year period at an interest rate averaging 5.01592 percent. Total interest charge will be $40,056.10.

The only other bidder was MacDonald and Co. of Clevelnnd, whose average interest rate on the issue would have been 5.237571 percent, or a total interest charge of $41,826.37.

The Kenower-MacArthur bid was submitted by Gordon Wellman, executive vice president of the Charlevoix County State Bank. The MacDonald bid was submitted by Lou Hollow, president of the Charlevoix County State Bank.

The banks acted solely as intermediaries in the bond bidding, although it is possible that either bank may purchase all or a portion of the bonds from Kenower-McArthur.

Joel L. Piell of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, who presided at the bid opening at the Charlevoix City Hall, said he came prepared to inform the council what steps would have to be taken in the event no bids were received. The council had set interest limit at 5.3 percent, and Piell was afraid there might have been no bids.

However he said Charlevoix's excellent reputation, both state-wide and nationwide, generated interest in the issue, which is backed by the full-faith and credit of the city.

He also applauded the role played by the two banks and said they should be commended.

The Kenower-McArthur bid provides for interest at the rate of 5.3 percent for the years 1974 to 1979; 5.24 percent for 1980; and 4.80 percent for the years 1981-1983.

The MacDonald bid called for an interest rate of 5.30 percent for the years 1974-1982 and 5.05 percent for 1983.

Rates vary from year to year, based on how the bonding company assesses its prospects for the best return on its investment.

The bulk of the money will be repaid from special assessments on property owners in the May-st. area who will benefit from the new sewer.

How to Promote and Preserve Beaver Island

Businessmen Weigh Alternatives at Meeting

The Beaver Island Civic Association held its second annual meeting Saturday afternoon at the Circle M to discuss ways to attract more visitors to the island while still retaining the quaintness that has made the island a haven from the workaday world for regular vacationers.

The meeting was moderated by Phil Gregg, who operates a marina in St. James. He said living on the island is a "challenge," since residents must make their living, in effect, during the three summer months. He added that "complete cooperation among ourselves" is the key to success.

First of the speakers was Archie LaFreniere, former owner of the Shamrock Tavern, who now operates a gift shop and resort complex on the island. He confined his remarks to the history of the Beaver Island Boat Co., which is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year.

He said he was sorry to see ownership of stock in the company moving south out of St. James and Charlevoix. He said the trend must be reversed.

LaFreniere pointed out that the largest block of stock in the company—400 shares—is owned by a man who has only been to the island once "and probably won't come again."

He recalled that during the Chicago World's Fair, the boat that was serving as the island ferry, the "Ossian Bedell," was taken to the south end of the lake to serve as a boatel and the island was left without service. He added that the Beaver Islander could be taken somewhere else if there were more money in it.

"I don't like to see control going downstate," he said.

He recalled that when the boat company was formed 20 years ago, hard times had come to the island. Residents were leaving in droves "and I wondered what I should do with the Shamrock."

However, economic prospects on the island have done an about-face and the company last fall acquired a second boat, the South Shore, to handle island passengers and freight.

Over the years, he said, the island has been served by the "Sanford," which could carry only one car and a roadster; the "Algoma" which was too large and too costly to operate; the "Ossian Bedell", which high-tailed it to Chicago to make more money; the "Rambler" which could accommodate automobiles only if they were hoisted over the gunnels; the "Marold" which burned off Simmons Reef in 1937 while salvaging gasoline from a tanker; and the "Mary Margaret," which could carry only three cars; the "North Shore," which was condemned by the Coast Guard; and a fish tug owned by Emerald LaBlance.

The first boat operated by the Beaver Island Boat Co. was the "Emerald Isle" which was built in 1954 at a cost of $97,000. It served until it was replaced by the "Beaver Islander," built in 1962 at a cost of $212,000.

LaFreniere said the Beaver Islander would cost twice that much today.

Vince Olach, manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, offered several suggestions on making the island more attractive to visitors. They included hiking trails and bike trails, sail boat regattas, a fishing contest, a fly-in, boat trips to other islands and camera cruises to Garden, Hog and High islands.

Olach says he receives many inquiries at his office in Charlevoix about Beaver Island.

"I have 50 letters waiting to be answered right now, as soon as I get the boat schedule," he said. Some of the letters come from people who aren't even sure of the correct name of the island, calling it "Devon Island" and "The Little County of Cork."

He asserted that people go "where they have the best memories."

"People come here for more than beauty. They want pleasant experiences and you can make them happen," he said.

He predicted that because of the present fuel shortage, northern Michigan will have more one and two-week visitors and fewer weekenders.

Sue Callaway, Assistant publicity coordinator of the Michigan Tourist Council, told the island businessmen that they should be proud of what they have.

"You have no idea what a large percentage of the population would give their eye teeth to have for just 24 hours what you have year-'round," she said.

Ms. Callaway admitted the "fuel handicap" could be a critical blow to the tourist industry, "but it doesn't have to be doomsday."

She said the island businessmen must take it upon themselves through advertising to tell outsiders what they have to offer and why they'll feel better, more relaxed after visiting the island.

However she said she has the impression that islanders are almost indifferent to tourists.

She also was dismayed that

SPEAKERS at a meeting of the Beaver Island Civic Association in St. James Saturday were (from left) Phil Gregg, moderator; Archie LaFreniere, representing the Beaver Island Boat Co.; Herb Johnson of the DNR; Sue Callaway, assistant publicity coordinator of the Michigan Tourist Council; and Bill Carlson of Leland, who is interested in preserving marine and fishing industry artifacts from years past. Vince Olach, manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, outlined steps islanders might take to make Beaver Island more attractive to visitors.

FEATURED speaker at the Beaver Island Civic Association luncheon and business meeting Saturday was Vince Olach, manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. Olach suggested camera tours to nearby islands, boat races and the development of bike and hiking trails, among other things, as ways to attract more visitors to the island.

New Auto Repair Shop Opens on U.S. 31 South

PROFESSIONAL Vehicle Service, Inc., is now open for business on U.S. 31 South. Proprietor is Mel Renaud, a professional mechanic. The new garage has large bays to accommodate both cars and trucks, for everything from minor tune-ups to major overhauls.

PROPRIETOR of PVS is Mel Renaud, a native of Wyandotte who prefers living in northern Michigan. Renaud taught mechanics in the Detroit area before moving to Charlevoix in 1969.

FOCAL point of the PVS lobby is a standing fireplace. The room is carpeted and tastefully decorated.

JAMES FRYE and Mike Hodge work on engine at the new Professional Vehicle Service garage on U.S. 31 South.

A new automotive repair shop, Professional Vehicle Service, is now open for business on U.S. 31, about one-half mile south of Charlevoix.

The proprietor is Mel Renaud, who has considered Charlevoix his home ever since he married Madelyn Wojan 12 years ago.

The new garage has three bays with hoists, plus a front-end pit. A fourth bay at the rear of the building originally was intended as a garage for Charlevoix Township Fire Department, but Renaud decided it would be too risky getting vehicles in and out in emergencies. So the fourth bay has been reserved for major motor overhauls and custom work.

Renaud, who learned his trade in his fahter's garage in Detroit, has definite ideas about the meaning of "professional" in the name of his new company.

"A professional is someone who spends all his time practicing his trade, and that's what we do here," he asserts. "We do the best job possible, at the least cost possible in the shortest time possible."

The motto of the new company is: "If it has wheels on it, we'll fit it!"

The company is equipped to do everything from minor tune-ups to major overhauls in most automobiles and trucks.

A native of Wyandotte, Mich., Renaud is a graduate of Lincoln Park High School and spent eight years as a Navy flyer, augmenting his knowledge of mechanics and circling the globe twice. He hit all of the lands he wanted to see with the exception of one–Alaska.

After his discharge in 1966, Renaud worked as a flight inspector at Detroit Metropolitan Airport and had his own Goodyear Tire and Rubber dealership in Detroit. He also taught mechanics at Lincoln Institute of Technology and the Michigan Careers Institute in Detroit.

After the Detroit riots of 1967, Renaud made up his mind to move to Charlevoix permanently. The big move came two years later.

During the past four years, Renaud has worked for his father-in-law, Tony Wojan, and for the Irish Boat Shop. He also has worked as a free-lance mechanic.

Renaud met his wife while on vacation in Charlevoix. They struck up correspondence after he returned to Detroit and in October, 1961, they were married.

The Renauds live on W. Hurlbut-st. They have a son, Jeff, 10, and a daughter, Karie, 8.

Antartica Is Only Continent Without A Holiday Inn

Around-the-world expansion of the Memphis-based international Holiday Inn System continued in 1973 with end-of-the-year figures showing 1,591 inns with 246,913 rooms open in 37 countries and territories.

"Working with its licensees, Holiday Inns, Inc., expanded its efforts to bring quality food and lodging services to every major city in the world," said Jim Danenberg, innkeeper at the Holiday Inn of Petoskey.

Year-end reports showed that 137 inns were under construction and that additional rooms were being added to 33 inns.

An estimated 286 inns were in various stages of planning. Of that total, 89 were planned for construction outside of the U.S.

"There are now Holiday Inns open or under construction on every continent except Antarctica," said Danenberg.

At year's end, 3 Holiday Inns were open in Asia, 12 in Africa, 1,518 in North America and 43 in Europe. A total of 15 inns were open on various international islands, primarily in the Caribbean area.

Under construction were 7 inns in Asia, 7 in Africa, 2 in Australia, 107 in North America, 4 in Central and South America, 8 in Europe, 1 in French Polynesia and 1 in the West Indies.

To Share Cost

State Sen. Robert W. Davis reports that the Department of Natural Resources will reimburse Charlevoix County $1,035.79, representing three-fourths of the cost of conducting the 1973 snowmobile safety programs.

They Learn Something Money Can't Buy

The Music Department of Charlevoix Schools has done it again.

Two weeks ago, the Eighth Grade (Junior High) Band won a First Division rating in the district Junior High Band Festival held at Charlevoix High School. The band is directed by Gary Stutzman.

Last weekend, Charlevoix's Concert and Symphony Bands won First Division ratings in the District Festival at Gaylord. Both bands are directed by C.A. Odmark, who has brought First Division ratings home to Charlevoix for 27 of the past 28 years.

Members of the Symphony Band voted among themselves to compete with Class B rather than Class C schools at Gaylord, because they felt they were good enough. And they proved themselves right.

Anyone with a nodding acquaintance with music will tell you that achieving a First Division rating is no mean feat, with the burden of responsibility resting equally with the director (who is also the teacher) and with his student musicians, most of whom have learned all the music they know in the hands of Mr. Odmark and Mr. Stutzman.

That they learn to play at all without private instruction is little short of astounding. That they learn to play well together is a full-blown miracle.

Of course it involves a lot of hard work for all concerned. Never-ending attention to detail. Days of frustration. Hour upon hour of practice and rehearsal. And then more practice and more rehearsal. But in the end it pays off.

Most of our Junior and Senior High School musicians will never make a dime as working musicians. But just by being members of the band they will have learned something that money can't buy.

Eastport Reader Rushes To President's Defense

(Following are excerpts from an extremely long letter received by the Courier from Mrs. George Giddings of Eastport in defense of President Nixon. Since supporters of the President are few and far between, we would like to run the letter in its entirety, but space is limited. Following are what we consider some of the more pertinent paragraphs. The Editor)

An Open Letter to All Fair Minded Americans:

Americans, you should be ashamed! Instead of rallying to the defense of a sorely beset President (and remember, he is the President of all the people, and not just of Republicans), you scatter like a pack of whipped dogs! Or worse, you yourselves, with sharpened claws and gleaming teeth join the jackal-pack. Do you really think that the President would knowingly have jeopardized the good name of his administration by countenancing such a thoroughly stupid operation at the Watergate caper? The affair itself has been blown up far beyond its original importance and is no better, nor any worse, than has been done many times, by Democrats as well as Republicans.

The whole affair is largely politically motivated. If this had occurred under a Democratic President or to anyone but Mr. Nixon, it would have been forgotten long ago, and it is pure hypocrisy on the part of the Democrats to point their fingers and cry corruption. As one commentator has remarked, it has all the delicious irony of the village 'lady of easy virtue' leading the village church choir without even bothering to reform.

And why was it worse for Mr. Nixon to take advantage of the tax-break on his Vice-Presidential papers than for others who took similar breaks—Kennedy, Johnson, Galbraith, Eisenhower—to name only a few. (These would be personal papers accumulated during his years in public office, and not government papers, as some would have us believe.) Then, too, they carefully never mention the fact that this was a short-term break, covering two or three years. All the other years, Mr. Nixon paid the full tax, something like $30,000 - $35,000 per year.

Now, high and low, they are seeking grounds for impeachment. But an amazing thing comes to light. After a year and a half of the most intensive investigation with magnifying glass and fine tooth comb, and under the spotlight of pitiless publicity, they cannot find one iota of evidence that the President himself has done anything illegal or unconstitutional. But does this stop them? Not on your tintype, Bub! They go on to much broader and more indefinite grounds, which gives them much wider scope for their accusations: Such as:

1–Abuse of power, which means that the President temporarily refused to spend some of the money Congress so recklessly throws around.

2–The 'Illegal' and 'secret' bombing of Cambodia, which was neither secret nor illegal. The President as commander-in-chief has the right to send any branch of the armed forces anywhere he chooses, especially in time of war. And this war, remember, was not of the President's making. This bombing was not against the people of Cambodia but against the Viet Cong, who were using that unfortunate country as a haven or refuge and a corridor for the transportation of war material. Moreover, while it was not publicized, it was certainly known in the inner war councils. (And who telegraphs his punches if he has any brains.)

We do, indeed, need a cleansing from 'Watergate morality' and by this I do not mean the original Watergate caper, stupid and reprehensible as that was! I mean the morality of smear and scurrility and character assassination. In the name of heaven, let's take off our blinders and see what they are doing to our America.

An American For Fair Play,

Mrs. George Giddings,

Q. Why are Michigan legislators considering raising their salaries again?

A. Michigan legislators are not considering raising their salaries. In fact, they do not have the power to do so. Congressmen in Washington have been considering a bill to raise their salaries, which is an entirely different group of lawmakers.

Legislators have not had the power to set their own compensation since August, 1968 when the people by a vote of 417,393 to 346,839 created a seven-member State Officers Compensation Commission appointed by the Governor by amending the State Constitution. The Commission determines the salaries and expense allowances of members of the Legislature, the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor and Justices of the Supreme Court.

The Commission set the legislators' salary at $17,000 a year, effective January 1, 1971. We have continued at that level since that date and there is no indication whatsoever there will be any change in the near future.

Your questions and comments are always welcome and may be addressed to: State Sen. Robert W. Davis, State Capitol, Lansing, Mich. 48902.

Says Isle Shortchanged On Tax Dollar Benefits

March 16, 1974

St. James Tax Board of Review
Beaver Island
St. James, Michigan 49782

Gentlemen:

I am writing this letter in protest to the new assessed valuation placed on my property, numbers 15 13 751 027 00 and 15 13 751 028 00, in St. James Township, St. James, Michigan.

I believe the taxes we are now paying and will be paying are far in excess of any services received. We have no sewer or water facilities, no garbage service and very, very limited fire and police protection.

The combined roads of the two townships on the Island are approximately 70 miles of which only 8 miles are black-topped and this 8 miles is in poor condition as it was cheaply done.

We have a public beach for which no county funds are allocated for maintenance, or at least this was the answer we received from our local Supervisor on the Island. There is no life guard in attendance although this beach is a play area for all the children of the Island, residents or visitors.

The sidewalks are in deplorable condition with pot holes, broken concrete, etc. The main street of St. James is in equally deplorable condition. There are no curbs or gutters and if it was ever black-topped the evidence is minimal.

I strongly feel this situation is taxation without representation as our local Supervisor has no voice at the County Board meetings. I understand a Mr. Cunninghnm is the Supervisor in power over our Township and to my knowledge has visited the Island only once in his life time and, therefore, could not possibly know the problems of the Island and obviously could not care since he never makes the effort to see things first hand.

I have strongly suggested to the taxpayers of Beaver Island that we form an organization and seek legal counsel to combat this unfair situation. Taxation without services received has been proven illegal in a former court case.

I am requesting a review of my increased valuation and base this request on the fact that we on the Island do not receive equal services as do other townships on the mainland in Charlevoix County. If I am to be equally taxed, I should receive equal services.

Very truly yours,
John L. Malloy

Gives Thanks For Hospital, Kind Friends

Dear Editor:

I have been a patient in the Charlevoix Hospital recently and would like to say I think we have a good hospital, with lovely nurses who make you feel they personally care about you. I found the meals varied and tasteful and I enjoyed them. All of the hospital help went out of their way to be kind and I feel I had the best of care. Thanks a lot and I appreciated it.

Being ill gave me a chance to reflect on other things I was thankful for and appreciate. The love and concern of all my family. A dear daughter-in-law who was there when I needed her and called her, and was so helpful. A man, Doug Bergmann, who you can rely on and who went out of his way to be so kind. Barb Meggison for her help. All of the cards, visits and interest of old friends, relatives, neighbors. Over the years I have felt it a privilege to make the acquaintance of several of my childrens friends and I want to say there are lots of nice young people. I appreciate their kindness and interest.

Perhaps the world needs more special kindness toward each other as we go along and more appreciation by those that receive it.

Thanks,
Alma Swanson

Clockwise

Hot Pasties

By BOB CLOCK

Although much has been written on behalf of "ethnic cooking," good food knows no nationality. Take the hot pasty, for example.

The dictionary (American Heritage) asserts that pasties are "chiefly British. A pie with a filling of seasoned meat or fish." The dictionary traces the word back to Middle English, "pastee", and to Old French, "paste."

In Michigan, pasties are supposed to have originated with Cornish miners who settled in the Upper Peninsula. They were made early in the morning and the man-of-the-house would stuff one inside his jacket when he went to the mines. The pasty would keep him warm on the way. It would still be warm when he sat down to his midday meal.

The pasty had the reputation of being the one food that would warm you twice.

Today the pasty has no nationality, although the art of pasty making has become a family tradition among the Finlanders who settled in the Upper Peninsula alongside their Cornish cousins.

And the Pasty Stand is still more common in the UP than the Hamburger Stand, which is something in these days of widespread franchises such as Burger Chef, MacDonalds and Big Boy.

Of course there's a reason: The pasty is fine eating, although few people unfamiliar with the UP have ever tasted one.

Several weeks ago I asked Mrs. John (Gert) Schmidt of Charlevoix if she would share her pasty recipe with the Clocks. Mrs. Schmidt is a native of the UP of Finnish extraction.

"I'll even do better than that," she said. "You pick a day and I'll come over and show Judy how to make them."

That day came last Friday, and it was an exciting day in the Clock household. Mrs. Schmidt insisted on making the dough herself, because she uses lard as shortening–one of the secrets of a delectable pasty.

We had on hand about two pounds of sirloin, three pork chops, potatoes, onions and a rutabaga. Mrs. Schmidt cut the meat into bite-size morsels, keeping the pork separate. Then she diced up the potatoes into one-quarter inch squares, allowing about one potato per person. Next came a few onions, chopped fine. The proportions are all up to you.

The beef, potatoes and onion were mixed up together in a big preserving kettle and seasoned with salt and pepper. Then the rutabaga was cut up and kept separate like the pork.

Mrs. Schmidt says that since many people don't like rutabaga, she doesn't mix it with the rest of the ingredients. She adds it last so you can have pasties with bagies or without bagies, depending on your preference. Frankly, I think that the bagy gives the pasty its characteristic flavor, but not everyone agrees.

She keeps the pork separate and adds a little to each pasty "for moisture." If you mixed it with the rest of the ingredients, some pasties may end up without any.

When all the ground work was done, Judy got out the pastry board and Mrs. Schmidt set to work in earnest. She lopped off a lump of dough and rolled it into a 12-inch circle. Then she spread about a teaspoon of butter in the middle and piled one cup of the potato-meat-onion mixture on top, followed by the chopped rutabaga and a few scraps of pork.

Then, with one grand swoop, she picked up one edge of the dough and wrapped it around the mound in the middle, ending up with a fat half moon. She made sure that the dough and board were well floured, because if the dough sticks or tears you'll end up with an awful mess.

After pressing and trimming the edges with a knife (the excess dough went back into the bowl) she scalloped the outside edge, using the first three fingers on her left hand. Mrs. Schmidt says she isn't normally left-handed, but she has never seen it done any other way. And she has been making pasties ever since she was able to walk.

The finished pasties were then wrapped in aluminum foil and placed in the refrigerator until ready for baking.

Mrs. Schmidt uses a pre-heated hot oven (450 degrees) for the first 10 or 15 minutes of baking. The aluminum foil is turned aside and rolled up on the edges to prevent juices from dripping in the oven. Steam vents are slit in the top of each pasty. Then three or four of them are placed side by side on a cookie sheet.

When the pasties are nicely browned, turn down the oven to medium and finish baking. The entire baking time should be one hour exactly.

The pasty, of course, is a meal in itself, but Mrs. Schmidt says she usually serves them with a tossed salad and chili sauce. For a beverage, she recommends ice cold buttermilk.

I'll have to admit that Mrs. Schmidt's pasties were the best I have ever tasted, and I have been sampling pasties all over the Upper Peninsula for the past quarter century.

The Clocks are neither Finnish or Cornish. We aren't even Middle English or Old French. But the pasty has become a welcome addition to our kitchen talents.

Good food knows no nationality.

We the (White) People

By JIM FITZGERALD

Valentine's Day is for love, right? But get a load of Betty Turner. She bought 34 valentines and she's mad because there were black faces on four of them.

She may choke to death on a watermelon seed.

She wrote a letter to the Oxford newspaper. "I purchased two boxes of valentines from the dime store in town," she said. "When I got them home I saw that they were integrated...They were mislabeled. The boxes should have indicated mixed cards. I don't believe in integration and I don't want my kids to mix races...I would advise all mothers to take their cards back to the store so that the manufacturer and the stores will be aware of the fact we the people will not stand for this type of thing."

Yeah.

I like that phrase "we the people." That used to be the name of a radio show starring Gabriel Heater, (hello there, old-timers). He began each show saying "There's good news tonight.." That was when I was a little kid and a big dummy. I thought most news really was good. I didn't know membership in "we the people" was restricted to snotty whites whose idea of brotherhood was laughing at "Amos and Andy" and buying Pepsodent toothpaste.

I didn't wise up until I was drafted to fight for democracy in a segregated army. It was in Kentucky that I saw my first "white only" drinking fountain. I thought it was some sort of vanilla water and I asked if they had a strawberry fountain. From then on, the most memorable part of my military training was learning that "niggers" were an inferior animal good for nothing more than driving trucks and sweeping floors.

Of course, that was 30 years ago and things are much better today. Sure they are. The law took down the "whiter only" signs and George Wallace stopped blocking the school door.

Some wild-eyed liberal has even integrated valentines, for lord's sake! You want your little girl to get a valentine with a picture of Little Black Sambo playing cupid? She starts reading that stuff and she'll have a half-'n-half baby before she's 15 years old.

My first inclination is to laugh at someone Like Mrs. Turner. She can't be for real, can she? But the same week I read about a Sterling Heights developer named Joe Trever. He wants to build a shopping plaza but his property is zoned residential. So he erected a big sign saying the zoning better be changed or he'll build a biracial village. "Listen, they're going to have niggers in here if I can't get my plaza," Trever shouted at a reporter.

The reporter interviewed several Sterling Heights residents and got some more loving comments. Such as: "We sure don't want blacks in here. The people moved out here on purpose to get away from them." Even the mayor, in his best plantation-owner manner, said "We certainly don't want Sterling Heights to become another Detroit."

There are a lot of Mrs. Turners. You can remove "white only" signs from walls but you can't yank them out of closed minds. So I can't laugh.

The pontificators keep saying our children are the hope of the future. But what chance do the kids have when their mothers use Valentine's Day to teach them idiotic bigotry (excuse the redundancy).

Onwards and upward? Phooey.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

No depression era merchant ever displayed a 'Shoes Must be Worn' sign and we youngsters reveled barefoot summer long. Our parents, struggling to make ends meet, postponed the purchase of new shoes until school began.

Another household economy was reflected by our sunburned pates. We padded around like a horde of midget Yule Brenners to the chargin of the village barber, deprived of his 15 cents.

After being herded together, we were shorn like sheep by a relative lacking both license and expertise. The clumsy hand clippers removed stubborn hair by the roots and the final professional touch was imparted with a smarting alcohol massage which brought the disinfected customer bounding out of the chair blinded by tears.

Purportedly, this seasonal scalping assured a healthy head of hair in later years; a prophecy of some truth judging by the thatch warming many an older noggin today.

An allowance of 50 cents (a year) prompted various personal economies such as substituting tar for the chewing gum we could not afford. Though this met with the approval of the dentist, mothers were considerably less enthusiastic on occasion, such as when an undetected reserve melted in her wash boiler and vulcanized a pants pocket on its path through the wringer.

Chewing went hand in hand with our favorite passtime, watching the clanking steamroller compacting resurfaced streets. Drums of solid tar were chopped and melted, and to muzzle our endless questions a chunk would be tossed our way to divvy up.

Next to the railroad engineer, the operator of this fire belching monster was our idol. He, unlike most elders, would answer our questions. When we asked the purpose of those spinning governor flyballs, he explained that the three ton machine was built just to turn them.

To the skeptics who said our leg was being pulled we would pose a question based on a daily observation at the depot. We observed that the engineer would back the locomotive a couple blocks before proceeding ahead and out of the yard.

We would ask this know-it-all steam roller authority, "Why does the train have to back before it can go ahead?"

All the answer we ever got was a snarling, "Go somewhere else and play!"

Taking the advice we would dash off to a vacant pasture nearby for a game of 'scrub' baseball, a sport most aptly named. As we pursued fly balls in the high grass of the outfield, one of us would invariably step into a reminder of the cows which shared our ballpark.

An official time out would be declared while the odorous victim peg-legged his way to Farmer Johnson's pump. There the scrubbing would be performed delicately, head averted, with a wadded bunch of grass as disposable toweling.

Us barefoot ragamuffins with our peeling scalps and hot patched breeches were able to cover a lot of territory on our daily rounds thanks to our speedy mode of transportation.

The hoop and wheel.

LIBRARIAN Mrs. Joy Mudge, checks file cards with one of her assistants, Kathy Kerner, at Charlevoix High. Mrs. Mudge is the recipient of many professional honors, included recognition by "Who's Who Among American Women."

High School Librarian Reads 10 Books a Week

(This is the seventh in a series of articles on Charlevoix faculty members prepared by the Charlevoix Education Association.)

Joy Mudge might be quick to tell you that so far, the highlight of her career was having the 1973 Rayder yearbook dedicated to her by the High School students.

However, unless she is prodded or encourages, she just might forget to mention that she has been listed in the 1969 and 1972 editions of the "Who's Who in Library Science."

Just as the students so aptly described her in their dedication, Charlevoix High School's librarian is known for "thoughtfulness, efficiency, helpfulness, patience, tolerance", and as a person who "has improved an area of the school that is an invaluable aid to everyone."

Even when she is not in the library she surrounds herself with books. Because she selects books for the three Charlevoix school libraries, and also considers reading as a favorite hobby, Mrs. Mudge figures that she reads approximately ten books each week.

Mrs. Mudge also has managed to hook five rugs and spend time working the 46 acres of land that she and her husband, Glen, own near Atwood. The Mudges are raising walnut trees on their land and finishing their home, which Mrs. Mudge calls "a little red schoolhouse."

Born and raised in East Liverpool, Ohio, Mrs. Mudge attended Beaver College in Philadelphia. She graduated as a history major and then taught high school history for five years in Detroit. She studies Library Science in graduate school at Kent State University and Wayne State University, earning her MA Degree.

Her experience includes two years in the Wayne State University Education Library and 13 years as a junior and senior high school librarian in Oak Park, Mich.

Country living enticed Joy to Northern Michigan in 1968, along with the intention of pursuing a writing career. Although her time for writing has been limited, Mrs. Mudge has started an historical novel about Mackinac Island. She already has several writing credits to her name, including five short stories and several book reviews for the "Library Science" periodical.

Future accomplishments? They certainly seem inevitable. In fact, one was added just last year when her name appeared in the 1975-76 edition of "Who's Who in American Women."

Mrs. Mudge says that she is challenged by helping kids and exposing them to "new ideas." The challenge gives Joy Mudge daily inspiration.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas are spending a long weekend visiting friends in the Upper Peninsula and doing some snowmobiling.

The 54 degree temperatures last weekend took our snow and the fishermen hurried to get their shanties off the lake as the ice was getting dark. Many spring plants began to appear. But things have changed. We are having a cold freezing rain with a northwest wind this Friday, which warns us that spring is still not here.

Bert Pearl has returned home after spending several weeks in Florida.

We have all been concerned about not having many birds this winter. Cardinals have been migrating through the eastern states in greater numbers than ever before. They like the suburban areas as there is a greater supply of natural food from flowering shrubs and small fruit bearing trees. Until 1900 when laws ended the custom, the cardinal was a favorite cagebird in America and very few were found in the wild. So perhaps our birds are going where their natural food is more plentiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Friend of Petoskey were guests Sunday afternoon of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander.

The Lenten Services Thursday evenings are well attended. Worshipers were guests last Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kruse who served coffee and home made cookies in the dining room after the service.

Elwyn Johnson has spotted a herd of between 12 and 14 deer near his home the past two weeks.

We had two large pileated woodpeckers working on the dead elm trees back of our home last week. Did you ever hear one hammer on the bark of a tree? It is amazing what strength they have in their neck and bills.

Mrs. Sam Bennett and Mrs. May Umlors of East Jordan also Mr. Andrew Fisher were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bennett last Tuesday.

Mr. Gordon Budden is a medical patient in Little Traverse Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis of Central Lake were guests Saturday at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Hilda Alexander and Ross Alexander.

Mrs. Nina Onderkirk has returned home after being a medical patient in the Charlevoix Hospital several weeks.

Mrs. Marian Podskalney spent Monday with her sister in Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wilson of Mears were guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bennett.

Virginia Saunders is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Saunders for the spring recess from Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant, where she is a student.

Mrs. Charles Reinhart left for Plant City, Fla., where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Drake.

Boys May Register For Draft by Mail

Young men age 18 can now register by mail for the draft if they find it difficult to visit a Selective Service officer or registrar.

The new mail registration forms were issued last week to all Michigan Selective Service area officers, according to state draft headquarters. Mail registration forms will be available from colorful poster displays located in selected public offices such as county clerks, post offices, armories and schools.

Individuals may also request a mail registration form by writing to any Selective Service office. Instructions are included with the form. It can be completed at home, then folded and mailed. It is pre-addressed and needs no postage.

The local board having jurisdiction will mail a status card to the registrant about two weeks after receiving his completed registration form.

Federal law still requires the registration of young men at age 18 even though inductions have stopped. With the closing of many draft offices due to budget restrictions, Selective Service has now initiated the mail registration system to enable young men to register with as little difficulty as possible.

A test of the mail registration system was conducted in Michigan last spring.

We're now taking reservations for your share of the good life.

STREAKERS are making news in Northern Michigan. Streakers to date have frolicked nude in Charlevoix, Boyne Falls, Gaylord and Cheboygan and no one knows when or where they will strike next. The incidents in Charlevoix involved a streaker on the Bridge who reportedly was picked up by his irate father. A Charlevoix businessman denies that he streaked the Shed Friday night.

Long-Distance Competitors Bad News for Bell

Michigan Bell President David K. Easlick warns that increasing competition in the communications industry can only bring two things that serve the public interest the least--poorer service and higher rates.

Easlick, in remarks prepared for delivery at a breakfast meeting of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce, said average telephone customers will be the "real losers" if regulatory agencies continue to widen the doors for added starters in the telecommunications field.

"My intent," he said, "is to describe a developing situation in that telecommunications industry that could make an endangered species of that very special animal--high-quality, low-cost, universal telephone service.

"And I hope to persuade you–businessmen brought up in the American ideal of competition–that competition is not always in the public interest," he said.

Easlick zeroed in on two interlocking issues that are welling up as major ones at both the national and state regulatory levels:

1. Certification–the direct connection of "certified" non-telephone company equipment into the network without an interface arrangement to protect the network and customer service.

2. Specialized Common Carriers–private companies that are allowed to "skim the cream" by picking and choosing the high-volume, low-cost routes they wish to serve, while leaving the less profitable routes to the established carriers which serve the entire public nationwide.

"I'm against certification and the expansion of specialized common carriers because I believe they will produce poorer service for most people at higher cost," Easlick said.

"The primary beneficiaries of certification and the expansion of specialized common carriers would be some makers of equipment, some specialized common carriers and some businessmen who happen to be in favorable geographic locations," he said "The real losers would be the rest of the American public."

As for the service aspects of certification, Easlick cited a recent National Academy of Sciences study which concluded that--without protective devices between customer-provided equipment and the network–there could be distortion of transmission, cross-talk resulting in the possible loss of communications privacy and such things as wrong numbers and billing errors caused by poor or weak dial signals. The study also showed that telephone company installers and repairmen could be endangered by voltage levels from non-standard gear.

Since telephones are integral parts of a complex end-to-end communications system while things like kitchen appliances are not, Easlick said, it would not be practical for the communications industry to develop a certification program similar to that used to evaluate the safety aspects of toasters and dishwashers.

"If a toaster fails in Denver, it doesn't burn toast in Birmingham, Mich.," he said. "But if a certified telephone in Denver doesn't work properly, it may cause someone a problem in Birmingham or Detroit--or anywhere on the network."

Unlike toasters, he said, the telephone network must be capable on command of performing any one of seven million billion possible interconnections."

In addition to the loss of service quality, Easlick said that under a policy of certification the nation's 1,700 telephone companies also would suffer the loss of revenues from services such as Touch-Tone, Trimline and switchboards that are priced to keep local service charges low. Rates for many of these optional services, he said, now are set at a level where charges help offset some of the costs of basic exchange service.

Easlick said a proliferation of the carriers which specialize in private line services would "benefit the few at the expense of many–and in particular at the expense of the smaller customers, both residence and business."

As rates on high-capacity private line routes come down, he said, more and more businesses will find it to their advantage to switch to private line service as an alternative to regular long distance service. This, he said, ultimately shifts the cost burden to basic telephone service.

"It is a fact that long distance revenue helps hold down local rates," he said. "The average $1.75 interstate long distance call between states contributes 49 cents toward the cost of providing local within-the-state service. If lost, this revenue must be made up locally. And Michigan rate payers would have to help compensate for, such interstate losses."

As an example of what can happen, Easlick noted that the Bell System already has lost 80 percent of its two-point private line business between St. Louis and Chicago to a specialized carrier.

And instead of offering new service choices to customers, he said, the specialized carriers are merely offering a duplication of existing common carrier services at lower rates resulting from the selection of only heavy business routes.

"To me this is not competition," he said. "It is artificial--a cantrived competition, created and maintained by regulation with the result of being arbitrary market allocation.

"I hope," he said, "that through greater public understanding of the issues we can avoid ill-considered federal policy decisions which could send our national communications system down the path our railroads have stumbled."

You May Request Parent-Teacher Conference

Q. - It has been a long time since parent-teacher conferences and I would like information about my child's progress more often than when report cards are issued. How can I get more information about my child's progress?

A.- We appreciate the interest that parents show in each child's progress. When parents are interested enough to observe closely the work and progress of a student it helps the teacher build motivation with the child in his classroom work.

Teachers and principals are available for private conferences with parents and students. A parent may arrange for a conference by placing a call to the school and requesting an appointment with a specific person or persons.

When you call the school it will help if you indicate what you would like to discuss and a convenient time for you to visit the school. The teacher or representative will return your call with a specific appointment for your conference.

Eat and Grow Younger

Seeds Hold Germ of Life --Pack Nutritional Wallop!

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Ten of a Series

Modern diets ignore the axiom that seeds hold the germ of life. Too often overlooked is the fact that nature has placed in seed foods the concentrated essence of all nutrition to provide for the sprouting plant. Proteins are centered in the seeds so the new life may receive ample nourishment for normal growth.

Little by little, modern nutritional science is inclining to the belief that whole seed cereals (I stress "whole" because of the health-blind custom of milling most of the food value out of our cereals) can supply for your diet a now missing something that formerly was there when life and eating habits were much closer to the primitive.

In fact, several biochemists have told me it is their private opinion that only when we regain that missing "something" in our diets which the primitive peoples enjoyed will we find the preventive for many of our deficiency and wasting diseases.

MILLET RANKS HIGH

Millet is the first of the seed cereals that should be on your table regularly.

Little known in this country, except as poultry and animal feed, millet has been one of the principal grains of Eastern Europe, Africa, Siberia and China for centuries.

Laboratory investigations have revealed that no food is digested with as great ease as millet. It does not ferment in the stomach, causing digestive and intestinal distress, as do foods made from white flour and other devitalized grains.

After World War I, millions of peasants in White Russia faced starvation. In desperation, they ate the millet which had been put away for the chickens they no longer had.

And what happened? Not only did these peasants survive the long period of famine, but they soon discovered they were enjoying better health than they had ever known while consuming their former varied diets.

The completeness and high quality of the protein in millet make it possible for your body to be well supplied with essential amino acids, even though little or no other protein foods are eaten.

Starch is never a safe substitute for protein.

The only foods which should ever appear in the menu as honest substitutes for a meat dish are eggs, cheese, milk and high-protein seed cereals. By adding extra amounts of dry skim milk to these protein meat substitutes, a meatless diet can be within the safe daily minimum of 100 to 150 grams of protein.

Now don't get the idea that I'm recommending that you do away with meat in your diet, and substitute millet. Meat is an unexcelled, hard-to-replace food, but there are thousands of persons living on incomes that won't permit their purchasing meat every day in the week. For that reason, I believe that more recognition should be given to millet (sunflower seeds, too) as a nutritionally safe, low-cost, easily digestible meat substitute.

SUNFLOWER SEEDS RICH

Sunflower seeds are another highly nutritious seed food that we supply generously to parrots and chickens, yet neglect to utilize in raising the standards of our under-par human diets.

Back in the days of the czars, every Russian soldier in the field was given his daily "iron ration" — a two-pound bag of sunflower seeds.

Because the army away from its supply bases was sometimes forced to live exclusively on these seeds, the officers furnished their men with this tasty, lightweight food knowing that it gave them all the nourishment needed to keep them in good condition. Besides the protein, vitamins and other minerals, two pounds of sunflower seeds contain about 21 milligrams of iron.

WHOLE SEED CEREALS MAKE YOU FEEL LIKE YOU'RE SITTING ON TOP OF THE WORLD

The average grown man requires at least 12 milligrams of iron each day for optimum health, while the average woman needs a minimum of 15 milligrams.

SOURCE OF VITAMIN D

Because of the flower's close affinity to the sun, sunflower seeds are an extremely rich source of vitamin D, being one of the very few plants containing this "sunshine vitamin."

Sunflower seeds may enter our diet in several ways. The hulled seeds make a delicious confection, with a flavor far superior to peanuts.

Millet and sunflower seeds contain lecithin, an important ingredient of your nerve tissues.

Your nervous system uses lecithin to aid in generating nerve electricity. When your nerves are plentifully supplied with lecithin, your body abounds in nervous energy; but when the supply of lecithin gets low as it does at the end of the day, nerve energy decreases, and you say you are "tired and sleepy."

A serious deficiency of lecithin in the diet can bring on a nerve exhaustion that is characterized by a chronic fatigue which rest does not alleviate.

For added low-cost protein-nutrition it will pay you to get acquainted with millet and sunflower seeds. Both are available in health food stores—who stock them shelled and ready-to-use.

High School Bands Earn First Division at Gaylord

Both Charlevoix High School bands received first division ratings in the District II Band and Orchestra Festival held Saturday at Gaylord, C.A. Odmark, director of the two groups, has announced.

The Symphony Band, which elected to enter Class B competition although Charlevoix is in Class C, received first division ratings from all four adjudicators.

The Concert Band, whose membership is composed of ninth and tenth grade students, received a final I rating after receiving a II rating in concert performance and a II in sight reading.

Saturday's festival marked the twenty-seventh time in 28 years Charlevoix bands have received the coveted top rating to qualify for state competition. The state festival will be held April 27 in either the Flint or Muskegon areas. At the present time it is not known if both bands will enter state competition.

Judges for Saturday's festival were Dr. Harold Wright, Robert Stevenson and Loren Richtmyer, all of Northern Michigan University, and Manley Fay of Sebawaing.

Petoskey and Cheboygan each qualified two bands and Gaylord and Boyne City one each.

Penn-Dixie Earnings Up, Co. Reports

Penn-Dixie Industries, Inc., reported increased sales and earnings in the year ended Dec. 31, 1973.

Net income per share advanced 23 percent to 95 cents per share for 1973 from 77 cents per share in the prior year. Net income for the year totaled $4,147,000, a 67 percent increase over the $2,553,000 earned the year before. Sales advanced to $270,483,000 in 1973 as compared to $237,547,000 in 1972.

"Earnings were hampered by constraints on our pricing policy and overwhelming increases in key raw material costs," a company spokesman said. "There is good reason to believe we will overcome some of these problems in 1974 and we are hopeful that 1974 will readily surpass our 1973 results."

Social Security Increase Due in June, Lions Told

Social Security recipients can expect to see an 11 percent hike in their benefits by June.

Of the total 11 percent hike, seven percent will be coming this month, according to Gordon Sattelmeier, Petoskey branch office maanager.

Sattelmeier made the announcement in a luncheon address given to Charlevoix Lion Club members last month.

"The social security program involves 1,300 officers across the United States," he told a group of 45 Charlevoix residents at the Grey Gables Inn.

In addition, there are six major payment centers and a large computer system headquartered in Baltimore, Maryland.

The branch manager, whose office services Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Emmet Counties, said one out of every five people receive some form of Social Security benefit.

This compares to a national average of one out of eight people receiving renumeration.

Sattelmeier said Social Security became effective in 1935, with the first card being issued in December, 1936.

At that time, there were only retirement benefits for those past the age of 65, but that was amended to include survivor benefits in 1939.

"During World War II, there were very few changes," he continued.

But, he said there were many changes in the 1950's, with the addition of disability benefits as the major addition in 1956.

In April, 1966, Sattelmeier said an office in Petoskey opened to handle the new medicare program.

The majority of major changes, he continued, came during the last three years.

Now for example, those working beyond 65-years-of-age will get a yearly one percent bonus for each year they work.

Those claiming disability benefits now only have to wait five instead of six months to receive benefits, he added.

There are also limited payments made for chiropractic services, as well as kidney transplants and work.

Another major change is a self-employment option that allows those showing a profit of less than $1,600 to make payments.

"It doesn't seem like much, but it could mean the difference between getting benefits or not," he said.

He said 1972 marked the greatest year in increased benefits with a 20 percent hike, preceeded earlier with a 10 percent increase in 1971 and 13 percent jump in 1970.

Finally, the branch manager said the Social Security office will be taking an Old Age assistance, Aid to the Blind and Aid to the Disabled—programs traditionally held by county social services agencies.

School Board Acts On Teacher Contracts

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night offered contracts to 64 tenure teachers, placed eight others on tenure, offered probationary contracts to four others and accepted the resignation of a fifth teacher who was not offered a probationary contract.

The board also voted to extend the contract of Supt. James A. McKimmy for two years with remuneration to be determined later.

In other action the board voted to establish a building and site fund and to spend the money for a storage building and fence around the football field; voted to accept a bid for a school car and on liability insurance and heard several reports.

The sixty-four tenure teachers who were offered contracts have all been members of the faculty for some time.

The eight teachers who were eligible for tenure and received it were Marina Anegon, Halbert Evans, Carolyn Fhahner, Penny Gibelyou, Roxie Loding, Stanley Martin, Barry Pierce and Sue Smith.

Linda Liebold, having completed a first year probation was offered a contract for the 1974-75 school year; David Moyer and John Houting were offered contracts as third year probationary teachers for reasons stated in personal letters to them; Mrs. Sally Drost was offered a third year probationary contract because she had been on leave and it was not possible to observe her in the classroom; and Mary Ann McGinn, who joined the faculty after school started, was not offered a probationary contract for reasons stated in a personal letter. However her letter of resignation was read and accepted by the board.

The probationary contract for Miss Liebold and Mrs. Drost were approved by a vote of 7-0. However, the contracts for Moyer, Houting and Miss McGinn were approved by votes of 6-1 with Max Novak casting the no vote in each case. Houting has asked that he be transferred to a lower grade and the board agreed to honor his request.

The board voted by a 7-0 vote to offer Supt. James A. McKimmy a contract for a period of time beginning July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1976, with the salary to be determined at a later date.

The bid of Best Insurance of Ellsworth, being the lowest of two bids received for Errors and Omissions insurance to cover the school board members and school administrators was accepted. The policy is for $1,000 deductible with a $2.0 million limit.

The bid of the Charlevoix Oil Co. in the amount of $3,060 complete with steel belted tires, being the lowest of two bids, was accepted for a Chevrolet Impala to replace a 1970 vehicle damaged in a recent snowstorm. The second bid in the amount of $3,110 was received from Erber Auto.

In other action the board voted to place $6,000 in earnings in a building and site fund and then authorized the construction of a storage facility approximately 28 by 48 feet to house snow removable and summer maintenance equipment. The building, to be constructed by the Building Trades Class, will be financed by the new building and site fund and will be constructed on the site of the former chute at the track.

The board also:

–OK'd construction of a retaining fence to surround the football playing field for the protection of spectators.

--Heard a report by McKimmy on a drug education workshop to be held at Gaylord May 6 and reported that he, Roy Fortin, Condit Drury, Max Novak, Don Brown and Barry Pierce would attend.

–Discussed forming a tennis team and seeking tennis meets. However, the board followed the recommendation of Max Novak that the instruction remain on a club basis for a year before taking it on as a league sport.

–Accepted with regret the resignation of the Rev. Duane Imig who is leaving the community to accept a pastorate in Jacobs, Ill. The board has 20 days to fill the vacancy which would be only until the June 10 election when any appointee would have to file a nominating petition.

Islanders Seek Ways to Promote, Preserve Domain

so few island crafts are available to visitors.

"Except for shipwreck furniture, you have nothing that I couldn't buy in Lansing or Detroit," she said.

"I hope you'll start sharing with others," she added.

She said the island must offer something to visitors and suggested island tours by horse and rig, Irish dances, and picnics under the stars featuring corned beef and cabbage, Irish stew and soda bread.

Ms. Callaway suggested that a PA system be installed on the Beaver Islander so that visitors could hear a run-down about what there is to do and see on the island beofre they arrive.

She also suggested that the islanders stage an "Irish festival" every year, something like the ethnic festivals in Detroit.

Although she said she is against over-commercialization, "Beaver Island is under-commercialized to a fault."

"Don't turn it into another Mackinac Island," she warned. "All you need is a little polish."

She suggested that the island might be able to capitalize on its Mormon and Indian heritage, availability of mushrooms and cranberries and its superb fall colors.

Herb Johnson of the Department of Natural Resources said the island has four qualities that it must preserve: Its naturalness, its quaintness, its remoteness and its integrity.

"There are the things that keep people coming back," he said.

Bill Carlson of Leland, who is interested in preserving marine artifacts from the past, warned the businessmen not to lose control of their island.

"As you develop and progress, there will be a great deal of outside interest in Beaver Island, particularly if you make money. Then you will lose control because the property will be worth more than you can afford."

He pointed out that his town of Leland has sold out to outside developers, but that townspeople are beginning to regain some measure of local control.

"Unless you preserve your qualities now, it soon may be too late," he said.

At a general discussion following the meeting, Ed Wojan suggested a low-key approach to the problem of attracting tourists. He suggested that the islanders concentrate on fall, winter and spring, since the island already has all the business it can handle in the summertime.

Walker Hill suggested that an information booth be established on the boat dock so that visitors will know what the island has to offer.

"Too many of them just wander around lost," he said. "They must get the impression that we would be just as happy if they had sent their money and stayed home themselves."

"Hey, that's not a bad idea," someone called from the back of the room.

The businessmen agreed that something should be done to preserve the present buildings downtown. Another meeting will be held this spring to establish a program for promoting—and preserving—the island.

Easter Seal Letters In Mail This Weekend

Three thousand letters will carry the familiar Easter Seals into Charlevoix County homes this weekend, Mrs. Arthur Thompson of East Jordan, president of the Easter Seal Society, has announced.

Funds derived from the sale of the attractive seals are used by the Society to benefit Charlevoix County handicapped children and adults.

The goal for 1974 is $2,500, Mrs. Thompson reports. In 1973, $2030 was raised during the drive and $2,000 was spent for such things as the Special Olympics for handicapped children, the Ironton Trainable School attended by mentally and physically handicapped children, to take handicapped children to the Shrine Circus in Grand Rapids and to purchase equipment for the Society's loan closet. Included in the loan closet are hospital beds and mattresses, wheelchairs, walkers, crutches, commodes, lifts and oxygen tanks.

The Charlevoix County chapter also purchased orthopedic shoes and braces in addition to giving financial assistance to families who must keep appointments at downstate hospitals and/or clinics.

"The Easter Seal Society is a service organization dedicated to the assistance of the disabled and their families," Mrs. Thompson said. "It is our aim", she continued, "to find and make effective use of resources which will be helpful to them in developing their abilities and in living purposeful lives; to establish and maintain programs and services which are appropriate and realistic and to create a climate of acceptance of disabled persons which will enable them to contribute to the full extend of their acceptance."

"However, without your assistance, we cannot reach our goals so we hope you will accept the Easter Seals and return your check so we can carry on our work," Mrs. Thompson said in conclusion.

This year the trip to the Shrine Circus was cancelled because of the energy crisis. A special 'fun day' to compensate for this is currently scheduled for April 6 at Cinema III in Charlevoix.

Mayor Wants to Relocate Path of May Street Sewer

Says Water Main in Danger

With the target date for starting construction of the May-st. sewer only days away, Mayor Edward P. Hansen told the Council Monday night that he would like to move the location of the sewer line several feet to the west in order to avoid any damage to the water main now serving May-st. residents.

Hansen also said he feels the proposed 18-foot trench is too deep and has come up with an alternate plan to bury the sewer only 13-feet deep and install a lift station near the corner of Eaton-ave. and May-st.

The proposed changes came as a surprise, since G & T Construction of Traverse City is expected to start work on the sewer next Monday. The bonds were sold last week.

Hansen said his changes would save the city between $30,000 and $50,000, since less trenching would be involved and the easterly strip of May-st. could be saved.

Hansen and Acting City Administrator Robert Wexstaff have invited John Holland, engineer for McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor, to come to Charlevoix Wednesday afternoon to confer with representatives of G & T Construction and city officials over the proposed changes.

Candidates for the position of resident engineer on the project also have been invited to attend the meeting.

If the change is agreed upon, the Council probably will hold a special meeting Thursday night to put its official stamp of approval on the move.

Alderman Robert Timms pointed out that moving the sewer to the west will involve installation of longer lateral lines into May-st. homes, most of which are on the east side of

March Roars Out Like Lion With Bitter Cold, Snow

Charlevoixans who counted crocuses and dusted off porch furniture two weeks ago spent the weekend huddled around their fireplaces as a late season cold snap sent the mercury plunging to zero and below.

And Tuesday morning they awoke to the heaviest single snowfall of the year. Snow depths ranged up to eight inches throughout the area, with some drifting along the Lake Michigan shore.

County and local road crews let the snow accumulate Monday night and early Tuesday morning, since all schools throughout the area are closed for the spring recess.

The bitter cold, high winds and snow were part of a massive storm system which swept across the nation's midsection as a grand finale to what has been a relatively mild winter.

The snow isn't expected to last.

The forecast is for temperatures in the 30's and 40's Wednesday and Thursday, followed by crocuses and robins.

County Board Seat Only Contest April 1

The only contest on the ballot Monday in Charlevoix's general election will be in the First Ward where Democrat Paul L. Osterberg will challenge Republican Donald Meggison for the 13th District Seat on the County Board of Commissioners.

Meggison is the incumbent, having been appointed to the post in January to serve the unexpired term of the late Kit Carson.

Unopposed on the ballot will be the names of Edward P. Hansen, mayor; Ralph McRae, First Ward alderman; Robert Timms, Second Ward alderman; Gerald Selph, Third Ward alderman; Ida Heise, city clerk; and Annabelle Cunningham, city treasurer.

Meggison, 50, was born in Charlevoix Sept. 29, 1923, and graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1941.

He served in the Philippines and in Japan with the U.S. Army during and after World War II.

He was married in 1946 to the former Helen Kaske of Petoskey. They have three children, Jerry, 26; Tom, 25; Barbara, 23 and Bruce, 21, all residents of Charlevoix.

Meggison is a member and past president of the Charlevoix Lions Club. He also belongs to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and the Rod and Gun Club.

He is employed by Charlevoix Oil Co. as a

'Shanaland' Zoning Change Denied

The Charlevoix Township Zoning Board last Thursday night turned down a request by Ski & Shore to rezone a 37-acre parcel of land bordered by Mercer-blvd., Pa-Ba-Shan Lane and Waller-rd. from agricultural to R-4.

The change would have permitted Ski and Shore to construct a multiple family dwellings in an area bordered by R-1 (Single family) homes.

The final decision on the request will be made by the Charlevoix Township Board at its April 8 meeting.

Sitting on the Zoning Board at the meeting were Mrs. Kate Brady, Joe Beaudoin, Hal Forbrig and Robert Nowakowski.

About 60 persons jammed the tiny Charlevoix Township hall, most of them opposed to ther multiple-family called "Shanaland." Ski and Shore has purchased the property from Ed Shanahan.

Plans called for 75 multiple housing units in clusters, with most of the property reserved as parkland.

In addition to those in attendance, the board received about 25 letters from area residents objecting to the change.

Lou Hollow objected to the project because of the high water table in the area, and pointed out that the Charlevoix area already has 200 condominium units almost ready for occupancy.

"Why build more?" he asked.

Chief spokesman for Ski and Shore was George Stephan who passed around drawings of the proposed development.

He said the cluster units not only are more economical to construct but that they provide for large wooded areas which would not be possible in a more conventional subdivision.

Architect Jack Begrow also spoke in behalf of the project, pointing out that the only alternative would be a conventional, lock step, grid layout. He said the units planned by Ski and Shore would have the appearance of a "large ranch house."

The township's zoning code provides for four units per acre under R-1 housing and 15 units per acre under R-4.

Most of the objectors implied that their property values would be lessened if multiple housing were introduced to the area.

They also objected to the fact that entrance to the property would be gained by easements leading onto Mercer-blvd. and Pa-Ba-Shan Lane, creating more traffic problems in the area.

Ed Shanahan was chagrined after the proposal was defeated.

"It would seem to me that a lot of people in this room want the privilege of ownership without the responsibility of ownership," he said.

He suggested that maybe Ski and Shore would now want to cut the timber off the land.

"There's some nice white pine saw logs in there," he said.

"People want to look at trees, but they don't want to own them," he added.

After the vote, the mood of the audience softened somewhat. Most of them seemed to agree that there is a place for cluster housing, so long as it doesn't interfere with or downgrade existing R-1 neighborhoods.

RESIDENTS jammed the Charlevoix Township Hall last Thursday night, most of them to file complaints against rezoning of "Shanaland" from Agricultural to Residential-4. The next move is up to Ski & Shore, which has purchased the property from Ed Shanahan.

SIMS BAKER, head maintenance man at Grandvue Medical Facility for the past 16 years, receives retirement gift from Mrs. Hilda Watkins, R.N., facility director, as Mrs. Baker looks on. The retirement party was held last week at Grey Gables.

Grandvue's Sims Baker Retiring After 16 Years

Sims Baker, maintenance supervisor at Grandvue Medical Care Facility near East Jordan since the hospital was under construction, was honored last week at a retirement dinner.

On hand for the event held at the Grey Gables Inn were 36 fellow employes headed by Mrs. Royal (Hilda) Watkins of Boyne City, superintendent of the facility and his only boss during his 16 years at the facility, the Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston of the Social Services Board which operates the facility for the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services, which was represented by the director, Richard Tillen, and Mrs. Tillen.

Baker will officially retire when he reaches his 65th birthday April 6 but, according to Mrs. Watkins, who served as mistress of ceremonies at the dinner, "We hope he'll still be on call in the event of an emergency."

Actually, he's been on call since the day he went to work at the facility which was in the last phase of construction at the time. "Everything was new which didn't mean something could go wrong...and did. But after a while we ironed out the kinks and soon had everything operating smoothly," Baker recalls.

Until two years ago, the emergency generating system was one of the biggest headaches but a new automatic system that takes care of the entire facility has now been installed and that problem is under control, he said.

What does maintenance of a facility like Grandvue include? Heating, ventilating, laundry and kitchen equipment plus the grounds with its lawns, trees, shrubs and garden, right down to the last flower. Mrs. Watkins lists the garden, which keeps the facility supplied with fresh vegetables and berries, Baker's "pride and joy".

"I daresay we have the best truck garden in the country," she said in praise of his work.

Most of the work he has

NOTICE - FIRST WARD VOTERS

In next Monday's election those people interested in good city government should show their confidence and approval of all the candidates. I in particular would like to thank all the four hundred or so persons who voted for both candidates running for the first ward councilman office. The First Ward has the highest percentage of people voting, 62 percent. The two hundred citizens not voting apparently had their reasons, perhaps at this time they could register their approval. During my recent campaign my platform represented my convictions, like retirement housing - a non-political zoning board - special utility rates for Senior citizens, and a professional city manager. In view of the recent assessment increases it is more important than ever to look into the reasons for excessive taxes and ways to broaden the tax base. My opponent had many fine suggestions. Some of them certainly should be used. Charlevoix has many upcoming decisions to make. I hope to help make sure some of these decisions. Perhaps my election as a councilman will have been worthwhile to the people who cast their choice for me.

This illustration from the Monitor News Service shows how to plant a 10 by 16 foot garden. Victory Gardens were popular during World War II.

THIS MODEL garden shows where various vegetables should be planted for most effective utilization of garden space.

Vegetable Garden Can Save on Grocery Bills

By Cheryl Golley

The City of Charlevoix is helping you cut the high cost of living by offering free garden plots to anyone who wants one.

But whether you have a city plot of your own back yard garden, a vegetable garden will help cut costs and you will discover that a garden doesn't take much work, if you do it right.

If you are considering planting a garden this year the only tools that are required are "willpower, patience, a shovel, hoe, a rake and about two or three hours a week."

The ground will probably not be able to be worked for about another month but it's a good idea to start planning your garden now.

Vegetable and flower seeds are in ample supply now but the situation may change later in the Spring. If you buy your seeds right away you will have the opportunity to select the varieties you require.

Plants, such as tomatoes and bell peppers do better when put in the garden as young plants. It is not too early to start these in the house so by the end of May or when the last frost has subsided they can be put in the garden.

Gregory Patchan, horticulture agent at Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, Pontiac, suggests that first-time gardeners would be wise to have their soil tested.

"The test determines whether the soil is acid or alkaline, what measures should be taken to correct the situation and what types of fertilizer to use."

Soil tests are conducted at Michigan State University, East Lansing. Test information may be obtained by calling the Extension Service at 334-3507.

Soil test kits are also available in many nurseries and garden stores.

The soil is ready when the earth is dry and crumbly and you aren't able to squeeze water out of a handful. This usually occurs about April 10 or possibly earlier if the ground isn't frozen too deeply.

The ground should be turned over to kill weed roots by spading or plowing. Then fertilizer, either organic or commercial should be applied and worked in.

Root crops like carrots, beets, radishes and turnips are hardy plants and may be planted in the middle of April whereas vine crops, such as melons and squash can be planted at the end of April.

A good, multi-purpose gardening book for beginners is almost mandatory. It can eliminate a lot of questions regarding pruning, fertilizing and planting.

The National Garden Bureau has designed a model garden plot which contains vegetables that are both highly productive and easy to grow.

The size of the plot is 10 feet wide by 16 feet deep, and is planted with ten vegetables at a seed cost of $3.65. This should yield fresh vegetables for a family of four, and save approximately $120 on food bills.

The model garden is planted with hybrid tomatoes, zucchini, bell peppers, early cabbage, looseleaf lettuce, bush beans, red beets, carrots, spinach and slicing cucumbers.

And don't dismiss flowers, they not only are good for aesthetics but marigolds are a natural pesticide.

Robert Elliot, of Franks Flowers in Charlevoix, also suggests using grass clippings and dead leaves for mulch in your garden. This will produce a richer soil for growing.

JAN WHITE (right), loan administrator for the Charlevoix County State Bank, has completed a two-year banking course at Northern Michigan University, Marquette. The school is sponsored by NMU and the Michigan Bankers Association. Clarke and Murton also completed the course.

School Accountability Hearing Set for April 3

A series of 13 public hearings on educational accountability in Michigan will be held throughout the state during March and early April, James A. McKinmy Superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools, reports.

The hearings will be conducted by a 25-member Educational Accountability Panel appointed by the State Board of Education and State Superintendent of Public Instruction John W. Porter.

Gov. William G. Milliken asked Dr. Porter to conduct a statewide study of the meaning, purpose and methods of educational accountability and to report his findings to him, the Legislature, the State Board and the public.

The Governor made his request when the issue of "accountability" became a major stumbling block in the settlement of the seven-week Detroit teachers' strike.

The 13 public hearings to be held by the Educational Accountability Panel are one part of a larger study being undertaken at the request of the Governor. A public opinion survey also will be conducted to determine the public's knowledge of and attitudes about educational accountability.

Dr. Porter will review the testimony given at the public hearings and the results of the public opinion survey before issuing his findings to the Governor, the Legislature, the State Board and the public.

The Educational Accountability Panel includes 16 members who represent a cross-section of organizations that are interested in but not directly affiliated with the schools and nine members who were named by members of the State Board.

At their organizational meeting, members of the panel voted to divide into two groups. Members of one group will conduct six hearings while the second group will attend seven hearings.

McKinmy said the most convenient meeting for citizens of the Charlevoix School District will be the meeting at 7 p.m. on April 3 at the Gaylord High School in Gaylord.

Most of the hearings will be held in the evening although one hearing will be held in the morning, another in late afternoon and the final hearing in Detroit will be held in late afternoon and evening.

While the public hearings will provide opportunity for oral testimony, written statements from individuals and organizations also are welcomed by the Educational Accountability Panel, McKinmy said.

There will be an eight minute time limit on oral presentations.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Court Magistrate John Connolly:

Stephen Knysz, 23, Boyne City, was assessed $20 for speeding.

Richard Baker, 26, Charlovoix, was assessed $15 for not having a motorcycle endorsement on his driver's license.

Robert Goossen jr., 28, Grand Rapids, was assessed $22 for speeding and $15 for making an improper turn.

Musicians Do Well At Fete

Charlevoix High School musicians entered in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival at Cheboygan Saturday won five First Division ratings and one high II for their performances according to Gary Stutzman, Middle School band director who accompanied the students, has announced.

Kevin Gallagher, junior trumpet player, received a 95 percent rating for his performance in Proficiency 1. An 85 percent was necessary to receive a I rating.

Lisa Fiedler, junior flutist, received an 83 percent rating or a high II in Proficiency 1.

All four ensembles entered in the festival received the coveted I ratings. They were Tammy Wieland, Cheryl Coppens and Mark Gallagher in a clarinet trio; James Berlage, Gary Pettis and Donna Jones in a saxophone trio; Lisa Fiedler and Mark Gallagher in a flute-clarinet duet and Dan Mort and Ronald Winchester in a tuba duet.

The contestants were accompanied to Cheboygan, the northern site of the State Festival, by Mr. Stutzman when their director, C.A. Odmark, had to be in Ferndale to serve as an adjudicator at another festival.

Nation Must Revise Campaign Financing

President Nixon's recent proposals to regulate political campaign financing fall so far short of the mark that they would be worse than no regulations at all.

Congress has been looking into a system of campaign financing which would place all of financial responsibility on the U.S. Treasury, with strict ceilings on expenditures.

The President wants no ceiling whatsoever, saying such a ceiling would unfairly penalize a candidate opposing a candidate who has built-in financial advantage.

Instead, the President would like to limit individual contributions to $15,000 for any presidential race and $3,000 for any Senate and House race, with any contribution of more than $50 paid by check rather than by cash.

He would limit in-kind contributions by non-party organizations, such as stationery and airplanes, donations disguised as loans and donations of physical assets such as appreciated stock.

Labor and business political committees could donate to parties, but not to candidates directly, although contributors could still ask that the money be earmarked for certain candidates.

All of which would leave us right back to where we are today.

Take the $15,000 limit on individual contributions, for example. Nothing in Mr. Nixon's proposal would prevent a wealthy manufacturer -- or union boss -- who expects favors from the White House to see to it that persons working for him are given a $15,000 bonus, with the stipulation that it be donated to such and such a candidate.

We believe that the question of presidential campaign financing is so critical to the survival of the nation that all funds must come from one source -- U.S. tax dollars.

And the expenditure of those tax dollars must be so tightly controlled that any future candidates for the presidency must be prepared to lead lives that are almost monastic in their simplicity and austerity until the election is over.

We do not believe it is necessary --- yet --- for Congress to impose such stringent controls on the financing of campaigns by the members of the House of Representatives of the Senate since they are less vulnerable than the president to the wily influence peedlers who infest the federal goverment.

But we believe it should be illegal for any candidate for any office to spend more on his campaign than he will receive in remuneration for the job he is elected to do. Something certainly has to be out of whack when a candidate spends $500,000 to win a $50,000-a-year elective post.

The citizens lobby, Common Cause, sees the president's proposals as an "attempt to kill meaningful campaign finance reform." We suspect that Common Cause may be right, but we hope Congress has the fortitude to stick to its guns until presidential campaign financing is achieved. Congressional campaign financing can wait.

Senior Worried About Drugs at High School

Dear Mr. Clock,

I am a senior at C.H.S. and am concerned about what I see happening.

Charlevoix High School isn't going to be the school I've known much longer with the things that are going on. The biggest problem is dope. It is not too uncommon to see some stoned kid walking down the hall staring blankly ahead or to see one sitting at lunch table with a bad case of the "munchies" from coming down after smoking some pot. What really gets me is that kids are even smoking dope in the girls bathroom.

I've seen kids in the halls with hash pipes under their coats. I've seen stoned kids sitting in class and the teacher knew it and did nothing. I've seen local kids smoking dope in the park in the summer. This year a kid took an over dose of drugs at school and passed out and was taken to the hospital. Last year I found a hypodermic needle in the bathroom but don't know of any kids that shoot hard drugs. Last year I knew of teachers that used marijuana. And at a basketball game not too long ago I heard a kid ask another one for some papers, the paper that is used to roll joints in. Now when you get asked to a party you have to ask what kind it is; dope, booze, or straight (no dope or booze).

Luckily the dope problem is mainly just marijuana. There are a few jerks that use hard stuff but they are a small minority. But I burn inside when I hear them talking out loud where the whole class can hear, including the teacher, about how high and strung out they got the other day.

The high school administration is not to blame. They do all they can to stop the drugs but that is not easy with 550 kids. I respect Mr. Smith's efforts but the kids know he'll nail them if he catches them and they are pretty careful around him and the rest of the administration. Maybe now that the whole community is aware something can be done.

Just a couple of other things that need changing around CHS.

One is the cigarette smoking. Every morning just before school starts you can find kids smoking by the gym. Also, in the bathrooms there is a great deal of smoking, particularly in the girls bathroom. It's really a tragedy to see these young men and women hooked on cigarettes at such an early age that they have to smoke at school and bother many other people.

The second one is the school newspaper, the Crimson Flash. At times it is pretty trashy with cheap name calling and other items not befitting a high school paper. An example is a poem in it once about President Nixon where he was called an ass and a cute little part about if Nixon were a tree and the author was a dog he could do what he wanted to do to him. What ever the authors view of Nixon, name calling is pretty poor journalism. If you read the "Flash", I'm sure you too will find that it can get really stupid.

I hope this letter can stir up some action to stop Charlevoix High School's deterioration. Don't think that is the other guy's kid. The problems at the high school are just the signs of the real problem at home.

Pasty Would Have Been Stone Cold!

Boyne City, Mich.
March 21, 1974

Charlevoix Courier,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Bob:

I read with interest your item on Hot Pasties in the Courier. You didn't have it all straight. I grew up at Ishpeming in the Upper Peninsula, next door to a Cornish family by the fame of John Hawes, who came straight over from the old sod.

John worked in the mines. Every day one of the boys carried a dinner pail just before noon, to the mine shaft at the Cleveland Cliffs Mine, to meet John as he emerged from the "skip" (or elevator to you) and the piping hot meal was handed to father.

The pasty, as you mentioned, would have been stone cold by dinner time. The dinner pail was made in three compartments. The bottom of the pail had hot tea or coffee. A riser in fixed position above the liquid had the pasty in it, kept hot. A riser above that contained desserts or fruit. Then the lid.

About the pasty: A real Cornish posty, before being closed in by the dough, is generously sprinkled with chips of clear white suet. This makes the gravy. The Cornishman says it isn't a real pasty if you can't break off the end of it, tip it up and drink the gravy. This if proof of the pudding.

Thanks for printing this.

Yours truly,

Ruben Wangberg,

Ask The Governor

Question: I am a senior citizen who was looking forward to getting some tax relief this year under the program adopted by the Legislature. But I find that I will be paying more taxes under the new system than I did under the old. Some tax relief!!!

Governor: While the vast majority of senior citizens in our state will receive substantial tax relief as the result of my 1973 tax reduction program, it is true that some 10,000 senior citizens could end up paying more in taxes this year than last. However, I have already taken steps to deal with that problem.

On February 15, I signed legislation which corrects that deficiency by providing for additional tax relief to the blind, senior citizens and disabled, amounting to $6.3 million.

The bill guarantees senior citizens who would have received less relief under the new property tax credits that they will receive the same relief they received under the old homestead exemptions.

It also permits a household with two blind individuals to qualify for a double property tax credit, permits some 80,000 disabled persons to qualify to use the senior citizens property tax credit schedule, and permits paraplegics and quadraplegics to claim a double exemption on their state income tax and use the senior citizen property tax relief schedule.

That bill was an important part of my 1974 tax relief program--a program which, when coupled with the tax relief program adopted last year--would provide nearly one-half billion dollars in tax relief to Michigan taxpayers.

Question: When is Michigan going to get going and do something for bicyclists in the state? It's just too dangerous to ride a bike on most of the streets and highways.

Governor: Mrs. Milliken and I are among the more than 80 million people across the country who participate in the fast-growing sport of bicycling--a form of transportation that is healthful, non-polluting, and fun.

Under the comprehensive transportation program which was adopted by the Legislature two years ago--legislation which I proposed--highway funds, for the first time, are being used to finance programs for bicyclists.

That legislation provided guidelines for the expenditure of highway funds on bicycling programs which amounts to about $1 million per year by the state, $1 million per year by counties, and one-half million dollars per year by cities across the state.

Utilizing a portion of those transportation funds, the Department of State Highways and Transportation is now in the process of preparing maps of low-use roads, developing bike-path design manuals for local units of government, and studying the feasibility of a marked shoreline trail around the state.

Questions They Never Ask

By BOB CLOCK

President Nixon is campaigning again—this time not to win an election but to win the hearts of the American people, regardless of what course Congress and the courts might take.

And judging from his last three appearances on the campaign trail, he just might make it.

Although the President is adept from long practice at not answering the questions he doesn't want to answer, he knows how to fill the airwaves with sufficient garbage that unless you're listening very carefully you might come to the conclusion that he actually answered all the questions he was asked.

Furthermore, Mr. Nixon has been carefully coached on putting on a good appearance on TV. He batts his eyes disarmingly at the audience and plays the piano on request. On the Grand Olde Oprey the other night he even played with Roy Acuff's Yo-Yo.

And he will banter with newsmen, one group of people the old President Nixon could never tolerate.

When popular TV newscaster Dan Rather rose to his feet at Houston the other night to ask a question, the audience gave him a prolonged ovation.

"What are you running for?" the President asked, and the audience howled.

When the uproar subsided, Rather asked the President: "What are you running for?" And the audience howled again.

The old, uptight President Nixon who hid in the White House during the anti-war demonstrations in Washington is a thing of the past. He is now accessible to a fault, in hopes of winning back what he likes to call his "mandate" in the last presidential election.

To do so, he not only bypasses Congress to reach the people but he also never misses an opportunity to upraid Congress for spending too much time on Watergate while other business of the nation waits in the wings.

Of course, Mr. Nixon would like to have the whole Watergate mess behind him, as he has told us repeatedly since last summer. He is apparently incapable of understanding that tricks like the Watergate caper pose the greatest threat to the American system of government that we have ever faced. And unless Congress gets to the bottom of the Watergate affair and punishes those responsible, the government forever after will be on very shaky ground, because it will not have the full confidence of the people.

It is ironic that Mr. Nixon keeps insisting that he will never do anything to abridge or mitigate the powers of the presidency, yet he has done more to destroy the office than any president in the past 200 years.

What bothers me most about the President's televised newscasts is that the newsmen never ask Mr. Nixon the questions I would like to have answered.

Take the doctrine of Presidential Confidentiality, for example. The doctrine, incidently, was formulated by the President and he uses it repeatedly as a defense—or an excuse—in not cooperating fully with Watergate Investigators.

The doctrine, as stated by Mr. Nixon, holds that a president must be able to confer in private on state matters with his top advisors without having the details of those meetings made privvy to Congress or the courts. And the President probably has a good point.

But if the doctrine of Presidential Confidentiality is so all-fired important, if the details of these meetings are so secret, why in the world did the President see fit to have his confidential conferences recorded on tape, often without the knowledge of those he was talking with?

This is one question I would like to have the President answer in open forum.

It seems to me that confidential conversations should be just that—confidential. To record such conversations for posterity is doing a grave disservice to all involved, particularly if they don't know their remarks are being recorded.

If nothing else, such a shoddy trick opens the door to blackmail, if the person in control of such tapes ever decides to use them to his own advantage.

I also wish someone would ask Mr. Nixon how he feels history will assess his administration?

His hand-picked choice for vice president—Spiro Agnew—has resigned after admitting to charges of bribery and extortion and 38 other members of his administration, including his closest aides, have either been found guilty or are under indictment on criminal charges in connection with their roles in his administration.

I'd like the President to answer that one without batting his eyes or playing with his yo-yo.

Stuck at the Top

By JIM FITZGERALD

A few years ago there was some talk about opening a saloon in the building that formerly housed the Ballentine Dry Goods Co. I immediately protested, claiming such an action would be similar to hiring a harlot to dust the church.

The saloon was never built and I like to think my righteous indignation helped prevent the sacrilege. It is sad enough that there is no longer a Ballentine Dry Goods Co. But it would be pure tragedy if its hallowed walls should be scarred by boozy graffiti and Pabst Blue Ribbon signs.

Ballentine's stood on a prominent corner in downtown Port Huron for hundreds of years, or so it seemed, and never changed. All around it, the world turned to leather and knotty pine, with a chargeplate in every fist and a check-out counter blocking every exit. But, until the 1950's, Ballentine's remained a hushed oasis where elderly women sat down to try on gloves, and you could hear the soft fingering of fabrics mixed with the slight slap of turning pages in huge pattern books.

And a few times each day you could also hear the exasperated whispers of clerks telling each other the dumb elevator was stuck again.

I operated that rickety elevator in 1943, when I was 17. There were 3 floors plus a basement used only for storage. The elevator traveled through a cage and was therefore exposed to public view at all times, on all floors. I controlled it by pushing a lever to the left for down, to the right for up, and center for stop. I was a chronic daydreamer and sometimes stopped the elevator when it made no sense at all. Thus waiting people on the 2nd floor got long looks at the passengers' legs while 3rd floor waites counter dandruff.

It was not easy to manipulate the lever so that the car stopped flush with the floor. I never told passengers to "Watch your step, please." I always told them to either step up or jump down. Once I advised a departing woman to step up and she asked me for a boost. "Maybe you could cup your hands together and give me a foothold," she suggested.

But the ultimate calamity was when I overshot the 3rd floor and got the elevator stuck to the top of the cage. I did this 4 or 5 times a day, thus making me the world champion marooner of passengers.

Passengers often accused me of deserting the ship. You see, to get the elevator unstuck I had to squeeze through the elevator door, jump down to the 3rd floor, and then run down 3 flights of stairs to the basement where the elevator power plant was located.

This trip took me from 1 to three minutes, depending upon how crowded the stairs were with people afraid of the elevator. At each landing there would be several clerks wishing me Godspeed. My clear duty was to free the marooned passengers before their cries for help could be heard above the fingering of fabric.

Propped against the elevator motor were two sawed-off broom handles, ever ready. I would push these handles against two watchamacallits, there would be several sparks, and the elevator would tremble loose and sag slowly downward.

This was a real experience for the suddenly unstuck passengers. For 3 floors I had remote control of their fate and they didn't know what the h— was going on. You should have seen their frightened expressions when they finally descended into the murky basement where I reboarded to once again take physical control of the ship.

If I ever saw a rescued passenger a 2nd time it was on the stairway.

Stumping the Woods

...With Ollie O. Stump jr.

In addition to the three R's, we learned things in the old school not strictly academic.

We were informed in no uncertain terms that punishment was meted out by the foot-a hardwood ruler across the knuckles or open palm for minor mischief such as dipping girls pigtails in the inkwell.

We were taught snow removal, on a rope attached to a huge wooden plow weighted down with the fair sex along for the ride. Boys in rural schools were spared this humiliation, taking turns at more manly chores. They hauled in wood, tended the fire and filled the water bucket.

Today pupils drive their teacher up the wall in a figurative sense, but on one occasion some backwoods pranksters drove their teacher up a tree in most realistic fashion. Then they chopped it down to flush their quarry from its leafy refuge.

We learned that there were two forms of punishment for the same offense! We were whipped in school for a misdemeanor, and at home we received a sound thrashing for the same offense upgraded to a felony.

We were taught to lend a hand and Emil, the gnome-like janitor, always had a small army of unruly students to share the burden of his labors. It was, we concluded, an unholy alliance between Emil and our teachers.

In conjunction with the newly installed individual lockers, Emil held one hour memory training classes for our benefit after school hours. A misplaced key meant a frantic dash in search of Emil, a quest interrupted by some teacher who penalized us an hour for running in the hall. Emil exhorted a one-hour work ransom for loan of the key and when we arrived late in class another teacher added an hour for being tardy. It was a plain and simple conspiracy!

We learned furniture restoring, thanks to some gimlet eyed educator who did not appreciate our penknife artistry on a desk top. Countless thwarted Rembrandts spent hours scraping and sanding a substitute desk in Emil's workshop.

We were also taught to address one another in low well modulated tones at all times. An involuntary excited yell kept us muttering under our breath for an hour while we trundled between the furnace and the ash pit.

For better or worse those days are gone forever. Educators both at home and in school have instructional tools befitting our space age. The razor strop has been replaced with enlightened reasoning. The ruler is featherweight plastic, as futile as the punishment it can no longer dispense. The belt which taught proper behavior is now relegated to its intended purpose.

Justice has been modernized with the advent of oil and gas heat. The original juvenile court has disappeared but during its reign, the woodshed operated in unique fashion. There were no Miranda maneuvers. You simply dropped your pants and the judge proceeded to bare facts.

In retrospect, any painful memories have been erased by the love of those fathers, many departed, who insisted we plow a straight furrow through the garden of life. The case was closed with a bit of good natured humor on dad's part:

"Might as well bring in an armful of wood as long as your here."

Some alert teenager might wonder about the punishment if his honor wore suspenders. These fortunates were handed a hatchet and, like a condemned man, given a choice. They could cut their own switch!

Diabolical? Could be, but us old codgers wouldn't know. We were taught a lot of things but can't recall a course in Diabolics. This, we understand is now taught in college but we're too old for that.

Besides, at our age we dassn't catch a chill!

Old Central School Beckoned Kids With Bell

Historians Hear Report On Long-Gone Building

(The following paper on Charlevoix's old "Central Grade School was prepared and presented by Benona Kohler at the March meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society.)

By Benona Kohler

The Central Grade School was Charlevoix's fourth school. The first one, built in 1861, in the area near the Belvedere, was a square log cabin 16 feet by 16 feet. Mrs. Morris (Lottie) Stockman was the teacher. The second school was located on the corner of Antrim and State Streets and built in 1868.

Charlevoix was growing and in 1873 had quite outgrown the small corner lot on State Street. The little village built their third school on the property between Clinton and Mason Streets, which is still school property. This third school was used regularly until it burned to the ground and a new school came into being on the same location in 1889. This school was known as Central Grade School in the early 1900s and is the one of which I write.

Central Grade was a large, square, white brick building with a square bell tower as its most distinguishing feature. This bell, with its pleasant ringing, called us to school daily. It could be heard, as I recall, all over the valley. Children living in the valley all went to Central School, those on the North and South sides attending Washington and Lincoln schools respectively. The first ringing told us the school was open, the second ringing, or "lost bell" as we called it, told us to get to our seats before it stopped or we would be late and that required some explanation. The ringing of the school bell was a favorite stunt for the older boys on Halloween. Someone always managed a way to reach the ball tower and attach a rope and pull vigorously. That was quite a daring accomplishment in those days.

Central Grade had a large front play yard, later made into tennis courts, faced the east. There was a side playground on the Clinton Street side and most likely on the Moson Street side. However, when I attended there the old High School had been built. We were probably quite hemmed in on the rear, west side, as houses extended along Grant Street and also one or two homes around on Clinton and also on Mason Streets.

There was a front entrance, east, opening into a wide central hall. Four rooms opened from this hall. Each room was a corner room and were light, pleasant, large rooms with six windows to a room. Outside the rooms were rows of hooks and each grade hung their outer wraps in the hall on hooks nearest their own classroom doors. I presume we lost plenty of overshoes (galoshes being a new word) even as children lose theirs today.

On this lower floor were housed the chart class (we hadn't heard of kindergarten) through the fifth grade. One room being reserved for a training room which I will explain later.

At the rear of the entrance hall a broad stairway lead to the second floor, pausing at a large landing, then branching off into two shorter flights of stairs to the second floor. On this landing were hooks for upper class people to hand wraps. Probably because of the recent burning of their school the builders were fire conscious on these two flights of stairs in the upper area would make escape much easier.

There were four classrooms on the upper floor and also a smaller room at the front of the hall, directly over the main entrance. That was our library. Doors at the rear of all four rooms opened to a rear stairway, one on each side of the building giving exit to the ground on the Mason and Clinton Street sides. I emphasis these stairways because, I feel, they gave quite adequate fire protection.

On the second floor were the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. These classes, seventh and eighth, would now be Junior High.

Toilet facilities were on the first floor at the rear, reached by a hallway running each side of the main stairs. One side for the girls and one side for the boys. These toilet rooms always seemed to be a sort of after thought probably coming into existence after sewer construction in that area.

A Miss Lottie Cook, a local lady, was my "chart class" teacher and we shared our room with first graders. Grades had to double up because of so many grades on the lower floor. Even though grouped we managed to learn our A, B, Cs and multiplication tables. I recall my father teaching me cribbage at that time and saying it would help my arithmetic but I always felt my dad wanted a cribbage partner.

During these years Charlevoix had a County Normal School. It consisted of one room in the High School building. A Miss Hines was the first Normal School teacher as I recall. High School graduates in this area attended Normal School for one year. Then they received a certificate that qualified them for teaching the eight grades in the rurol or country schools for three years. After three years further education was necessary. Many young ladies and a few young men availed themselves of this opportunity going on eventually to become fully qualified teachers.

This Normal School necessitated having a training room in the grade school. A few children from each of the eight grades spend one year each in the training room. We had a regular teacher who also supervised the practice under a Miss Alice Reed. Miss Reed met and married a Mr. Hershal Miller and always stayed on in Charlevoix. Her daughter, Gwendolyn, is now Mrs. Robert Wexstaff and still lives here. The main thing I recall about second grade was watching all the seventh and eighth graders and envying them. A Marjorie Weaver, daughter of a boat captain, was my ideal and I dreamed of a day when I would be an eighth grader with long, blond braids like Marjorie's. I made eighth grade, in due time, but never had long blond braids.

It was about this time that music and drawing were introduced to us, so apparently our parents were interested in the arts. One teacher always taught both subjects. My first art teacher was Mrs. Cora Coutler. I do not recall her maiden name but those of you who knew her will recognize her by the name of Cora Coulter. Another music and drawing teacher I had during those early years was Miss Abbie King. She spent most of her life here becoming the wife of a local lawyer, Mr. Rollie Lewis.

A Miss Pearl Lewis from East Jordan taught us in fifth grade. That was considered a most important year and was our first experience of being in a class all on one level. That was a most exciting year for us as next year we went upstairs with the "big kids". I remember how very disappointed I was upon entering sixth grade. All those years we had been on the first floor listening to buzzers ring upstairs and hearing students pass to different rooms and different classes. After finally getting on the second floor the sixth graders still remained in one room and it was the seventh and eighth graders who moved about the other three rooms.

Then came, at last, seventh and eighth grades and more than one teacher for us. One teacher, Miss Christina Peterson, (a pretty, dark, curly haired lady) stayed on in Charlevoix marrying Mr. Ernie Hiller and her son, James, is still here. In eighth grade we had as teacher a Miss Mary Kirchner from Saginaw. Miss Kirchner later married a Mr. Clinton Cooper and they made their home here for many years. Later Mrs. Cooper lived in Boyne City with her daughter, Rosemary, but at present resides at Grandvue Medical Care Faciligy. Our "Miss Kirchner" was an outstanding, no nonesense teacher. Usually she had hall duty during the noon hour. I don't think anyone who ever attended her classes will forget how she stood on hall duty moking tatting. Her shuttle flew between her fingers and I'm sure she never missed a stitch though she seemed to be looking everywhere else. We used to make up questions to ask her just to see if she would stop tatting. She never did. Just looked at us over her glasses, glanced at our papers and answered our questions with fingers still flying. A truly delightful lady.

Somewhere in seventh or eighth grade our first male teacher, Mr. Emory Pierce, joined the staff. I believe he was the first man to teach in grade school here and he was very good and a strict disciplinarian. Evidently, at that time, some of the bigger boys were beginning to be too big a handful for our women teachers and it was apparent a man was needed. I remember a real fight between Mr. Pierce and a big, heavy-set eighth grade boy. Our assignment was to memorize and recite the capitals of all the states. This student did not learn them. Mr. Pierce gave him another day and another chance. Then came the third opportunity to recite and a final warning. At that session of the class Mr. Pierce ordered the young man from class until he would cooperate. The student refused to leave the class and Mr. Pierce marched down the aisle to inforce his orders.

Well, upon his approach, the student leaped from his seat and came up fighting. Naturally the rest of us were terrified as the student was fully as large, physically, as the teacher. After much wrestling around the student was ushered out. Mr. Pierce had made his point and, as I recall, he apologized to our class though I don't recall ever seeing the student in class again. This was many years before grievance committees were heard of and a teacher really had authority. Possibly that was right, possibly it was wrong, but be that as it may, we respected our instructors and their word was law.

The coming of spring was a very exciting and frightening time for all eighth graders. Not only those of us in Central Grade School but throughout the entire county. All eighth grade students came to town from each school in the county to take County Exams. These examination questions were made out down state somewhere, probably Lansing, and were never opened until handed to the students as the tests began. Our teachers were as nervous as we were. They had drilled us to the best

Eat and Grow Younger

French Countess Proves Good Diet Is 'Secret of Youth'

By LELORD KORDEL

Number Eleven of a Series

During my stay in Buenos Aires, I was a guest at a formal dinner party in one of the old Argentine mansions. My host was the elder brother of my estanciero friend who raised thoroughbred horses, and on whose estancia I met those marvelous old Gauchos saluted earlier.

53 !!!
SHE SHOULDN'T TELL HER AGE

The guests were a cosmopolitan group made up of an English couple, several Argentinans, a Brazilian scientist and his wife, a Uruguayan diplomat, a French count and countess.

The evening hadn't progressed very far when I noticed the French countess, an extremely attractive woman, speaking earnestly with our host who singled me out with his glance, then nodded, apparently in answer to some question of hers concerning me. Immediately the countess came over to me.

"Monsieur Kordel," she said, "how old would you think me?"

I was taken aback by this abrupt question. It's not good policy to play at age-guessing games with the ladies, no matter how charming and youthful they may be. A guess of a year or two too many, and one really has blundered!

GUESSES AGE TOO YOUNG

I looked closely at her clear, fresh skin, her sparkling gray eyes, and her lustrous dark brown hair. She could have been anywhere between 30 and a youthful 40. Her figure was well-rounded without being lumpy, and her carriage was remarkably graceful. So I waded in with my best guess.

"Thirty-three, perhaps. And surely not more than 35."

She gave me a searching look. "Yes, I believe you are being honest. Well, monsieur, last month I celebrated—yes, that is the right word, celebrated — my 53rd birthday! I have a son as old as you guessed me!"

She called her husband, who extracted from his wallet a small, worn photograph and passed it to me. It was a picture of a woman, quite evidently a relative of the countess, for the features showed a marked resemblance to hers. Yet this was a much older woman.

"That, Monsieur Kordel," she said, "was my face five years ago, before we left France."

Her husband said to me: "My wife has been a zealous follower of your teachings on nutrition since arriving in Buenos Aires to live. An American friend loaned her a copy of one of your books. And from that day it has become the book of rules for our kitchen."

EATING FOR PLEASURE

The countess broke in smiling. "Sincerely, Monsieur Kordel, when I read your book it came like a great revelation to me. Always in France we have eaten for the sheer pleasure of it, never thinking what harm all those rich foods did to our appearance. Or whether we were fully nourished. But now, with the plentiful meat of this country and its delicious cheeses, fruits and vegetables, I have found a new, plainer way of eating . . . And I have found the youth I lost many years ago in France."

The average person of middle age—aad many younger people—exists on a diet woefully deficient on almost every nutritional count (proteins, minerals, vitamins), unless a conscious effort is made for planned diet. Small wonder that good looks and charm are so rare past 40.

And small wonder that this early loss of vitality and youthful appearance is particularly true of men, since they need even greater amounts of the B-vitamins (paramount factors in helping your youth stay on the job) thaa women. Yet how many men at this critical period in life make a conscious effort to guard against losing the sensations and appearances of youth in the only sure way—through a planned diet? Too few, I'm afraid.

MEN JUST AS VAIN

And yet men are as vain of their good looks and youthful attractions as are women. They may not admit that their appearance matters as much to their happiness as it does to a woman. But I, as one of the "stronger sex," will admit it for them. We men do care—and how!—when the signs of age begin to sneak up on us.

In the preceding installments I have dwelt at length on the paramount need in every diet for plenty of protein — meat, fish, fowl, eggs, cheese, skim milk and seed cereals. But I saved until now the full story of the youth-bestowing B-vitamins because they enter so frequently into any mention of "diet and good looks."

All the youth-preserving members of the B-complex family are found in varying degrees in meats, fish, fowl, eggs, skim milk, low-fat cheese, green vegetables, legumes, whole grains, berries, melons and fresh fruits.

A generous mention of these foods belongs in aay advice on "diet and good looks," because they are unusually rich sources of riboflavin, the B-vitamin everlastingly concerned with the health of your eyes, your skin, your hair.

Here's what usually happens when your body is skimped on riboflavin: Your elbows may become red and wrinkled; the skin over your entire body may coarsen with a quick tendency toward rashes and other forms of skin disorders. If you suddenly develop an abnormally oily complexion, more than likely it's because you need more riboflavin in your diet.

Riboflavin also acts on the muscles and nerves of the eyes—which will be discussed in a later installment.

Pine River Players Narrow Field to Four Selections

The Pine River Players, the Charlevoix theatre group, met Wednesday, March 20 to select four plays for production.

Selections made were: The Seven Year Itch; The Egg and I; No, I Can't Hear You when the Water's Running and Arsenic and Old Lace.

From these four selections the director will choose one for the first production of the Pine River Players.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of using Castle Van Haver or the Shed for the first production, although the theatre group is still looking for other desirable locations and would appreciate it if anyone knows of facilities that could be used for rehearsals and productions. Lee Mielleur can be contacted regarding this information.

The next meeting of the theatre group will be announced in the Courier.

Ski Areas Survive Mild Winter, Fuel Crisis

The one-two punch of the energy crisis and poor weather failed to "kayo" the 1973-74 Michigan ski season although some lodges were staggered by the powerful combination, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

An Auto Club survey of Michigan ski lodges shows that approximately half of the 63 facilities had an average eight percent more skiers than a year ago even though all but 12 were forced to close two to three weeks earlier than normal because of spring-like weather.

About 25 lodges had between five to 50 percent fewer skiers than last winter, the survey revealed.

"Although the state's shortage of gasoline, both real and imagined, received most of the publicity, it was the weatherman who dealt many lodges the most damaging blow," explains Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"This is the second consecutive year that a March thaw forced more than three-fourths of the state's ski lodges to close before the middle of the month," Ratke points out.

Despite a shortened season, many Southeast Michigan lodges, especially those within close proximity to Detroit, had successful years as the state's largest concentration of skiers flocked to local resorts instead of traveling north. A fear of not being able to buy gas forced many Detroiters to ski close to home.

The energy crisis was felt hardest in East Michigan and in the Upper Peninsula, where several lodges suffered disastrous seasons.

Despite doubling its advertising budget, Bear Mountain at Grayling had a 50 percent drop in skiing with mid-week activity off nearly 70 percent. Business was so bad at this popular East Michigan resort that room rates were slashed one-third in mid-season. Bear Mountain also lost about five weeks of skiing because of poor weather.

Three of every four Upper Peninsula ski lodges had poorer seasons than a year ago with lodge managers blaming rain and warm weather as well as the gas situation for the five to 10 percent average drop in skiing.

The energy crunch also hit West Michigan's Boyne Country—comprising Boyne Highlands, Thunder Mountain, Boyne Mountain and Walloon Hills. This West Michigan complex lost 15 percent of its traditional business because skiers from Illinois skied closer to home, many in Southwest Michigan.

Although Southeast Michigan ski lodges in general had a fairly successful year, it is likely that without the energy crisis most would have had blank seasons for the second consecutive year. Poor weather not only cut the season two to three weeks short, but many of the nine lodges lost nearly two weeks of prime skiing time due to a severe thaw in January. Most of the lodges also opened a week to 10 days later than usual.

Pine Knob, which had a disastrous season a year ago that included only seven days of skiing in January, operated 90 days and skied nearly 120,000 persons. This was a 40 percent increase in skiers over the 1972-73 winter.

The major reason for the increased business was the gas shortage as thousands of Detroit-area skiers who normally travel north for their favorite sport skied Pine Knob instead. The addition of two chair lifts, bringing the lodge's total to five, also helped to make a successful season at the Clarkston facility.

Mt. Brighton skied 15 percent more persons than last winter despite operating only 71 days, a drop of 10 from last year. While the energy crisis brought more skiers to the Brighton lodge, the shortage of gas cut down on the number of chartered groups, especially from area schools, which had trouble getting fuel to operate busses.

Mt. Grampian near Oxford and Alpine Valley at Milford also had improved seasons with the energy crisis cited as the major factor. Mt. Grampian was able to double its business while Alpine Valley had 5 percent more skiers than last year.

The Southeast Michigan ski boom caused by the energy crisis came to an abrupt end the final two weeks in February as skiers discovered that more gas was available in the northern sections of the state than in Southeast Michigan. Both Pine Knob and Mt. Brighton had significant drops in business the last half of February despite good slope conditions.

Except for Boyne Country, ski lodges in much of northwest Lower Michigan had a good year. And it was not only the facilities within a tankful of gas of major southern Michigan cities that operated successfully.

Shanty Creek near Bellaire lured a whopping 95 percent more skiers to its slopes than the preceding year with overall business up nearly 40 percent. A $4,000 increase in the advertising budget plus a newly initiated mid-week ski package helped this facility combat the gas situation. However, the Bellaire lodge did not escape the effects of the energy crisis as a severe gas shortage the first weekend of March in the Detroit area caused numerous cancellations.

Schuss Mountain, which published regular bulletins detailing area gas availability, had 20 percent more skiers this year over last. That lodge's rooms also wee filled most weekends as skiers stayed at the resort instead of nearby motels to cut down on driving.

Besides Bear Mountain, several other East Michigan lodges also had poor seasons. Freeland's Apple Mountain blamed its nearly 10 percent dip in skiing activity on unfavorable weather and inflation. Although the Saginaw-area facility operated 80 days, it had a bad Christmas-New Year's holiday because of poor slope conditions. The holiday period normally accounts for about one-third of Apple Mountain's total business for the year.

Mild weather also wiped out the ski lodge's annual carnival, which was set for March 10. Warm weather forced Apple Mountain to close March 2. The lodge also reported that skiers generally spent less money than in previous years.

Timberline Mountain near Mio, which was burned out on February 22, operated 40 days and had a 25 percent drop in skiing compared to the same period of 1972-73. Manager Bill Egan blamed the fear of not being able to buy gas as the major reason for the drop.

A late winter in the U.P. forced many facilities to delay opening, including Pine Mountain at Iron Mountain, which began operations December 8, the latest opening in 14 years. Skiing at this western U.P. facility was down eight percent.

Indianhead Mountain at Wakefield had its worst natural snowfall in nearly a decade as less than 80 inches fell in an area that sometimes gets as many as 200 inches. Seventeen consecutive days of below freezing weather in January also contributed to Indianhead's slight downturn in skiing.

BEAVER ISLANDER

THE BEAVER ISLANDER will sail from Charlevoix again this summer, in company with her new sister ship, the South Shore. The Beaver Island Boat Co. had hoped to berth the Beaver Islander in Petoskey this summer, but too many problems arose over docking and parking. According to both city and boat company officials, the door is still open to negotiate for berthing space during the summer of 1975.

Stutzman's Thinclads Ready to Knuckle Down

50 Potential Trackmen Turn Out for Meeting

"Monday's the day...when we begin working....working hard for the first meet on April 23," Track Coach Gary Stutzman said regarding the forthcoming track season which is scheduled to begin in four weeks and run through most of May.

Stutzman said that some of the thinclads had been out running, loosening up muscles and preparing for the season that will begin Monday with regular and concentrated practice sessions.

Last week, Coach Stutzman called a meeting of all potential candidates and more than 50 aspirants showed up in response to call. He said there were a number of new faces along with those who have proven themselves. "Everything's going to be up for grabs so all any newcomer has to do is prove himself" Stutzman added.

S

He went on to say that he would be counting heavily on seniors such as Gary Novotny who runs the 180 and the mile relay; Randy Faust, the hurdles and the pole vault; Jerry Skippergosh, the high jump, the low hurdles and the relay team; Clayt Jones, Jim Potter and Ed Buday, the shot and Pat Plumm, the pole vault.

Juniors who will be returning are Mike Streeter and Kevin Martin in the dashes and relays; Joe Kaufman, the relays; Jim Sundberg distance and middle distance; Chuck Faust, middle distance and Phil Christ, shot.

Coach Stutzman listed Paulo Oliveira, an exchange student from Brazil, as a possible 'sleeper' in the distance runs.

Among the sophomores who have yet to prove themselves but show potential are George Kruskie, sprints and relays; Terry Left, high jump, Kevin Speer, sprinter and broad jump; Bob Alger, hurdles; Ed Russell middle distance and relays and Mike Left, John Mays, Ken Paul, Ed Mason, Jeff Bergmann, Doug Smith and Greg Revoir, middle distance and/or distance.

Stutzman added that there probably were others in these classes along with a host of unproven freshmen who will have their chance when practice begins Monday.

The Charlevoix Rayders are the defending Michigan-Huron Shores track and field champions. In addition they placed second in the regional meet and in the Petoskey Relays; third in the Rudyard Invitational and fifth in the Oscoda Invitational meets.

Enos Bacon has been busy cutting wood this winter for the Warm Morning heating stove they installed this winter.

Edna Howe returned home this Friday after spending the past four months in Tarpon Springs, Florida.

Virginia Saunders has returned to Mount Pleasant after spending a week's spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Saunders.

Spring arrived bright and balmy but has taken a severe turn with snow and a bitter northwest wind. It would be wise for our neighbors and friends to stay in the sunny south a few days longer unless they have their red flannels ready to jump into when they arrive home.

NANCY BERG (left) and Joan Sheridan have been accepted as exchange students for the summer of 1974 by Youth for Understanding. Miss Berg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berg of Charlevoix. She will spend two months with a family in Denmark. Miss Sheridan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheridan of East Jordan. She will spend two months with a family in the Philippines. Youth for Understanding offers a family living experience to young people between the ages of 15 and 18 for two months or a full year.

Kohn Award Is Offered County Bible Students

The Harold E. Kohn Award, made annually to a high school graduate preparing for a career in a church-related profession, is now available to graduates of any high school in Charlevoix County, according to Mrs. A. R. Gibson, chairman of the Award Committee.

The award may be offered to an applicant of any Protestant denomination, without reference to financial aid.

Its purpose is to demonstrate support and offer encouragement to any student whose post high school education is directed toward a career in church work, either as a minister, religious education worker, missionary or any other field directly related to the work of the church.

To be eligible, an applicant must be a graduate of a high school within the county, a "B" student based on grade average for the 11th and 12th grades, or have a high recommendation from the faculty, and must be accepted as a student at a degree-granting college or university.

The award amounts to $100 a year, for as long as the student remains in college and career plans remain unchanged.

County high school graduates may make application for the award at any time during their college careers.

The award is sponsored by the Mary Brewster Circle of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix. For more information contact area pastors, high school principals or Mrs. Gibson at R-3, Box 77, Charlevoix, Mich. 49720.

Coffee House May Give Teens 'Something to Do'

Charlevoix young people may soon have their own "coffee house", with space for arts and crafts and other activities.

The coffee house idea is the brainchild of Cindy Fassett and Dan Austin who believe that Charlevoix young people need a place to congregate after school and evenings.

Miss Fassett recently conducted a poll among students at Charlevoix High to find out how they feel about the idea. A total of 210 liked the plan, 12 said they didn't like it and 86 said they simply are not interested.

At a meeting at the Fassett home two weeks ago, attorney Dave Fershee said the first step should be the drawing up of articles of incorporation and a set of by-laws stating objectives and purposes.

Attending the meeting were Miss Fassett, Barb Goss, Dan Austin, Tony Barone, Fershee and Bob Clock, who were asked to serve on the board of directors, along with Duane Taylor, Marge Bley and Bill Murray.

The second meeting of the group will be held Thursday, March 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Fassett home at Pine Point.

One of the main problems appears to be finding a suitable location for the coffee house-- one that is close enough to town so that most youngsters won't need transportation to take part in activities.

Miss Fassett envisions art lessons being given at the coffee house, as well as encounter sessions, anti-drug programs and health-related activities.

She hopes that local civic groups and churches will see their way clear to lend a hand to help the coffee house get started.

Teacher Feacher

MRS. ROBERT Goss, physical education teacher at the Elementary School, teaches her young charges how to do "The Pyramid."

She Keeps K-4 Kids In Top Physical Shape

(This is the eighth in a series of articles on Charlevoix faculty members prepared by the Charlevoix Education Association.)

Keeping up with 561 elementary school students in the school gym is quite a job as will attest Mrs. Robert (Gerry) Goss, the Charlevoix K-4 physical education teacher.

When asked what special traits were needed to be a successful physical education teacher, Mrs. Goss noted three:

- –Lots of energy.
- –A powerful, voice and;
- –An immunity to noise.

Noise? A passerby far down the hall will indeed hear a variety of noisy sounds–from thundering feet, cheering voices, and bouncing balls to an occasional bellow or shrill whistle from the coach.

Mrs. Goss has been interested in sports since childhood. She recalls that her mother could never send her to the store because she never had a free hand for groceries or money–there was always a ball in one hand and a bat in the other.

Born and raised in Detroit, Mrs. Goss visited her aunt in Charlevoix during the summers. She graduated from Wayne State University and taught elementary and junior high school physical education in the Detroit Public Schools for three and a half years. She remembers that she did not have her own car when she first started teaching. So, with no second thoughts, she rode the street car through some of the roughest neighborhoods in Detroit to get to school.

She moved to Charlevoix with her husband, Bob, whom she had met during one of her summers in Charlevoix. She was the sole gym teacher in the Charlevoix school system for some time because no boys' physical education was offered as a class.

She began teaching seventh through ninth grade girls and then went on to have experiences with all ages when physical education was expanded to the high school and the elementary grades. As additional staff was added, Mrs. Goss remained at the elementary school.

A typical day for her includes teaching a fourth grade reading class in the morning, and then working with approximately 210 children daily in the gym.

Gerry's family includes two daughters who are following in their mother's steps as teachers. Toni is married and is a special education teacher in Benzie County. Mari, is a student at Central Michigan University, and she is studying to be an elementary school teacher.

NAVY Seaman John D. Czarnecki, son of J. F. Czarnecki, R-3, East Jordan, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. Czarnecki is a 1973 graduate of Central Lake High School.

Rev. Imig Accepts Call To Church in Illinois

Rev. Duane Imig, pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church in Charlevoix for the past six years, has accepted a call to Christ Lutheran Church in Jacob, Ill.

Rev. Imig preached his last sermon in Charlevoix March 24. He will preach his first sermon in Jacob March 31. Installation will take place the same day.

His new parish is a small farming community about 75 miles south of St. Louis, Mo. It has 330 communicant members and maintains a day school for grades one through eight, with 55 pupils and three teachers.

The area is populated largely by German immigrants and their descendants.

Rev. Imig was installed as pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church Dec. 3, 1967. During his time in Charlevoix he also has been pastor of St. Matthew's Church in Mancelona.

During his tenure, Bethany grew from 65 to 130 members and St. Matthews from 40 to 80 members.

For 10 weeks each summer he has conducted chapel services at Bellaire. Last fall, the congregation decided to continue services at Hope Lutheran Church and Rev. Imig has continued as pastor.

He also has served two years as secretary of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association and two years as president.

He was instrumental in the formation of the FISH organization in Charlevoix County.

Rev. Imig also was secretary of the North and West area of the Pastor's Conference of the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod) for two years.

In addition to his clerical duties, Rev. Imig, has served as president of the Charlevoix Parent-Teacher Organization and served two terms on the Charlevoix Board of Education. He tendered his resignation at the board meeting March 18.

Ferris Cites 7 From Co. For Grades

Seven students from Charlevoix County were among 1,480 at Ferris State College to make the Academic Honors list during the winter quarter, according to James V. Farrell, vice president for academic affairs.

The group includes Owen J. Faust and Claire T. Martin, Charlevoix; Ernest A. Finch and Daniel T. McDonald, East Jordan; and Janeen M. Eincder, Edmund J. Hawley and Timothy S. Seelye, Boyne City.

To be named to the Academic Honors list a student must earn at least a 3.25 average.

Guys With the 'Mostest' Selected by Wrestlers

Tim DeYoung was voted the "most improved wrestler," Pat Whitley the "most determined wrestler" and Phil Christ the "most valuable wrestler" in an informal ballot circulated by Coach Norm Probert among his matmen at the end of the 1974 season.

The results were revealed at a dinner party at the Argonne last week, sponsored by the wrestlers and their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Probert and Assistant Coach and Mrs. Michael Carland were guests of honor.

Other honors went to Tom Mort for being the most scholastic, Pat Whitley as team "spark plug," and to Brian Goss and Tim DeYoung for being the "funny men" on the squad.

Tom Mort won the title of "legman" hands down, Terry Drew and Phil Christ were elected to share the title of "hot dog" and Pat DeYoung and Phil Christ tied for the role of "bone head."

Gary Probert was elected the "most outstanding freshman," Tim DeYoung the "most outstanding sophomore", Phil Christ the "most outstanding junior," and Pat Whitley the "most outstanding senior."

Team members also were asked to list the toughest squads they faced this year. Rogers City was first; the Soo, second; Frankfort, third; Petoskey, fourth; Reed City, fifth; Onaway, sixth; and Kalkaska, seventh.

Most of the wrestlers think the length of the season is just about right.

Board Will Name Successor

(Following is the second in a series of questions and answers on school and educational problems by Charlevoix Superintendent James McKimmy.)

Q.–We have heard that a member of the Board of Education is planning to resign. How will his position be filled during the remainder of his term?

A.–Rev. Duane Imig has told the Board of Education that he is moving to southern Illinois to accept another pastorate. He has indicated that he intends to resign from the office of board member sometime during the last week in March.

The Board has expressed its regret at the pending loss of his service and its appreciation for Rev. Imig's services in the past.

Whenever less than a majority of the offices of any district become vacant, the remaining members of the board are required to fill such vacancy or vacancies. If the vacancy is not filled within 20 days after the resignation, the County Board of Education shall fill such vanancy by appointment.

Any person appointed to a board of education holds such office until the next succeeding annual election, at which time the electors of the school district shall fill such office for the unexpired portion of the term.

CANCER Crusade officials turned out in force last Wednesday night to honor Mrs. Marge Sorenson of Boyne City, retiring chairman of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. Seated clockwise around the banquet table in the Pine River Room at the Weathervane Inn are Mrs. Nancy Porter, Dr. Harry Custer, both of Charlevoix; Deanna Beyer of East Jordan; Marion Martin of Boyne City; Evelyn Seger, Charlevoix; Mrs. Sorenson; Peter Pace, Charlevoix; Ann Hite, East Jordan; Mrs. Harvey Varnum, Boyne City; Dorothy Dixon, Charlevoix, and Ron Chalker, area representative of the American Cancer Society.

Jerry Walker Has New Job With GE

Jerry J. Walker has been named manager of Quality Control at the Tiffin (Ohio) General Electric Co. plant, according to Lloyd E. Gomez, plant manager. The appointment was effective Jan. 1.

A native of Charlevoix, Walker received a mechanical engineering degree from General Motors Institute in Flint in 1969.

After graduation, Walker had several engineering assignments with Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp. In February of 1972 he joined Hayes-Albion, Tiffin, Division, as project engineer, the position he held at the time of his new appointment.

Walker and his wife, the former Bonnie Ryckman of Lake Orion, live in Sycamore, Ohio.

MRS. DOROTHY Dixon of Charlevoix, treasurer of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society, pins corsage on Mrs. LeRoy Sorenson of Boyne City, retiring president of the county chapter.

Probert Applauds Work of Volunteer Aide

By Norm Probert
Wrestling Coach

The Charlevoix Wrestling team concluded its successful season with an appreciation dinner at the Argonne. The wrestlers made Mike Carland the guest of honor, along with Coach Probert and their wives.

Mike had wrestled during his high school days and thought he could be of some assistance to the Charlevoix squad. Since the start of the season Mike has never missed a workout or a match until the districts, which were held on a Friday. He was unable to attend because of his school duties.

However, Mike did travel with the two state wrestlers to give them support, taking the day off without pay.

"Since Pat Whitley and Phil Christ have been bruising me up all year, I want to see if the pain and suffering I have endured is worth it," Carland explained.

Coach Probert recalls the time Charlevoix's most valuable wrestler, Phil Christ, literally threw Mike across the mat and he landed on his elbow on a concrete floor. Even at the state finals, Mike had his ankle wrapped due to Pat's rough-house techniques in the last wrestling session.

Mike has learned that if you want to work out with the wrestling team you have to be prepared to spend hours in the whirlpool and under ice packs. You also had better have a wife adept at massaging the aches out of tortured muscles.

The citizens of Charlevoix are fortunate to have a man of Mike's calibre willing to assist with such sports as wrestling.

The team traveled more than 4,000 miles this past season in order to get to tournaments and matches. They often had to get up at 4:30 a.m., drive to the tournament, wrestle all day and return home that night, often after midnight – just for the challenge of competition and the right to represent their high school.

Although Mike doesn't have a youngster in wrestling, he finds the time to help others.

Mike will be on hand April 1 to 5 to assist with the Middle School wrestling program. The tourneys will be Thursday and Friday, April 4 and 5 from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Spectators will be welcomed.

The special program designed to introduce Middle School boys to wrestling started last week and will resume after the spring break.

Several high school matmen, including Mike Snizik, Pat Whitley, Ed Bourke, Frank Olach, Phil Christ, Gary Probert, Bob Hilton, Dan Whitley, Terry Drew and Bill Belfry, have been assisting.

Thirty-eight boys in grades Five through Eight have been working out, learning various wrestling techniques.

Defending their 1973 titles in the finals wil be Ron Paul, Phil Morrison, Dan Monteith, Tom Jones, Jim Elzinga and Rick Borths.

Ice-Breaking Starts In Mackinac Straits

Coast Guard ice-breaking was to begin March 20, according to officers aboard Coast Guard Cutter Sundew.

Ice-breaking operations are taking place from the De Tour coal docks and Les Cheneaux Islands throughout the Straights of Mackinac.

Skaters, ice fishermen, snowmobilers and anyone who uses the frozen surface of these waterways is advised to use caution when venturing into the ice.

It is wise to carefully check the thickness and condition of the ice especially around "tracks" left by passing ships, according to Sundew officers.

Persons are encouraged to call the nearest Coast Guard station to obtain the latest information on locations w ere ice breaking is taking place.

MEDUSA Cement Co. has just spent $700,000 for a "cooler vent duct collector" that brings the South Point plant up to state and township air pollution codes. Dust from the clinker cooling process is collected on long nylon sleeves before gases are released to the atmosphere.

$700,000 Dust Collector Brings Medusa Up to Snuff

Medusa Cement Co. has completed installation of a $700,000 "cooler vent dust collector" at its South Point plant which brings the plant up to both state and township air pollution codes, according to Elbert Kaiser, Plant manager.

Kaiser says the new collector, which has been installed adjacent to the clinker cooling building, has an efficiency rating that approaches 100 percent.

It replaces a mechanical cyclone-type collector which had a 75 to 80 percent efficiency rating.

The new collector has 2,688 long felted nylon bags suspended in it. Hot, dust-laden air is drawn through the bags by means of an 800 horsepower fan. Dust collects on the outside of each bag and the cleaned air is discharged into the atmosphere.

Dust collected on the bags is removed on a time cycle by a blast of compressed air. It falls to the bottom of the collection hopper where it is removed by a worm gear.

The collector uses 950 horsepower and will cost in excess of $60,000 a year to operate. It will consume enough electricity to furnish 330 average homes.

The nylon bags are more than eight feet long and are slightly more than five inches in diameter. They are designed to withstand temperatures up to 425 degrees Fahrenheit.

The collector was built by the Fuller Co. of Catasaqua, Pa., and incorporates the latest improvements in air pollution control equipment.

Old Central School Beckoned Kids With Bell

of their ability, each teacher wanting her class to make a good showing. In its own way it was a sort of teacher evaluation test also. Just how much did their pupils actually learn under their guidance? Also for we girls, in particular, it was a sort of social event. With all the "country kids", our own version, coming to town we had to show off our best clothes. For days we discussed what dress and hair ribbon we would wear. (Probably we only had a first and second choice). Also we were tense about these tests. Knowing how our teachers drilled us we relaized they were not simple. I have heard teachers since then say few eighth graders today could do any better, is as well, as we did writing them.

To the best of my recollection our entire class passed and so were eligible to enter High School along with all the boys and girls from the country schools who had received passing grades. Having written these examinations we would say goodbye to Central Grade School.

The building is gone now. It was used for classes regularly until the 1940s at which time it was closed except for one room where band classes were held. Finally it was torn down in 1945 when a band room was made available in the newer school."

The lovely old school bell no longer calls children to school and probably the old bricks adorn someone's patio, I don't know. It is all a part of another era. However, as you can see from the picture, the building was centrally located, well-lighted, well-constructed and with ample recreation space for the entrollment of those years. It had no frills and certainly was not an architect's dream, but it served its purpose well. It will always hold a special spot in my heart. I can close my eyes now and in memory see it proudly standing there welcoming those small people taking their first steps in education. Also, I can see Mary Kirchner Cooper and her flying fingers standing hall duty and making tatting. Of such fiber are good teachers made.

I think my generation received a fairly good basic education in Central Grade and on in High School. I'm sure, providing us with such a school, created a real problem for former taxpayers but they made our education possible and I feel they deserve great credit and I thank them. I sincerely hope we give our young people as good an education for their time as we received and they may look back fifty years from now and feel as greatful to us as I do to previous generations.

Grandvue Losing Sims Baker

done, and it has been varied, is not new to Baker. Born on a farm in Hayes Township, he grew up learning how to help care for the finest garden in the township.

For the past five years, Paul Carson of East Jordan has been Baker's right-hand man in the operation of the 73-bed facility. In preparation for the time he would retire, Baker has taught his successor the routine of the outdoor work as well as the daily maintenance of the facility itself. "And, in an emergency, won't be far away if Paul can't handle it," Baker added.

Baker himself has too much work to do at home to get very far away for a while. There's his workshop at the rear of his home at 309 Mason-st. with furniture to be refinished, his garden to ready as soon as weather permits.

Social Services Office Seeks Volunteer Aides

A new dimension has been added to the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services according to Richard H. Tillen, director.

Funding has been made available for the development of a Special Services Coordinator position within the department. Mrs. Florence Wojan has assumed this function which will encompass development of volunteer, group and special service functions.

The coordinator's first project has been to send out a letter and questionnaire to 246 adults in the Charlevoix County area enlisting their ideas, suggestions and assistance in planning a volunteer and special service program which could help meet the needs of others in their same age group.

One of the questions also asked is, if they themselves would like to be a volunteer or if a volunteer would be helpful.

Approximately 33 percent have responded so far.

Based on this information as well as federal guidelines for Volunteer and Special Service Projects, the county office is designing programs for which volunteers may be used.

"We have had volunteers in the past, but they have not been used effectively because we did not have a coordinated program," Tillen said.

Some examples of possible volunteer services are a telephone reassurance program, transportation services for the elderly or infirm, purchasing of food stamps and buying groceries for individuals who cannot leave home.

Mrs. Wojan, as part of the public relations aspect of Special Services, is interested in explaining the volunteer concept, services of Volunteers and Volunteer programs to service clubs and other groups in the county.

Mrs. Wojan hopes to extend and enrich agency programs as well as assist in developing community awareness regarding the nature of these services so that diverse, meaningful and expanded services will become available to a larger segment of the population.

Persons interested in offering their services to the new program or who desire further information may contact Mrs. Wojan at the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services office, County Building, Charlevoix, Phone: 547-6551.

Mayor Wants to Relocate May Street Sewer

the street.

He also said that the city would be obliged to supply two sources of power for the lift station, as the city must do for the sewage treatment plant and the pumping station.

Dr. Alvin Ranger, one of the candidates for consulting engineer, said McNamee, Porter and Seeley propably specified the 18-foot depth so that the sewer could serve a larger area by gravity flow.

Hansen passed around his own drawings to the council showing where he thinks the sewer should be located in relation to the existing water main. He wanted an immediate vote by the council, but aldermen refused on grounds that they want to consult with engineers first.

In other business the council:

--Sent to the ordinance committee a request by Mrs. Wanda Scheff to place a 14 by 65 foot mobile home on her lot at 310 W. Lincoln-st.

–Heard a request by the Charlevoix Yacht Club for the use of a section of city-owned water frontage this summer for boating and sailing instruction. The request was made by Josh Barnes, William Kenifeck and Gene Steele. Barnes told the council that the club needs a place to beach small boats and construct a temporary dock. He suggested as possible sites the newly acquired land east of Depot Beach or the north end of Ferry Beach.

–Voted to accept a study by Daverman Associates showing that the cost of stand-by power to the waste water treatment plant and the pumping station would come to about $250,000. They also authorized Wexstaff to apply for FHA funds at interest rates ranging from 4 to 6 percent for the project, as well as funds for the separation of storm and sanitary sewers. Estimated cost of the sewer project is $1 million.

–Agreed to apply to the Department of Housing and Urban Development to include Charlevoix in the National Flood Insurance program. If accepted, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will draw up a flood plain map of Charlevoix, designated areas on which future construction will be prohibited.

–Accepted a plat of the Norman D. Ance Subdivision (Industrial Park) as drawn up by Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co. The property has been divided into nine parcels lying north of the Char-Em office building on Mercer-blvd. The state will probably require that the area be served by sewer and water before the land is utilized.

--Adopted an ordinance drawn up by City Recreation Director Curtis Kipke establishing a Parks and Recreation Department for the city. The ordinance provides for the establishment of a Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, to be appointed by the council's Recreation Committee. The director will be responsible for all of the city's parks and recreation activities, including operation and maintenance of the municipal golf course.

--Appointed Mrs. Larry (Lorraine) Warner to the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission.

–Discussed problems at the waste water treatment plant, including the fact that phosphates still aren't being removed although the plant has been in operation almost nine months.

–Applied to the Federal Aviation Agency for funds for a master plan for the airport. The FAA would like to upgrade the airport from a General Utility Facility to a Basic Transport facility. This would involve lengthening the main runway from 3,700 to 4,500 feet and relocating and paving a cross-wind runway. Cost of the study is estimated at $20,000, of which the federal government would pay $13,334 and the state and the city 3,333 each.

–Agreed to install short sections of utility pole around power poles vulnerable to vehicle traffic. A Parker Motor Freight truck hit a utility pole at Freedman's Artcraft Engineering last Wednesday, plunging much of the city into darkness. The proposal for a buffer was made by Max Novak. The council received a letter from Gordon Freedman congratulating the electric crew and police for the way in which they handled the emergency.

–Learned that the Public Relations committee will meet next week to discuss the location and size of garden plots being offered to residents.

–Answered questions posed by Buster Otis on city policy regarding the hiring of a greenskeeper for the golf course.

WILLFLOW employes struck the Charlevoix plant Monday morning, demanding an across-the-board pay increase and improved fringe benefits.

Willflow Plant Struck Over Pay Hike, Fringes

Charlevoix's Willflow Corp. plant was struck for the first time Monday when 54 hourly employes set up picket lines at the plant entrances in an attempt to force an across-the-board pay hike and improved fringe benefits.

The workers belong to Local 475 of the International Association of Machinists.

The strike was confined to the Charlevoix plant. Three other Willflow plants in Belding remained open.

Union steward Ron Boss said the strike was called after negotiators met nine times with company representatives without reaching agreement on the demands.

Employes claim the high cost of living has eroded their pay until they have little left. They are particularly concerned over the high cost of such necessities as food and utilities.

Chuck Kraat, operations manager at the Charlevoix plant, said company officials at the home office has not prepared a statement on the strike.

Willflow manufactures stainless steel products.
